THE TECUMSEH HERALD

LENAWEE COUNTY'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

SERVING TECUMSEH, BRITTON, RIDGEWAY, MACON AND TIPTON

ONE HUNDRED THIRD YEAR — NUMBER 50 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1954 | TEN CENTS A COPY

Don Oswald Wins New Car: Jerry Barton Gets $750

After holding the unwavering interest of all of the Tecumseh area and a large part of Lenawee County during the past six weeks, The HERALD'S "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest came to a smashing climax last Saturday afternoon with Donald Oswald winner of the magnificent new 1954 Buick "8" sedan and Jerry Barton the winner of second place cash prize of $750.

Representing the sale of hundreds of new and renewal subscriptions, Oswald's 5,520,300 vote total was followed by that of runner-up Barton's 4,818,620. Miss Mary McWilliams placed third, with 4,697,280 votes. She was awarded 20 per cent commission on all subscription sales plus an additional 50 per cent of her total earnings. Similar bonuses were given Mrs. John Kopka, Joe Hayden and Mrs. John Braden.

"It was understood from the first only one of the competitors could win the car," Contest Manager Robert W. McKay said. "Each of these contestants worked long and hard hours combing the Tecumseh and county area in their sales work. All received 20 per cent commission regardless of whether he or she was a top winner and they are to be commended for their splendid cooperation.

With the addition of hundreds of new subscribers the Tecumseh HERALD now boasts the most complete coverage of its trade area of any other publication. It is estimated by national authorities on newspaper circulation that four members of every family have access to the weekly newspaper and on that established basis The HERALD'S advertisers' messages now reach more than 14,400 readers each week.

Then, too, it is agreed that unlike daily newspapers and circular matter a weekly newspaper is read nearly every day during the week.

"We have as near 100 per cent coverage of our trade area comprising Tecumseh, Britton, Ridgeway, Macon, Tipton, Holloway and surrounding territory as is possible to obtain," said publisher Miss Marjorie Wickwire.

In accepting the keys and title to the new Buick, purchased by The HERALD from Schneider Brothers Garage of Tecumseh, Oswald said he wished to thank his friends for their support in becoming subscribers.

The vote count was based on the number of subscriptions sold, with bonus votes awarded for extra effort during the first week of the contest and "Booster Week."

NOTICE

If there is any subscriber getting two copies or if there are any subscribers not getting the HERALD regularly, they should call 476 stating their difficulty, and it will be corrected as promptly as possible.

Welcome To New Subscribers

The primary aim of THE HERALD in conducting its big contest which terminated last Saturday was to obtain more new PAID subscribers—and they were obtained, too — for never before has there been such an all-round successful subscription drive in this area.

Hundreds upon hundreds of new and renewal PAID subscriptions were sold by the more than a score of energetic contestants and their supporters . . . the kind of subscriptions that do the most good for the advertiser and the community.

The HERALD is indeed grateful, first of all, to the many hundreds of folks who had faith that their community newspaper would be worth the cost to them, and second, to all the contestants and their friends who worked so diligently all through the campaign to bring it to a truly successful close.

It required the cooperation of thousands of folks and there are literally thousands of new readers as a result of the drive.

The effort to increase circulation does not end with the contest. It is really the beginning, and the contest has made a firm foundation on which to build week by week and month by month.

We have held the old subscribers and welcome a host of new ones. With this new increase obtained through the campaign so ably and fairly conducted by Robert McKay of the famed Liner Circulation Service, the HERALD is a more valuable institution to everyone in the Tecumseh area and the HERALD may now properly be classed as one of Michigan's larger weekly newspapers.

With this increase comes a greater responsibility. It now more than ever before becomes our job constantly to improve our publication to merit the support we have just been given.

Indian Grid Team Begins Play Friday

A team of five experienced and six untried gridders will go against Addison High School Friday night when Tecumseh High School opens its 1954 football season.

"If the six boys who have had no varsity experience come through, we will win some ball games."

"Addison has a good club with 15 returning lettermen," he said. "But we should still give them a good game. In the Milan scrimmage our offense clicked off some good plays but our defense needs a little more work and this week it, too, improved."

Band Festival Plans Proceed

Final plans are being worked out for the eighth annual Lenawee County band festival which will be held on the Tecumseh Recreation Field Tuesday night, Sept. 28, at 8 p.m.

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, assisted by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce who is aiding in promotion, Clair Camburn, director, and all Lenawee County bandmasters hope to make this the largest, the best and most successful of all festivals.

The first festival was held here in 1946 and public response later led bandmasters to use a theme that would mold youth, drama, music and pageantry into a unit or story. As a result, in 1947 This Is America was the first theme used.

This year, the title will be America, the Beautiful, and this event will depict the story of 12 states.

Proceeds from the festival will be divided among the bands taking part.

Honor Dr. H. H. Hammel Tonight

Presentation of two memorial plaques honoring the memory of Dr. H. H. Hammel will take place tonight at a community dinner in the Legion building.

One of the plaques will be presented to the Legion by J. Addington Wagner, past commander of the Department of Michigan and past National vice-commander.

This plaque reads: "For God and for country. In memory of Col. H. H. Hammel, M.D., first commander of Underwood-Orr Post No. 34, 1919-1920."

The second plaque will be presented to Herrick Memorial hospital by Ray W. Herrick, chairman of the board of the Tecumseh Products Co. This plaque reads:

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. by ladies of the First Baptist Church. Some tickets are still available.

Watch Out For Kids!

Chief George Kilbourn today announced that the city of Tecumseh is cooperating with the State Safety Commission on the annual September "Watch Out for Kids" traffic safety program.

"Each year," the Chief said, "motorists need to be reminded that children are returning to school and that there is a special need to watch out for them — many of whom have just returned from carefree vacations have not adapted themselves to the routine of going to and from schools."

According to Chief Kilbourn over 3,000 children (0-14 years of age) were struck down by automobiles on the streets and highways of Michigan during the last

Public School Enrollment Is Less Than Expected

An anticipated increase of 100 pupils was offset by an unforeseen loss to the new parochial school in the seventh and eighth grades and by loss of pupils who have moved from Tecumseh to other locations.

However, this loss has not materially helped the over-crowding in Tecumseh Schools since classes are still in excess of 30 pupils and thus no classrooms were made available.

Enrollments by grades are as follows:

Kindergarten	150
First	154
Second	175
Third	136
Fourth	95
Fifth	92
Sixth	101
Seventh	113
Eighth	87
Ninth	142
Tenth	130
Eleventh	98
Twelfth	80

The total enrollment is 1553.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

TWO WEEKS AGO DON OSWALD asked Principal Nev Hart about the drivers' training course at the high school. This is what you might call confidence.

A NAME CONTEST WAS HELD at the demonstration meeting of the Dale Carnegie Course Monday night. Those present introduced themselves twice, then the audience took the test to see how many of the persons they could name. Grand winner with a terrific score of 37 out of 40 was Dave Faling, fuel oil distributor.

TOM FARMAN AND PHIL ZICK, not old enough to be Cub Scouts, pitched in anyway to help the Ridgeway-Macon Township Cub Scouts collect for the emergency March of Dimes. Both boys had polio last summer.

A RED-HAIRED, FRECKLE-FACED boy of 4 held up 15 cars on Chicago Blvd. last Thursday. But he didn't have a gun. He had a tricycle. Jonathan Drake, 7474 Murray Drive, went for a ride downtown. Since he stuck close to the island, none of the cars, headed by Bill Sage, could pass. Finally, Ellsworth Collins rescued the boy and Patrolman Stan Westgate responded to the alarm. Stan, who said a picture of the tiny "motorist" would have made page one of the large daily papers, didn't ticket the driver. He followed the three-track trike trail made in the berm back to Johnny's home and the drivers, held up so patiently, went on about their business.

ARE STARLINGS GIVING YOU a rough time? One way, of course, is to blast them down with a shot gun. Another way, used by the Hillsdale Fire Department when I was a kid, was to turn a fire hose on them while they nested. Still another way is to use a stuffed owl. This latter receipe comes from Chief George Kilbourn of the Tecumseh Police Department. He says the use of the stuffed owl is a sure thing. Know of anybody who has a stuffed owl?

THERE CERTAINLY WAS A LOT OF interest shown in the contest. Folks started calling Saturday before noon wondering who had won the car. And after the contest they were still calling and asking about it on the street last Saturday afternoon.

CHRIS BASINGER DROPPED IN to place a classified ad and he wondered if he could look around in the back room. He sure could. After he saw the linotype and exclaimed at its complexities, he remarked: "A fellow is never too old to learn something new." Chris is a young fellow of 83.

BILL BENHAM OF RIDGEWAY, star Tecumseh athlete last year, will enroll in the University of Michigan to take premedicine. Asked whether Bill would try out for the Maize and Blue freshman football team, his dad said he didn't know. Bill only weighs 145 sopping wet and his dad said it would be a case of smallness against largeness. Everybody who has seen Bill play knows that he has the spirit and courage but, as his dad pointed out, he would have to push around some big fellows that might tip the scales at 200 to 220. Whether Bill reports to loquacious Wally Weber for the freshman 11, the Lining wishes him the best.

Shirley Ladd And Charles Ambrose Exchange Vows

At one o'clock Saturday afternoon Shirley Ladd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Liddell of Tecumseh and Charles Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ambrose of Cleveland were married at St. Elizabeth Catholic church by the Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins.

Wallace Whiting sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" before the ceremony accompanied by Mrs. Ben Hammack as organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, John R. Ladd of Macon, and was attended by Miss Carol Harper as maid of honor. Mr. Ambrose's best man was Frederick Van Dusen of Cleveland and the bride's brother, John Ladd was usher.

The bridal gown was lace and net over satin. The portrait neckline of the tight fitting bodice was embroidered with pearls and sequins and the hooped skirt was of waltz length. A pearl trimmed lace cap held her double, finger-tip length, bridal veil and white roses trimmed her white Bible.

The waltz-length, taffeta gown of the maid of honor was peacock blue with a strapless bodice and a shrug jacket. She wore accessories of the same shade and carried a crescent bouquet of pink mums.

Mrs. Liddell wore light blue, with navy accessories for her daughter's wedding and her corsage was of pink roses.

A reception for 35 friends and relatives followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ladd in Macon, where Miss Virginia Gregory, Miss Marilou Burleson and Mrs. Richard Purkey assisted the hostess.

The bride, a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1951, has attended Southern College in Birmingham, Ala., and the University of Alabama for three years.

The groom graduated at the Military Acadamy at Staunton, Va., and also attended Alabama University. He is employed by the W. S. Taylor Corp. of Cleveland and they will make their home in that city.

MRS. W. G. WALDRON ENTERTAINED W.C.T.U.

Local Resident Attends Conclave

Dean Reinhart of Tipton was in Jackson last weekend as delegate to the convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in session there.

Twenty - two congregations from 17 southeastern Michigan cities were represented as more than 1700 gathered for the final day of the meet.

"The thing that amzed me most," said Mr. Reinhart, "was the way in which the delegates made practical demonstration of the theme of the convention, love. Not emotion,"not sentiment, but a conscientious expression of uselfishness to God and to one's fellow men."

Mr. Reinhart volunteered his services during the convention by assisting in the installation and operation of the public address system. He arrived in Jackson Wednesday to begin that activity.

"A lot of people," stated Mr. Reinhart, "think that conventions just happen. But plenty of work goes into it with weeks of advance preparation and plenty of labor right on the spot. No one in Jehovah's Witnesses organization gets paid, but rather we all donate our time and abilities. We even had our own cafeteria where we fed nearly 800 people every meal. And, all volunteer labor, too."

The highlight of the conference was a lecture by C. W. Barber, Watchtower Bible Society representative from New York, "Is Civilization's End Near?"

Read What Happened To Me

A lion met a tiger
As they drank beside a pool.
Said the tiger, "Tell me why
You're roaring like a fool."
"That's not foolish," said the lion,
With a twinkle in his eyes
"They call me king of all the beasts
Because I advertise."
A rabbit heard them talking,
And ran home like a streak.
He thought he'd try the lion's plan,
But his roar was just a squeak.
A fox came to investigate —
Had luncheon in the woods.

Marine M/Sgt. Frank O. Freeman

MARINE WITH A SLING SHOT—Many a Marine has heard the cry, "Get a sling shot!" The remark usually refers to one's inability to hit a target. However, one Marine took it seriously, got a sling shot and actually qualified on the regular .45 pistol course at the San Diego Recruit Training Center.

He is MSgt. Frank O. Freeman of Pensacola, Fla., now serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Korea. He really doesn't need a sling shot since he is a distinguished rifle and pistol shooter, and has been firing in Marine Corps and civilian matches since 1947.

Last year he missed the Washington State High-Power Rifle Championship by three points. Despite many medals for rifle and pistol shooting Freeman claims his favorite weapon is a sling shot — and he is never without one. The one he uses in Korea today is made of ashwood with a 12 inch natural rubber sling. He has used it since 1949.

Freeman began using a sling when he was five years old. By the time he was of high school age he was shooting in local playground tournaments. The real thrill, says Freeman, is hunting — and getting that first rabbit. He made money while in high school by hunting small game.

"We used to hunt bull frogs with a sling and lead pellets," he says. "Then we would sell the legs to local restaurants and use the money to buy more lead."

He has found that dogwood is the best sling shot material, because it has a steel-like hardness when seasoned.

Freeman's greatest sling shot thrill came last year near Del Mar, Calif., when he flushed a covey of quail. One broke away and circled alone. Freeman pulled the rubber, let go a slug, and killed the quail on the fly. That was his first flying target, though he had killed running blue grouse and pheasant.

"Most people don't realize it," Freeman explains, "but a properly used sling shot can be a deadly weapon. With a 200 grain slug and a 35 pound pull a rabbit can be killed at 30 yards. I've reached 250 yards without difficulty."

Freeman's experience at the San Diego range began when he noticed a young recruit having trouble firing a .45 caliber pistol. Freeman said he thought he could qualify with a sling shot, and did. He used expended .45 caliber slugs and during the rapid fire held four slugs in his right hand. He qualified with a score of 260 — not bad shooting with or without a sling shot.

KIDS

twelve months — 223 of them died and many were crippled for life.

"Our department will pay particular attention to speeding near schools during the first few weeks of September as a forceful reminder to all motorists to watch their speed as they watch out for kids in school areas," the Chief continued.

A state-wide educational program using several hundred thousand leaflets and thousands of posters is underway. In every community motorists can expect to see the poster depicting a little girl running out from between parked cars with the slogan "Watch Out For Kids".

The leaflets give excellent advice to parents. They are urged to teach their children this simple rule by repeating it over and over again:

STOP at the curb
LOOK both ways
WAIT until it's safe to cross
WALK across the street

In conclusion the Chief said, "Hitting a little girl or a little boy with a ton and a half of steel is not a pleasant thing to do. You, as a driver in such an accident would find small comfort in the fact that the police may decide that the mishap was caused primarily by the child's own carelessness."

SCHOOLS

ailed to serve the community in the best possible way. Children have been shifted from school to school to equalize classes so that each child may receive the utmost in personal attention.

This shifting was necessary after school began as it was not known previously exactly how many children would actually enroll in parochial schools or how many new pupils would be enrolled or in which area of the city these new pupils would live.

The board of education has arranged with the city for curb and gutter at Patterson School and the lawn north of the school is being seeded. Playground equipment is being installed and the grounds landscaped. The new flagpole installed is a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Orville Laidlaw.

The Herrick Foundation and Fresco Foundation have made gifts to the board which will provide bicycle racks at Patterson School and high school as well as numerous other much needed items of school equipment.

"Such gifts materially assist the board in providing much needed equipment which could not be purchased from public funds at the present time, and help to provide more outstanding total educational facilities for Tecumseh children," Supt. McDowell said.

GOOD CHEER CLASS

Mrs. Howard Matthews entertained 13 members of the Good Cheer Class of the Baptist church in her apartment in the home of Mrs. Lillian Hoagland, to which she recently moved. The business meeting was conducted by the president Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett and as a devotional program she read an article "The Hope of the World" which had been issued by the World Council of Churches. Members told of their various summer vacation trips and the hostess served refreshments.

SMALL WORLD DEPARTMENT: John Swain, Britton-Macon High School football coach is a native of Quincy, Mich. A graduate of Hillsdale College and former owner of the Trading Post at Moscow—Mich. that is—John played a lot of baseball for Doc Wheaton, manager of the famous (at least I thought so when I was a kid) Hillsdale Independents.

FRIDAY NIGHT TECUMSEH'S Indians begin their 1954 football season. The Indians, naturally, will be out to improve on last year's winless record. But they need some 60-minute fans who will be out there hollering their lungs out, win or lose. Let's get behind the team and show them some real spirit.

NEXT WEEK IS NATIONAL Dog Week. So let's be kind to all the dogs we meet. They may be somebodys' best friends.

EVER WONDER WHAT POSSIBLE use could be made of the shavings from a man's physiognomy? Maybe one day some one will come up with a use for the thousands of bits of whiskers that are left in the bath room sink after this daily chore and, strangely enough, this discovery may be worth a million . . . a million what I don't know.

WHO IS INTERESTED IN ATTENDING the International Dairy Show and championship rodeo in Chicago Oct. 9 to 16? The Lining has two season passes. They are free for the asking; first come, first served.

IN WASHINGTON A GOVERNMENT survey was ordered to study the migratory habits of birds. Thousands of all species were released with metal strips attached reading, "Notify Fish and Wild Life Division, Wash. Biol. Surv."

Hugh Newton writes, "The abbreviation was changed abruptly following receipt of this penciled note from a vexed Alberta agriculturist: 'Gents: I shot one of your crows last week and followed your instructions. I washed it, biled it, and served it. It was awful. You should stop trying to fool the public with things like this'."

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Commercials on TV seem to meet with mixed reactions. There are those who dislike them bitterly, those who tolerate them as a necessary evil, some who really enjoy them and then there are the Fairbairns.

To Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Fairbairn, who live east of Tecumseh, commercials have an absorbing interest for they are the parents of a young man whose aim and ambition is to make everyone enjoy this part of television.

Academy produces both animated and "live" shorts. When you watch those three little bears of the Roy Rogers show or the Campbell Soup kids, "Lassie and Dear Phoebe," you are seeing the work of Academy artists. And when school teacherish Miss Brooks writes the names of her sponsors on the black board, then erases them and blows a cloud of chalk dust across the screen, that too is Murray Fairbairn's brain child. That seemingly simple action, by the way, posed some very pretty problems in animation.

This young director of production seems to be one of those fortunate individuals who is doing exactly the work for which his inclination and talents have fitted him. He showed definite artistic leanings during his years at Redford high school in Detroit but art school which followed did not hold his interest. So he went to work for the Jam Handy Advertising company and there received his apprentice training in commercial art the hard way — by actual doing.

Thus when his big chance came he was ready. This was a competition offered by the Walt Disney Corp. The test lasted three weeks and 1200 young artists entered. After six more weeks of anxious waiting, fifteen of the 1200 were selected for further training and of that fifteen just one was offered a contract with the company. That one was Murray Fairbairn. At the end of two years, part of which he spent on such productions as Disney's Pinnochio he was assistant to the animation director.

Then came the war and almost five years of military service. But for once the traditional "left-footed" army policy did not apply. His talents were used; used in the production of demonstration movies of military equipment and in the filming of a simulated gas attack produced at Fort Monmouth, N. J. Here again luck was on his side for his talents came to the attention of the Hollywood producer who was directing that movie. The result was a peace time job with Transfilm Inc. as an art director.

Transfilm productions are largely in the field of sales demonstrations although the company has made such public relation films as "Americans at Home," a non-commercial production.

It was all good experience and in February of this year Fairbairn became part of the Academy organization and of TV. The field ahead of him has ever widening horizons for he is only 41. He is married to a girl whose picture bears a striking resemblance to a pastel "dream portrait" he made in high school and they are the parents of a boy of six.

A wide screen TV set keeps his parents in daily contact with their talented son. The senior Fairbairn was a mechanical engineer in Detroit for 40 year before his retirement eight years ago. They found a quiet retreat on the winding road which turns off the Macon road beside the little country cemetery, and, if it is not so quiet now that the new airport is their neighbor, TV helps them to accept it philosophically.

When it comes to Protection ...it pays to have the BEST

Once you have bailed out, there's no chance to go back for a better parachute if the first one fails to open.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

Daddy And His Little Girl

Today my daughter, who is 7 years old, started to school as usual. She wore a dark blue dress with a white collar. She had on black shoes and wore blue gloves. Her cocker spaniel, whose name is Coot, sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as she waved good-bye and started off to the hall of learning.

Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, the girl with yellow curls, and the boy across the aisle who makes funny faces. She told me about her teacher, who has eyes in the back of her head, and the trees in the school yard, and about the big girl who doesn't believe in Santa Claus. We talked about a lot of things—tremendously vital, unimportant things, and then we studied spelling, reading, arithmetic—and then to bed.

You guys wouldn't hurt her, would you? You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut or her head gets bumped, I can fix it—but when she starts to school, when she walks across the street, then she's in your hands.

She's a nice kid. She can run like a deer and dart about like a chipmunk. She likes to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoons. But I can't be with her all the time; I have to work to pay for her clothes and her education. So please help me look out for her. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections—and please remember that children run from behind parked cars.

Please don't run over my little girl.

Creed For Teachers

Every good teacher will ask himself, from time to time, how clearly he is aware of the principles on which he is acting.

One of the best ways for him to find out is to state his beliefs in such a way as to point up contemporary issues in education. Recently three professors of English at the University of Michigan, Warner G. Rice, A. K. Stevens, and Bennett Weaver, tried this exercise and produced the following Michigan Teacher's Creed.

I believe that:

(1) The teacher is not one who heads exploring parties wandering over strange lands; rather, he is a guide who knows the trails and leads travelers to a sure destination.

(2) We teach that which we are; through the character of the instructor the manners and morals of students are influenced and formed.

(3) Education should help students to distinguish between right and wrong; it should lead them to prefer the right over the wrong.

(4) Unless the teacher triumphs over popular dogmas which insist that morals are a matter of statistics, that environment dominates will, that the normal is preferable to the excellent, and that self-interest is man's master motive, the efforts of schools to train character will come to nothing.

(5) The one is more important than the many, the permanent more precious than the changing; wherefore, as a teacher I must help individuals to find and to adopt those values which are lasting.

(6) The teacher must bring students to realize that self-expression demands discipline, and that advantage is indissolubly linked with duty.

(7) Although many people define the practical in terms of material and corruptible treasures, the teacher dares to define it only in terms of life's highest and most enduring satisfactions.

(8) The creative powers of the mind and the passion for excellence are greatly to be encouraged.

(9) The teacher will not be concerned with practice to the neglect of principle; in personal habits and in public deeds, in ethics and in citizenship he knows that by indirection we find direction out.

(10) The great validities are nowhere to be found so available as in masterpieces of literature, "the crystalized experience of the most sensitive, reflective and observant minds."

Grass Roots Opinion

"Home from the capital," says Typo-Graphic, "a Pittsburgh business man looked out the window and saw a big log floating down the river. He pointed it out to a friend. 'See that log,' he said. 'That's just like Washington. If you examined that log closely you'd find 10,000 ants on it—and each one of them think he's steering it.' "

Mr. Yates visited Tecumseh to "scout" for a suitable home. He planned to retire from business and live near his children. We showed him a spacious but comfortable home, the kind that older people often prefer.

"I don't want that style of house," Mr. Yates said. "It would be too much work for my wife. After all, I'm retiring. I want a home where she doesn't have to keep on working. She deserves to retire too. Don't you have a small, neat, new, compact home with all the latest labor-saving features?"

We did and he bought it! Now Mr. and Mrs. Yates are enjoying their retirement years. Doing no more than they want to. And enjoying the extra leisure a truly modern home can bring.

It may be time for YOU to plan your own retirement. If so, don't forget to include the purchase of a well-arranged, carefully planned, labor-saving home.

And call on us when you want to buy! Okay?

Hail, holy Queen, Mother of Mercy; our life, our sweetness, and our hope. To thee do we cry, poor banished children of Eve; to thee do we send up our sighs, mourning and weeping in this valley of tears. Turn, then, most gracious Advocate, thine eyes of mercy towards us; and after this our exile show unto us the blessed fruit of thy womb, Jesus; O clement, O loving, O sweet Virgin Mary. Pray for us, O holy Mother of God; that we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

If someone told you that one out of five people doesn't drink over a half-glass of milk a day, you probably wouldn't believe it.

That's what two Michigan State College farm economists found in a survey of 1,110 Lansing, (Mich.) families. They discovered that almost 20 per cent were drinking less than a quart of milk a week.

Economists Gerald Quackenbush and James D. Shaffer emphasized that the survey should interest people who promote and market milk.

Quackenbush pointed out that the "lightest" milk drinkers were the heads of families—one-third of the mothers and one-fourth of the fathers drank less than a week.

In families where the father and mother drank little milk, one-sixth of the other members likewise drank barely a quart a week. But where the family heads drank more than a half-a-glass a day, most of the other members drank as much or more.

Quackenbush and Shaffer also found that almost half of the persons living alone drank less than a quart a week. Drinking milk appears to be related to age. The older the persons are the less milk they drink.

The researchers found that drinking milk appears to be directly related to education. The more education a person has the more milk he drinks.

Income has only a slight influence on the amount of milk used, but if a family has a low food bill, they also seem to buy less milk.

Sweet corn on the cob—probably no food is better to sit down to than a plateful of delicious golden fresh corn.

But there are millions of people in cities that have never had a chance to taste really good corn.

But now there is really very little reason for a city family to eat dry, poor-flavored corn that is low in food value. With modern cooling methods, corn can stay "field fresh" as long as three days after picking, right in the counter of your favorite store.

A study carried out by midwestern state experiment stations and the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that corn can be both precooled and iced for only 1.8 cents a dozen over the cost of unhusked and uncooled corn.

The small extra cost is well worthwhile. The study, in which Michigan State College cooperated, shows that corn that isn't precooled and iced loses up to one-half of its sugars and much moisture and flavor in the first 12-24 hours after picking.

A bulletin, North Central Regional Publication No. 45, was published to show producers and consumers how corn is cooled. The bulletin Marketing Fresh Corn in the Midwest, is available by writing to the Bulletin Office at Michigan State College.

With cooler weather coming on, poultry farmers may be fooled into thinking they can take less care in handling eggs.

Cooling eggs in wire baskets in a cellar still is a good practice. Eggs gathered three or four times a day and marketed twice a week will be better eggs.

All signs point to a year of crop and livestock plenty — but with consumers willing and able to buy produce and meats

High consumer incomes and steady exports are helping farmers, according to Michigan State College agricultural economists. Farm prices for the first half of 1954 were only 2½ per cent below 1953. Price supports have helped and will continue to be important.

Large carryover stocks of wheat, corn, cotton, dairy products and oils are in government inventories or under loans. Livestock supplies may be up 4 per cent from 1953.

Fruit prices are equal to 1953 or higher and vegetable prices are about the same as last year.

If you have been sprinkling your lawn every few days this summer and it still shows up a sickly brown then you're probably killing it with kindness.

Or your trouble may have started on the day you planted your lawn.

Soil management may be one of the answers. Lawnowners should prepare the soil deeply and put in plenty of organic matter and green manure to give the ground a spongy, loose structure. This will catch and hold the water.

When you are getting ready for the lawn—Joseph T. Cox, Michigan State College landscape specialist, advises plowing down half the commercial fertilizer to entice later deep root growth.

Irrigation isn't the only answer—you've probably found that out by looking at your neighbor's green lawn that he hasn't sprinkled all summer.

Sprinkling every few days will bring the roots to the surface. But keeping your lawn a little thirsty will drive those roots deep in the ground for water, advises Cox.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

George Lansbury was one of the chief architects of the British Labor Party and was truly a saint in politics. He was a devout follower of Christ who took his religion seriously.

He was born in 1859 and died in 1940. From early childhood, he was accustomed to privation and hard work. He shovelled coal, worked on the stone pile, drove a truck for a meat-packing plant, ran several small businesses, became a Guardian of the Poor, mayor of the borough of Poplar.

The first time he was a Labor candidate for the House of Commons, he received only 347 votes. Not until his sixth attempt did he succeed in winning a seat. After two years his strong support of woman suffrage caused his defeat. Then for a decade he was editor of the "Daily Herald," organ of the Labor Party. He was re-elected to Parliament in 1922, and from 1931 to 1935 he was chairman of the Labor Party. He resigned the leadership of his party because as a pacifist Christian he could not go along with the warlike policy it adopted.

Two passions of his life were the ending of poverty and the prevention of war. He was opposed to war and to violent revolution, and was strongly committed to representative government. Opposition to the Boer War brought persecution upon him. He looked upon the system of imperialism as the primary cause of international warfare.

For thirty-five years George Lansbury devoted his weekends to speaking engagements throughout the British Isles. Without payment he spoke on Saturday night and three times on Sunday. Later he wrote: "Our meetings were like revival gatherings. We were happy in those days. Somehow our hearts kept young. We worked and looked for a future which would be bright for us and for others."

Using an approved electric fence on the farm is urged by David G. Steinicke, Michigan State College safety specialist, in place of unsafe home-made shockers and added life insurance.

Soil Conservation District Meets

Lloyd Ruesink, a director of the Lenawee County Soil Conservation District, participated on the program at the midyear meeting of the Michigan Soil Conservation Districts, Incorporated, at Higgins Lake, Sept. 3 and 4. Mr. Ruesink reported on the activities of the Conservation Photo Contest Committee which he heads for the State Soil Conservation Districts.

The program for the two-day meeting was designed to bring directors of the various Michigan districts up to date on recent developments in soil and water conservation.

Water problems, complicated by drought and increased water use on farms, in factories and cities and by recreational groups, was one of the major topics at the conference. The need for a study of water rights was mentioned by several speakers. Responsibilities of the State Water Resource Commission for the control of pollution, water development and flood prevention were discussed by Norman Billings, representing the Commission. E. C. Sackrider, State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, explained recently passed Federal Legislation providing for Federal-State-local teamwork in watershed development and flood prevention.

"Working Together on Farm and Home Planning" was the topic of a panel of four agricultural agency heads and Ray Anderson, Vice President of Michigan Districts, of Chief. Herbert Van Aken, a director of the National Association, Eaton Rapids, was moderator. The agency speakers were Extension Service Directors Woody Varner, Elwood Bonine, of Farmers' Home Administration, E. C. Sackrider and Clarence Prentice, of the State Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Committee. Teamwork for the best interests of the farmers was stressed.

Also attending the meeting and representing the Lenawee County District was Hal Benner.

At the meeting Clarence Kleidinst, of Jasper, was named to the nominating committee for the district's annual meeting to be held in Feb. at East Lansing.

Christian Science Services Listed

How we may prove and experience man's God-given dominion over material bondage of all kinds —sin, disease, and limitation — will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday. The subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Matter."

The spiritual heritage of freedom which belongs to man is set forth in the following selection from the Bible (Galatians 4:6,7): "And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ."

The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (223:3): "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit."

The chances are 1 in 3 that someone in your family will face a hospital bill within the year.

The man with over 3 million friends in Michigan

Here's how they came through for him when he was faced with a big hospital bill!

What a wonderful feeling it is, to know you have over 3 million friends to give you a helping hand when you have a real problem, like a hospital bill.

For, when you get down to brass tacks, that's what BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD really is . . . a banding together of friends and neighbors, to protect their families against hospital and medical bills.

BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD "belongs" to its members . . . it's your BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD! Wholly non-profit, every penny that comes in is set aside for member benefits, after allowing for nominal business expense.

Here's how your 3 million BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD friends and neighbors come through for you in a time of need. BLUE CROSS entitles you to hospital bed and board . . . plus essential services . . . at over 200 hospitals in Michigan, representing 99 per cent of the general hospital beds in the state. BLUE SHIELD pays generous amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of specified procedures.

Ask your employer or union representative how you can get low-cost group enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. BLUE CROSS - BLUE SHIELD (Michigan Hospital Service—Michigan Medical Service) 234 State Street, Detroit, Michigan.

It's your Blue Cross - Blue Shield

The Home Demonstrator

By JOSEPHINE BRIGHENTI
HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

Forty years ago, the first Monday in Sept. Home Economics Extension work was born in Michigan.

It was in Sept., 1914, that Mrs. Paulina Raven Morse, a 1905 Home Economics graduate from Michigan State College, was appointed by the State Board of Agriculture as the first Home Economics Extension worker in Michigan. Her first assignment was at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit.

We, in Lenawee County, are honored to have Mrs. Fred (Paulina Raven) Morse from Jasper, an active member of the Ridgeville Extension Club, who just celebrated her 75th birthday, in our midst. She has seen Home Economics Extension work in Michigan grow from its very beginning through the years.

I believe the Michigan Home Demonstration Council could have chosen no one better than Mrs. Morse to be a member of the State's History Committee.

The names, Home Economics Extension and Home Demonstration work, are used interchangeably; however, the name, Home Demonstration work is the accepted name throughout the United States, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Home Demonstration groups along with County, Agricultural and 4-H groups, work as a unit with the Cooperative Extension service. This designates the cooperation of the county, state and nation; in our case, Lenawee County. The State affiliation is Michigan State College.

The State headquarters in each State is its land grant College and in Michigan, Michigan State College is the land grant college. In the case of all States, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Hawaii, we cooperate with the United States Department of Agriculture.

Many people ask, "What is home demonstration work?" Home demonstration work is an educational program in homemaking for the women of Michigan.

It is conducted by a staff of home economics trained persons working with individuals and organized in all 83 counties of the State, through meetings, radio, news releases, bulletins and television. The latest findings of research are made available to homemakers who request help.

The topics selected are from all phases of homemaking; namely, foods and nutrition; clothing and textiles, home management, home furnishings and family life. Other topics such as citizenship, public policy, soil conservation, landscaping and gardening, are also included.

Home demonstration work has for its ultimate aim, better living, and the development of a well informed people, equipped to appraise and handle changing problems in family and community life.

Home demonstration work is a continuing program of education in all aspects of home and community life, and contributes to changes in knowledge, skills, and attitudes. It is a cooperative program developed democratically and based on needs and problems recognized locally by the people themselves.

On Tuesday, Sept. 14, an officers training meeting will be held at the Ridge Auditorium, Adrian College, Williams street, the first building west of the corner of Madison and Williams.

All officers from local clubs will meet in the auditorium at 10:15 a.m.: Chairman and vice chariman, secretary, treasurer, and news reporters; local group leaders and community chairmen. (Send a substitute if you as an officer cannot attend).

The recreation chairmen will meet at a future date, possibly in Jan. for a training school. Meanwhile, such new recreational chairman will receive the material from the preceding recreation chairman for club use.

From 9:30 until 10:15 a.m., home demonstration program books may be purchased by each club secretary for each member of your club. Having the correct change will help the ladies in charge of the books, Mrs. Charlotte Ambrose, Mrs. Ernest Gobba, and Mrs. John Quigley.

During the morning, the various club officers will meet in separate groups for briefing. Bring in any questions desired for discussion. The vice chairman is the program chairman. The 1954-55 calendar of lessons and special events will be received by the officers to use as guides in filling out the year books.

Provisions are being made for the serving of a beverage at noon by a club. No lunches will be served, but this service is for all bringing a sack lunch.

Everyone is invited to attend the afternoon program—all extension members and friends.

The afternoon metting will begin promptly at 1:30 p.m. with the installation of all local club officers as well as county officers.

A special program of interest to all will follow installation. Our main speaker for the afternoon will be Dr. Robert D. Richards. We will be favored with a musical interlude by Mrs. Cloyd Lusk. As a special feature, 4-H Club members who have been recent state winners at Michigan State College, will favor us with their selections.

The 1953-54 executive board will have charge of the officers training meetings: Mrs. Robert Dellar, Mrs. Fred L. Bradish, Mrs. Ward Bettis, Mrs. John Quigley, Mrs. Curtis Green, Mrs. W. E. Dudley, Mrs. Ernest Gobba, Mrs. Claude Raymond, Mrs. Harold Broderick, Mrs. R. K. Britton, and Miss Josephine Brighenti, H.D.A.

The newly elected Board members, Mrs. John Marvin, Mrs. Hugh Mitchell and Mrs. Albert Smith, will assist.

PUTTING UP A BARN — The two Joe Prochaskas wait at the peak for another "wishbone" to come up. That's Ron Pilbeam in the foreground.

Prochaskas Know The Meaning Of Helping Hands

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Prochaska, 10124 Pennington Rd., and their children know what it means to have the helping hands of relatives and friends.

Dozens of relatives and neighbors turned out Saturday and Sunday to help the Macon Township family build a new beef cattle barn to replace the one destroyed by fire last summer.

Earlier these same folks also pitched in to help build a new 36x40 corn crib which also was lost in the fire.

About two weeks ago Charles Koman of Holloway and John Kuhout of Deerfield, brothers-in-law, began to lay the cemen' foundation for the 36 x 80 barn.

A little later Stanley Kozij, another brother-in-law from Hamburg, began to lay the floor.

Saturday in the rain the men began to put the Rilco rafters in place. Sunday they had them almost up.

"Stan has been the boss on the job but he has had a lot of help."

"Just about everybody has helped," he said. Caught above the roar of the wind were, in addition to those already mentioned, these names:

Polio Returns $2,000 Check To Fund

A check for $2,000 has been returned by Paul Ahleman, chairman of the Lenawee March of Dimes, to the Tecumseh Community Fund. The money was offered to the March of Dimes in lieu of a house to house canvass in Tecumseh during the emergency March of Dimes fund campaign.

The Community Fund requested that a house to house solicitation be canceled during the fund campaign so Mr. Ahleman canceled the proposed "Tap on Every Door" in Tecumseh.

In returning the check Mr. Ahleman pointed out that it was a policy of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to hold its own fund drives and not to participate in united fund drives, nor accept contributions from United Fund drives such as the Community Fund.

The Tecumseh Fund plan calls for only a single house to house canvass here each year for funds.

A portion of the money raised is allocated to an emergency fund from which the $2,000 offered to the March of Dimes was drawn.

Money from the emergency fund is available to legitimate agencies who do not participate in the fund at the discretion of the fund's board of directors.

A truck load of tires and tubes valued at more than $2,500 was stolen from Tecumseh Tire Service, 120 N. Evans street, early Monday morning.

Climbing a home-made ladder, the thieves entered from the north window after breaking the boards covering the window. This window is about seven feet from the ground.

One of them climbed in and unlocked the door from the inside. Then they drove their truck in and loaded it up with about 100 new tires some worth as much as $60 each and 41 recaps which have a market value of $16 to $21.

Police think they might have heard a noise while in the process of stealing the tires and in haste to get away they left the ladder.

The theft was discovered by M. R. McClain and R. C. Heflin when they opened their shop Monday morning.

They notified Tecumseh Police who in turn have contacted Sheriff deputies and State Police.

Partners McClain and Heflin are busy taking an inventory on the missing tires and as soon as this is done and they can check with their Detroit office they will give the serial number and sizes of the tires to Tecumseh Police and Chief George Kilbourn said he will give a copy of the list to Sheriff deputies and to State Police.

200 Attend Banquet Citing Dr. H. H. Hammel

More than 200 persons turned out last Thursday night for the community dinner honoring the memory of the late Dr. H. H. Hammel.

Held in the Legion building, the dinner was served by men and women of the First Baptist Church.

Two memorial plaques, one for the Legion building and one for Herrick Memorial Hospital were presented.

Invocation was given by the Rev. E. C. Dickin, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

G. Arthur Rathbun, toastmaster, introduced by Louis Schneider introduced Commander Lyle Grigg of the Legion who welcomed guests.

Former Judge Rathbun cited Dr. Hammel's efforts in working for the hospital. He called Dr. Hammel "a man of character, energy and determination."

J. Addington Wagner of Battle Creek, past commander of the Michigan Department, traced Dr. Hammel's military record from the time he served in the Michigan National Guard, took part in the Mexican border skirmishes and served in both World Wars.

He also cited Dr. Hammel's work in the Legion as the first commander of the local post.

Mr. Addington presented the plaque for the Legion to Lyle Grigg, commander, who accepted it with "pride and humility."

Tracing Dr. Hammel's work with the founding of the local hospital, Ray W. Herrick, chairman of the board of the Tecumseh Products Co., said "Dr. Hammel was a great man and a great doctor."

"With humble honor and great privilege I present this plaque," he said. Clarence Gilman, president of the hospital board accepted the plaque for the hospital.

A register signed by guests present was given to Mrs. H. H. Hammel the doctor's widow, by Vern Manwaring, first vice-commander of the Legion.

The Rev. Dickin gave the benediction.

Robert Lowe was general chairman of the dinner and was assisted by James Rohrer, Vern Manwaring, George Green, Florence Howe and Joyce Manwaring.

Tea Honors Mrs. Homer Ferguson, Senator Visits

Monday afternoon Mrs. H. H. Hanna, Mrs. James C. Beardsley and Mrs. Dale J. Bowen were hostesses at a tea given in honor of Mrs. Homer Ferguson at the home of Mrs. Hanna.

Mrs. Ferguson was accompanied by Mrs. John Hutchinson who heads the Women for Ferguson committee for the state of Michigan, Mrs. Rae Hooker, Michigan National Committeewoman; Mrs. Margaret Simpson, vice-chairman, Lenawee County Republican committee; and Mrs. John Gartner.

Later in the afternoon Senator Ferguson, Congressman Meader, Probate Judge LaVon Kuney and Attorney Lawrence Hammond joined the group before continuing on their tour.

Monday noon Sen. Ferguson and his party were guests at a luncheon held in the Adrian Eagles building. At the luncheon C. O. Butler, representing the Michigan New Automobile Dealers' Association, presented a gold-plated automobile license plate frame carrying the message "drive safely" to Rep. George Meader of Ann Arbor.

The presentation was part of the Michigan Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee program.

J. C. Beardsley, county chairman, was introduced at the luncheon and later in the day Sen. Ferguson and his party visited Tecumseh and the Tecumseh Products Co.

Boys Ruled Ineligible To Play Ball

Following considerable investigation by high school authorities three junior high boys have been declared ineligible for the fall semester in high school athletics.

Teddy Kempf, LeRoy King and Gordon Greiman accepted prizes as caddies at the country club this summer and these boys with the four high school boys made ineligible early in Sept. for the same cause bring the total to seven for the fall semester.

The loss of these seven boys to athletics is a serious handicap to our teams since a loss of a season, especially for younger boys, represents a training loss which some boys may never make up, Supt. James McDowell said.

Through cooperation of the board of directors of the club and the professional, the school is now certain that all boys who accepted prizes of merchandise have been declared ineligible.

Parents should be extremely careful in checking prizes which boys receive for any athletic activity and if not sure of the legality of the prize check with school authorities.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association makes and enforces all eligibility rules and Tecumseh High has never been suspended for breaking these rules by playing ineligible boys.

However, sometimes boys become ineligible and remain unknown to school authorities. In such cases, sometimes schools are suspended and games are forfeited.

CARS DAMAGED

Each car had about $50 damages.

Twelve Bands, 600 Musicians To Take Part

A crowd estimated at 6000 persons is expected for the eighth annual Lenawee Band Festival which will be held at the Tecumseh recreation field next Tuesday night at 8 p.m.

Under the direction of Clair Camburn, the original director in 1946, the festival will feature more than 600 musicians from 12 county bands.

Sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, the festival's theme this year is "America, the Beautiful." The event will tell the story of 12 different states.

In case of rain the festival will be presented Wednesday night.

This is the program:

Michigan — The Addison Band John A. Huffman, director, Vacation Land.

The Addison Band will have the honor of opening the show with the title of Michigan. The fact that Michigan is the vacation land and a great industrial area is told in music and color. There will be special formations and music in keeping with the idea that Michigan is "The Water Wonderland."

Indiana—The Britton Band — —John M. Huffman, director, The Three Great Universities.

The Britton Band will pay tribute to the three great Indiana universities: Notre Dame, Purdue and Indiana. Good music and appropriate formations will run throughout the program.

Wisconsin—The Adrian Catholic Central Band—Miss Mary A. Lingitore, director, Paul Bunyan.

Paul Bunyan and his Blue Ox will be the Wisconsin theme played by the Adrian Catholic Central Band. The song, "On, Wisconsin" will be played as the band enters the field. Paul Bunyan and his Blue Ox will enter with the band and as the tree formation is made, he chops it down. He hitches the ox to the tree and—to the accompaniment of a good march by the band—hauls it off the field.

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

FRANK PROCHASKA HAS confidence. He thinks the market hog given to him by the Macon Rangers to replace his prize pig lost when fire destroyed his father's barn last summer also will win. "Sure, he's a champ," he said as he readied the Berkshire for showing in the fair Monday.

Indians Scalp Addison, 26-0

Tecumseh High Wins First Football Game In Two Years

Displaying a slashing running attack and a stingy defense, Tecumseh High School won its first football game in more than two years by trouncing Addison here, 26-0, Friday night.

The Indians charged to the five-yard line in the first quarter but were held scoreless.

In fact, they didn't hit pay dirt until the final seconds of the first half. They threatened early in the second quarter with Marsh and Betzoldt biting off chunks of yardage to the nine yard stripe but a fourth down pass from Neitling, intended for Davis, was knocked down.

After the Indians held, Addison punted and Betzoldt streaked 42 yards around his left end for the first Tecumseh touchdown and he ran his end for the extra point.

Midway in the third quarter the Indians scored again with Davis, Marsh and Betzoldt lugging the leather 64 yards. Key plays were by Betzoldt on a reverse good for 25 yards and Davis on an end sweep for 15. The remaining yardage was punched out by Marsh who exploded over center from three yards out without a hand laid on him.

Action see-sawed at the beginning of the final period until Lee of Addison missed a pass from center and Bowser broke through to down him on Addison's five and the Indians took over.

Davis ran the end for the point.

Tecumseh's right tackle Ray Nichols scored the final Indian touchdown. With the ball deep in Indian territory, Addison's Cherry passed and Nichols picked it off, pounding 77 yards for the score.

The extra point running attempt failed.

It was a team victory both offensively and defensively with every player on both units displaying a good command of the fundamentals for the first game of the season.

Maxine Rhoades, Richard D. Colson Exchange Vows

A wedding at Christ Episcopal church in Adrian last Saturday afternoon held much interest for Tecumseh friends. At that time Maxine Rhoades, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rhoades, became the bride of Richard Dean Colson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Colson of Tecumseh.

The Rev. A. Peter Carroll performed the double ring ceremony before the altar which was decorated with white chrysanthemums and gladioli. Thomas Nixon at the organ played traditional music and the "Lord's Prayer" was sung by Harold Motts.

The bride was given in marriage by Raymond P. White Sr., at whose home she has lived for several years. Gowned in candlelight satin, made after her own design with full skirt, long sleeves and portrait neckline, accented by seed pearls, she wore a finger-tip length veil caught by a pearl trimmed halo and carried a white prayer book on which was a white orchid.

Mrs. Paul Wilson, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor and her bridesmaid was Miss Barbara Pasternacki. Little Pamela Eggleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eggleston of Tecumseh, was flower girl and the ring bearer was Frank Duncan, four year old son of the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Duncan of Clayton. Mr. Colson's best man was Donald Maves of Tecumseh and the ushers were his brothers, Jack and James Colson, Tecumseh and Harold Anderson, Clark Lake.

All the bridal attendants wore pale green, the bridesmaid and matron of honor in crystal taffeta, made with full hoop skirts and short jackets. They wore matching head bands, short white gloves and carried bronze chrysanthemums. Their gifts from the bride were pearl earrings.

A reception at Croswell House followed the ceremony where a four-tiered wedding cake was cut by Miss Kate Schupman and Mrs. Edward Richardson. Punch was served by Mrs. Raymond White Jr. and Mrs. Claude Geney of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., while Miss Marlene Barnes and Mrs. Richard Fast presided at the coffee service. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Robert Wood of Blissfield, the former Mary Alice White.

Mrs. White's dress for the wedding was beige nylon jersey, worn with a matching velvet hat and a corsage of brown orchids. The mother of the groom wore gray crepe with a white feather hat and white orchids.

After their return from a trip to northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Colson will live at 7341 Murray Drive in Tecumseh.

Mr. Colson is employed in the engineering laboratory of Tresco Inc. He graduated from Tecumseh high school and attended Western Michigan College before spending two years in the European theater of military operations.

Mrs. Colson is a graduate of Adrian high school in 1950 and is employed at Gerity-Michigan Corp.

TIMELY REASONS WHY

You'll always

be glad you bought a Chevrolet now!

1 You'll stay proud of Chevrolet's lasting good looks

Other low-priced cars just don't have the quality look you see in Chevrolet. And if you like Chevrolet's looks now, you'll like its looks always. For there's fine design in those clean and smoothly curved lines (nothing "boxy" about Chevrolet!). And fine design like this never really goes out of style.

2 You'll enjoy exclusive features for finer motoring

Chevrolet's the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. It has the highest-compression power of any leading low-priced car, for more fun in the going and more miles out of the fuel. Chevrolet puts your safety first with the biggest brakes and the only full-length box-girder frame in the low-price field. It's the only car in its field with that smoother, softer Unitized Knee-Action ride.

3 You save when you buy and when you trade

Chevrolet is priced below all other lines of cars. (That's possible because Chevrolet builds the most). And at trade-in time, you'll be ahead again from Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value!

4 You'll get a special deal right now

Right now, we're in a position to give you the deal of the year on a new Chevrolet. Come in and let us show you how much you'll gain by buying now!

Now's the time to buy!

door" as he did to many of his patients, Dr. Hammel asked the young industrialist what he could do for him. Ray explained that he wanted a doctor to be on call for the minor accidents at the plant, but that he didn't have much money. Dr. Hammel, Ray said Thursday night, replied: "Who in - - - is worried about money."

THAT WAS A NICE SPREAD on Boysville in the Pictorial of Sunday's Detroit News. In a series of pictures the article told how the Brothers of Holy Cross under the direction of Brother Hilarion, spruced up the school at Macon for the return of the students.

FATHER THOMAS COLLINS commented on the efficiency of the local fire department. "They were very efficient," he said, "and I can't say too much for them."

A LOT OF FOLKS HAD cricks in their necks after watching the steeple jack at the First Presbyterian Church place new metal on the angles of the steeple this week. It looked like a bird on the peak.

NATIONAL LETTER WRITING WEEK, an annual event, will be observed from Oct. 3 to 9. Slogan of the special week is "there is no time like the present" and really there isn't. Sit down today and write that letter you have been putting off. You don't need to wait for Oct. 3 to begin it.

YOU HEAR A LOT OF TALK about the world going to the dogs and, I suppose, newspapers, with their glaring headlines reporting events, have a share in creating this pessimism. But after watching friends and relatives help to build a new barn and corn crib for the Joe Prochaskas I think it is a pretty good old globe after all. The good, the true and the beautiful are there if we will but take the time to look.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS: At collegiate games there usually is a dog that gets into the act. At the Friday game it was a cat. Play did not stop and I am not superstitious but after the cat crossed the field the Indians were stopped cold on the five yard stripe . . . Emil Teske certainly did a fine job on the grid turf . . . Under the direction of Don Johnson, the band did a bang-up job of entertaining between halves and peeking out from around the press box was Bob Peck, band director last year . . . The Rev. Blair Bashore did a fine job narrating the actions of the band and Red Wilson, announcer, and his spotters, ditto for bringing the game's plays to the fans . . . Tecumseh's celebration of its first victory in more than two years was interrupted when a sharp official caught an anxious Indian shooting over the line before the ball was snapped and the last play of the game had to be run over. The lights already were dimmed and the crowd was on the field but the rules prevailed. It didn't matter much that Addison was thrown for a loss when a back dropped the slippery ball and it slithered over his head.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — What greater or better gift can we offer the republic than to teach and instruct our youth.—Cicero

FESTIVAL

Ohio — The Deerfield Band — Reigh Lantz, director, The Ohio Story.

The Deerfield Band will enter the field playing a fast march and will make the flat boat on the Erie Canal. The Ohio Story will continue with descriptions of the capitol building and industry. The fact that Ohio is the mother of presidents will receive recognition on this program.

Nevada—The Sand Creek Band —Charles Wilbur, director, The Atomic Bomb.

The Sand Creek Band will furnish an unusual setting. It will make the atomic bomb. It will play the "Activity March" while entering the field.

Wyoming — The Hudson Band — Raymond Westgate, director, Frontier Days.

The Hudson Band has requested that its program remain a secret until the night of the festival. All that Mr. Camburn can say is that it involves a change of uniform while on the field, and, that it will be good.

Oklahoma — Morenci Band — Charles Winzler, director, Pioneer Days.

The Morenci Band will make the Oklahoma formation and sing "Oklahoma." It will make the cowboy spur and play "I'm an Old Cowhand." Other formations will be the cowboy hat, ranch house and prairie schooner.

Texas—Tecumseh Band — Don Johnson, director, The Lone Star State.

The Tecumseh Band will make a large star, representing the Lone Star State. The famous long horn steer will appear and the Battle of the Alamo will be staged.

Massachusetts — The Onsted Band—Kendall Merlau, director. Boston Tea Party.

The Onsted Band will, by special formation and music, re-enact the Boston Tea Party. Paul Revere's Ride and will make the old church steeple.

New York — Clinton Band — Richard Wegner, director. Sight seeing trip to New York.

Clinton Band enters the field playing march — forms airplane and takes its audience to Niagara, travels to New York City via "My Merry Oldsmobile," visits China Town, the Bowery and views New York night life.

California — The Adrian Band —Al Bohms, director, The Golden Gate.

The Adrian Band will take its audience to California and to see the Golden Gate Bridge, the Old Mission, the sequoia tree, views the movie industry and the big 200-inch telescope.

Virginia — Blissfield Band — Howard Bond, director, Colonial Days.

The Blissfield Band will tell the story of early Virginia—how it grew and pioneered the way to the modern United States. It will show suggestions of the old Indian life, the Blue Ridge Mountains and the primitive industry of the early settlers. Music which is appropriate to this period will be played by the band.

The Blissfield Band will climax its program by forming a huge American flag, with the original 13 stars, while playing the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

After this flag is made, the Morenci Band will join the formation and make up the remaining stars—bringing the flag up to date. The two combined bands will then play "The Stars and Stripes Forever March" by John Phillip Sousa.

Keeping step with this stirring march, the other bands representing the states will march onto the field and form on the sides of the flag—this making the great massed band.

This group of more than 600 young musicians will close the program by playing the festival theme song: "America the Beautiful" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

HELP

from Milan; Jim Dolenzel of Dundee and John Prochaska, a brother, from Deerfield.

Kidding about making sure the Czech names were spelled right Joe muffed one of the names himself. He spelled Kozij like this: Kozy or as it sounds. Stanson corrected Joe.

This was just a small part of the good-natured ribbing that went on as the men built a barn for a relative and neighbor.

Not even the rain, which had held up work on the barn, could dampen their spirits.

So just add Mrs. to most of the names.

As a parting shot, Joe hollored down from his perch: "We're going to have a real, old-fashioned barn warming in two weeks."

Dawn Doty And Ronald Harper Married In Adrian

Ronald Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harper of Tecumseh and Miss Dawn Doty of Adrian were married Saturday evening at the First Church of the Nazarene in Adrian.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Albert F. Raloff and preceding the ceremony Fred C. Dickinson sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied by Mrs. Dickinson on the piano. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Harper, brother and sister-in-law of the groom.

White net and taffeta fashioned the waltz-length wedding gown which was made with tiered skirt, strapless bodice and net jacket, Pearls and lace edged the finger tip wedding veil and the bridal bouquet was of white bebe chrysanthemums.

The matron of honor was in blue net over taffeta made waltz length and she carried a colonial bouquet of dark red carnations.

Mrs. Doty wore navy blue with red accessories for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Harper's dress was black accented with pink accessories. Both had corsages of white pom pons.

A reception for 200 guests followed the ceremony at the Products Union Hall in Tecumseh where the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Janice Snaley served the wedding cake assisted by the Misses Joan and Beverly Henderson, Gloria Highthall, Monica Sims and Mrs. Ned Swift.

After a week in New York, Mr. and Mrs. Harper will live at 360½ Erie Street, Adrian. Mrs. Harper is a graduate of Adrian high school, and Mr. Harper of Tecumseh high. He spent two years in the army and is now employed at Tresco, Inc., Tecumseh.

Rodeo To Be Staged To Aid Boysville

The World's Championship Rodeo, described as "the greatest entertainment event ever presented to Michigan," will be staged in the State Fair Coliseum November 18 through 28, Frank A. Alter, Rodeo Chairman for Columbian Charities, Inc., announced today.

Proceeds will go to aid Boysville of Michigan, a school for boys with a problem, established in 1948 on a 130 acre estate near Macon by Michigan Knights of Columbus. More than 50,000 Knights agreed to pay $2.00 a year each toward support of the school, in the principle that "it's better to build a boy than to mend a man."

"Boysville was opened with 15 boys," Alter explained. "Now there are 150. Boysville has grown faster than the Knights of Columbus. Last year its budget exceeded its revenue by 35 per cent."

Last May 400 Michigan business and professional men organized Columbian Charities, Inc. to find a way to underwrite the cost of maintaining boys at Boysville. Anthony J. Rathnaw, a state liquor commissioner, was named president; John A. Baker, vice president; Eugene J. Fisher, secretary and Wilfred T. Connelly, treasurer.

Officers and directors selected the World's Championship Rodeo at their first meeting as the event most likely to raise the money needed. Founders contributed $15,000 to a fund to promote the Rodeo and named Alter, a Detroit automobile dealer long prominent in Michigan philanthropic promotions, as rodeo chairman.

"The World's Championship Rodeo has played to capacity audiences in Madison Square Garden for 28 consecutive years," Alter pointed out. "Each year it has drawn entertainment-wise New Yorkers to the Garden for from 4 to 6 weeks. It has enjoyed phenomenal success also in Boston and Chicago."

Alter added that Columbian Charities, Inc., has signed the show for 21 performances.

Michigan Knights of Columbus Councils will start ticket sales immediately. Mt. Clemens Council 744 was the first to get its ticket campaign under way, with 12,000 general admission tickets distributed among its 300 members.

"Our only problem is supplying tickets to all the Michigan residents who wish to see this superb entertainment," Alter said. "The World's Championship Rodeo will bring to the Michigan State Fair Coliseum the country's outstanding bronco riders, bareback riders, steer wrestlers, calf ropers, rodeo clowns, and other top performers in the rodeo field.

"These are men who have been competing in big-money rodeos sponsored by the Rodeo Cowboys' Association throughout the year. There are no second-raters in this group, and there will be no dull moments during the 21 performances."

PEARSONS TRAVEL THROUGH EASTERN HURRICANE AREA

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson returned Sunday evening from a trip east which proved to be more harrowing than pleasant. Leaving the previous Tuesday to drive their son Richard to Boston to resume his law studies at Boston University, they went by way of Auburn, Maine to visit Mr. Pearson's brother, Harold Pearson.

Crossing the mountains of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine, they were followed closely by hurricane "Edna" for more than 100 miles of hazardous driving. Eight inches of rain had fallen in less than 24 hours and much of the distance was made in water half way to the hubs. They crossed one mountain stream where several cars had been washed away a few hours previously, and on one road had to dodge floating logs. They reached Auburn just before all roads into the town were closed and could not proceed to Boston until Saturday.

Why Leaves Change Color

How do the leaves of maple, aspen, birch and oak get the rich autumn hues that enhance the pageantry of fall?

This is a question which has puzzled botanists for generations and has not yet been entirely satisfactorily answered. However, in the main, we have the answer, says Felix G. Gustafson, professor of botany at the University of Michigan.

He explains that in normal green leaves there are at least three pigment substances: green chlorophyll, yellow carotene, and xanthophyll, and some times also the yellow flavone.

Chlorophyll is easily destroyed by light. In the fall, with the brilliant sunshine of the Indian summer, it is broken down faster than it is being formed. Hence, the yellow color which was there all the time but was masked by the brighter green, shows up and we get the yellow of the poplar, for instance. The mottling effect is due to the uneven destruction of the chlorophyll.

Professor Gustafson states that the reds and purples are due to a substance which the biochemists calls anthocyanin. The browns are caused by a partial breakdown of various substances in the leaves and the green is chlorophyll which is active in the food manufacture.

The botanist admits that scientists are somewhat in the dark as to the reason these substances should be formed. "We know that there must be an abundance of sugar present in the leaves. Bright light is also necessary and a low temperature plays a part. It seems that as the fall advances there are cellular changes taking place in the leaf petiole which block the leaves off from the stem. The sugar that may be in the leaf can not get out and the sugar content increases, bringing about chemical changes which result in the formation of anthocyanins.

Not all parts of the country are equally rich in these beautiful colors, he points out. "New England is famous for its riot of colors in the fall as are the northern parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and South Ontario. Regions where it gets cold suddenly are much more likely to have brilliant colors than those where the temperature decreases gradually. Low temperature with bright sunshine is favorable, as it produces conditions in the plant which allow these chemical changes to take place."

Disussing the color differences in various species of trees, Professor Gustafson said that most of the conifers do not show any color changes, though red cedars may show some red and brown during the winter. On the other hand, trees like the swamp or red maple may become completely red. The staghorn sumac takes on a very brilliant red. Poplars and birches are usually yellow. Ash trees are usually greenish purple. Catalpa, mulberry, and many others shed their leaves while they are still green.

Planning a luncheon? How about a nutritious vegetable plate—peas served in turnip cups, cucumbers in sour cream and buttered asparagus, suggests Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition extension specialist at Michigan State College.

SHOWER HONORS NEW DAUGHTERS

Mrs. C. W. Gilman, Mrs. A. J. Geisenhaver and Mrs. William Damon entertained Thursday evening in the Gilman home for about 50 of the friends of Mrs. Hugh Andrews. The very pleasant occasion was a personal shower for Linda Lee and Betty Lou Andrews, who two weeks ago became the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews. The little girls who are sisters, are 10 and 11 years old and they received many beautiful gifts of dolls and other toys as well as clothing and accessories. Opening of the gifts occupied much of the evening and refreshments in the motif of pink parasols were served from a buffet tea table. Linda Lee and Betty Lou are enrolled in the Patterson school.

Purcells Win Husband-Wife Golf Tournament

The Tecumseh Country Club's third annual husband and wife nine hole golf tournament was held at the club Sunday, Sept. 21. Twenty-eight golfers participated. Joe and Marg Rohweder tied Marg and Frank Purcell, last year's champions. They were tied so that the match had to be played off at sudden death, with the Purcells again winning this year's event in four extra holes. The wives played excellent golf, holding up their husbands.

Following were low scores — Joe and Marg Rohweder, low net 72; Frank and Marg Purcell also 72; R. W. and Virginia Dixon, 73; James and Jane McDowell, 73; Bill and June Macbeth, 76 and Al and Jean Merz, 76. After this event a T-bone and potluck dinner was enjoyed by 40 golfers at the new shelter house.

EPISCOPAL LADIES GIVE $500 TO BUILDING FUND

The Ladies Auxiliary of St. Peter's church met at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Butler. Mrs. Wilbur Andrews conducted devotions and during the business meeting it was voted that the organization give $500 to the church building fund. Mrs. Thomas O'Hara reported on the convocation meeting recently held at Pine Lake, which she had attended. At the close of the meeting the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harry Schuch, served refreshments to the group.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Slugger Wins the "Home" Game

Slugger White, the home town's star hitter, dropped by the other day to talk baseball, and to "tell one" on himself.

Seems Slugger had been babysitting. "I was doing just fine," he said, "until it was time for a 'change.' I called Mom for advice. Still didn't get it right. Then Dad set me straight."

"'Place the diaper like a baseball diamond with you at bat,' he said. 'Fold second base over home plate, and pin first and third base on home plate.' That did it—with no errors!"

From where I sit, Slugger's Dad had the idea. Often, like his Mom, a lot of us tend to give advice in our terms without considering the other fellow's way of doing things. Even in choosing your favorite beverage, it's best to think of your neighbor. If you like tea, and I prefer a temperate glass of beer, we should both "play the game" and try to understand each other's point of view.

All Should Join

The recent hassle between the Tecumseh Community Fund and the Lenawee County Chapter of the March of Dimes makes it necessary to re-examine some aspects of the case and of fund raising in general.

First, the local fund board did as it thought best in requesting the the March of Dimes not to have its house-to-house drive here. Members of the board felt that since the fund's plans call for only one house-to-house drive it should not permit the March of Dimes "Tap on the Door" night.

But, this was an emergency drive and no one can dispute the worthiness of the cause. We don't think many persons would have denied the volunteer workers a contribution that would have helped some polio patient. All around Tecumseh workers were out soliciting and their returns show that folks really wanted to help polio victims.

And in other towns the results were the same. In Wayne more than $6000 was collected in the emergency March of Dimes. And Wayne is a member of the United Foundation. This organization, one of the largest of its kind in the world, did not ask that the March of Dimes emergency drive be cancelled.

Of course, the Community Fund board offered to give $200 to the March of Dimes in lieu of the "tap on the door night." This amount came from an emergency fund established for such emergency purposes.

But the $2000 check was returned because it is against the policy of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which conducts its own fund raising.

Policy or no policy, it seems the $2000 local contribution could have been used.

The point of this piece is this: If the March of Dimes, by changing its present policy, could join in local communities to take part in fund-raising goals this misunderstanding between the Tecumseh Community Fund Board and the Lenawee County Chapter of the March of Dimes would not have developed and public relations would not have been strained. Then, also, all of us surely would be giving "just once for all."

We hope one day this truly united giving will result.

Congratulations, St. Elizabeth's

Next Sunday St. Elizabeth's Parish will hold dedication services for its new $110,000 school and new $32,500 convent.

His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney will dedicate the new St. Elizabeth's Parish School and he will bless the new convent.

Members of the parish, Father Collins, the Dominican sisters and the students are justifiably proud of these new buildings that have made it possible for a parochial school to be added to the growth and progress of Tecumseh.

And we are proud of their efforts, too. To all of those whose cooperative efforts made possible this fine educational institution for 120 students, we say congratulations and it is our sincere hope that the Sisters and their students will enjoy many and varied educational experiences this year and in the future years to come.

Tax Law Aids Conservation

Michigan farmers have a more attractive deal in saving soil conservation costs under the new tax law.

Extension Soil Conservationist Russell G. Hill points out that farmers can now charge off up to 25 per cent of their gross farm income for various soil improvement practices.

Included are leveling, grading, terracing and contour furrowing; digging diversion channels and drainage ditches; controlling and protecting waterways, outlets and ponds; building earthen dams; planting windbreaks and eradicating brush.

ASKED IF HE COULD summarize the great lessons of history in a single volume, famed historian Charles A. Beard replied that he could do it in four sentences—

1. Whom the gods would destroy, they first make mad with power.
2. The mills of the gods grind slowly but exceedingly fine.
3. The bee fertilizes the flower it robs.
4. When it is dark enough, you can see the stars.

"This is Mrs. Walters," a lady said on the phone recently. "We wonder if you can come out to talk with us. We think we will want to sell our home."

"Okay," I said, "I'll be there soon."

When I drove up, I recognized the property. It was just a few years old and quite attractive.

I introduced myself and we discussed the possible sale of their home.

"We want to give you an exclusive listing," she said.

"That's fine," I replied, "but may I ask how you happened to single us out?"

Mrs. Walters smiled and said, "I've been reading your column in the paper. Frankly, we figured you must have an up and coming real estate office."

"Mrs. Walters," I replied, you've got the right outfit. And with the kind of cooperation you've shown we'll sell your house for you."

Well, this is the story. And we did sell her house. Now how about YOU—do you want to be next?

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

"Twenty-five pounds of red-fire burned on the top of the standpipe and rockets and Roman candles went off all over town when the special train pulled in with the team." Even when the Tigers win the pennant, Tecumseh does not celebrate like that now-a-days. But national league victories are impersonal and far-away compared to the one that inspired the red-fire. That was Tecumseh's own team and they had just won the decisive game of a five game series with Mt. Clemens—the victory that was the beginning of the famous Southern Michigan League.

That league began in 1902 and it began with a bet. Tecumseh had had a ball club of sorts for years. In fact "Tecumseh had always been a baseball town." The very first Heralds in 1852 carry accounts of games. A faded picture of 1876 shows the "Blue Stockings" in visored caps and uniforms rather like long underwear. One of them, a slender stripling was Fred Rosacrans, father of Leon, and there is a mustached Web Frazier, who must have been great uncle to Bill Wright.

Those early teams of course were made up of local talent but, about the turn of the century, there was a loosely organized "Independent League" in this area and the sporting element of the village—which was a sizable section—raised funds to hire a few professional players.

Tecumseh played any team that would schedule a game. Adrian was the arch enemy, of course, but there was one long remembered day when "the whole town" went by special train to Lima, Ohio to see their team win before a then enormous crowd of 3500 fans.

Mt. Clemens was one of the towns that took Tecumseh on — and was soundly defeated. As might be expected, feeling ran high after that game. To be beaten by such a little village hurt the pride of the Mt. Clemens fans and one of their club managers said he was willing to wager it could not happen again. That was a challenge not to be ignored by the Tecumseh enthusiasts and the bet was on. Raynor Brewer quickly raised the $500 named, which was real money in 1900, and the stakes were held by Joe Jackson, then sports editor of the Detroit News.

A five game series was arranged and Jackson, evidently intrigued by the David and Goliath aspect of the match, played it up in banner headlines. The result was state wide interest and when the series went to little Tecumseh it was baseball history — there was a special train and redfire burned on the standpipe.

Enthusiasm was too great to let the matter rest there and other towns, or rather cities, wanted to get into the picture. So the Southern Michigan League was formed, with Joe Jackson and the News blowing on the coals of civic pride.

Mt. Clemens, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Bay City, Battle Creek, Saginaw, Flint, and Tecumseh made up the league members. The other seven were all fairly good sized cities. Tecumseh with its 2400 citizens was a pigmy in contrast. But statistics did not list fighting spirit nor the fact that spirit extended far beyond the village boundaries. Money was raised to hire players and buy equipment, the "Tecumseh Indians" became a real ball club and for five years Tecumseh was baseball mad.

A ball park was purchased and a "grand stand" erected on the now built over area south of Patterson street at the south end of Maiden Lane. The club was always in debt for Tecumseh crowds were naturally comparatively small. Only when they played — and won — in a large park did they get enough to clear expenses. But deficits were cheerfully made up for to the loyal rooters the important point was that they won.

Three times out of the five years from 1902 to 1907, Tecumseh, the baby of the league, led all the rest. It was during those years that the slogan was coined which, over much of Michigan came to mean Tecumseh, and which for years hung in light across Chicago street—the slogan "The Biggest Little Town on Earth."

(There will be more about the "Indians" next week).

Christian Science Services Listed

How understanding of the spiritual nature of reality brings enduring health, harmony, and progress — will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Reality" includes the following from I Peter (1:24,25): "For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away: But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which the gospel is preached unto you."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following correlative passage will be read (335:27-29): "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspiritual can be real, harmonious, or eternal."

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (1:31). "As it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord."

Goodwill Needs More Goods

A rush on clothing and shoes following Labor Day has left Goodwill's stockpile low, Mrs. Earl Burch, 201 W. Shawnee, Goodwill's local representative, said today.

This is the time of the year when many people find that their fall clothes are outgrown or out of style and supplant their wardrobe with new apparel. Mrs. Burch suggests that all clothing which you intend to throw away be given to Goodwill Industries to help their handicapped workers stay on the job during the slow fall and winter months ahead. Like the automobile industry, Goodwill Industries has its seasonal declines when employment of the handicapped is impaired by lack of material.

You can insure jobs for the handicapped workers at Goodwill by calling your local Goodwill representative. The Goodwill trucks will be in Tecumseh, Clinton, Britton and Macon on Tuesday, September 28. In Tecumseh call Mrs. Burch at 868. In Clinton call Mrs. Richard Ward at Gladstone 6-4148. Britton residents may call Wm. Kusser 2121, and in Macon call Mrs. Melvin Travis at 26.

Late summer and early fall — when the nights are cooler and the fall rains start — that's the ideal lawn-making time.

RUSSELL STEINKE, TO REMAIN IN TECUMSEH

Russell Steinke, Ann Arbor artist, who for several years has spent his summers on the shore of the Red Pond, has become a permanent resident of Tecumseh. He has purchased the Chilson cabin on the southwest bank and is remodeling it into a studio and year-round home.

Mr. Steinke, who had a most successful exhibition at the Hudson store in Detroit last year, will have a showing at the Rackham building in Ann Arbor beginning Oct. 10. Four artists and a ceramist will make up the exhibition which will last two weeks.

As he will be in Tecumseh this winter, Mr. Steinke plans to hold classes for local art students.

He will also be art instructor at the High School Adult education evening course.

The Home Demonstrator

By JOSEPHINE BRIGHENTI
HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

The first meeting of the Home Economics Extension year was held Tuesday, Sept. 14, in the Ridge Auditorium, Adrian College.

The morning session was devoted to an Officers Training Meeting.

Officers from the 76 Home Demonstration Groups were present.

The groups organized since last Officers Training meeting were welcomed into the Club. From the Northwest District, came the Addison Community Extension Group, the Merry Homemakers, the Pinhookers and the Turnpike Extension Club. From the Northeast, Around the Block and the Main Street Club. From the Southwest, the Bean Creek Valley and Three Lakes Extension Club, and from the Southeast, the Bend of the River, Variety, Southlands and the Standard Women's Extension Club. At the present time, there are 20 groups in the Northwest District; 17 groups in the Northeast; 20 groups in the Southwest; and 19 groups in the Southeast District.

In the morning, the group of approximately 350 officers were introduced to the 1953-54 members of the Executive Board. A tribute of appreciation was extended to all members for their accomplishments for their loyalty, good will, and untiring efforts to make the Lenawee County Extension program one that would meet the needs and desires of ladies interested in their home, family and community.

Many thanks were expressed to the outgoing Executive Board members who had fulfilled their duties so diligently.

Mrs. Claude Raymond who served as Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Gobba, who served as 1st Vice Chairman, and Mrs. Harold Broderick who served as County Recreation Chairman.

A welcome was extended to the newly elected members who were chosen by members of their district to serve on the Executive Board: Mrs. John Marvin from the Northwest District; Mrs. Hugh Mitchell from the Northeast District. The two members re-elected for a second term are: Mrs. Robert Delker from the Southeast District and Mrs. Fred Bradish from the Southwest District. The County Recreation Chairman appointed by the Board is Mrs. Albert Smith.

The 1954-55 members of the Executive Board are as follows: County Chairman, Mrs. Robert Delker; 1st Vice Chairman, Mrs. Fred L. Bradish; 2nd Vice Chairman, Mrs. Ward Bettis; Historian, Mrs. John Quigley; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Curtis Green; Assistant Secretary and Treasurer Mrs. W. E. Dudley; Community Chairmen, Mrs. John Marvin, Mrs. Hugh Mitchell; Recreation Chairman, Mrs. Albert Smith; Past Chairman, Mrs. R. K. Britain.

At the morning meeting all Chairman and Vice Chairmen were briefed for their office by Mrs. Robert Delker, Mrs. Fred Bradish and Mrs. Ward Bettis.

The Secretaries, Treasurers, and News Reporters met with Mrs. Claude Raymond, Mrs. Curtis Green, and Mrs. W. E. Dudley.

The Community Chairmen and Project leaders met with Miss Jo Brighenti, Mrs. Harold Broderick, Mrs. John Marvin, and Mrs. Hugh Mitchell.

The program books were in charge of Mrs. Ernest Gobba, Mrs. John Quigley, Mrs. Albert Smith, and Mrs. Charlotte Ambrose.

At noon, Mrs. Norman Kleinst, Mrs. Leroy Wilson, Mrs. Lawrence Reis, were in charge of serving a beverage for those who enjoyed a picnic lunch in the "Kennel."

The afternoon program was one we will remember for some time.

Mrs. Robert Delker, County Chairman presided. The meeting opened with a musical interlude by Mrs. Cloyd Lusk. This was followed by an impressive installation ceremony, led by Miss Jo Brighenti, Home Demonstration Agent, at which time all Board and local members were installed.

We were very proud of our 4-H members on the program. They are a sample of our fine young people in Lenawee County. Miss Joanne Ruesink, a member of the West Adrian Livewires 4-H Club, accompanied by her sister Kathleen Ruesink, a music major from Oberlin College, shared their fun in directing groop singing for all.

Miss Sandra Copeland, a member of the Clinton Livestock 4-H Club was superb in her simplicity. Sandra, a 4-H State winner in the Public Speaking Contest, talked about the meaning of the Pledge to the American Flag. "This I Pledge," as Sandra gave it should be heard by everyone.

Our speaker for the afternoon, Dr. Robert D. Richards, pastor of Newberg Methodist Church in Livonia, too, was inspired. Dr. Richards' talk was most impressive interspersed with humor and pathos. He has a keen sense of humor and a message for everyone especially in these time of National unrest. Dr. Richards came to the United States 28 years ago. Prior to coming he was a coal miner in Wales, Great Britain. His first stop in these United States was Detroit where he worked in an auto factory, where he became aware of the United States as a land of opportunity and took advantage of it. He attended Detroit Institute of Technology, Albion College, and Northwestern University. He made us doubly aware that we should count our many blessings.

At the request of several women he sang a solo, the National Anthem of Wales in Welsh and English. Everyone was delighted.

Singing is what each one of us should cultivate. If you haven't read or seen "How Green Was My Valley" by Richard Llewellyn, put it on your reading list. It will help you to better appreciate our very fine speaker, Dr. Richards.

400 Persons See Cardinal Bless New Catholic School

More than 400 persons saw His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney bless St. Elizabeth parish's new school Sunday at dedication services held at the church and school.

At the church services they heard the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carrell F. Deady, PhD., superintendent of the Parochial Schools of the Archdiocese of Detroit explain the goals of the new school.

"Your children will learn more than the state prescribes," he said. "They will learn reading, writing, spelling, history, geography, grammar and rhetoric in abundance.

"But under the sisters of St. Dominic, who are trained under state provisions, your children also will learn religious virtues and practices.

"The sisters will administer to their minds, their hearts and their souls.

"And your children will learn to love their country and, above all, they will learn to love their God."

His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney congratulated the Rev. Father Thomas Collins, pastor of St. Elizabeth Church, and the parish on their marked accomplishment.

"And I also congratulate the Dominican sisters and I am grateful for their teaching."

"This school," he continued, "should be an extension of the family, including its religious heritage."

St. Elizabeth's Choir, directed by Wallace Whiting, sang for the services.

Ushers were Robert Wallace, Paul Burns, Ford Mudgett, Harvey Wilson, Dr. R. C. Limes, Kenneth Connair, Robert Sage and Dr. A. J. Phelan.

Major ministers for the blessing of the school were the Rev. Father Michael G. Collins of Harper Woods; the Rev. Father Lambert M. LaVoy of Erie; the Rev. Father John A. Ross of Garden City; the Rev. Father Harold Kerby of Adrian and the Rev. Father Joseph Bruck of Adrian.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Joseph M. Breitenbeck, J.C.L., secretary of the Cardinal, was master of ceremonies.

Minor ministers were the Rev. Father George Gaynor of Adrian; the Rev. Father Edgar Szmanski, Boysville Chaplain; the Rev. Father Lewis M. Ellis of Clinton and the Rev. Father Lasalle Lenk of the Irish Hills.

They were assisted by Michael McCann, Tom Tressler, Douglas Hoffman and Harold Weakley.

After the church services an open house was held in the church, school and convent.

George A. Rathbun, toastmaster, introduced these persons who made brief remarks:

H. H. Hanna, mayor of Tecumseh, said: "Congratulations on accomplishing your fine goal. Your buildings are a wonderful asset to the community and the training in good character you are giving your children is even more important."

Sam Sisson displays his gourds

Sam Sisson Raises Gourds For Hobby

Sam Sisson, 3624 Munger road, has quite a hobby.

He raises and varnishes gourds for decorative centerpieces.

Sam has been doing this for four years now and his customers keep coming back for more of the gourds.

This year he had nine plants and he harvested 152 gourds. Twelve seeds were planted to a hill. As soon as they started to grow, he put them on racks. None of the plants were thinned.

Sam had to spray constantly to keep down a beetle that burrows into the gourds.

It takes gourds 65 days to mature. Some folks leave them on the vines until frost hits but Sam started picking his the third week in August.

They are picked when they are hard. You can test for hardness by trying to put your fingernails into them. If juice forms on the gourd, it is not ready.

After picking the gourds they have to dry out for another week. Then they are varnished. Some folks think that Sam also paints his gourds because of their varied colors and patterns. But this is a natural process. The varnish seals the gourds and they will last indefinitely.

Sam's grandfather, Mart Hendershot who used to live in Macon, also raised gourds.

"When I was seven years old I remember a dipper for the well that grand-dad made from a large white gourd," Sam said, "and it lasted for a long time."

"But perhaps the most famous gourd is that used by Xavier Cugat, the rhumba king. This gourd is drilled out and b-b shot is put in."

Pumpkin Contest Added to "El" Hallowe'en Party

Something new has been added to the elementary school Hallowe'en party this year.

In addition to the costume contest, prizes also will be given for cutting out and decorating jack-o-lanterns. A special section of the bleachers will be used for this display.

The party will be held on the recreation field Hallowe'en night It will start with a costume parade and three prizes will be awarded in each grade class.

Ladies from the business and professional women's club will act as judges. They are Mrs. Mel Partridge, Mrs. Archie Porter and Mrs. J. M. Artman.

Cider and doughnuts will be served.

The youth committee of the junior chamber of commerce, with John Hamilton, as chairman, is working out details for the teen-age party which will be held in Central School gym Hallowe'en night.

A band from the Jackson Federation of Musicians has been signed for the dance. This is for students from the seventh grade and up.

Prizes will be awarded.

Free hot dogs and cokes will be served.

The parties are sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce with aid from the Community Fund, Exchange Club, Rotry Club, Legion, VFW, Jaycees and BPW.

Hal Kelso of the Rotary Club and Ed Nelson of the Exchange Club are co-chairmen of the elementary school party.

REALLY HAD QUITE A TIME chatting with Red Dickinson at the PTA meeting Thursday. Red was the same Red Dickinson that we high school kids cheered at Hillsdale College football games in the mid thirties. Red and I reminisced all over the place and he inadvertently pointed out that besides playing football and baseball he was interested in extra-curricular activities such as wading in the beautiful fountain in front of Central Hall.

CONGRATULATIONS TO ALL the Tecumseh area young folks who garnered prizes for their exhibits at the Lenawee County Fair. All of you did a grand job.

BILL DIXON BROUGHT IN A Florida daily newspaper that was only slightly larger than the HERALD. A relative sent the St. Petersburg Times Sunshine Skyway souvenir edition for Sept. 6 to Bill. The paper has 17 sections and 278 pages! And I used to think it took a long time to read the Sunday edition of the New York Times. The St. Petersburg Times, incidentally, promises folks a free paper for every day the sun doesn't shine. I am not in the employ of the Florida Chamber of Commerce but, it is said, the paper has never given away a free paper.

GAME HIGHLIGHTS: Monroe Catholic Central has quite a field. It has steel bleachers that really are something. But its public address system left a lot to be desired. It sputtered. So

WASH 65 CARS

Exchange Club members, using an assembly line approach, washed 65 cars on Evans street Saturday afternoon.

Church Needs Plat Approval Before It Can Start Building

Before the parish of the Missionary Baptist Church can build a new church on their property in Sunset Meade subdivision they must first get their property plat approved.

This was the outcome of a public meeting held in the council chambers Monday night.

Attended by 40 persons, including some members of the parish and some residents in the area who have signed a petition opposing the church building, the meeting had standing room only with some folks standing on the stairs to the council chambers and straining their ears to hear.

The Rev. Edgar Owens, from Jackson, who is pastor of the church, asked what procedure his church would have to go through before a permit to build is granted.

Councilman R. H. Moore explained that when the area was originally subdivided a parkway was planned for the spot where the church plans to build.

"Since there is some question about the plat, we can do nothing until it is approved," he said.

Councilman Moore told the Rev. Owens that the plat must first come from Claire Beland who sold the property to the church.

Then it must go to the city clerk, the county clerk, the county surveyor and have a final approval from the attorney general.

After this is all accomplished, he continued, you will have to have an architect's drawing and the plans and specifications will have to go to the city manager.

The city manager said he had told the Rev. Owens weeks ago that he could not get a permit until he had the plat approved.

PTA Reception Attended By 300

The annual reception for teachers of the Tecumseh Public Schools was given Thursday evening in the high school gym by the Parent-Teachers Association and was attended by 300 persons.

President, Mrs. E. J. Crawford, welcomed the guests and briefly outlined the plan for the future individual P.T.A. meetings to be held at each Tecumseh school. Supt. James McDowell was introduced and he introduced the principals who in turn presented their teachers from each school.

The total number of persons employed in the schools, including teachers, secretaries, custodians and cafeteria employees, is 73.

The program was opened with a tap dance by Jeanie Osworth, Connie Godzina, Marilyn Helzerman, and Carol Groeb, followed by a piano solo by Joan Kempf and ended with two vocal solos by Diane Woodward.

After the program, refreshments were served by the officers of the association consisting of Mrs. Crawford, president; Mrs. Wilbur Andrews, vice-president; Mrs. Wallace Whiting, teacher vice-president; Mrs. Harold Clark, secretary; Mrs. Wallace Rutherford, treasurer; Mrs. Wendell Scutt, historian; and Mrs. Laine Holden, parliamentarian.

Large Crowd Attends 8th Band Festival

The largest crowd ever to attend turned out Tuesday night for the eighth annual county band festival held at the recreation field

Twelve marching bands from 12 county high schools depicted the history of 12 states with 600 musicians taking part.

Theme of this year's festival was "America, the Beautiful."

Narrated by the Rev. B. O. Bashore, the spectacle was sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce with Clair Camburn as executive director.

All the bands performed brilliantly. Several numbers stood out when the lights were turned out and lights on musicians' caps helped to spell out the story the band was telling.

Toward the end Morenci and Blissfield bands joined and then all 12 bands massed to play "America, the Beautiful" and the "Star Spangled Banner" with Richard Wegner of the Clinton band as guest director.

The color guard of the Hall-Slater Post VFW raised the colors before the performance and a group from the Adrian VFW played "To the Colors."

Members of the Exchange Club and the Rotary Club helped to take tickets and Tecumseh police directed traffic in the congested area.

Karl Schneider Will Open Office at 109 N. Evans Oct. 6

Tecumseh folks no longer will have to go out of town to buy license plates for their cars.

After several residents had for years attempted to land a Secretary of State's branch office here, their efforts were rewarded this week when Owen J. "Pat" Cleary, secretary of state, announced that he was opening a new department branch office in Tecumseh.

Karl R. Schneider of Tecumseh will be branch manager of the new office which is tentatively set to open Wednesday, Oct. 6, at 109 N. Evans street, next door to the Tecumseh Finance Co. Mr. Schneider is manager of the finance company.

In his news release announcing the opening of the Tecumseh branch office, the secretary of state said:

"Since assuming office, I have been conducting an exhaustive survey of the efficiency and economy of the Department of State, including the operations of the department's branch office.

"The addition of this new branch office in the distribution of license plates and transaction of automobile titles and license material is in line with my policy of endeavoring to extend service where needed throughout the State of Michigan.

"The problem of establishing an additional branch office in Lenawee County has been under consideration for some time, and following a survey it was decided that the situation in this area warranted the establishment of a branch."

Actually the branch office here might never have been opened if it had not been for the work of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce which for the past two months has kept the objective alive.

Jack Osburn, president of the group, was instrumental in working out the final details of the transaction which made it possible for the office.

He worked in close cooperation with Lenawee County Republicans and with Mr. Cleary's representative before final approval was made.

The choice of Mr. Schneider as branch manager was made after other applicants — John Saling, Del King and Herb Dillon — withdrew their applications for the office.

All three men said they did not care who had the office as long as Tecumseh got it.

County Republican Chairman J. C. Beardsley also had to withdraw his recommendation of John Saling before the final transaction could be worked out.

The appointment of Mr. Schneider did not come as a surprise. He long has been active in the Republican Party and he was instrumental in working out the plans for Secretary of State Cleary's visit in Tecumseh before the primary election last Aug.

Dr. James Penman Died Sunday

Dr. William James Penman, Tecumseh dentist for the past 22 years, died in his sleep early Sunday morning at his home, 9384 Newburg road.

He had been seriously ill for only a few days.

Dr. Penman was 76 years old having been born, June 15, 1878, in Leamington, Canada, the son of William A. and Margaret Best Penman.

He was a graduate of the Detroit College of Medicine with the class of 1900 and practiced dentistry in Detroit before he established an office in Tecumseh.

He was a member of Sigma Delta Sigma Fraternity and of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church.

Dr. Penman and Lovina Julia Schreder were married, June 8, 1904, in her family farm home where they have lived since coming to Tecumseh. They celebrated the golden anniversary of their marriage last June.

Beside Mrs. Penman, the doctor is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ross Humphery of Berkley and Mrs. Frank Shier of Clawson, Mich.; two granddaughters, Ann and Nancy Shier; and two sisters, Anna E. Penman of Chula Vista, Calif., and Mrs. J. B. Pollock of Detroit. His parents preceded him in death.

The Rev. George Walworth conducted the funeral services, Tuesday afternoon at the Green Funeral home and burial was in Brookside cemetery. Bearers were Ernest Harris, Llewellyn Sisson, C. R. Taylor, Robert McCoy, Earl McNeil and William Beardsley.

Monroe CC Beats Indians in First League Game

A bevy of small but fast backs, behind a hard charging line gave Monroe Catholic Central a 13-6 win over Tecumseh High School Friday night.

Played at Monroe, the first Southeastern Michigan League game balanced the Indians' record for the young season at one won and one lost.

After sparring around for most of the first quarter, the Indians climaxed a 50-yard drive with Richie Davis on a perfectly executed play taking a pitchout from Dick Neitling around his own left end for the td. The clock showed two minutes to play in the first quarter when Davis scooted into the end zone from 12 yards out.

The key play in this march was a 30-yard pass play from Neitling to Davis.

Before the second quarter was three minutes old, Monroe began a relentless, slashing attack that covered 50 yards for its first score. With Viglotti and DeFiore, a couple of fast and shifty runners lugging the ball, the Catholics gained Tecumseh's one foot line where LaBeau sneaked over for the score.

DeFiore then droped back and booted a perfect extra point to put Monroe in the lead, 7-6.

The running of these two backs kept their team deep in Indian territory for the remainder of the first half. Only some hefty bootingby Marv Yoakum, substituting for the injured Denny Farey, out with a bad knee, kept Monroe from doing further damage.

After an exchange of punts in the early moments of the third period, Tecumseh fumbled one of the boots and Monroe recovered on the Indian 35-yard stripe. On the first play Castellioni, another fast pony, twisted and smashed all the way for the score.

Catholic Central threatened again moments later when a high pass from center made Yoakum jump into the air for the ball. Off balance, he kicked a short kick that went out of bounds on his own 28.

But the Indians rallied and with Jim Bowser and Bob Benham, who was easily the outstanding Indian lineman, leading the team, smashed the attack.

After a Yoakum punt to the Monroe 39, the Catholics again started a goal-ward march with DeFiore dashing the last 19 yards for the score. But this time Monroe had an illegal formation and

A lion met a tiger
As they drank beside a pool.
Said the tiger, "Tell me why
You're roaring like a fool."
"That's not foolish," said the lion,
With a twinkle in his eyes
"They call me king of all the beasts
Because I advertise."
A rabbit heard them talking.
And ran home like a streak.
He thought he'd try the lion's plan,
But his roar was just a squeak.

Business Women's Club Honors Memory of Mrs. Anna Hardenburgh

A service honoring the memory of Anna Hardenburgh, charter member and active worker in the Tecumseh Business and Professional Woman's Club was an impressive part of the first fall meeting of that organization Monday evening. It was conducted by Mrs. Cecile Smith, one of her close friends.

Fifty members were present at the dinner served by the Pythian Sisters in their hall, the new meeting place of the club. Mrs. E. J. Crawford, Mrs. Stephan Illeck, Mrs. Gertrude Golat and the Misses Marcella Gillespie, Michelene Iallaca and Francis Baker were guests. The tables were attractive with autumn flowers.

After a devotional period in charge of Miss Alice Hopkins, there was a short business meeting, conducted by the new president, Mrs. Homer Colson. The finance committee announced an auction to be held at the next meeting and requested that each member bring a discarded but usable article to be sold.

A communication was read from the Adrian Business and Professional Woman's Club inviting the group to join them at a 6:30 dinner meeting at the Tecumseh Country Club Tuesday, Oct. 19 when Professor Floyd Brownell from the Michigan Memorial Phoenix Project will speak on the subject "Peacetime Application of Atomic Energy." Those planning to go are requested to notify Mrs. John Brooks, 110 W. Albert St., Adrian.

It was voted to sponsor a Girl Scout troop as in the past and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Boltz reported on a Chamber of Commerce meeting regarding the Halloween party. Three club members were appointed to act as judges for that event. They are Mrs. M. G. Partridge, Mrs. Archie Porter and Mrs. J. M. Artman.

"Let's Get Acquainted" was the theme of the entertaining fun session which formed the evening program, and under the able inspiration of Mrs. Ray Sluyter, Mrs. Roy VanWinkle, Mrs. Archie Porter and Mrs. J. M. Artman much progress was made toward that goal.

Hostesses who were responsible for the meeting's success were Mrs. Vevia Anderson, Mrs. Ruth LaPrad and Mrs. J. M. Artman. The date of the next meeting will be Oct. 24.

Cub Pack 73 Is Reorganized

A meeting for the reorganization of Cub Scout Pack 73 was held Monday evening at the Fellowship Center. It was well attended by parents of the pack members.

Eli Dickerson and Tom Hamilton of Adrian, representatives of the district council, were present and explained Cubbing. They also helped to organize the committees for the following year.

Those who volunteered to take part were Erwin Richardson, cub master; Orville Bishop, assistant cub master, Fred Dickinson, treasurer; James Freckelton, committee chairman, David Higgins, projects and materials; Don Parrott, institutional representative and Mrs. Edward Harper, awards and publicity. Robert Bonner continues as secretary until a new person can be found to take that position.

Den mothers who will serve are Mrs. Vern Manwaring, Den 1; Mrs. Charles Stephenson, Den 3; Mrs. Orville Bishop, Den 8; Mrs. Charles Squires, Den 10; and Mrs. Howard Wilson Jr., Den 11.

Assistant den mothers are Mrs. Fred Dickinson, Den 1; Mrs. Leroy Titley, Den 3; Mrs. Erwin Richardson, Den 8; Mrs. James Osburn, Den 10 and Mrs. Fred Oberlin, Den 11.

Francis Packard of Troop 73 Boy Scouts will take charge of placing den chiefs in each den.

Friday morning at 9:30 all den mothers and assistant mothers will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Stephenson at 107 S. Van Buren. There will be a pack committee meeting, Oct. 11 at 7:30 p. m. at Fellowship Center.

Girl Scout Troops Resume Meetings

Fifty-four girls attended the first year Brownie Scout Rally in in the Youth House of the Baptist Church Monday afternoon for one hour after school.

Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Anderson they learned the Brownie Promise and handshake. Sally Rentschler taught them a Brownie song and accompanied them on the recorder.

They were served refreshments by Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. Howard Morris, Mrs. Ogland Lay, Mrs. Edward Bunge and Mrs. Amia Grigg. After receiving their troop room assignments and a few instructions on Brownie work, from Mrs. T. Rentschler, their meeting was adjourned.

According to Mrs. Truman Rentschler, president of the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association, most of the Girl Scouts troops have resumed meetings and she is hopeful that leaders will be secured for troops 2 and 6 very soon.

The association estimates that there will be seven troops of Girl Scouts, two troops of second year Brownies and four troops of first year Brownies. The calendar of special activities will be ready for publication in the near future.

The work on the rest room in the Scout Cabin located in Elliott Park is progressing satisfactorily and will be completed soon. This needed improvement was partially financed with $100 from the profits of the Girl Scout cooky sales last spring.

Friends Sunday School Contest Begins Sunday

Beginning Sunday, Oct. 3 and extending for six weeks through Sunday, Nov. 7, the Tecumseh Friends Sunday School will be engaged in a Sunday School contest with the largest of the churches in the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends.

The theme for this contest, selected by the local committee is the "Fall Round-Up" with plans being to follow through with this theme by using western and cowboy ideas. The front of the auditorium is now colorfully decorated with a message reminding the Sunday School of the contest.

There will be interesting activities each Sunday morning during the Sunday School hour as well as other activities during the week in connection with this effort. Next Sunday morning, the "Lone Ranger" and his horse "Sliver" are going to gallop in for the festivities.

The scoring of the contest is to be based 50 per cent upon the attendance record, 25 per cent upon efforts put forth to encourage visitation, Scripture memorization and prayer and 25 per cent upon a scrap book recording the contest to be submitted at the end to the Yearly Meeting contest committee for judging.

Asked concerning the contest, the pastor of the local Friends Church, the Rev. Edward Escolme remarked in a Western drawl, (if you can imagine a Western drawl with an English accent), "Well, podner, we'd jus' like ta let all Chief Tecumseh's Indians know that we at our corral aims to be real friendly-like to all Indians, and thar's a warm reception waitin' for 'em if they'd like to stop by an' give us a helpin' hand towards a winnin' this here contest!"

Grade School News

First Grade
Mrs. Elsie Neitling

After a long and happy vacation, we are back at school. We are in a different school, in a different room, and have a different teacher.

There are thirty-two children in our room, sixteen boys and sixteen girls.

Mr. Greene has shown us the fire siren and told us all about it. We will have fire drills during the year so that we would know exactly what to do in case of fire.

We are telling stories, listening to stories, learning to follow from left to right and by the time you hear from us again, many of us will be able to read from a book.

We visited Mrs. Preston's kindergarten last week. They showed us how very well they could keep time to the music with their bright colored shakers.

James Wilbar brought his Teddy-bear to school. It winds up and plays a tune. Many boys and girls have brought their favorite toys to show us.

We choose new committees each week to help keep our room in order. This is fun and we like to feel that we are helping to make our room a clean and cheerful place to live in.

West Branch
Mrs. Buttolph—First Grade

The twenty-six boys and girls that are in our room are having a fine time studying about pets. Tuesday we filled our aquarium. In it we put five goldfish, some snails, seaweed, and many pretty shells. Jacie Filter loaned us her turtles. We take turns feeding the pets.

Recently Virginia Smock had her birthday. We all enjoyed the treat her mother sent for all of us.

We are all working very hard learning to make our numbers. So far we can make them up to 8.

In printing we are having fun doing a story about a little boy called Nixie.

Patterson School
Mrs. Updike—Kindergarten

We have sixty-one children in our kindergarten. We have been very busy these first weeks becoming acquainted with all of our new friends and learning their names. We have learned that we always have a better time when we take turns doing things and listening when others are telling us interesting things. Mrs. Updike is very happy and proud of all of us because we have such good manners and remember to be polite.

Our big-lolly-pop tree has been fun. When a boy or girl has a birthday they pick the lolly-pops for all of their friends. The next day they always seem to be more lolly-pops on the tree. We like to pretend that they grow there although we know they really do not.

Some beautiful pictures have been painted on our easles and the stories that are told about the pictures are fun to listen to.

We know our friends Mr. Greene and Mr. Kaiser when they come into our room. Jerry Palmer's mother visited us one day and Norman Beal's mother and brother came for his birthday party. We enjoy having visitors any time. Terry Packard's mother and sister helped us celebrate Terry's birthday.

Kindergarten
Central Building—Mrs. Preston

There are 34 children in our kindergarten section. We are having so much fun getting acquainted and playing with all our new toys.

The little room adjoining our room makes a fine "play house" for us. We want to thank Patty Wilson's grandmother, Barry Williamson's mother, Carol Hamilton's mother and Patty Purkey's grandmother for covering the basket bassinettes for our baby dolls.

We want to thank Merton Boss and Barry Williamson's mothers for sending us cookies to have with our milk.

Rhythm work with our "shakers" has been very popular with all of us. We feel very grown up for we have given a program for another grade room.

Soon we are going to go on a tour of the building for we wonder about everything that is in our school.

Brownville
Miss Bugbee—Kindergarten

Welcome from Brownville!

The big day finally arrived when we could start school! There are forty-six of us trying to get acquainted here.

Our room was redecorated this summer so we have a very pleasant place in which to be.

We have already learned several songs and rhymes and enjoy hearing stories. We have pretended to be butterflies, soldiers, horses, and skippers.

Most of us went to the fair so we have had fun talking these things over with our friends. We also drew pictures of the things we saw.

"Our Family" has taken us much of our sharing time. We talked about our mothers and dads and the work which they do, also our brothers and sisters. We also included our pets.

Linda Marsh brought a caterpillar to show us.

We'll have more news for you next month.

Former Resident Dies In Detroit

Mrs. Wilson was the daughter of Nehemiah and Mary Elizabeth Satterthwaite Sutton and was born and spent her girlhood in the old Sutton home, which centers the development known as Tecumseh Acres.

Her husband, who was for many years associated with Burnham, Stopel Co. in Detroit, and a son, James Jr., preceded her in death. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Wood Williams, Mrs. Ford Ballantyne and Mrs. Charles Hodges; six grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren. Relatives in this area include the Satterthwaite, Comfort, Mead, Naser and Swan families.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ballantyne, in Grosse Pointe.

Michigan Legion Leaders Congratulate New National Commander

Top Michigan Legionnaires were among the first to congratulate newly elected national American Legion commander, Seaborn Collins of New Mexico, following recent elections held at the 36th annual Legion convention in Washington, D.C. where he defeated Michigan's candidate, J. Addington Wagner of Battle Creek, and Dan Daniels of Virginia on the first ballot. Collins, a WW2 veteran, is the first Legionnaire from his state chosen to lead the world's largest veterans' organization of some three million members. Above from left are Wagner, Collins, and the Michigan Legion's state commander, Kent T. Lundgren of Menominee, Michigan.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

"Oh God, help us to win, but if in Thy inscrutable wisdom, Thou willest us not to win, then O God, make us good losers." That was the club prayer of the Tecumseh Indians and "Bo" Slear. It was not original, of course. Elbert Hubbard had said it (or something like it) first. But is was the essential philosophy of the big man who managed the team over those highly successful years, and of most of the players and their fans.

Tecumseh was almost fanatical in its enthusiasm for the Indians. Stores closed at 3 p.m. on game days, and a large rooting section made the circuit with the team. Business must have suffered those summers but the town drew the line in one respect—other league cities had Sunday games, but not Tecumseh. One state newspaper commenting on the supporters who traveled with the team described "the moon-faced farmer and his apple-cheeked wife" an apt word picture of "Bill and Anna" Eccles, who were both farmers and ardent fans.

The personnel of the Indians varied over the years. All were professionals after the South Michigan League was formed but in the Independent League days many were college lads, who were paid some princely sum for ostensibly working for a merchant, thus protecting their amateur standing.

All the unmarried players lived at the hotel, which in those railroad days of eight passenger trains a day was one of the best hostelries in the south part of the state. Naturally they were of much interest to the young ladies. In fact the two most glamorous married Tecumseh girls, Vena Elliott, sister of our former mayor, became the wife of Walter "Bo" Slear and Fred Merkle married Ethel Bronson, who lived in Brownville.

Joe Mitchell, catcher, was a Carlisle Indian and the teen age baby-sitters vied for the privilege of caring for their "papoose" while Mrs. Mitchell watched her husband play. The feminine gallery was always large and vocal. Driving to the park in buggy or surrey and watching from that vantage point was the accepted procedure.

Bo Slear seems to be the personality remembered with the most affection and respect. Part of this was due to an act of bravery which earned for him the Carnegie medal of honor. A crowd was skating on the Red Pond when a lad of 11 broke through the ice in very deep water. He had gone down for the third time when Slear reached the spot. Skates and all he dove under the ice and brought the boy to the surface. Tecumseh gave him a gold watch in appreciation, in addition to the more famous medal, and he is still enshrined in the grateful memory of the boy, Harry Creger of 517 N. Union street, who does not have a very clear recollection of that day but well remembers Bo Slear.

Teal, Doty, Fletcher, Wagner and Preston are names that linger with those who knew the South Michigan League but it remained for first baseman, Fred Merkle to get Tecumseh into Baseball's Hall of Fame—by the back door.

The team had been "scouted" by the big leagues and at the end of the third winning season — 1907 — the New York Giants paid Tecumseh $2500 for Merkle. The rest is history, for after two or three successful years, he made the famous "Bonehead" Merkle play that cost the Giants the National title.

Getting a safe hit that sent in what would have been the winning run, he neglected to touch second base and the Giants lost.

The sale of Merkle brought about a minor miracle. The management decided to quit while they were at the top. The business men who had supplied the sinews of war and the officials who had given of their time so long and enthusiastically: the Andersons, Fay and John, Raynor Brewer, Herb Temple, Wade Jones, Joe Smith, "Dolph" Heesen and the others saw the handwriting on the wall. The other players were sold. The club franchise was sold to Adrian, debts were cleared and Tecumseh's days of baseball glory were over.

SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. VAN HOOK

During the funeral services for Mrs. William E. Van Hook, conducted by the Rev. B. O. Bashore at the Green Funeral Home last Friday afternoon, Mrs. Harley McConnell sang "Beyond the Sunset".

Bearers were Floyd Bryan, Harold Davidson, Fred Sheldon, Alva Meyers, Wayne Patton and Ernest Harris and burial was in Tipton cemetery.

Before you do your fall wardrobe shopping, take inventory of the clothes on hand, urge M.S.C. clothing specialists. Women's wardrob, inventories need to be detailed because they want many combinations and lots of variety. Men can inventory more quickly—and it is a practical way to make the most of every garment for the masculine side of the family, too.

bad, in fact, that an announcement for the dance after the game sounded like this: "Don for dan af me ty clu". Of course this should have sounded like this: "Don't forget the dance after the game at the party club." The sputtering made it impossible for the fans to follow the game, particularly since Monroe had a bunch of Italian boys with names a mile long that were difficult to pronounce without chopping them up . . . There was a large crowd of Tecumseh rooters to cheer the Indians on . . . An official was kicked in the face when he got too close to the action, but he stayed in the game.

THEN THERE'S THE STORY (shaggy dog type) about the two boll weevils who grew up together. One worked hard and got to be a big shot; the other didn't, and remained the lesser of two weevils.

BROOKSIDE CEMETERY is getting a new office building and one of the old buildings is being remodeled. The work continues to make the local cemetery one of the finest in the state.

CERTAINLY PITIED ONE of the local telephone operators last week. She either had a very bad cold or a case of laryngitis. She could hardly say "number, please?"

THE CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT has a problem. Hamilton Gilbert lives in Cement City which is half in Jackson County and half in Lenawee County. His exact address will have to be traced so we will know whether he will be charged the higher rate for his subscription because he may live outside the county. I suppose we could split the difference.

A SMALL HEINZ DOG tried to get into the act at dedication services for St. Elizabeth's School Sunday. First, he, or she, lay in the dirt on what some day will be a fine lawn; then he, or she, walked into the school to see and to inspect the school. The dog finally was escorted out by a small boy.

RIXON & RODGERS OF BRITTON paid the top price of $25 per hundredweight for two carloads of grand champion Herefords at the feeder cattle show and sale at Union Stock Yards in Chicago Friday.

SOMETHING NEW HAS BEEN ADDED. Toothpicks with a peppermint flavor were dispensed at the Jaycee dinner Thursday night. Now you can pick your teeth and settle your stomach at the same time.

AS MRS. CHARLES OSBURN handed out promotional certificates at the First Presbyterian Church's Sunday School rally day Sunday one little shaver, not any taller than the seat he was sitting in, piped: "I want one, too." He got one, too.

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO, The Lining printed a version of the origin of the term "What the Sam Hill." By coincidence the Lapeer County Press also printed the version. Helen Martin, research geologist with the Michigan Department of Conservation, wrote the County Press: "Sam Hill was a surveyor in the employ of Douglass Houghton from 1840 to 1845 and was later employed in the Foster-Whitney survey of the copper regions of the Northern Peninsula. He was a man of vigor with a lusty, vigorous vocabulary—a vocabulary so lusty and vigorous you would refuse to print it.

"For years after Houghton's death he aspired to be State Geologist and on the appointment of Alexander Winchell in 1859, Sam Hill's anger knew no bounds and his vocabulary became even more picturesque and was spewed out on all occasions so that men similarly angered carried their point not with their own vocabularies but by exploding 'What the Sam Hill!'

"Some time after Wincheil's appointment to the office of State Geologist, Sam Hill was elected to the legislature. There he assuaged his anger and appeased his wrath on Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, General Cass and others who had opposed his appointment, by having the beautiful Indian names proposed by Schoolcraft for the northern counties of Michigan changed to the Irish names of Roscommon, Clare, Antrim, Montmorency, Emmet.

"Sam Hill eventually moved to Marshall where he died and, I think, was buried."

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—Ben Franklin said pride is one of our worst enemies. Even when you are humble, he added, you find yourself being proud of it.

SCHOOL

Breitenwischer, vice-president of the board, said: "We extend our congratulations and we welcome the new school for two reasons. First, the school takes the pressure off the crowded conditions of the public schools. Secondly, it contributes to the educational growth of the community."

Representing Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Hickman Price of Ann Arbor said: "The governor deeply regrets that previous committments made months ago made it impossible for him to be here tonight. I am sure that he wishes that all Michigan schools could be as magnificent as this. Your far-sighted planning for future needs puts St. Elizabeth's ahead of the rest. This planning is a wonderful demonstration of public support that will mean so much to the children of this community for many years to come."

Rep. George Meader of Ann Arbor said: "This is a milestone in your history. This building is an indication of your educational vitality."

John Thompson, vice-president and cashier of the United Savings bank, said: "It is an honor and a privilege to take part in this occasion. The building of this school required a great deal of planning, sacrifice and self denial and all of you are to be congratulated."

The Rev. Father John A. Ross, former pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church, now of Garden City, said: "This is indeed a great moment. Tecumseh always has been home to me."

The Rev. Father Lambert M. LaVoy, another former St. Elizabeth pastor now of Erie, said: "When I served here 19 years ago, the parish had 25 families. Today it has 250. I rejoice in your progress."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carrell F. Deady said: "We are here to serve your school and we will bring the best in instructional materials to your school."

The Rev. Father Michael Collins, former pastor of St. Elizabeth's, who is now pastor of the Harper Woods Church, said: "I have waited seven years for this opportunity. And now I am going to make the most of it. Too often donors give funds to Catholic Universities and elementary schools, where character training must begin, are neglected. But Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sage realized the importance of this training in the elementary school and God bless them both for their part in making possible this fine school."

Mr. Rathbun also introduced Ned Krieghoff of the Krieghoff Lenawee Co., general contractors on the buildings. "The company delivered the building without delay," Mr. Rathbun said.

He also thanked Leo Bishop for getting the landscape program under way and he introduced several visiting priests from all over Michigan who attended the services.

Refreshments were served for members of the parish.

FOOTBALL

the penalty nullified the score.

This is where the Indians played their best defensive ball and showed tremendous spirit. Subsequent plays carried the ball to the 7 then Tecumseh dug in, not only holding but pushing the Catholics back to the 12.

And this was also the stage for the Indians' only offensive spark since their opening scoring drive.

Marsh banged to the 25. Neitling passed to Brown for 15 yards. Baker banged over tackle for three and Neitling sneaked for a first down on the 47.

Then Monroe picked off a Neitling pass on their 36 to end the threat.

With less than a minute to play, Monroe decided to play it safe by freezing the ball with the backs sneaking into the line to run out the clock.

The Indians had two lapses that really cost them the game or at least a tie score. When they scored their only td, they attempted the extra point from placement for the first time this year. The team was momentarily rattled and didn't even call time to have the kicking tee brought in.

A defensive lapse cost them the second touchdown and the game. When Castellioni raised his 35-yard dash, several Indians had a hand on him but their attempted tackling was not sharp enough to bring the fast pony down.

Commenting on the game, Coach Lester Runk said: "We were up against an entirely new situation. In the Addison game our inexperience didn't hurt us, but it showed up here.

"We get a couple of injuries, then we are hurt. We just don't have the depth."

Taking nothing away from the Monroe team, he said "They simply outcharged and outplayed us."

"But I think our boys learned a football lesson tonight and they will be a better team for having earned it."

The Indians have an open date Friday which is most welcome by Coach Runk and his assistant Carl Hale. This extra time will give his injured players a breather by giving them a little more time to mend.

And if they can put a little more polish on their interesting passing game to keep the defenses honest, they will have a good weapon to go with their running attack.

Score by quarters:

Tecumseh	6	0	0	0	6
Monroe	7	0	6	0	13

PLAT

"And I told you not to buy the property until you had the plat approved," he added.

Councilman Harold Kelso asked the Rev. Owens why he wanted that certain site for the church.

The Rev. Owens replied that it is near the city. "We wanted a location close to town," he said, "so some of the older folks can attend church."

The Rev. Owens added: "We are not here to hurt anyone. We came here only to defend our constitutional rights."

Councilman Kelso replied: "These people have a right to be heard, too. Our position is to protect the rights of all."

Councilman Kelso told the pastor that some of the folks thought the building would be a basement church and they did not want this to happen in their neighborhood.

The Rev. Owens said that this was not going to develop. He said the cement block church building would have a brick veneer but he was not sure when this final work would be done.

"This may take us two years," he said.

Councilman Roy Titley assured Mrs. Ben Hammack, Sr., that the church building would not affect the possibility of selling her store across from the proposed church.

"The liquor control commission has assured me that the church would have no affect on your license or that of any possible successor," he said.

City attorney J. C. Beardsley said the law reads that a store selling liquor cannot be build within 500 feet of a church. But, he added, this doesn't work both ways. In this case the store was there first.

Councilman Blair Bashore said: "We're in no position to give a further answer until the plat is approved, then it will have to go to the planning commission."

The Missionary Baptist Church now has a congregation numbering 70 persons. It has been a local church three months. The church now holds its meetings in the Pythian Castle Hall at the corner of Pearl and Pottawatamie streets.

The average age of Michigan farmers has declined almost one year in the past decade to 49.9 years, according to an M.S.C. survey.

Social Security Changes

According to Raymond C. Backus, District Manager of the Jackson Social Security Office there are about 3,000 men, women, and children in Lenawee County who will receive increases in their Social Security checks. They are the people over 65 and their dependents and the dependents or survivors of deceased workers who have become entitled to social security benefits.

The credits which these people or their loved ones earned in work under social security have entitled them to the right of receiving their retirement or survivors benefit check each month. The social security beneficiaries now receiving checks will find their checks increased with the checks arriving in October.

This increase has been written into the amended Social Security Act to help bring benefits in line with current earning levels and living costs. All of the people who are going to receive higher benefits will want to know right away now the increase comes and how much it will be.

The first thing which should be pointed out is that this increase is automatic for persons already receiving checks. Beneficiaries don't have to write any letters, forms, or applications for the increase. If you are expecting a September social security check, it will be in the early October mail as usual. And the amount on that check will be higher than your last check.

How much will the increase be? The answer to this question will not be the same for everyone. In the case of a retired worker, the increase will be at least five dollars. And there will be proportionate increases for the dependents or survivors who are receiving their monthly social security payments now.

The minimum monthly benefit amount will be increased from $25 under the old law to $30 for the retired worker and the maximum benefit will be increased from $85 to $98.50. The maximum family benefit which was $168.75 will be $200. No minimum benefit amount will be less than $30 for a retired worker or an only survivor.

The social security law says that the total family benefits cannot exceed 80 per cent of the insured worker's average monthly wage. But under the 1954 amendments this provision cannot reduce the family benefits below $50 or one and a half times the worker's primary insurance amount, whichever amount is larger.

Here is a table for insured workers who are receiving retirement benefits. If the column of figures on the left is the present amount of your benefit, the column on the right will be the new amount on the September check, which will reach you early in October.

Old Amount	Increased Amount
$25.00	$30.00
30.00	35.00
40.00	45.00
50.00	55.00
60.00	65.10
70.00	78.50
80.10	91.90
85.00	98.50

Helps Frosh At Michigan Tech

Russell H. Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hubbard of 512 Outer Drive, Tecumseh, is serving as a group leader during Michigan Tech's freshman orientation week September 20-25.

Each group leader will be "big brother or sister" to a score of new students during their first few days in college.

Group leaders will assist in such varied activities as placement tests, recreational programs, class scheduling, and informal get-to-gethers in which freshmen become acquainted with fellow students, faculty, and their new college environment.

Michigan Tech expects the largest freshman class in its 69-year history to enroll this fall. Overall enrollment at Michigan Tech will be about 1600. Classwork for all students, freshmen as well as upper classmen, will begin September 27.

Hubbard is a senior in electrical engineering. He is a Sgt. in the Air ROTC and former treasurer of the Christian Fellowship.

Mrs. Bowen To Help In Ag Census

Appointment of Mr. Clair B. Roe of 107 Riley Street, Dundee, and Mrs. Evelyn McKay Bowen, 2541 Occidental Road, Rt. 1, RFD, Tecumseh, as crew leaders for the 1954 Census of Agriculture was announced today by Field Supervisor Markus S. Simon.

Mr. Roe will direct a force of enumerators who will canvass all farms in the West one-third of Monroe and East one-third of Lenawee Counties. Mrs. Bowen will direct a force of enumerators who will canvass all farms in the West two-thirds of Lenawee County. They reported on Monday to the census agriculture field office at Detroit for a week of training.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the Census of Agriculture. It is his responsibility to train the enumerators and supervise their work; plan and allocate work assignments; review the work of the enumerators and take remedial action where necessary, and to conduct difficult enumerations.

After attending the training conference, Mr. Roe and Mrs. Bowen will return to their districts where they will spend three weeks recruiting enumerators, checking enumeration district boundaries, and training enumerators in preparation for the start of the census Oct. 19.

Christian Science Services Listed

The infinite allness of God, good, and the consequent unreality of sickness and discord will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality."

That real dominion and power are derived from God is brought out in the Scriptural passages to be read, including the following statement by Paul (II Timothy 1:7): "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

From Science and Health the following selections will be among those read (414:21-23): "The Scripture declares, 'The Lord He is God (good); there is none else beside Him.' Even so, harmony is universal, and discord is unreal."

The Golden Text is from Matthew (7:18,19): "A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into fire."

Michigan farmers plan a 7 per cent increase in acreage of row crops an da 4 per cent boost in hay acreage this year to offset an 8 per cent decrease in acreage of small grains, according to the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK · OCTOBER 3-9

Let's Grow Up, Not Burn Up

"Let's Grow Up, Not Burn Up." That's the slogan for Fire Prevention Week for 1954.

The campaign will be launched next week, Oct. 3 to 9, following a proclamation by President Eisenhower.

The National Fire Prevention association, cooperating with the Michigan Rural Safety Council, is sponsoring the program in Michigan.

David G. Steinicke, extension safety specialist at Michigan State College, points out that next week's campaign will stress four points—careful use of machinery, safe stoves, keeping children safely away from matches and how to save your life if caught in a fire.

While we are on this subject, it would be a good time again to cite the Tecumseh volunteers who man our fire department. Fire after fire, these minute men have been commended by folks who have benefitted from their efficiency in action. There must be a reason.

During fire prevention week think on this. And also think on how you can avoid having the volunteers make a call to your home or to your outbuildings.

The City Needs It

Councilmen are striving to enact codes and ordinances that will protect city citizens.

One of these codes, the plumbing code, resulted primarily from a local family being charged $1300 for some faulty plumbing bought from an outside source.

A fine line separates the reasoning behind establishing the plumbing code and an ordinance that would provide protection from outside peddlers.

You constantly hear of folks who have been fleeced by a few sharpies whose promises for their goods and services are never completely fulfilled.

Too often these peddlers work on the old saw "here today, gone tomorrow" and their goods and services are not what they represent them to be.

We've said it before and we say it again: some kind of peddlers' ordinance would be beneficial both to the buyer and to the honest peddler who delivers the goods the way he describes them.

A Huge Order

With our population increasing at the rate of 7,000 a day, the demands that the future will make upon American business are truly staggering.

It is estimated that, by 1975, at least 22 million new jobs will be required for the vastly increased labor force—and the demand for additional goods and services to take care of the needs of some 60 million new citizens will run into the billions of dollars.

But, judging from past performance, they will do it.

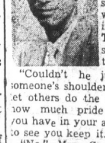
"You're the last folks I'd expect to want to sell your acreage," I remarked to Mrs. Curtis on the phone. "I know more time has been lavished on your few acres than on any other property near Tecumseh.

"It's not a case of want to,"



Mrs. Curtis cut in. "It's a case of have to. You may not know it, but my husband had a stroke while we were vacationing in Texas. The doctor says he has to take it easy."

"Couldn't he just look over someone's shoulder," I said, "and let others do the work? I know how much pride and pleasure you have in your acreage. I'd like to see you keep it."

"No," Mrs. Curtis said. "My husband isn't the supervising kind. He's planted every flower, the vegetable garden, painted all the buildings, done all the work. If he stays here, he won't be satisfied to watch others. It'll make him nervous and fretful. Then the first thing I know he'll be out doing the work despite the doctor's warnings."

"I'll be out right away," I said. "It's a real treat to be asked to sell a nice place like yours. They're in demand."

Remember—we take a personal interest in your selling problem. Put us to work for you!

Letters To The Editor

Editor,
The Herald:

For several years I have been reading glowing accounts of Tecumseh progress. It seemed too good.

Recently I had an opportunity to see for myself as I have just returned from a trip to your neighborhood.

I was really amazed at all the improvements. I will comment on just a few.

The old Adrian road — shortest between Tecumseh and Adrian — is getting to be solidly built up the whole distance by homeowners who have bought large plots of highway frontage from farmers. Many years ago that community was buzzing with excitement over the probability of a trolley line from Adrian to Tecumseh. That dream has been more than fulfilled by the recent paving and use of this route for bus line.

Visitors will appreciate the improved eating places in your city and Mr. Hamaker I think deserves commendation for providing a motel convenient to the business sections and with the finest quality of service.

We read much of the rapid increase of cars and of accidents on the highways and I even meet some people who fear to travel on the through highways. I drove this time via the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the fine 2-lane roads in Ohio and returned over the New York Thruway just completed out of Buffalo. Certainly there is more comfort and safety driving today than ever before. Every new piece of highway seems an improvement in engineering — sort of custom tailored to fit the driving.

And with the almost perfect cars manufactured today I think we could almost wipe out accidents if we could just get every driver to give complete attention to his job, — and that includes being in good condition — awake and with drinking restricted to water or the soft ones.

Sincerely,
Walter Norris

For sometime we county people have been up in arms about the [illegible] dumped along our [illegible]

Of all the heartlessness of some of this. Dropping baby puppies [illegible] only a few weeks old [illegible] side of the road with nothing to eat and no shelter sometimes in zero weather.

Perhaps your first reaction to this would be, "Why don't you report it to the law." That is very true but first the person who is responsible must be caught at it and identified and you can be sure, they that do this, are very clever about it.

We, that live in the country, are just as proud of our homes and surroundings as you who live in town. What would you think if we brought these things back to you and dumped them in front of your house? This does not mean every one. This means you that do this.

There are places provided for by the officers of Tecumseh for this and we are sure these people are as conscious of your unkindness as we are.

Please! Won't those who are doing this remember the Golden Rule, "To do unto others as you would have them do to you," and keep our countryside a thing of beauty, not a public dumping ground.

Couples Observe 40th Anniversary

Observing the 40th double wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Slater and of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Meads, Mrs. Paul Clauda and Mr. Clauda opened their home from 2 to 5 Sunday afternoon, Sept. 19 for their many friends and relatives.

A feature of the event were two, three-tiered wedding cakes topped by bells, which were cut by Miss Shirley Meads and Mrs. Barbara Fisher, assisted by Mrs. Wilma Randolph.

Ruth Meads had charge of the guest book while Mrs. Velma Caswell, isister of Mrs. Slater and Mrs. Meads, and Mrs. Hazel Ward, sister of Mr. Meads, presided over the tea and coffee services. They were assisted by Mrs. George Meads and Mrs. Wayne Yoemans of Milan. Pat and Mary Clauda opened the many lovely gifts received by both couples.

Mrs. Ward and Dr. J. B. Meads of Jackson and Dr. G. E. Meads of Oxford, who were among the guests, had been present at the wedding 40 years before.

The two couples were married Sept. 15, 1914, at the home of their mother, Mrs. Eulalia Beaubien. Two other children, besides Mrs. Clauda, were born to the Slaters; a daughter Ruth who died in March, 1919 and a son, Jack killed in action July 7, 1944. The Meads have eight children, four sons and four daughters.

Later 37 members of the family enjoyed a potluck supper on the lawn of the Clauda home.

Bixby Hospital Adds Service

Planners of the completely new 124-bed Emma L. Bixby Hospital have incorporated a complete Physiotherapy Department into their program for building a modern medical center in Lenawee County, according to Douglas McNabb, Bixby administrator.

Pointing out that the proposed physitherapy exercise rooms, treatment rooms and hydrotherapy facilities will be a definite asset in the rehabilitation of post-polio patients who must now travel to Ann Arbor for this care, McNabb said that the Board of Trustees and the Medical Staff have strongly recommended the inclusion of this department.

travel to Ann Arbor for this care, McNabb explained that the physiotherapy facilities will provide better post-operative treatment for surgical patients, and can be used extensively in work with arthritics. At the present time patients requiring therapy of this type are subject to the inconvenience and extra expense of having to go out of the locality to obtain the prescribed treatment.

He said that the planning for the new structure is progressing on schedule towards a tentative start-of-construction date of next spring.

It is anticipated that at this time providing everyone's pledge obligations are met that the needed 80 per cent of the construction costs will be available in cash as required to qualify for financial assistance under the Hill-Burton Act.

WILL GRADUATE

CAMP GORDON, GA. — Pvt. Richard L. Townsend of Tecumseh, will graduate this week from the Radio Teletypewriter Repair Course,, one of the many courses offered at The Southeastern Signal School, Camp Gordon, Georgia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Townsend.

The Radio Teletypewriter Repair Course, which is 22 weeks in length, trains selected enlisted personnel to install and repair mobile or fixed radio-teletypewriter sending and receiving equipment.

During his training, Pvt. Townsend received a technical education worth thousands of dollars. He will now be assigned to an active unit of the United States Army.

The Southeastern Signal School is a component of the Signal Corps Training Center, a mammoth communications college, which supplies trained signal technicians to Army units all over the world.

Sugar beets, malting barley, field beans, soybeans and oats with forage seedings will be used as wheat and corn replacement crops this year where they are adapted.

Lutheran Church Hosts Conference

The Southeastern Conference of the pastors of the Lutheran Evangelical church was held last Monday and Tuesday at Grace Lutheran church in Tecumseh.

Twelve of the ministers were over night guests of the members of the congregation as some came from as far as Bay City, Michigan, and Findlay, Ohio.

Isn't it great to hum along the highway in a car fresh out of the showroom? But how long will that new car pride and pleasure last? This is why it lasts longer if you buy a new Chevrolet . . . and why right now is such a smart time to buy one.
You won't find another low-priced car with the look of quality you see in Chevrolet. And if you like Chevrolet's looks now, you'll like its looks always. For there's fine design in those clean and smoothly curved lines (nothing "boxy" about Chevrolet!). Fine design like this, you know, always wears well—never really goes out of style.
You'll enjoy exclusive features for finer motoring
Chevrolet quality runs deep. There's more pride for you in the only low-priced car with the finer materials and workmanship of Body by Fisher. There's more fun for you in the highest-compression power of any leading low-priced car. (Higher compression means more ginger in the going and more miles out of the gas.) There's more safety for you in the biggest brakes and the only full-length box-girder frame in the low-price field. And there's more comfort for you in Chevrolet's smoother, softer Unitized Knee-Action ride. Down to the last detail, Chevrolet's more finely built . . . it's even the only car in its field with Safety Plate Glass in all windows of sedans and coupes!
You save when you buy and when you trade
Even so, Chevrolet is priced below all other lines of cars. (That's possible because Chevrolet builds the most, and can build 'em better to sell for less.) And at trade-in time, you'll be ahead again from Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value.
You'll get a special deal right now
Right now, we're in a position to give you the deal of the year on a new Chevrolet. Come in and let us show you how much you'll gain by buying now!
Now's the time to buy!
Get our big deal! Enjoy a new . . .

THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Sgt. Kopka In Greenland

THULE AIR BASE, GREENLAND, — S/Sgt. John H. Kopka son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Kopka of 8 Water Street, Tecumseh, is now stationed at the northernmost U. S. air base, Thule, Greenland.

S/Sgt. Kopka, a graduate of Tecumseh High School, will serve one year in Greenland as an Aircraft Maintenance Supervisor with the 74th Fighter Interceptor Squadron.

Thule Air Base, a gleaming aluminum city 900 miles from the North Pole, on the northwest coast of Greenland, is the key defense point in the Northeast Air Command.

Polar bears, seals and walruses occasionally are found near Thule Air Base, where the great Greenland ice-cap juts seaward. Eskimos and Danish settlers live in areas near the vast arctic airdrome. At Thule the winter months are totally dark and the midnight sun shines during the summer.

Tradition Means Much Here . . .
. . . but not too much. The fine practices, honesty and the great care that are a tradition at the Wright Drug Store are here to stay — and never will be changed. But with this, the influence of traditions has a resistance to change ends. We must progress, and do steadily move forward. Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Doing the will of God is more than intention, more than judgment that it is right. Resoluteness of determination, vitality of faith, and robustness of courage are required. One of the most challenging of all poems was written in 1848 by James Russell Lowell and set to music in 1896. It might well have been written for our generation.

Once to every man and nation
Comes the moment to decide
In the strife of truth with falsehood,
For the good or evil side;
Some great cause, God's new Messiah,
Offering each the bloom or blight,
And the choice goes by forever
'Twixt that darkness and that light.

Then to side with truth is noble,
When we share her wretched crust,
Ere her cause bring fame and profit,
And 'tis prosperous to be just;
Then it is the brave man chooses,
While the coward stands aside,
Till the multitude make virtue
Of the faith they had denied.

By the light of burning martyrs,
Jesus' bleeding feet I track,
Toiling up new Calvaries ever
With the cross that turns not back;
New occasions teach new duties,
Times makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still and onward,
Who would keep abreast of truth.

Though the cause of evil prosper,
Yet 'tis truth alone is strong;
Truth forever on the scaffold,
Wrong forever on the throne;
Yet that scaffold sways the future,
And, behind the dim unknown,
Standeth God within the shadow

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

FROM THE DESKS OF LOUIS HALL AND CLAYTON INGERSON

Oct. 25 is C-Day in Lenawee county. That's the start of the 1954 Census of Agriculture.

Census takers will begin interviewing farmers on that day. Farmers will have received the questionaires by mail the week before the enumeration begins.

This is to give the farmer time to fill out the forms before the census taker arrives. Fill it out completely.

That will help reduce the census cost and will make the census totals available to the public sooner. Both industry and government, are vitally interested in the census, in order to plan services for farm people.

Looking for ewes?

The ewe should have all of her teeth. Otherwise she will be poor as a breeder.

Examine the udder carefully. Hard lumps will mean trouble.

Make sure there is some fat on the back, over the ribs. That's a sign the animal is thrifty. Remember that western ewes, just off the range, are not as fat as native ewes.

The ewe should weigh at least 120 pounds. A yearling ewe may be the best buy. They will have more lamb crops ahead of them.

Farmers will see why Michigan is in the Corn Belt in a series of field days within the next month.

Corn Field Day will be on Oct. 1 at the farm of Edmund Miller, west of Millett in Eaton county.

One will be Oct. 5 at the Morris DeVuyst farm, North Star, in Gratiot county.

And one will be held Oct. 7 at the Clarence Shade farm, Scottville, in Mason county.

The two picking and drying programs, at 10 a.m., will be as follows:

Cass county—Oct. 12 at the Gerald Wright farm, a mile west of Vandalia on highway M-60.

Tuscola county—Oct. 14 at the Cecil Baker farm, 7707 W. Caro road, Caro, or 4 miles east of Reese on M-81.

Robert White, M.S.C. agricultural engineer, will supervise the picker and picker-sheller discussions and demonstrations from 10 a.m. until noon both days. During the lunch hour, farmers will have a chance to look at exhibits of harvest and drying machinery, including elevators to carry grain to bins.

From 1 to 1:15 p.m., the host farmers will be interviewed by the county agents. Then there will be a corn shelling and handling demonstration and crop drying demonstrations until 4 p.m. Robert Maddex, M.S.C. agricultural engineer, will describe drying equipment while it operates.

Painting farm buildings not only spruces up the farmstead and adds life to the buildings—a coat of paint can do a lot for morale of the farm family.

High building costs and poor materials make painting even more important today to stretch out building life, notes Robert L. Maddex, Michigan State College agricultural engineer. But avoid the painting contractors who knock at your door. Many traveling painters operating in Michigan have done unsatisfactory work. Rely on local painters and paint stores, he advises.

If painting is put off too long, there may be rotted wood and rusty surfaces that do not cover well. Rough weathered surfaces take more pre-painting time and more paint. New wooden buildings should have a priming coat as soon as weather permits.

Before painting, repair any defect that lets siding get wet, Maddex advises. Cut down on moisture generation in buildings. Ventilate both the buildings and the insulation. Then paint on dry surfaces when it is not raining, frosty or freezing—in the 60 to 80-degree weather.

Use a good quality paint, Maddex urges, with the oil content at least 80 per cent. Linseed, or linseed-soybean, oil is good. Better paints contain less than 10 per cent of thinners and dryers.

Purdue Officials Visit Products Co.

Recently the Tecumseh Products Company was honored by a visit from President Hovde and Dean Hockema of Purdue University. As reported earlier this year Tecumseh Products Company and Tresco have set up a joint scholarship fund at Purdue to encourage undergraduate work in engineering.

After considerable investigation of colleges offering engineering courses Purdue was selected for this scholarship award because they are one of three schools offering a specific course in refrigeration within the mechanical engineering department. This reason, coupled with the excellent geographic location of the school in relation to the majority of the refrigeration industry, made it an ideal choice from our standpoint, C. M. Brown, General Manager of Tresco said.

Mr. Brown went on to commented:

Purdue has been very cooperative in sending their men to Tecumseh to find out more about our phase of the refrigeration industry. In line with this President Hovde and Dean Hockema spent the day in Tecumseh getting acquainted with our personnel who are directly interested in this program. A brief trip through the plant and engineering laboratory was arranged to give them an insight into our operation. General discussions with Messrs. Herrick, Layton, Brown and Purcell centered on the overall scholarship program and possible reasearch subjects for advanced study.

A get-together lunch was arranged at the Country Club which was attended by members of Tecumseh and Tresco administrative staff and Tresco Engineering department. Plans were discussed for a dinner to be held in Lafayette so that the Tecumseh representatives could meet with the students presently enrolled in our scholarship program. At the present time there are eleven boys in the program, seven in mechanical engineering, two in electrical engineering and two in chemical engineering. There are one freshman, four sophomores, one junior and five seniors in the group. We hope to place one or two boys in the graduate school by the end of the coming semester.

The program is set up so that Tecumseh is not required to provide employment for any of the students in the program, and by the same token the student may select any prospective employer he so desires. Tecumseh feels this is by far the best arrangement that could be made since it would be impossible for us to provide employment for all, or even a majority, of the men accepting scholarships.

We also feel that since the industry as a whole is in critical need of engineering talent that the boys within this program should be able to find employment without too much difficulty. Since Tecumseh does supply a very large percentage of the industry with our products, we also feel that almost any place they might go they can be helpful to us. Thus we are providing a service to the industry, which at the same time should benefit Tecumseh as these boys will have a good working knowledge of our products when they go into the field.

Fire Prevention Week

Oct. 3 to 9

The best time to stop a fire is before it starts. This is why fire prevention is so important . . . and we're all for it! Check your home for fire hazards. Don't overload your wiring system. Keep paints and other combustibles away from fire. Don't let waste materials accumulate. Keep matches out of children's reach. Don't smoke while working with inflammables . . . or in bed. Watch your cigarette butts. Do all these things. They'll help reduce the danger of fire. But they can't eliminate the risk entirely . . . nothing can!

So do one sensible thing more. See that your fire insurance fully covers the PRESENT DAY value of your property.

It's the only way you can keep FIRE'S greedy hand out of your lifetime savings!

Counail Decides To Buy East Branch School Site

Historic East Branch School will be sold to the city. Councilmen Monday night decided that the city should buy the site for city purposes. Although the city presently does not have the funds, councilmen some day want to build a combined city hall and fire station on the E. Chicago site.

They have had this site in mind for some time and Monday night they made the decision to buy it when Glenn Kohler, realtor, told them he had a buyer.

"This buyer has deposited a $2000 check with me for the sale of the school," he told Councilmen.

The board of education, owner of the site, however, told Kohler previously that the city should have first choice.

This is the reason why he attended the meeting Monday.

Supt. James McDowell was called to the meeting and he told councilmen that the price on the site had been reduced from $25,000 to $18,900 because the board needs the money and members thought a lower price would bring a quicker sale.

Councilmen said they wanted the site very badly but the city doesn't have any money.

Supt. McDowell said he thought the board would let the city have the site on terms.

Mayor H. H. Hanna appointed Councilmen Roy Titley, Edith Smith and R. H. Moore to the committee that will meet with the board of education members next Tuesday night to work out the necessary financial details for the purchase of the former school site.

Britton Man Killed When Car Overturns

Gladwin W. Henning, 33, of 6565 County Line Highway, was instantly killed Saturday at 3:40 a.m. when he lost control of his car and it overturned on M-50 a half mile west of the Monroe County Line.

State Police of the Clinton Post said there were no witnesses. But it is believed that Mr. Henning, an assistant divisional superintendent at the Tecumseh Products Company, was traveling west and his car ran off the right shoulder, skidded across to the south side of the highway and struck a number of large boulders in the front yard of the Martin Ivan, Sr., residence.

Mr. Henning was thrown from the car and pinned under the wheels. Coroner Edward Braun ruled the death accidental.

Mr. Henning was the adopted son of his grandparents William and Augusta Henning.

He graduated from Britton High School in 1939 and had been employed by the Tecumseh Products Co. 15 years.

He is survived by his widow, the former Thelma Nichols; four sons, David, Daniel, Larry and Gordon; two daughters, Kathleen Sue and Joan, all at home; his father Paul Maehring of Detroit; two half brothers Harold Jacobs of the U.S. Navy and Oliver of Detroit; two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Williams of St. Clair and Phyllis Jacobs of Detroit; and his uncle Carl Henning of Britton.

His maternal grandparents and foster parents Mr. and Mrs. William Henning preceded him in death.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from St. Alphonse Catholic Church in Deerfield with the Rev. Father George Kerby of Adrian officiating.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery of the Irish Hills.

Sec. of State's Office Opens

Mr. Schneider reports he has a number of both commercial and passenger car liecense plates on hand. These are 1954 plates. New 1955 plates will not arrive until Dec. 1.

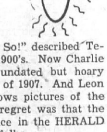
Appointed at the regular meeting of the department Tuesday night, he replaces George Kempf who resigned to become a member of the police department.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears



CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

A COUPLE OF WEEKS AGO "Is That So!" described Tecumseh's prize baseball teams of the early 1900's. Now Charlie Seitz drops in with a clipping from an undated but hoary HERALD that shows the 1907 Bluestockings of 1907. And Leon Rosacrans has a Stereoscopic slide that shows pictures of the famous nine. After seeing both, my only regret was that the pictures were not sharp enough to reproduce in the HERALD so we could share these treasures with more folks.

A RECENT WEEKLY BULLETIN for the Friends Church provided a Sunday morning surprise for the pastor, Edward Escolme. Last Sunday was the 36th anniversary of his coming to the Tecumseh church and those of his congregation who compiled the bulletin had not forgotten. He preached his first sermon here Oct. 6, 1918, not long after his graduation from the Cleveland Bible College. A native of Lancashire, England, he had been educated there and had been in America only a few years. It was in anticipation of this anniversary that Miss Joan Judd inserted the following original lines—

"OUR MINISTER"

In our town there stands a church that is strong,
In the works of the Lord, unyielding to wrong.
In our church there stands a pulpit, not too high,
And placed on the pulpit, a Bible does lie.
In our pulpit there stands a preacher I'd say,
That's been around much longer than the total of my days.
For some thirty odd years he has shared with us all,
Our joys, our sorrows, our risings, our falls.
We may joke of the years in our church he has spent,
But I'm sure we'll agree it was a blessing Heaven sent.
For in our preacher, God bless his soul,
I see the reason he has won our whole.
And this one wish to you brother Escolme,
May you never leave this church, your earthly home.

New Flower Shop Plans Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ousterhout will have an open house of their new flower shop at 220 E. Chicago Sunday.

They will continue to operate an extended gift shop in the old location at 122 E. Chicago. The gift shop will include linens.

Features of the new flower shop include consultation room, sales-room private office, delivery room, large work room, soundproof phone booth and large walk-in floral cooler.

The show room measures 32 x 38.

On the east side is an attached conservatory for green and flowering plants.

Interior features include indirect and spot lighting, acoustic tile ceiling, baseboard radiant heating, therma-pane show windows, stone fireplace and stone planters, stainless steel shadow frame floral display box, bleached birch woodwork and turquoise and flamingo pink walls.

The front is of Indiana sandstone with a script sign in plastic and neon lights. Planters of sandstone line the front of the new flower shop.

In business here 28 years, the Ousterhouts report their new flower shop is the largest and most modern in southern Michigan.

Baby Cyclone Blasts Area

A howling wind Sunday night destroyed a 36 x 80 hay barn on the George Blanchard farm, 5914 Rogers Highway and scattered the wreckage over the barn yard.

Hitting about 11 p.m., the storm also smashed a fruit tree and topped a large shade tree in the yard.

The Blanchards didn't hear the barn go. The first they knew windows in the house were blown in by flying boards and when lightning lighted up the barn yard they could see the barn was down.

The barn held 10 tons of hay and Mr. Blanchard doesn't know if any of it can be salveged.

Bits of wreckage also damaged the granary, stock barn and garage and damaged a corn picker, tractor, grain elevator and hay rake. Some houses lost bricks from their chimneys.

Other buildings in the area were damaged less extensively and several trees were snapped off. Roy Cadmus lost his barn doors.

Trees were uprooted near the Colvin school house. Barns on the farm of Mrs. Raymond Mills, south of Porter's Gravel Co. were flattened and many trees blown down near her house.

A partly built new house on the John Adams farm, which was ready for the roof, was leveled.

The high winds and pelting rain that measured almost three inches also did considerable damage to corn.

A pump house on the Clarence Wagner farm outside town was blown from its foundation and carried 100 feet. And Harold Hasenzahl lost a tool shed.

Here in town the heavy rains flooded some basements and storm sewers were clogged, flooding the streets.

Lightning struck the television antenna of the Oscar Meads residence, 605 south Pearl, about 10:30 p.m. Damages were minor.

Electric and phone lines also were damaged by high winds.

ATTEND CONCLAVE

The Tecumseh Exchange Club was represented at the 36th annual convention of the National Exchange Club held in Louisville, Ky., this week by George McCombs and Russ Garno.

Injuries Hit Indian Team

An injury-riddled Tecumseh High football team will take the field against Taylor Center Friday night in a non-league football game at the recreation field. Game time is 8 p.m.

Coach Lester Runk reports that Denny Farley, injured in the Addison game, is out for the rest of the year with a bad knee. The senior end missed the Monroe game but he was expected to be back. His doctor, however, has told him that he should give up [illegible]

Coach Runk also lost Ray Nichols who received a broken leg last week when his motor scooter was struck by a car. The sophiomore tackle, who rambled 73 yards with an intercepted pass in the Addison game for a touchdown, is also lost for the year.

He was counted on for double duty and had made great strides since the opening game.

Before the injuries, Coach Runk had a thin bench. Now he will be forced to improvise his line-up.

Friends to Observe Harvest Home Day

The twenty-first annual Harvest Home Day will be observed on Sunday at the Tecumseh Friends Church with services at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The guest preacher will be Dr. Byron L. Osborne, president of Cleveland Bible College. At the Sunday evening meeting Dr. Osborn will show pictures that he took on a recent trip to Palestine.

As in previous years the church will be decorated with flowers, fruit, vegetables and canned goods, the contributions being given to Cleveland Bible College. The offerings morning and evening will also go to this college.

Those making contributions of farm and garden prpduce have been asked to bring it to the church as early as possible on Saturday morning.

Sunday also marks the second Sunday in the Sunday school contest in which the local Friends Church is participating.

Motor Bike Drivers Must Have Licenses

Tecumseh police point out that operators of motor scooters, motor bikes and motorcycles need driver's licenses.

Chief George Kilbourn points out that the state law requires that these licenses must be carried while a driver is operating a motor vehicle.

He also said a minor driving without a license can receive a traffic summons and the minor's parents also can be given a summons.

He further pointed out that the law will be enforced "for the safety and protection of boys and girls."

Chief Kilbourn also said "We have been gettting too many complaints about unlicensed drivers of motor scooters and bikes."

The following five reasons are the only ways a minor under 16 can get a license to drive:

1. To drive accompanied by parents (excludes motor bikes, etc.).

2. To drive unaccompanied to and from the nearest available grade or high school, by the most direct route, when public or school transportation is not available. A letter from the principal to this effect must accompany the application. Limited to driving between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m.

3. To drive unaccompanied in connection with family's farming operations when need is shown. Limited to 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

4. To drive unaccompanied in other cases of extenuating circumstances such as long illness or disability when such driving will alleviate adverse transportation or economic problems. Hours will be designated as necessary.

5. To drive a motor scooter unaccompanied to deliver newspapers. A letter from the distributor indicating need and hours necessary should accompany the application.

Britton Loses, Plays Sand Creek

Britton-Macon Rural Agricultural School lost its first league game to Adrian Catholic Central Friday, 32-0.

Long runs set up Adrian scores and the Tories could not get their passing and running game going.

Britton will host Sand Creek in another Little Six League game Friday.

ST. ELIZABETH LOSES GRID GAME

Saturday was an exciting day for the Cubs of St. Elizabeth School.

Anxious parents and spectators witnessed what proved to be a thrilling game. St. Mary's scored two touchdowns during the first half. Then, Dave Weakly received a pass and made a 60-yard gain before being knocked down.

Steve Buku made the first and only touchdown for the Cubs. The final score was St. Mary's 14, St. Elizabeth 6.

The next scheduled game for the Cubs will be played here on Oct. 16 at 9:30 a.m.

JCC WILL GIVE 2 SCHOLARSHIPS

Tecumseh Jaycees will give two scholarships to the Dale Carnegie leadership training course to two Tecumseh High School teachers.

Next Monday night is the last chance to enroll and next Monday's session will be the last one open for public observation.

Conlin Says Plan No. 2 Helps School Finances

The Conlin Plan or proposal number two on the Nov. 2 ballot will increase sales tax support for schools by establishing a fund when it is needed and give schools their current share of sales tax money so they will not have to borrow to meet operating expenses.

This summary of the plan came from the man who gave his name to the amendment—Rollo G. Conlin of Tipton, a farmer who turned state representative.

Rep. Conlin discussed the plan at the Rotary meeting Tuesday night and earlier this week he answered a query from the HERALD and further explained the plan.

"There is nothing complex about this plan," says the member of the House ways and means committee.

"We needed something that would bail us out and at the same time give us a chance of getting general support and we believe the proposed amendment is that way.

"The present formula gives the State temporary possession and use of two cents of the three-cent sales tax. The other penny is split in half with the schools getting a half cent and the rest divided among cities, villages and townships.

"Officials say if that was all there was to it there would be no need for any change.

"But the sales-tax-diversion amendment has a follow-up provision that the Legislature must appropriate for the schools an amount equal to a fraction more than 44 per cent of the total amount of the sales tax.

"The hooker in this is that the appropriation must be made on the basis of the sales tax total of two years before an account of bookkeeping requirements."

Finance experts point out this is just fine as long as the sales tax goes up as it has most of the time since the amendment was approved.

They are quick to add that a really bad year could find Michigan obligated to appropriate more for the schools than the total sales tax.

The Conlin Plan would give the schools two cents of the three-cent tax outright without any hold-over obligations for future appropriation.

The cities, villages and townships would still get their present share with some minor adjustments to keep communities with prison or hospital populations from reaping an entire windfall by reason of population that never gets beyond the walls of an institution.

ROLLO G. CONLIN

"It will be better all around," Conlin added. "The state's temporary share is reduced but there is no haunting nightmare of an obligation that must be met two years later regardless of how sales-tax collections are going at the time."

Monday Club Has Fall Luncheon

Fall flowers decorated the luncheon tables and autumn leaves with nut cups marked the places of the 65 members and guests at the first fall meeting of the Monday Club this week at the Methodist church.

Officers, guests and past presidents were seated at the speakers table. Following the request of the president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs that a special prayer open the first meeting, Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, club president, read that prayer.

Mrs. Guy T. Pocklington, chairman of the program, introduced Miss Margaret Newcomb, soloist, who accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, sang "Blessing" by Pearl Curran and Ernest Carroll's "Clouds". Both ladies were from Dundee.

The speaker of the day, Dale Hornung, better known as Dale McIntyre of radio station WJR, now acting director of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan, spoke forcefully of the work of the organization in sponsoring the cutting of many fund-raising drives to one. He stressed the continuing need for U.S.O. and said we are all "investors in my community, my city, my county, my state and my country."

In thanking Mr. Hornung, Mrs. Pocklington said we would do well to emphasize the last four letters of American — "I can."

A descriptive piano duet by Mrs. George Schippers and Mrs. W. G. Waldron closed the program.

During the business meeting letters of appreciation were read from Mrs. Ronald Brunger for her years as a club member and from Miss Alice Hopkins for her stay at the state conservation conference at Higgins Lake this summer. Announcements were made of the southeast district convention to be held in Ypsilanti, Oct. 12 and 13 for which reservations must be made by Oct. 8, and of a special dinner meeting at the Baptist Youth House Nov. 1 with Austin Grant as speaker. An appeal was read from the State Federation for the support of Girl's Town by the individual clubs.

CHILDREN COLLECT DISCARDED HOSIERY

The Children's Church of the Presbyterian church is carrying on a drive for discarded nylon hosiery to be sent to Japan. Proceeds from each 50 pound package of the hosiery will be sent to needy Korean families. One package will support a Korean family for a month, according to Mrs. John Saling, director of the Children's Church.

Boysville's 150 Students Are Ready for "Open House"

MACON — Its grounds and rooms shine like a fireman's brass pole, leaves of the campus trees are dressed in gold and red, and Boysville's 150 students are ready to welcome thousands of distinguished visitors next Sunday.

His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney will dedicate the graceful new chapel, and Fr. Vincent J. Horkan, assistant superintendent of parochial schools, will bless the Knights of Columbus school, Carlisle Field.

Knights and guests will get a first-hand look at the new additions at Boysville, now beginning its seventh year.

The school for worthy Michigan boys has grown like a uranium boom town, and to Knights, sole suporters of the school, its commodity is far more valuable.

"Boysville," said Walter H. Graveline, Bay City, state deputy, "is our mirror. We look into it and see the face of 50,000 Michigan men who have dedicated their time, money and prayers so youth can have its chance. We are proud of Boysville and its healthful appreciative young men." He urged every Knight, and all others interested in this dramatic experiment in cooperation, to attend.

Tucked away in a peaceful Lenawee County valley, beside a lively stream where raccoons and beavers play with young boys seeking adventure, the school is the finest of its kind. It opened with 15 students and a handful of rustic buildings. Now its inspiring chapel, large dormitories and modern classrooms, are showplaces at Macon.

Teachers are the Brothers of Holy Cross. Brother Hilarion Brezik is the director.

His Eminence will attend the event early Sunday afternoon.

Later there will be a football game between Boysville and St. Mary's, Detroit. The Boysville Band will appear for the first time in new uniforms.

OUT OF THIS WORLD—Several folks sighting this contraption coming down city streets didn't know whether to call the civil defense or run. As it turned out they didn't have to do either. This "doodle-bug" was part of Butler Motor Sales's promotion on a special offer they are making to buyers of new and used cars and trucks.

The contraption, built by salesmen Jim Spooner and Harold Koons, was made from an air coupe fuselage on a three-wheel motor scooter chassis and it has a 45 hp motor scooter motor. They built it in the company garage.

Wit-Wisdom Club Has Fun Night

"Fun Night" characterized the first meeting of the Wit and Wisdom Club for this season, held Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Crisp.

In charge of O. W. Laidlaw, the program consisted of a series of tests. The first, involving observation, began with colored movies of Bobby and David Laidlaw, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Laidlaw, "having fun in Japan". The audience then wrote a quiz of their activities.

A second game consisted of ideas for fun at different age levels, and the third was a series of Shadowgraph Pantomines with guesses regarding "Who is doing what?" The more striking ones were Mrs. James McDowell repairing a vacuum cleaner, Mr. McDowell baking a cake, Mrs. M. G. Partridge cutting Glenn VanDenbergh's hair by the bowl method and Mrs. F. C. Dickinson hunting partridge, with Mel Partridge "getting the bird".

Refreshments were served in tomato baskets to add a further unusual touch. During the business meeting members were urged to purchase their tickets for the "Messiah" in Ann Arbor as soon as possible. This concert will be the Christmas program and will be on Dec. 5.

The resignations of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Branigin were regretfully accepted and a membership committee was appointed, consisting of Mrs. VanDenbergh, Mrs. Rector and Mrs. Whelan.

TO MEET MONDAY

The committee of Pack 4 of Cub Scouts will meet as usual Monday evening, Oct. 11, but in addition they request the presence of all parents of all new cubs who have recently become members.

This is a new den that has been organized and the matter of a den mother and assistant is a pressing one. For this reason the meeting will be held in the Youth House of the Baptist church, at 7:30 p.m. instead of at a home as is customary. All parents are invited but those of the new cubs are especially urged to come.

The evening's devotions were conducted by Mrs. Melvin Getz and the president, Mrs. Russell Havens had charge of the business meeting, which was largely devoted to a discussion of plans for the church bazaar to be held Oct. 28. Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Ira Montague and Mrs. Russell Cooper were appointed as a committee to have charge of the League booth at the bazaar. Because of the alterations to St. Peter's Parish House, this annual event will be held in the Youth House of the Baptist church from 1 p. m. through the supper hour.

Plans were also made for the rummage sale to be held Thursday and Friday of this week at the Ford garage, and it was voted to sponsor Girl Scout Troop No. 6 again this year.

Mrs. Jack Curtiss, Mrs. Charles Haughn and Mrs. Charles Newell will be hostesses for Oct. 26 meeting of the League and Mrs. Jack Brown will be program leader. The place of this meeting will be announced later.

BIRTHDAYS HONORED

A triple birthday party, which has come to be an annual event in the Fred Dickinson home, took place Sunday. Birthdays honored were those of six year old Timmie Dickinson, his father Frederick Jr. and his uncle Walter P. Lang.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lang and three sons John, Paul and James of Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dickinson and two sons Tom and Tim.

Dinner, served on the porch, was highlighted by a beautifully decorated birthday cake, a product of the skill of Mrs. Dickinson Jr. After dinner the men of the party went fishing.

Prosperity will not abound if the farmer loses his profits.

NORTHEAST EXTENSION

Mrs. Marvin Fansher, who lives at Meadowridge farm, entertained the Northeast Extension Club for the first meeting of the club year Tuesday evening of last week. Nineteen were present including Mrs. Don Smith, who was welcomed as a new member.

The new year book was planned and Mrs. Robert Stone had charge of the lesson of the month. Hand made nylon gloves were the project and the members found it most interesting and worthwhile.

Mrs. Fansher served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Ellsworth Robison and Mrs. Edward Bailey.

A feature of the evening was the roll call which was answered with an interesting experience of the summer.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Blind Man's" Bluff

You know how Handy Turner down at the hardware store goes in for weird advertising stunts. Well, when it came to plugging his new Venetian blind department, his enthusiasm nearly landed him in trouble.

Handy painted a warning on the tailboard of his truck: "Caution—blind man driving."

"Had driven about a mile," Handy says, "when a state trooper stopped me and told me that sign might cause trouble. Guess he was right. From now on I'll advertise in the Clarion."

From where I sit, I agree—the highway is no place for jokes. We all ought to be considerate of the other fellow when we're driving. In fact, let's respect our neighbor's right of way always. Then, when we have differences of opinion—say about the best route to Centerville, or whether beer or buttermilk is better with lunch—there will be less chance of anybody developing any "blind" spots.

It's A "Way of Life"

This is National Newspaper Week — a week to reflect on what a newspaper is and does. One of the finest summaries of a newspaper's "way of life" is this one which was written by Bristow Adams in the Canton, Ohio, Sentinel:

I am a country newspaper.

I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends; I speak to the home in the evening of summer's vine-clad porch or the glow of the winter's lamp.

I help to make this evening hour; I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the days and weeks that go to make up life.

I am for and of the home; I follow those who leave humble beginnings; whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take them the thrill of old days, with wholesome messages.

I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in my town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in me stimulation, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of man's existence.

I am the word of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community in the archives of state and nation.

I am the lives of my readers.

I am the country newspaper.

Band Festival Was A Spectacle

That band festival truly was a musical spectacle.

Each one of the 12 bands representing 600 young musicians put on an excellent performance for the large, appreciative crowd of music lovers watching and there were a number of songs and acts that warranted and received special applause.

But the best was yet to come. When the 12 bands massed and played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America, the Beautiful" this was truly America, the beautiful.

We have seen and enjoyed many musical programs but we never have been as thrilled as we were when 600 colorful young musicians united to play these two fine songs.

In fact, we have never heard of such a presentation in our whole state. Maybe other communities have band festivals but we have never heard nor seen a concert of such colorful magnitude nor one that massed 12 bands for a finale.

A number of thoughts came to mind when the two final pieces were being played. Chief among them were these: how wonderful it is to have a coopertive venture that so many folks can enjoy and have it strictly on a non-competitive basis —based on nothing more than the thrill and enjoyment of taking part in a fine musical program; and school has been going for only a short time but look how well versed these students are in presenting their numbers and their marches—a lot of work went into this production.

Great and well-known music combined with narration, music and marching to depict the history of our great country.

To Clare Camburn, executive director, to the Rev. B. O. Bashore, who so ably narrated the program, to the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce who sponsored the festival, to those who aided in any way in the production and to the 600 young musicians and their 12 directors who played this great Americana, — to all those whose cooperative efforts made the band festival possible—we say sincerely thank you for the finest pageantry and band music that we ever had the pleasure to see and to hear.

Playing To The Rules

You still hear reports that the Tecumseh Public Schools did not have to be quite as strict as they were in ruling that seven boys were ineligible for accepting prizes in the country club caddies' tournament.

Reports, for the most part, point out that large city schools get by with more infractions of the state eligibility code than the events here that made Tecumseh High boys ineligible.

This is hardly the issue. Pointing to what larger schools are doing in the manner of turning their backs on the rules is only begging the question.

The state rules were made to be enforced and, more power to them, school administrators here are enforcing them.

They are playing according to the rules of the game which, after all, has as one of its objectives, "the molding of character." How could anyone expect them to "mold character" in athletes by breaking the rules?

All of us should follow this example and, win, lose or tie, play according to the rules.

"Have you a nice place to rent near the city's edge?" asked a man who introduced himself as John Green.

"No," I replied, "but there are several good ones for sale."

"Sorry, I'm not interested," Mr. Green said and left.

In a day or two he was back again.

"Let's take a look at those places you have for sale," said Mr. Green.

"I looked for rentals," he continued. "Finally found one but it wasn't at all what we had in mind. And the owner would only rent it on the basis of a one year lease."

John Green laughed. "You know what I told that fellow?" he asked. "I said, 'Mister, that would just be a whole year wasted.'

"We don't have any years to waste in unsuitable quarters. We want to find the right kind of a place of our own where we can really enjoy the days as they go by."

O God, Father of us all, once again we beseech Thee to keep us humble and contrite throughout this day and all the days of our lives.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, The Herald:

We, the ladies of the Comfort Extension Club (Centennial School District) wish to go on record as extolling the virtues of the Sunday afternoon Junk Dumpers Club. That such a club does exist can be testified to by a good many families in our area who have benefitted by the donations of this group.

Of course, all the families in our area aren't as liberal minded as we, but then perhaps they haven't thought it through as we have.

After all, it's a man's privilege to give a gift—if the recipient isn't duly thankful he's quite a bore—don't you think? The Junk Dumpers Club certainly is generous—pity the poor dumb unthankful farmers for their imperceptibility.

Too, some of the persons dumping trash feel they are contributing to the beauties of nature. That such debris is colorful can't be denied—what can be prettier than a couple of red and green melon rinds, a few multi-colored beer cans and a large size Breeze or Duz box, all artistically arranged in the plain old green grass? They sure are nature lovers, those Junk Dumpers.

Another point—why go a few blocks to the city dump—located as it is just southeast of the Products area—when you can take the family for a long ride out into the country and dump the junk at the same time. After all, we know the farmers don't have a darned thing to do Monday mornings but to pick it up and haul it back to the city dump. We're sure they shouldn't mind doing this for you.

And last, but not least, everyone knows its not sanitary to lave old cans and beer bottles around for the flies and mosquitos to breed in. You have to get them away from your lot, don't you? Why, sure, we realize all the virtues your club stands for.

Surely such family-loving, sanitary minded, artistically inclined folks aren't what the state legislature had in mind when they passed that old law regarding littering the public highways. Why, they even wrote it out like this—(1950 Michigan Police Manual, sections 681 and 901) "Glass, tacks, rubbish or garbage deposited on the highways (are classed as) a misdemeanor. (Subject to) county jail—not more than 90 days or a fine of not more than $100, or both." Surely they couldn't mean the "Junk Dumpers Club!"

We believe they must have someone else in mind, and hereby publicly and vehemently proclaim you the community's most law-abiding, civic minded and brotherly-lovingest group in Tecumseh.

Congratulations!

(Signed)

To the People of Tecumseh—

Did any of you ever watch our little children on a Sunday morning going to, or coming home from church or Sunday School?

Every day of the week, except on Sunday, the traffic light at the boulevard and Union street works properly. On Sunday only the flasher is on. The traffic is heavier then than any week day and I have seen children stand and wait and wait for an opportunity to cross the street, finally take a chance and dash across.

I know that it is not pleasant to hear cars stop and start but we might better be disturbed a million times than have one child injured or worse.

Our town is growing rapidly and we all know that there are many careless and thoughtless drivers. Please, please let us do everything we can to protect our children. Last Sunday, for the first time in months, the light was working at 9:30, but at noon when many children were on their way home after church, it was not.

If there is one more thing we can do to protect our children let us do it. That traffic light is important and necessary and let us all ask our fine city government to have that light operate on Sunday at least until noon and why not all day?

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

That growing segment of our population the returned service man with experience in the Orient, would recognize an old acquaintance if he were to visit the back lawn of the Edward Leighton home on east Pottawatamie street. Towering between the houses, is a slender graceful tree, with dense, dark green foliage, a gingko, the sacred tree found near the temples in China and Japan.

Although this is the only one of the species in Tecumseh, the gingko is not uncommon in botanical gardens and parks in the United States and there is at least one street in Washington, D. C., which is lined with them. They are even more common in England.

The interest of this particular tree lies in the fact that it was brought directly from Japan to its present location by a Tecumseh resident at a time (more than 40 years ago) when jaunts to the Orient were not the every day affairs they are now. Then the house at 205 E. Pottawatamie was owned by Bazilla Hurry, a retired Franklin township farmer whose three children were all graduates of Tecumseh high school and the University of Michigan.

One of them, Charles Hurry, who had received his university degree in 1900 had become interested in the work of the Y.M.C.A. and after several years of training and experience in the United States had risen to the top of that organization as International Secretary. In that capacity he traveled all over the world and it was on his return from one of his trips to Japan that he brought back the seedling tree which has made itself so much at home in an alien land.

That it survived the trip and the transplanting to a strange environment is understandable in light of its history and characteristics. The gingko is one of the oldest species in the world's vgetation. Survival is its middle name. A variety of yew, it is one, perhaps the only one, of the survivors of the pre-glacial age.

Geologists have found formations of its very characteristic leaves in the coal strata that place it definitely in that period. The Leightons would be the first to agree with the geologists that they are practically indestructable. Very late to leaf out in the spring it is the last to drop its foliage in the fall and a shower of plastic would be as easy to dispose of. They refuse to burn and placed in a compost heap they do not rot away like other leaves Like the species they just survive.

Each individual leaf is shaped like an oriental fan, many ribbed and deeply scalloped. They are shaped so much like the leaflets of a maiden-hair fern that the gingko is often called the Maiden-hair tree. The leaves grow thickly the entire length of long drooping branches which seem suspended from the horizontal limbs. There are no untidy dead twigs, no diseased spots. The tree has an air of neat indestructability. Its only undesirable characteristic is the unpleasant, sweetish odor of the sparse, plum-like fruit and even these are used by the thrifty Japanese. The kernel or pit, is roasted and used for food.

The tree "self seeds" quite readily and part of Mr. Leighton's spick and span garden is a gingko nursery where about a dozen thrifty little seedlings are growing up. Perhaps there are gingko trees about the present home of Mr. Hurry in Winter Garden, Florida, but even so he might be gratified to know that he helped to establish a new Gingko dynasty in Tecumseh.

Historical Society Dedicates Plaque

Tecumseh members of the Lenawee County Historical Society, who attended the fall meeting of that organization at Devils Lake Friday, included Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Finch, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. Jay Morse Mrs. N. C. McConnell, Dr. Mary Swan, Mrs. Lena Moiles, Mrs. W. G. Waldron, Mrs. Elmer Harper, Mrs. Mabel Beardsley, Mrs. Jeanie Satterlee and the Misses Lillian Cannon, Beth Satterthwaite, Edith Ingersoll, Edythe Shuff, Elizabeth Beamish and Mary Whitelock.

The occasion was the dedication of a plaque by the society, marking the site of the home of Chief Meteau of the Pottawatamie Indians and the remnant of that tribe in this region.

Dinner was served in the Lake View hotel and the program followed in the pavillion. Mrs. John 3. Martin Jr., wife of Michigan's Attorney General, was the speaker and a feature of the afternoon was the music of the Addison high school band.

The program was in charge of Mrs. C. C. Cooke of Clayton and the chairman of the dedication project was Mrs. Eugene Ryan of Addison. Mrs. Guy Pocklington of Ridgeway is president of the society.

Christian Science Services Listed

The ever-availability of the healing power of the Christ, Truth, will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real? is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Selections to be read from the Bible include the account of Christ Jesus' healing of the leper as given in Matthew (8:1-3):

"When he was come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed him. And, behold, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean. And Jesus put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (142:31): "Truth is God's remedy for error of every kind, and Truth destroys only what is untrue. Hence the fact that, today, as yesterday, Christ casts out evils and heals the sick."

Grade School News

Patterson School

Mrs. Garlich—Second Grade

We now have thirty-four in our room—nineteen boys and fifteen girls. Seven of us were not in the Patterson school last year. We are pretty well acquainted with everyone now.

A black kitten came to visit one day. He jumped in our window. We gave him some milk to drink.

We are reading new stories about Dick and Jane and their friends. Some of us will be having new books soon.

Nancy Mead brought some butterflies to school. We found the names of most of them in our insect book.

We have been making collections of seeds. We like the kind with the sails because we can make them sail through the air. We have been learning about birds too.

Nina Robinson is back in school after having the mumps.

Linda Spooner is in University hospital. We hope she will soon be well enough to return to school. We miss you, Linda.

We want to invite and urge all of our parents to come to our Patterson P.T.A. meeting. We'll remind you of the date!!

Central School

Mrs. Puffer—Second Grade

We have 35 boys and girls in our room. We are looking forward to a happy and a busy year.

During the Lenawee County Fair Week we discussed the meaning of the fair, then when we attended it we knew the worthwhile things to look for. We later made a mural across the back of our room depicting the fair. We make ourselves and our families in the scene, too.

We are learning interesting things about seeds in our science class. We found that seeds are scattered in various ways: some fly, some ride, while some are carried. We are arranging a display of the many many kinds of seeds that the children have found.

Central School

Mrs. VanWinkle—Second Grade

Hello again! We are a group of Second Graders from Central School. We were not all in the same first grade last year, so we are spending much of our time getting acquainted with one another, with our teachers, and with our room.

During our music periods we composed and wrote words for a little song called "Fall Is Here." It was lots of fun and Miss Gillespie, our music instructor, made copies so that each one of us took one home for our familes to see.

Jimmy Oberlin had his seventh birthday just the day before school started. Tim Rhinehart was seven on the 14th, and we had something quite unusual on the 28th of September. Three children, Karen Miller, Ricky Nighswander, and Doug Wilcox were all seven on that date. We made birthday cards and had a nice party with the mothers treating us.

Last week we spent some time studying County Fairs. We talked about what we could and should see at the Lenawee County Fair. We even made some healthly looking prize winning animals. We judged them giving blue, red and white ribbons to the winners.

Central School

Mrs. Callihan—Second Grade

We have thirty-six in our class this year. LaVon Schoonover came into our room the third week of school. He makes three who were not in Tecumseh Schools last year. The others are Sharon Browning and Binnie MacDonald.

Our animal book has been fun to make. We keep studying animals and adding pictures to it. We really enjoyed a story of a Flying Squirrel and many of us drew good ones in our book.

Linda Easton celebrated her seventh birthday this week. We are glad to have Joan Langhan back after a week's illness.

We enjoyed our trip to the High School to see the show "Sounds in the Air." Many of us had never been in the new school and very few in the big gym. Perhaps by next month we will have more to tell you of our work.

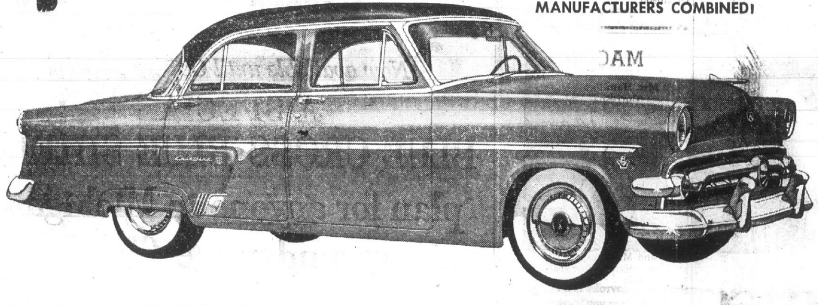
WOW! 14,000,000 V-8 FORDS

FORD, THE WORLD'S LARGEST V-8 BUILDER, HAS PRODUCED MORE V-8's THAN ALL OTHER MANUFACTURERS COMBINED!



It's America's largest selling V-8!

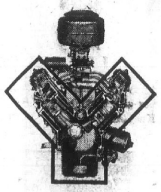
Four out of five V-8's on the road today are V-8 Fords! Ford introduced the V-8 engine to the low-price field more than 22 years ago . . . and is still the only car in its field to offer the smoothness and responsiveness of V-8 power. Add to this Ford's long, low silhouette, its clean, modern styling and its colorful, smartly-trimmed interiors, and it's easy to see why Ford is America's most popular V-8 car.

There's no engine so modern!

Ford's Y-block V-8 has an extra-deep block that extends below the crankshaft for more rigid support, longer engine life. New short-stroke design, turbo-wedge combustion chambers, free-turning overhead valves and exclusive Automatic Power Pilot squeeze the last ounce of power from every drop of gas! With 130-horsepower, Ford's Y-block V-8 is the smoothest, most responsive engine in Ford's field!

There's no V-8 priced so low!

Only Ford offers a V-8 in the low-price field! And no car near its price gives you Ball-Joint Suspension . . . for smooth riding and easier handling. Only Ford in its field, gives you Full-Circle Visibility . . . the most windshield area . . . the most rear window area . . . the most total glass area! And, with many other exclusives such as suspended pedals and Center-Fill Fueling, Ford is America's best buy!



WOW! It's not just a V-8 ...it's a Y-block V-8

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING FORDS THAN EVER BEFORE!

WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT... WORTH MORE WHEN YOU SELL IT!

Analysis of used car prices shows that Ford retains a greater proportion of its original cost at resale than any other car in its field. It's further proof of the greater value you get from Ford.

Apples are sold by the unit, by weight, or by the original container. Selling by weight is more satisfactory, says Roberta Hershey, Extension foods specialist at M.S.C. Three apples of medium size weight about one pound. There are about 40 medium-sized apples in a peck and 150 in a bushel. Medium-sized apples sell for less than large ones and are usually more economical.

BENEDICT—BRUCE

The Britton Congregational Christian church was the scene of a beautiful candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when Marjory Bruce and Lee Benedict exchanged vows before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bruce and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Benedict, both of Britton.

Preceding the ceremony, Willard Exelby sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." During the ceremony he sang "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by his mother Mrs. Ford Exelby at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white satin enriched by luxurious Chantilly lace bodice and fingertip sleeves. The mandarin neckline was adorned with sequins and tiny pearls. Vast drifts of nylon tulle swept into a wide train. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara embroidered with sequins and pearls matching her gown.

The maid of honor, Miss Charlotte Cadmus wore a purple gown of crystalline, fashioned with tucked bodice and full ballerina length skirt. She wore a matching jacket and mitts and carried a basket of deep gold roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Shirley Bortel and Miss Bonnie Naugle wore gowns fashioned of crystalline, with high Empire waists, tucked bodices and full ballerina skirts with matching jackets and mitts. Miss Bortel's gown was of gold and she carried a basket of deep rose mums. Miss Naugle's gown was of fushia and she carried a basket of gold mums.

The flower girl, Kay Benedict, cousin of the groom, was gowned in pale pink crystalline with tight bodice and full skirt. She carried a basket of rose petals which she scattered before the bride.

Th bride's mother chose a dress of wine taffeta with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore blue faille and black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white orchids.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church parlors. Mrs. Ronald Frayer was in charge of the guest book. The groom's aunt Mrs. Charles Benedict served the wedding cake. Mrs. Raymond Macy of Rosewood, Ohio, an aunt of the bride presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Glen Gripton and Mrs. Steven Ball poured. Miss Joan Downing, Miss Mary Lou Dibble and Mrs. Paul Hamilton assisted with the gifts. The Duet Class of the church had charge of serving the refreshments.

Guests were registered from Springfield, Ohio, Toledo, Rosewood and Sidney, Ohio, Dearborn, Chelsea, Ypsilanti, Blissfield and Lansing.

After a trip to Niagara Falls the couple will make their home on Hoagland Hwy.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Britton-Macon Agricultural High School in 1954. The bride has been employed at Tresco, Inc. in Tecumseh. The groom is employed by the L. A. Davidson Construction Co. of Lansing.

Mrs. Bert Moore Buried Saturday

Mrs. Mabel C. Moore, 58, died Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. at her home in Britton after four months illness.

We're out to break a record in October!

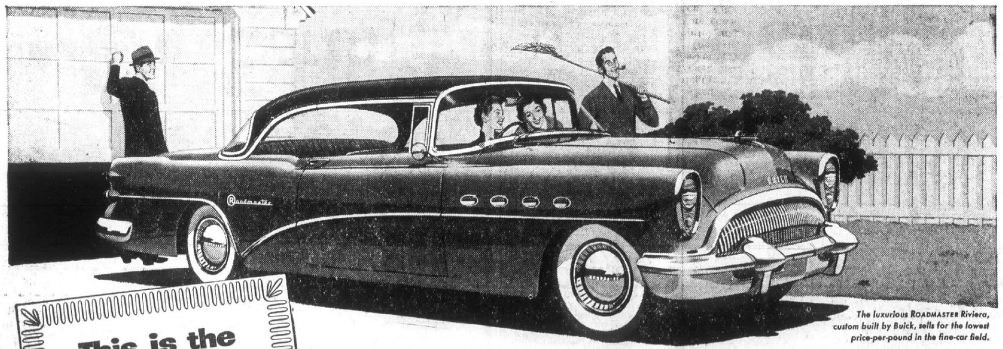
THERE'S a mighty good chance that October 1954 will be the biggest October in Buick history.

In fact, we know it will — if we can keep Buick sales rolling as they've been rolling thus far this year.

This is the pace-setting car that has romped ahead of competition — climbed up into the circle of America's three top sales leaders.

It's the car that has been winning customers because it has the power, the ride, the room, and the styling that make it the buy of the year.

So we're in the mood to talk turkey, if you are in the market. Come in today for a car — and a deal — too good to miss.



The luxurious ROADMASTER Riviera, custom built by Buick, sells for the lowest price-per-pound in the fine-car field.

This is the 3-way bonus we offer in Buick today

1. Tomorrow's Styling — True year-ahead beauty with long, low glamor lines, keynoted by that spectacular new panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later.

2. Higher Resale Value in the years to come — From the far-in-advance styling that will keep your Buick new and modern-looking well into the future, as other cars catch up.

3. Bigger Allowance from our volume business — For the huge sales success that has moved Buick into the circle of the "Big 3" means we can offer you a higher trade-in on your present car. Come in and see for yourself that we can make you a better deal.

Now's the time to make your buy because — Buick Sales are Soaring And Buick 'deals' are better than ever!

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

LENAWEE COUNTY'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

SERVING TECUMSEH, BRITTON, RIDGEWAY, MACON AND TIPTON

ONE HUNDRED FOURTH YEAR — NUMBER 2 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1954 | TEN CENTS A COPY

GAY BLADES OF '79 — This picture, reproduced from a L. F. Wheeler stereoscopic view, shows the Tecumseh baseball team of 1879. The view was loaned to the HERALD by Leon Rosacrans whose father Fred played shortstop on this rugged nine that played without substitutes.

Leon recalls that his father told him the team had played a whale of a ball game on the day this picture was taken. Tecumseh played Detroit and won. The local team not only won the ball game but it also won for its supporters a $5000 swag that had been bet on the winners.

The diamond was in the 300 block on what is now west Shawnee street. It was on the site of Fred Rosacrans' home.

Indians Score TD Parade; Face Bedford

Scoring a parade of touchdowns, Tecumseh High blitzed a young and inexperienced Taylor Center eleven in a non-league game Friday night. The score was 47-6.

The Indians' production included seven touchdowns, a safety and three extra points. Richie Davis, fast back, hit pay dirt three times for Tecumseh. Other Indian tds were racked up by Jim Bowser, LeRoy Betzoldt, Jerry House and Tom Neitling. Tackle Bill Scutt booted three extra points. In the fourth period with Taylor Center backed against its own goal, a safety was called and Tecumseh added two more points.

In the third period Coach Lester Runk emptied his bench and the third team was on the field when the visiting Wayne County team scored its only touchdown. Black scored from the three on a quarterback sneak.

Taylor Center's players were as large as Tecumseh's but the team has only freshmen and sophomores. This marks only the second year that the fast-growing Taylor Township School has fielded a team.

Friday night the Indians will face a more experienced squad when they play the Bedford Mules at Lambertville. Game time is 8 p.m. This is a league game.

Bedford currently is in second place in the Southeastern Michigan League and also has beaten a strong Montpelier, Ohio, team. Its league record shows a win against Airport Community and a loss to Hillsdale.

Tecumseh has played only one league game, a 13-6 loss to Monroe Catholic Central, the league leader.

Des Ermia's Opens Again

Des Ermia's Home Furnishings on Evans street which was burned out last April is now open for business again.

The reconditioned and remodeled store has 20,000 square feet of floor space, about one-third more than it had before the fire.

It has a frontage of 135 feet and a new sidewalk has been built in front of the store.

Other features include: slim line instant lighting, an elevated office dome in birch paneling with sliding glass panels between rooms, a wrought iron railing around the office, a 15-foot sandstone planter, gas heat and coral and green walls.

Other features include a separate floor covering department, an infant department, and kitchen department offering complete selection of goods. One half of the second story features maples for the entire home.

A huge light green sign "Des-Ermia's Home Furnishings" with gold neon lights has letters four feet high.

Co-partners Lyle and Hugh Des Ermia report they now have a completely restocked store featuring the widest selection of national brands of the finest furniture and appliances available.

Britton Wins League Game

Britton - Macon Agricultural School blasted Sand Creek at the Britton homecoming Friday, 19-0, to gain its first Little Six League win.

The Tories started their scoring in the second period with John Korican gaining 60 yards and Al Barrett barreling over for the score from 10 yards out. Korican's attempted pass for the extra point was not good.

In the third quarter Britton marched 70 yards with Korican reaching pay dirt. Sanch's attempted boot of the extra point was not good.

The Sand Creek Aggies never threatened throughout the game.

Chief Warns Watch Out For Walkers

The State Safety Commission has again launched its annual fall statewide program aimed at pedestrian protection, Police Chief George Kilbourn announced today.

"Hundreds of thousands of leaflets, posters, safe driving lessons, and radio and television announcements will be used to warn motorists and pedestrians of the special hazards of the season — greater hours of darkness, slippery pavements, dangerous weather and greater shopping crowds," he said.

"During the last 16 years 7,823 pedestrians were killed in Michigan and with traffic steadily increasing the hazards are greater every day," he warned.

The Commission is emphasizing the following safety tips to motorists:

(1) Watch a pedestrian caught in the middle of the street between two lanes of moving traffic.

(2) Let a pedestrian finish crossing the street on a red signal if he started on the green.

(3) Look out for a pedestrian stepping back in front of you when startled by another car.

(4) Beware of a pedestrian geeting off a bus and walking around the front of it.

(5) Be alert for a pedestrian who may step from a wet highway shoulder onto the dry pavement.

(6) Keep your eyes open for pedestrians getting out of parked cars.

(7) Expect occasional "jaywalkers" between intersections.

(8) Slow down when passing crowds of shoppers waiting to cross at an intersection.

(9) Don't skid into a pedestrian on wet pavement.

(10) Don't turn left into a pedestrian on a green light — he has the "right-ofway".

"The pedestrian has no physical defense against a ton and half of steel," Chief Kilbourn said. "While he should obey the law the motorist must accept the major responsibility of looking out for him. Once he is struck and his head hits the pavement, it's all over for him."

GIRL SCOUTS VISIT HERALD OFFICE

School Board Can't Give Terms On East Branch School

Members of the Tecumseh Board of Education do not see their way clear to give the city terms on buying East Branch school but the door to work out the financing of the site between the two bodies has not been closed.

Councilmen Edith Smith, R. H. Moore and Roy Titley met with school board members Tuesday night to see what terms could be arranged.

But the board felt it could not grant terms.

Councilman Moore pointed out that Supt. McDowell told councilmen at their last meeting that he thought terms could be arranged and the city decided that although it did not have the money to pay for the site it could not afford to pass up such a desirable site for a future combined city hall and fire department.

But misunderstanding developed and the $18,900 price quoted by Glenn Kohler, realtor, and Supt. McDowell for the site was the board's cash price.

Board member Dr. Ralph Helzerman pointed out that the board could not stand to cut the price from the original asking price of $25,000 and still sell on terms.

Board president Jens Touborg said the school board needs a cash payment for the site to tide the schools over on operations.

He explained that this was the reason why the price was reduced to $18,900 for a cash buyer.

"All of us like to be civic minded," he said, "but we have financial obligations that must be met."

Councilmen Moore, Titley and Smith further will discuss the proposed site buying with the rest of the council next Monday night.

All three are of the opinion that something can be worked out, even if the city has to borrow to buy the site.

3281 Sign

Three thousand, two hundred and eighty one Tecumseh area persons are registered to vote in the general election Nov. 2.

Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk, reports the city has 3056 registered voters and Al Merz, Tecumseh Township clerk, reports the township has 225.

Coach Runk needs this information as soon as is possible so facilities for the games can be provided.

More than 1000 persons watched His Eminence Cardinal Edward Mooney bless the new $80,000 chapel at Boysville in Macon Sunday.

The field was named for John M. Carlisle, Detroit News columnist, who aided in raising funds for the field.

Supported by the Michigan Knights of Columbus, Boysville has 150 orphaned and needy students.

Funds collected will be used to buy dried milk for hungry children all over the world.

Representatives of the churches taking part met last evening to perfect plans for the undertaking and the public is assured that the children who have the official insignia are authorized to ask for contributions.

2500 View New Flower Shop

The Sunday afternoon open house of the modern, new home of Ousterhout's Flower Shop attracted a crowd of 2500 well wishers from the city and surrounding communities.

Bert and Arlene Ousterhout greeted their friends in the spacious display room and the facilities of the efficient work, storage and consultation rooms, the offices, garage and adjoining conservatory were explained by Barbara Ousterhout, Mrs. Kenneth Ringman, Mrs. Robert Ferguson and Mrs. Wade Hendershot.

Mrs. Don Nettleman registered the visitors and Mrs. Ousterhout's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Rathbun of Fowlerville, helped conduct them through the building.

The beautiful new shop is the culmination of years of effort and planning on the part of the Ousterhouts and their day would have been complete had it been possible for their son and his wife to be present.

Both Mr. and Mrs. David Ousterhout are graduates of Michigan State College department of floriculture and at the end of his tour of duty in the army they will take over part of the responsibilities of the business.

Korean shoes are all rubber, gaily decorated and specially constructed so children can slip in and out of them easily.

Persons who wish to contribute to the plan may send or take funds to John Hamilton at John's Gulf Station in Tecumseh and he will forward the funds to international headquarters.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

A TECUMSEH MOTHER WAS TELLING her six-year-old son about the golden rule. "Always remember," she said, "that we are here to help others." The youngster mulled this over for a minute, then he asked: "Well, what are the others here for?"

ERNIE CAMPBELL SAYS he gets sort of sick of his own cooking so he really enjoys the feed at Rotary every Thursday night.

A NEW BOOK AT THE Tecumseh Library is called "Grandma Rolled Her Own." The title reminded me of granny and her old pipe. I can still see her sitting in her easy chair by the kitchen range (and if anybody else was sitting in it when Granny wanted it, he or she soon discovered that it was granny's chair) puffing away contented moments of bliss as the smoke twirled around her brown, wrinkled face, leaving just a trace of permanent yellow on her white curls. And oftentimes when the dear old lady would relax a wee bit too much and her head would nod, sparks from her pipe would ignite her apron and she would awake with a start. But never flustered, she would quickly douse the burning apron and continue to suck on her beloved pipe. Sure she was a character but she was the sweetest sweetheart a fellow ever had.

TREES AND SHRUBS are turning into a riot of color. Take a drive along any country road or main highway and you will see this panorama of autumn. The reds of the sumac, the yellows of the hickory and the greens of some of the maple that have not yet completely turned all mingle into a blaze of color. It looks like a crazed painter went berserk and dabbed the brightest colors he had on our trees and what a wonderful color combination he made of it.

GEORGE BLANCHARD WAS BUSY policing up the mess the cyclone did to his barn yard when I called on him Thursday. When I handed him the picture of his smashed barn, George commented: "Gee, the picture makes it look worse than it really was." I'm sure George was being complimentary to the HERALD photographic department.

WHAT A LIFE THE FOOTBALL experts lead, but they always have an out. After setbacks of teams selected by the experts to win, the boys in the know proclaim "upset." Incidentally, all Michigan State fans should be sent messages of condolences over their recent losses.

ADD SMALL WORLD DEPARTMENT: A tall, distinguished looking man came into the office Tuesday. As he came through the door, I thought I had seen him somewhere before. As it turned out I had. The Rev. C. A. Bearinger, pastor of the Ridgeway Church of the Nazarene, served the Wayne Church of the Nazarene when I once worked in Wayne.

GIRLS FROM GIRL SCOUT Troop 16 who visited the HERALD Friday with their leaders Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Charles Beland were a sharp bunch. They were sincerely interested in the "whys" and "wherefores" of newspaper production and asked a number of intelligent questions about the technical production of the paper. Maybe all of them will become newspaper women.

BILL BORTEL, JUNIOR AT MSC, was high man at the national Barrow Show held at Austin, Minn. An animal husbandry major, Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bortel, 11903 Milwaukee road.

THE HERALD HAD A BIRTHDAY last week — its 104th. But we don't feel that old, well, anyway, not much.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK—Don't hang a dismal picture on the wall, and do not daub with sables and glooms in your conversation. Don't be a cynic and disconsolate preacher. Don't bewail and bemoan. Omit the negative propositions. Nerve us with incessant affirmatives. Don't waste yourself in rejection, nor bark against the bad, but chant the beauty of the good. When that is spoken which has a right to be spoken, the chatter and the criticism will stop. Set down nothing that will not help somebody.—Emerson

A sound and color motion picture entitled "Dearborn Holiday" will be shown Saturday evening, Oct. 23 at 8 p.m. at the Pythian Hall. The film will be sponsored by the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters and will depict the interesting highlights of Greenfield Village, the Ford Museum and the huge Ford Rouge plant.

Should Have Correspondent From Sunny Calif. Shores

For some time the HERALD has been considering engaging a correspondent for California.

No where outside of Lenawee County does the paper have a larger or more loyal reading and rooting section. Something about the atmosphere of the Pacific must attract erstwhile Tecumseh residents for a letter from Mrs. Charles Williamson, who is visiting her daughter Mrs. Arthur Lepon in Wilmington, Calif., tells of a gathering of more than 20 at the Santa Monica home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rosacrans recently.

Ruth and Gene entertained at a picnic dinner in their patio and the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Don (Bunny) Sutton, Mrs. Frank Sutton and daughter Carol Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Williamson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tribolet, Mrs. W. H. Wehr, Margaret Wehr Sargeant, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barritt, Mrs. Bess Hanna, Mr. and Mrs. Don Oseid (Martha Jane Hanna), Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Heesen, Raynita Larson Heintzelman, Glenola Whelan, Margaret Williamson Lepon and Mrs. C. H. Williamson.

This group (or elements of it) gathers about once a year and Mrs. Williamson concludes "of course we had a fine time."

This is not all the "California story, however, for the HERALD mailing list includes in addition the names of Mrs. Roe Anderson, Mrs. Harold Bird, Ella G. Farley, Margaret Glascow, Jack A. Green, Mrs. Raymond Hasey, Mrs. Mary Higgins, Donald Hyder, Clifford Mansfield, Mrs. Julia Wright McClure, Leon Mix, Mrs. James Murray, Mrs. Lee Settle, Mrs. Earl Smith, Stanley Swaln and Walter Titley. In the Bay Area there are Miss Madeline Boyce, Mrs. Charles Burridge, Miss Zilla Mills, Mrs. Kenneth (Camilla Satterthwaite) Munson, Mrs. Margaret Sehon, P. F. Slayton, James and Ruth (Keeney) Waldron, and Fred B. and Alice (Satterthwaite) Wood.

St. Peter's To Have Pilgrim Festival

With a refreshing display of inter-church cooperation, the "Pilgrim Festival," annual bazaar and dinner of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, will be held as usual on Thursday, Oct. 28—at the Baptist Youth House. This was announced today by Mrs. Lynn Hubbard, who is general chairman of the event.

When it appeared that construction of the addition to St. Peter's Parish House would make the event impossible there, the offer of the use of the Baptist facility was made. "It is a wonderful kindness," commented Mrs. Hubbard, "and we gratefully accepted."

The "Pilgrim Festival" will include a bazaar and country store beginning at 1 p.m. and the roast beef dinner which will start at 5 p.m. Included in the Festival offerings are a Treasure Corner and baked goods, aprons and novelties.

BABY CHRISTENED

Corinne Sue Morse, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morse of Saline and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Wilson, was christened Sunday morning at St. Peter's Episcopal church. Sponsors were James Wilson, Mrs. Robert H. Wilson and Mrs. Marvin Rorick of Saline.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson entertained at a family dinner following the service and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morse of Caseville.

Delegates Report To D.A.R. Chapter

The October meeting of Abi Evans chapter, D.A.R. was held at the regular hour last Friday in the home of Mrs. Neil Pearson and much of the business session was taken over by a discussion of the year's budget.

Reports of the delegates who attended the regional meeting held in Croswell House in Adrian in September were in line with this topic. There Miss Ethelyn Garlinghouse, Mrs. Lyman Curtiss and Mrs. A. H. Brown had been told of the project of the state regent, which is the building of a "Craft House" at the Kate Duncan Smith school, the D.A.R. supported institution in Alabama. This will be a large room to be built of native stone, where the students may carry on their weaving and other handicrafts operations.

"What D.A.R. Dollars Do," the program subject in charge of Mrs. Roy Whiting, was in keeping with the theme of the meeting and Mrs. Joe Rice added a bit of variety by giving a brief account of her recent trip to Europe, which included London, Paris, Lyons and Switzerland.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Dr. Mary Swan, Mrs. Al Helzerman, Mrs. F. S. Turner, Mrs. Lucy Terry and Mrs. Ralph Ruesink.

MRS. J. FRECKELTON'S MOTHER DIES

Anna Christina Fischer, widow of Claus Fischer and mother of Mrs. James Freckelton, 560 W. Chicago Blvd., died Saturday evening at Herrick Memorial hospital, where she had been a patient for only a short time.

Mrs. Fischer, whose home was in Detroit, had been with her daughter in Tecumseh for about six weeks.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Gordon Crabb Funeral Home in Detroit.

Besides Mrs. Freckelton, Mrs. Fischer leaves another daughter, Mrs. Mike Keras of St. Clair Shores, a son Carl Fischer of Dexter, five grandchildren and one great grandchild.

THREE YEARS OLD

Mrs. Paul Velandra invited 12 boys and girls Saturday afternoon to help celebrate the third birthday of her son Paul David. Refreshments featured a pink and blue theme and there was a decorated cake with lighted candles. Mrs. Velandra was assisted by Mrs. Glenn Davis.

DAUGHTER HONORED

Joslyn Snook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Snook, was eight years old Friday and to celebrate the occasion her mother entertained 14 of her friends at a Halloween party that evening. Games, ghost stories and the customary Halloween stunts were enjoyed by the guests and the refreshments were highlighted by a "Raggedy-Ann" cake which matched the costume of Miss Joslyn. She was presented with many lovely gifts by her little friends.

ONE OUT OF TEN!

One out of every ten paychecks handed out in Michigan is paid by Motor Transport — did you know that? And the average annual wage it pays is about 25% higher than the average for all other industries!

That gives you some idea of how big and important the trucking industry is in this State.

Everything you eat, wear, or use travels at least a part of the way to you in trucks and trailers. And besides this, the trucking industry is a major job prod- r for your State!

No wonder it's said, "Trucks are your friends— serving you night and day!"

Grade School News

West Branch School

Miss LaPointe—Second Grade

There are thirty-seven children in our group. Twenty-one are girls and sixteen, boys.

Many children have shown an interest in shells and as a result Laura Seager and Karen Creger each put on an exhibit of their collections.

We are now busy reviewing because we forget so much during vacations.

Pupils who celebrated their birthdays recently were Bruce Osburn, September 23; Jillene Townsend, October 3; William Schulze, October 5; Laura Seager, October 14. Diana Holcomb will be seven on October 19th.

Laura Wright has loaned us her turtle which she has named "Tiny" because it is so small.

We all enjoyed the show at the High School which demonstrated how sounds are produced on radio, television, and the movies.

Our music teacher, Miss Gillespie, has taught us some very nice songs.

Central School

Mrs. Whiting—Fourth Grade

This week our count has grown to 32 children; 20 boys, and 12 girls. Our new boy is Dean McCarley.

We have been making Halloween posters. We will give a Halloween party on Friday, October 29th.

Linda McKenzie, Richard Cobb, and Patty Lawson, have birthdays this month.

We have organized a Citizenship Club. Debbie Holden is president; Gail DeMass is vice-president; Bradley McCombs is secretary, and Tommy Smith is treasurer. We drew up a set of rules for the year.

We are making Science scrapbooks of Mammals, Reptiles, Amphibians, Birds, Insects, Fish, and miscellaneous animals. Richard Cobb brought a field mouse one day, and Linda McKenzie, Suzanne Rose and Larry McClain brought their kittens.

Debbie Holden, Tommy Smith, Kenneth Southwell, David Langham, Dwight MacPherson, Larry McClain, Grant Baughey, Paul Decker, Philip Radant, Karen Robinette, Roger Mikesell, Gail DeMass, and Bradley McCombs brought their hobbies for the showcase in the hall. These were very interesting. Bradley was chairman of this project.

On Fridays we have movies for our Social Study class if we have earned this privilege by being good citizens all week.

We are subscribing to the Weekly Reader and a new magazine called "Checkaway" this year.

We have 10 different monitors for room duties, and we each get a chance to choose the one we want to be, such as librarian, hostess, gym leader, dismissal leader, etc.

We choose stories we especially like, to read to each other in Reading class on Friday.

We are learning our multiplication tables by playing games with the flash cards each day. Most of us know through the 4's now.

Patterson School

Mrs. Colson—Fourth Grade

There are only five girls and boys in our room this year who were not in Miss Baker's third grade last year, so we had very little difficulty getting acquainted. It was nice to see all of our friends again after the summer vacation.

We began our reading work with a book called Today and Tomorrow. We enjoyed reading the stories together. This week we started our new books, Times and Places, and are using our reading work books.

Multiplying and dividing with four is new work for us. We are all trying to learn these multiplication facts so that we can use them easily when working our problems.

Our Science Display has been growing larger every day. We have one shelf showing living and non-living things, and one filled with plants and animals. In our Notebooks we are dividing the living things into groups, using a picture for each group.

In Social Studies class we are learning about some of the people who discovered and settled our country. We have been learning too, how to read maps and globes.

We hope that our parents will come to the Patterson P.T.A. meeting to see all of our new and interesting books.

Miss Baker—Third Grade

There are 35 of us in third grade: 13 boys and 22 girls. Most of us were together last year as second graders.

In our new Centerville books, we read a story about work at the post office. We took a trip to the post office and Mr. Metcalf told us all about the mail. He told us how the mail was sortd and cancelled. We didn't know mail could go to so many places from Tecumseh. Many of us saw our own mail boxes where we get our mail at the post office.

We are writing sentences in language. We made up a story about "The Big Apple."

In Science we are reading about many kinds of animals. We have learned what kind of foods different animals eat and how they get the food. We enjoyed the story of the ant and angleworm. We drew a picture of a garden spider and wrote a story for it. We also have a bug collection.

Every week we go to our school library and bring books back to our room to read. There are many interesting books.

We will have more to tell you when we see you next time. Don't let the goblins and ghosts get you on Halloween.

Central

Mrs. Vallie—Third Grade

There are 34 children in our room this year. We did have 35, but Shirley Mitchell moved to Hudson.

Linda Covell, Cliff Doyle, Richard Fielder, Joan Forrester, Vicke Lord, and Michael Withrow had birthdays during September.

Terry Baker has been among the missing this week. We hope he will soon be well enough to come back to school.

We are writing stories in our Language Class. You should read the mystery thrillers some of us have written.

All of us enjoy "The Weekly Readers." They teach us how to enjoy newspapers and also help us to become better readers.

Mrs. Illeck—Third Grade

The first few days of school, we were bursting at the seams. We felt just like the Old Woman in the Shoe. We had so many children we didn't know what to do. Soon Mr. Greene came and took some children away. We were sorry to have them leave us, but it was better for all concerned. We now have an enrollment of thirty-three children.

Some of us forgot how to write our last names in cursive writing over the vacation. We are spending some time, also, learning to write our capital letters. There are many boys and girls who write very well.

We are learning many new addition and subtraction facts in Arithmetic. Each time we learn a new fact we make a flash card. When we have free time, we play a game with our cards.

Check Septic Tank Cleaners

Planning on having your septic tank cleaned?

Then know what you are paying for, the Division of Engineering of the Michigan Department of Health advises Tecumseh area householders who require the services of a septic tank cleaner.

Engineers say recent complaints from householders show that a complete understanding regarding the service charge should be reached before the cleaning is started.

And the best basis for payment is by the job rather than by weight or volume, engineers add, because there is less chance of misunderstanding.

For example, they point out, an ordinary 500 gallon septic tank holds more than 4,000 pounds of liquid and sludge so that a seemingly small charge of three cents per pound could result in a bill of $120 for a cleaning.

And don't be misled by glittering promises, engineers continue, because there is no quick or secret method of cleaning a septic tank. The only effective method is to remove the accumulated solids.

The addition of yeast, bacterial concentrates or so-called "magic cleaners" or "rejuvenators" have never proven to be necessary for the proper operation of a septic tank, they emphasize.

But the public does have some protection against fraud, engineers point out, because there is a law requiring the licensing and bonding of a septic tank servicing agency. This license is issued to an applicant only after his equipment has been inspected and found adequate to clean septic tanks in a manner not detrimental to public health.

And in addition to the vehicle license which must be carried on the truck at all times, the law requires that the license serial number be painted on the side of the vehicle in large letters. And, when you have your septic tank cleaned, it's a good idea to write down this serial number, engineers conclude, just to be on the safe side.

This Is A Sermon

This is a sermon.

Some events in Tecumseh recently point to the need for a declaration of purpose that will guide every one of us.

Such a declaration of purpose might help to unify folks, institutions and governmental boards. The person who says this unity is not needed here does not have his eyes open.

But what is meant by a declartion of purpose?

One was described in a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor. The article told of the little town of Metlakatla, Alaska, and its inhabitants, the Tsimshean Indians.

It is a village built on industry, law and order.

Its declaration of purpose, adopted Jan. 20, 1891, best tells the story behind the success of this unique community.

We, the people of Metlakatla, Alaska, in order to secure to ourselves and our posterity the blessings of a Christian Home do severally subscribe to the following "Rules for the Regulations of Our Conduct and Our Town Affairs":

1. To reverence the Sabbath and to refrain from all unnecessary secular work on that day; to attend Divine Worship; to take the Bible for our rule of faith; to regard all true Christians as our brethren; to be truthful, honest and industrious.
2. To be faithful and loyal to the Government and the Laws of the United States of America.
3. To render our votes when called upon for the election of the Town Council, and promptly to obey the By-laws and orders imposed by the said Council.
4. To attend to the education of our children and to keep them in school as regularly as possible.
5. To totally abstain from all intoxicants and gambling, and never attend heathen festivities or countenance heathen customs in surrounding villages.
6. To strictly carry out all sanitary regulations necessary for the health of the Town.
7. To identify ourselves with the progress of the settlement, and to utilize the land we hold.
8. Never to alienate, give away or sell our land or building lots, or any portion thereof, to any person or persons who have not subscribed to these Rules.

Don't glide over any one of these. Study them well and apply them. Each one carries a lot of sense and each one, if practiced by all of us here, could once again make Tecumseh the biggest little town on earth.

Frankly, we are up against an equally tough situation. We are running short on our sales ammunition—good property listings. Recent sale activity has depleted our stock. We desperately need more listings to wage our real estate sales battles.

Can you supply the "ammunition?" If you have a property you want sold, now is the time to call it to our attention.

We are especially anxious for those hard-hitting cartridges that masquerade under the heading of "Three-bedroom homes in good locations in town or on the city's edge."

Teach me that 60 minutes make an hour, 16 ounces a pound, and 100 cents a dollar. Help me to live so that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience and unhaunted by the faces of those to whom I may have brought pain.

Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and in earning it I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted money. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow and reveal to me my own.

Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic so as to be considerate of old age. And when comes the day of darkening shades, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here lies a man."—Source unknown.

his neighbors, people in distant lands, his descendants. All his own reaping does not come from his own sowing.

We sow and we reap is the law of life. The sins of the fathers are visited on the children to the third and fourth generations, but also the righteous acts of the fathers continue to bring blessings upon the children of many generations.

It is highly important that we realize the full significance of these cords of interdependence. Because we are tightly bound together, fellowship with man and communion with God are possi-

The truth about sowing and reaping cannot be understood unless we realize how indissolubly individuals are bound together. The harvest comes from seed sown, but there are many sowers. An individual reaps only a portion of the harvest which comes from the seed which he has buried in the soil of life. His wife reaps part of it, his children, ble. If interdependence should be broken and persons became isolated units in no way affecting one another, love would be impossible because love is itself a transforming influence.

Interdependence leads to trouble, but without it there could be no joyous companionship. The Family of God cannot be created out of detached, insulated individuals living seperate and unconnected existences. Therefore God must maintain interdependence of his children. Thus he is unable to prevent the innocent from reaping harvests sown by the guilty. But through the preservation of interdependence God makes it possible for us to experience the exalted joys of comradeship.

A sense of community, a realization of identity, is the only foundation upon which the Kingdom of God can be built. No man liveth to himself and no man dieth to himself.

The Home Demonstrator

By JOSEPHINE BRIGHENTI
HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

"And what is your Hobby?" How often have you heard this question asked recently? And if you were asked this question what could you reply?

Perhaps you do have a hobby or at least a lively interest in some activity, but lack the time or inclination to really pursue it.

What would be the effect on your family if you were to start a hobby and ride it for all you were worth? No doubt, some of your energy and ideas would rub off on the other members of the family. They would probably waste no time in finding hobby horses of their own and in riding them down the road to fun and satisfaction.

Children need new experiences as they are growing in order to give them a background for choosing hobbies. Other people, young and old, may have to set out to find a hobby.

The important point to remember is—it is never too late to begin a hobby. Why not begin today?

Leaders from the 76 Clubs in Lenawee County will begin the trek of "Hobby Hunting" at their first leaders meeting of the 1954-1955 Extension year. Oct. 14, and 15, are the remaining meetings. Each meeting will begin at 10 a.m. until about 3:30 p.m. at the Michigan Producers Dairy Company Auditorium, 1336 E. Maumee Street, Adrian.

Another item of interest to all Homemakers is the announcement of the second series of demonstration lectures and instruction on work simplification methods of Cardiac Homemakers to be offered in Lenawee County, will be held in Tecumseh, Nov. 1, 8, 15, and 22.

These free classes in work simplification techniques will help the homemaker to do her daily work simpler and easier with less strain on her heart. This series of four meetings will be sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association in cooperation with the Lenawee County Cooperative Extension serivce.

Mrs. Ruth C. Kettunen of the Michigan State College Home Management Staff conducts the classes. She emphasized that the classes are designed to benefit any economic level and that it is not necessary to remodel a home in order to conserve the homemakers time and energy.

"Any homemaker can learn to 'take it easy' while doing her various household tasks," Mrs. Kettunen said, "by merely following the work-simplification techniques, principles, and ideas taught in the Cardiac Homemaker Classes."

This announcement is of special importance to all women in Lenawee County who have a heart ailment as Dr. Frank Van Schaick, President of the Michigan Heart Association, states. "Most people can enjoy the luxury of extra time and energy that results from finding easier and better ways of doing things, but for the homemaker with heart disease, the saving of time and energy is an absolute necessity." These work simplification classes, which are a free community service of the Michigan Heart Association, are designated to fill the doctor's prescription of the order to "take it easy."

These classes have the approval of the Lenawee County Medical Association.

Each homemaker attends four (two-hour) lecture-demonstration classes which will be held in the Tecumseh High School, Tecumseh, Michigan. The meetings will begin promptly at 2:00 p.m. and end at 4:00 p.m.

The course is available to every woman in the county, although heart patients will be given first listing. Homemakers in Lenawee County may register for three free classes by writing or calling Josephine Brighenti, Home Demonstration Agent, Court House, Adrian, Michigan, or by calling Adrian 167, for application blanks for the classes.

The Cardiac Homemakers Program is made possible by the Michigan Heart Association through funds received from the United Community Chest.

Mrs. Harris' orchestra and Bob Grey will be on hand to help everyone have a good time and get acquainted.

We hope you will come and enjoy an evening of fun.

Want to eat your "apple a day" in new and different ways? Apples can be served as appetizers main course, salads, desserts, candies and in-between-meal snacks.

Roberta Hershey, extension foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State College, advises the time is here to store this fruit which is chuck full of vitamins and minerals. Whether they are canned, frozen or kept in cold storage, your apples will be there throughout the winter to prepare just as you want.

Miss Hershey suggests baking apples to take advantage of the large amount of vitamin C in the peel. Varieties which are excellent for baking are: Jonathan, Stayman, Winesap, and Wolf River. Her baked apple recipe includes a meringue topping.

PARTY BAKED APPLES

½ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup water
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons sugar
4 large baking apples

Meringue

1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar.

Combine first six ingredients and bring to a boil. Remove from heat. Core apples; pare upper half. Place in baking dish. Pour hot syrup mixture over apples. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour or until tender, basting frequently. Remove from oven. Beat egg white until foamy; gradually beat in sugar. Top each apple with meringue. If desired, insert blanched shredded almonds in meringue and dot with chopped, drained maraschino cherries. Return to oven and bake 15 minutes longer.

Apple punch is another way to please family or guests.

1 quart apple juice
1 cup pineapple juice
4 or 5 sprays crushed mint juice of 1 lemon
1/2 cup sugar

Combine the ingredients; chill thoroughly and serve with ice.

For more recipes and ideas on serving apples, write to Roberta Hershey, Home Economics Extension Service, Michigan State College, or your Extension Office, Court House, Adrian, for the bulletin "Another Way for An Apple A Day," which is available upon request.

VIEWS CYCLONE DAMAGE FROM PLANE

Puzzled by the fact that the twister had snapped off the tops of trees across the road but left his home untouched, Mr. Calhoun, who flies his private plane, went up Monday to survey the damage.

He observed a clearly defined swath across the farms beginning just east of M-52 and extending to the Cuibertson schoolhouse. It was about a half mile in width and from the air it was the cornfields that showed the results most graphically, although flattened buildings and trees were clearly visible. Even in the deep river valley, trees were uprooted in the path of the wind's fury.

Florida's Air Conditioned Homes Too Cold, Reports Paul Vyff Who Once Lived Here

The trouble with most air conditioned homes in Florida is that they're too cold, says Paul Vyff, formerly of Tecumseh.

The next crux of Vyff's theory is that too large a gap separates Nature's outside temperatures and man-made temperatures of structural air-conditioning.

By considerably reducing inside humidity and increasing air-conditioning from the average 75 degrees to about 80, Vyff believes homes will be more comfortable, and going into outside heat won't require insufferable acclimitization.

While his ideas still basically are research theory, he's convinced Florida's home air-conditioning needs vast improvement—and he's going to prove it.

By the first of next year Vyff hopes to have completed modification of a home at the school's south campus on the former Richmond Navy blimp base. Vyff and his wife will live in the house for a year to test the structure's experimental cooling system, designed and installed by Vyff.

His idea for air-conditioning improvements was inspired by way to his first visit to Florida in 1947. He said living in an air-conditioned home was uncomfortable. Until that moment, improving air-conditioning had been only a remote thought.

Born of Danish missionary parents in Port Arthur, China, and educated at the Royal Danish Polytechnic Institute in Copenhagen, Vyff had immigrated to the United States in the 1920s and become an automotive engineer with Chevrolet, Cadillac and Chrysler. He later went with Chrysler's Air-Temp division, manufacturer of air-conditioning units.

Vyff's project home will be a 1,040-square-foot structure not only with a revolutionary cooling system, but several architectural features to enhance living comfort inside the model home.

The kitchen, for example, is centrally built in a U-shaped, chest-high alcove adjoining a bathroom. Any person in the kitchen can see or talk to any other part of the house which surrounds the central kitchen.

Windows in the home will only be small, fixed pane-glass openings built high on the house's walls, just beneath the roof's eaves, preventing excessive sunlight from glaring into the air-cooled house.

Vyff envisions this style of window installation and design as a future feature of most Florida homes designed primarily for air-conditioning.

A porch will be built on the house's rear for, as Vyff says, comfortable outside living.

The home's air-conditioning system actually will be a combination of cooling systems, with a copper tubing cooling system built into the ceiling throughout the house and direct-flow cooling from an air-conditioning unit.

Vyff explains also that his air-conditioning unit will be essentially the same as produced by commercial manufacturers now, but will not flood the house with excessive cool air.

He notes that some house installations produce 60,000 British Thermal Units of cool air per hour, whereas the human body needs only 400 BTU's per hour. His system will reduce the excessive cooling which becomes uncomfortable and requires frequent manual changes in the machine's operation.

Although his system will have adjustable controls, its constant, comfortable temperature, Vyff says, will allow round-the-clock operation at one setting. Estimated cost for air-conditioning and heating the home is $2.22 per month.

Vyff explains that his research is "consistent with the needs of Florida and this climate."

Said he:

"Air-conditioning units for Florida homes are designed and manufactured by men living in an entirely different climate. Their specifications are most emphatically inadequate for this latitude.

"Our air-conditioning should be designed and made here for purchase here on specifications required by this climate."

In addition to purely technological studies and research, Vyff has done extensive survey work into the working habits and efficiency of persons living and working in air-conditioned buildings.

Results of the research experiments, if successful, easily could put custom air-conditioning homes within reach of most any home buyer.

Christian Science Services Listed

How spiritual understanding of man's scientific unity with God overcomes fear and establishes harmony will be brought out a Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement" includes the following passages from the Bible (Psalms 51:15-17):

"O Lord, open thou my lips; and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise. For thou desirest not sacrifice; else would I give it; thou delightest not in burnt offering. The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit: a broken and a contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following selections will also be read (202:3): "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done."

The Golden Text is from I John (2:1): "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous."

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

One of the more pleasant aspects of life in Tecumseh is the fact that here the racial problems of other communities, segregation and the like, have always seemed far-a-way and academic. This has not always been, as now, because there are no negroes in the town but because, when there were, there was no problem. This was due in part to the town's attitude, influenced by the Quaker tradition and the days of the "under ground railroad," but even more it was due to the character of the colored people, who over a long period were part of the community. They were "nice people" and as such were accepted without question.

Many of them were ex-slaves or their descendents who found refuge here especially among Quaker families and there is a tradition that our best known and most respected local negro, George Washington, was born when his mother was escaping to Canada.

The other colored families best remembered in Tecumseh include those of John Cannon, Theodore Wood, Alex Reed, Clay Owens, the Grayson-Ridgeleys, a mason named Brown and the Collins family who was nearly the last to live here.

Theodore Wood was a painter and decorator, who wielded a deft brush as a sign painter, and who on evenings and holidays had a popcorn stand on the "four corners." His numerous children, like those of the other colored families, were schoolmates of many of the present citizens of the town.

Alex Reed followed George Washington as steward of the Tecumseh Club and with his wife, who was an excellent cateress, served many of the elaborate dinner parties of that period.

Cannon, a powerful black man, was a farm hand, much sought after for special work at threshing and butchering time. Clay Owen worked for the Williamson Refrigeration Co., when that involved cutting and hauling hundreds of loads of ice from mill pond to the cold storage on S. Ottawa street and, his son Floyd or "Guv," was Tecumseh's ice man for many years.

Not much is remembered about Brown except that he was a devout attendant of the Methodist church soon after the present edifice was built. The contractor had been Alonzo Murray and during an exhalted moment at a weekly prayer-meeting Brown prayed, "Come down to us, Oh Lord, come down now, come right down through the roof," adding with a chuckle "Bruder Murray will fix it."

Another example of what must have been his characteristic humor was his comment that when he was in church and the faces of the congregation were turned up towards the pulpit, he "felt like a huckleberry in a pan of milk."

Perhaps the outstanding example of lack of racial prejudice was during the 1890's when the board of education hired a mulatto girl as music teacher for the village schools. Dora Grayson was talented and beautiful and was much liked by her pupils. She sang in the choir of the Presbyterian church and was otherwise universally accepted. Her family presented a situation which could, and probably did, have elements of tragedy. A half brother, Peter Ridgeley looked entirely white and was strikingly handsome. He worked on a newspaper, the Tecumseh News and was a glamorous figure to the local young ladies. But other brothers were extremely black. One of them "Cap" Grayson was for many years a porter on the Wabash train through Adrian and frequently renewed acquaintance with Tecumseh passengers who had been his childhood school friends. Miss Grayson married the head of a Chicago catering establishment and it was a source of satisfaction to her Tecumseh friends that she became successful and wealthy.

But it was George Washington who was the town's favorite colored man. There may have been basis for the story about his birth for a sketch of his life, printed when he was very old, says he was born in Ann Arbor in 1842 and came to Tecumseh when he was eight to live with his grandmother, Aunt Hannah Butler. As a boy he worked in the homes of Raisin township farmers and the list includes many of the Quakers of the neighborhood. There were Aaron Comfort, Jonathan Green, Moses Comfort, Zack Cook, Samuel Satterthwaite and Nehemiah Sutton.

About 1867 he began work in the Stave Mill of Blinn and Hayden, where barrels were made for Globe flour and then for 20 years he worked in the mill itself, leaving there to become steward for the Tecumseh Club. It was during his years with the club that he became such a familiar figure on the street and such a loyal friend to the club members. He never married, but in 1875 he built a home on the top of the bluff just west of the Globe Mill, which because of his name came to be called "Mt. Vernon."

There he raised fruit and vegetables and after he could no longer act as caretaker, chef, valet and general guardian angel to the club members, he pruned and sprayed the fruit trees for half the gardners in the town.

Quiet, kind, dignified and always a gentleman, George Washington accounted in large measure for Tecumseh's lack of a "racial problem."

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

LUCIOUS RASPBERRIES as large as five cent pieces were brought in here Monday by Mrs. Frank French, 112 W. Patterson. Mrs. French, who raises the large everbearing berries in her garden, said we could only look at them and not sample them. There should be a law against this kind of mayhem.

AND M. W. MATHEWS, 310½ S. Pearl added to the county fair flavor of the office Monday. He brought in a sweet potato that had it been straight would have measured three feet long. The unusual fact about the spud was that it grew into a coil that looked more like a rattler about ready to strike than it did a potato. Mr. Mathews raised the odd one on a piece of ground at Will Yagle's on Sutton road.

A LARGE OIL PAINTING of Chief Tecumseh, painted by Earl Bryan, was given to the high school by Mr. Bryan last week. The painting, which will hang in the study hall, was accepted by Supt. McDowell for the schools.

A WAG SAYS THE SIGN hanging across the main drag that has created somewhat of a furor in some circles is actually non-partisan. He says the sign, since it says "democratic" could apply to any party.

WRITING OF POLITICS reminds me of the politician who was asked what he would do if elected. He said: "Oh, my goodness, what will I do if I'm not elected?"

RED FACE DEPARTMENT: Gremlins snuck in again last week and got the type all mixed up. First they reported the Rotary Club meets Thursday nights (this cost the lining 50 cents at Rotary with 30 cents paid on account . . . on account that's all we had). Then they said Jim Squires gets top FHA award and Jim, who won a top FFA award—for future farmers—also had a red face when his buddies razzed him that he was a member of the future homemakers, a club for young ladies.

DON BLUNDON, BLIND FOR seven years, who talked at the community fund breakfast, has a wonderful sense of humor. He told this yarn on himself. Asked to speak at a Lion's group, he went there with his driver who had injured his foot. Because of the injury, his driver was walking with a cane. Lions met them at the door and escorted the driver to the speakers' table. The driver went right along with the mistaken identity and even had a Lion cut his meat.

A. C. HAMAKER AND HIS BROTHER dropped in for a visit. A. C.'s brother is with the immigration service in Col. Asked why his brother had all the weight, he said A. C. ate all the grub when they were kids. Then he pointed to his brother's and his own bald head and commented: "But neither one of us got the hair."

Masons Will Observe Centennial Oct. 30

Tecumseh Lodge No. 69, F. and A.M., will observe its centennial Oct. 30.

Lodge will open at 5 p.m. Dinner for local Masons and state Masons will be served at the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches at 6 p.m.

At 7:30 a parade will form at Butler's Motor Sales and march to the new high school.

The exemplification of the Master Mason degree will be by the 50-member Lansing Lodge No. 33, F. and A. M.

Tickets for the banquet may be purchased from C. A. Wright & Son, Allison's Clothing and Beach's Super Service.

This short history of the local lodge was prepared by Fred C. Dickinson, Sr., who served as Master from 1926-1927:

"Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity—Psalm 133

"Although the records of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. M. are remarkably complete, no record is to be had of the necessary work and planning which had to precede the formation of the Lodge. Perhaps it was not considered worthwhile by those first brethren to make a written record of those matters.

"The charter of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 is dated Jan. 10, 1854, but the Lodge was really constituted on June 15, 1854, when the first regular communication was held, at which time it formally became a Lodge. As the minutes of that first communication have it:

"'At this day appeared M. W. William L. Greenley (Worshipful Master of Adrian Lodge No. 19) with the charter of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 Free and Accepted Masons, a copy of which charter is hereto annexed and a dispensation from MW George W. Peck, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the State of Michigan F. and A. M. empowering him to institute said Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 and install the first officers of the said Lodge, when there appeared the following Brother Master Masons, members of the new Lodge, viz: Consider A. Stacy, Stillman Blanchard, Thomas J. Faxon, Thomas W. Clark, M. A. Patterson, Charles Hewitt, Peter P. Van Vleet, John C. Dunham, James Patchen and Frederick A. Kennedy.

"Brother William L. Greenley, with the aid of Brothers Snow, Knapp, Clement and Ludlum of Adrian Lodge (No. 19) and other Brothers present instituted and consecrated said Lodge and installed the officers as follows;

Consider A. Stacy, Worshipful Master; Stillman Blanchard, senior warden; Thomas J. Faxon, junior warden; Frederick A. Kennedy, treasurer; Charles Hewitt, secretary; Thomas W. Clark, senior deacon; John C. Dunham, junior deacon and Peter P. Van Vleet, Tiler in due form.

"William L. Greenley, spoken of in the record, was Worshipful Master of Adrian Lodge No. 19 at the time. He was Governor of Michigan in 1847.

"At this time of the formation of Tecumser Lodge No. 69 the population of the village was between 1500 and 1600 as the record shows in 1860 it was 1640.

"The first place of meeting was in Merchants Hall located on the third floor of the Bidwell block, now owned by C. F. Sage. The Lodge continued to meet in this hall until the building of the present Temple, which occupies half of the second floor and all of the third floor of the James block on the corner of Chicago blvd. and Evans street. A contract was entered into with Alfred James in 1896 by which the Masonic Lodge would build the north half of the second floor and the entire third floor for use as a Masonic Temple. Stock was sold to the members of the Lodge to raise the necessary funds. The Temple was completed late in the year of 1894 and the dedicatory services were held on Dec. 27, 1894. MW Grand Master William H. Phillips and his official family presided at the rites.

"On April 10, 1929, Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 celebrated its 75th anniversary with a banquet and entertainment in the high school gymnasium. The speaker of the evening was Judge Clyde I. Webster of Detroit, his subject being 'The True Meaning of Masonry.'

"During the 100 years of its existence, Tecumseh Lodge has had 57 Worshipful Masters, including the present Master, one of whom, Lucius Lilley, served five years, though not consecutively, four for three years and a number for two years. At present this Lodge has 18 living Past Masters.

"This lodge has never had one of its own initiated members as Grand Master, but it has had the reflecting glory of having a transferred member who had been Grand Master while a member of another Lodge.

"Referred to is P.G.M. John Q. Look, who was Grand Master in 1891. Brother Look transferred to Tecumseh Lodge in 1897 and was a member until his death in 1920. John Q. Look Lodge No. 404 located at Clare, Michigan, is named in his honor.

"The first persons to make application to the lodge for initiation were Henry W. Clark, Charles DeMott, John McConnell, Peter F. Bloper and Thomas Cummins. They were accepted and were initiated on the same evening of first communication by special dispensation.

"Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. M. has completed the first century of its existence and embarks on the second with the same confidence as did the original 10 Brothers in 1854, knowing that it is truly good and pleasant for Brothers to dwell together in unity."

GRENVAL W. SPANGLER

Spangler Says:

Conlin Plan Isn't Answer To All School Problems

Although he partly supports it, Grenval W. Spangler, candidate for state representative on the Democrat ticket, doesn't think Amendment No. 2, the Conlin plan, is the whole answer to school problems.

Mr. Spangler, who will oppose Mr. Conlin, in the election, points out:

"After reading the article headlined 'Conlin Says Plan No. 2 Helps School Finances' in the Oct. 7 issue of the Tecumseh HERALD and although I intend to vote yes on Constitutional Amendment 2, I felt the headline and article were misleading as far as the schools' problem is concerned. I will vote yes on this issue because its improvements outweigh its defects not because I consider it the answer nor because I agree with all that is in it.

"Amendment No. 2 is purely a fiscal management proposal. It does not alter by any appreciable amount the moneys presently received by each recipient. It does provide a more practical business procedure. It does guarantee that the state will not spend the schools' share of the sales tax money like it did two years ago. It includes an amendment which places a limit of three cents on the sales tax. I favor this limit because the sales tax is a consumer tax and I feel no more tax should be placed on the consumer until the corporations, through a profits tax, pay a more fair share of taxes. Corporatons pay less than 20 per cent of the taxes in Michigan. The national average is 31 per cent and corporations pay over 45 per cent of the taxes in some states.

AUSTIN GRANT

Austin Grant Will Speak At Monday Club

Austin Grant, news editor of radio station CKLW, will be guest speaker at the Nov. 1 dinner meeting of the Tecumseh Monday Club.

Originator of the program "Austin Grant and his friendly slant on the news," Mr. Grant makes about 200 personal appearances a year, speaking before 3000 persons annually.

He also has seven radio programs daily.

The turkey dinner will be held at the Baptist Youth House at 6:30 p.m. with ladies of the church serving the dinner.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Ralph Westgate, Mrs. George Green, Sr. and Mrs. Herbert Murphy. An advanced sale of tickets is desired by the Monday Club.

Mrs. Howard Truesdale is in charge of tables.

Mrs. Murphy is general chairman. She reports that the Exchange and Rotary Clubs will be invited to have a joint meeting with the Monday Club to hear Mr. Grant.

Mrs. William Hayden will play a piano solo and Wallace Whiting will sing.

Fund Contributions Are Trickling In

Contributions to the Tecumseh Community Fund are coming in very slowly. Solicitors report that they have had a number of call-backs.

The slowness of contributions was predicted by Jack Osburn, president of the Jaycees, whose club is heading the drive.

At the kick-off breakfast held last Thursday in the Legion Building, he said "This will be a hard drive and all of us will have to work hard to reach the $16,628 goal."

"Let's begin today," he added.

He welcomed more than 100 volunteers at the breakfast.

And he explained that the United Fund part of the local drive provides funds for 27 health and welfare organizations.

He also said that $10,628 of the goal must be raised before $6000 for recreation field improvements.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore gave the invocation.

Don Blundon, public relations director for the Leader Dog School for the Blind, who has been blind for seven years, said he knows from personal experience how Community Fund and United Fund agencies help.

"Sell this program as community insurance, not charity," he told workers.

The breakfast was served by the American Legion Auxiliary. Ladies serving were Mrs. Harold Easton, Mrs. Ken Herrick, Mrs. Charles Osburn, Mrs. William Powell and Mrs. Vern Manwaring.

Play Ball

Coach Lester Runk advises any organization that plans to have a basketball team in the city recreation league to contact him at the high school or at his home as soon as possible.

He says it is most urgent that he know as soon as possible how many organizations are planning teams because facilities for the games are now being reserved.

Any organization, service club, church, business or industry wanting to sponsor a team in a winter basketball league for men and young men in Tecumseh may do so.

The league games will be played in the evenings after dinner as part of the city recreation program.

Exchange Club Economy Run Set For Saturday

Twenty cars driven by young Tecumseh drivers will take part in the Tecumseh Exchange Club's economy run next Sunday.

The cars will be gassed at Hooten's Cities Service, weighed in at Moore's Lumber and begin a 111-mile secret route that will cover Clinton, Manchester, Brooklyn, Chelsea and Dexter and return to Tecumseh. The run will take three hours and 45 minutes.

The cars will be donated by Hooten's and local car dealers have given free tune-ups on the cars.

Six prizes will be awarded, three in each class of heavy weight and middle weight. The winner is for cars weighing 4500 pounds and up and the latter is for cars weighing less than 4500 pounds.

Local winners' ton-mile per gallon of gas will be put up against winners in the other towns taking part to determine sweepstake winners.

Purpose of the run is to show young drivers that they can have as much fun driving wisely and safely as they can by "hot-rodding."

IS PROMOTED

Cpl. Charles Johnston has been temporarily appointed to the rank of cadet 2nd. Lt.

This promotion was given to Lt. Johnston for his accomplished performance both in the squadron and at the cadet encampment which he attended at Selfridge Air Force Base this past summer.

Indians Are Ready For Airport Team

"The team both physically and spiritually is ready for Airport Community," says Coach Lester Runk of his Tecumseh High School football team.

"All the boys have been working hard this week and they are mighty 'high' to bag their first league win."

The Indians play Airport Community at 8 p.m. Friday on the local recreation field.

Bedford's Mules galloped up and down the field, scoring four touchdowns on long runs of 40, 38, 55 and 42 yards.

The Indians scored on a 30-yard pass play from Dick Neitling to Jim Bowser in the second period.

Vote In Two Places

An additional voting location has been added for the Nov. 2 general election.

Because of the anticipated demand, councilmen have added Butler Motor Sales as the new location.

All voters living east of the railroad tracks will continue to vote at the fire hall which is designated as precinct one.

Those living west of the tracks will vote at Butler's which is designated precinct two.

Councilmen thought that by splitting the precinct locations fewer voters would have to stand in line to wait for a chance to get into the crowded fire barn.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk, advises voters who plan to be absent from the city Nov. 2 that absentee ballots must be picked up at her office by Saturday, Oct. 30.

Wolf's Appliances Will Open New Store Tuesday

Wolf's Appliances will open their new store at 701 Adrian road next Tuesday. Tuesday and Wednesday the store will have a grand opening celebration from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. both days.

They will not operate their Chicago boulevard store any more.

Built on a triangular lot, the building has wings on Adrian street, Russell road and Green highway.

It has 4000 square feet of display area, with 140 feet of window display. Windows go from floor to ceiling.

Built of cinder block, the building has gas heat.

Other features include: a glass enclosed office; acoustic tile ceiling, asphalt tile floors, slim-line instant lighting with 15 spots for displays; interior walls are painted apple blossom, light green and turquoise with sandal wood woodwork.

Wings of the building will be used for separate displays of kitchen appliances, refrigeration units, washers and radio and television.

A complete kitchen will be set up for demonstration of appliances.

A special amplifier has been installed so 10 television sets all going at one time can be viewed by buyers.

The tv service department will be enlarged with additional service for Wolf's customers.

14,189 Used Swim Pool

The pool was opened 89 days (including half days) with a daily average attendance of 159. It opened June 5 and closed Sept. 9.

In addition to the 14,189 using the pool, the staff also gave instructional swimming lessons to 200 beginners, 40 intermediates, 18 advanced and 33 adult swimmers.

No charges were made for instruction.

Strand To Show "The Robe"

One of the greatest pictures and one of the greatest box office attractions ever shown will be at the Strand Theater tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Manager Walt Nichols says the picture is the finest he has ever seen and recommends it highly. He adds: "The Strand is very proud to bring this fine entertainment to Tecumseh."

ity Recreation Program Being lanned For Adults, Children

The Tecumseh Recreational oard, the Jaycees, the Teen Club ponsors, and Church League organizers have been working with he schools to initiate a city-wide creation program.

With the new additions to the igh school and the Patterson chool gymnasiums are available or many activities not heretofore ossible because of lack of space.

The public school program erves all the children of the public schools well, except perhaps for Saturday activities. The board of education has inadequate funds to finance adult league or church league play or to provide adult physical education activities except through regular adult night school classes, which are educational in purpose rather than recreational and for which a small fee to cover costs is charged.

The board of education, having studied cost of operation for the various gymnasiums and cognizant of the need for an attendant at each to represent them during its recreation programs or when used by other agencies, have set the following rental fees for three hour periods:

Central auditorium, $10; Central gym, $15 if audience is charged; Central gym, $10 if just play; Patterson auditorium, non-available except for elementary activities; Patterson gym, same as above; high school main gym, $50 if audience charged; high school main gym, $25 if just play; high school men's gym, $15 if audience charged; high school men's gym, $10 if just play; high school women's gym, $15 if audience charged; high school women's gym, $10 if just play.

These fees include heat, light, shower, janitor and attendant services. The difference of $5 between use of both men's and women's gymnasiums individually and for the use of the main gym is due to the extra janitor service needed to prepare the main gym for use since the folding partition must be opened, bleachers adjusted and swept under after use.

Arrangements for use of these facilities must be made with the superintendent of schools.

Requests have come to the recreation board for several city adult teams, as well as a church youth league. There has been consideration of a part time recreation director hired by the recreation board, to handle these activities since it is impossible for the schools to finance such play.

Arrangements are being negotiated for use of the gymnasium and, providing funds are available for their use, the program should be in operation soon.

Eggleston Heads Senior C of C

Richard Eggleston, owner of Eggleston's Jewelry, is the new chairman of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

He succeeds Rus Garno. Eggleston was elected at a board meeting Tuesday night.

City Will Borrow To Buy School

The city will borrow money to buy East Branch School from the board of education.

Councilmen Monday night authorized attorney J. C. Beardsley to investigate ways by which a loan to buy the site can be arranged.

He said he would have to check with the Municipal Finance Commission. He was of the opinion that details for a loan could be worked out in two or three weeks.

The action resulted after Councilmen Smith, Moore and Titley, serving on a special committee that met with the board of education told the rest of the council that the board could not give the city terms on the proposed purchase.

SPANGLER

"I must point out that Mr. Conlin's concern about the haunting nightmare of an obligation (that would have to be met by the legislature if the sales tax revenue declined) did not mention that the nightmare would be transferred to the schools.

"This proposed amendment must not be considered the answer to the school problem. Some kind of school aid legislation will have to be enacted within two years.

"It is anticipated that school enrollment will increase by at least 70,000 children each year until 1960. At the rate of one teacher for each 30 children this will require 2333 new teachers each year plus additional school facilities. It is not likely the sales tax revenue will increase proportionately.

"In order to solve the schools' financial problems, reorganization must be brought up to date. Presently Michigan ranks about 44th in reorganization.

"The teachers' retirement fund must be set up independent of school aid and the retirement systems must be based on actuarial principles. The legislature should establish a formula for state aid to schools based on allowance per child and provide funds, to supplement the schools share of the sales tax, for carrying out the formula.

"The school aid problem will become critical before there is any chance of accomplishing a complete overhaul of the entire financial structure of the state by the adoption of a new constitution.

"Section 4 of Article 17 of the State Constitution requires that the question of revision of the Constitution shall be submitted to the electors at the general election held in 1938. The question could be submitted to the voters at any regular election before then. But there is no use holding a constitutional convention until there is a reasonable chance of getting a favorable vote for adoption of its revision. This cannot be hoped for until a means is found to convince a majority of the people that the revision would not favor one party or the other.

"Should I be elected to the legislature I would either introduce or support a legislative action to pave the way for a successful constitutional convention."

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

By D. Hale Brake, State Treasurer

Again we will have four proposed constitional amendments on our November ballot. One of them deals with so complicated a subject that few people will fully understand the implications involved. I refer to the so-called "Conlin Amendment." Another, the so-called "Bingo Amendment," although that name does not occur in it, has far reaching ramifications. The other two are comparatively simple. Take them altogether, and bearing in mind mind that a very high percentage of the voters will not carefully study the proposals in advance but instead will make their decision upon them while they are in the voting booth, you have one of the difficult problems of governing ourselves in a great state like Michigan and as a part of the greatest republic in history.

Decisions by the people themselves upon such propositions bring two methods of self-government into one picture. Generally speaking, our government is not a democracy but is definitely a republic. We govern ourselves not by making the decisions individually as citizens but by selecting representatives to make those decisions for us. That is a republic. When, however, as in the case of these constitutional amendments we, the people, decide for ourselves upon a course of action, we have an example of pure democracy attempting to work in a big unit of government. When the questions are simple and it doesn't take much exertion on the part of citizens to come to a conclusion based on something more than a guess, we do pretty well even trying to run in part as a pure democracy. The advantages of operating as a republic, however, rather than as a pure democracy stand out clearly.

There is no space here for a detailed explanation of the merits of any one of the four proposals. For the most complicated one, however, there is difinitely this to be said. The "Conlin Amendment," if adopted, will make a very complicated situation less cbmplicated; in other words, it moves toward simplicity, and that in and of itself ought to recommend it for favorable consideration.

While many of us in Michigan feel that we have altogether too many of these proposals for direct decisions by the people on each of our election ballots, there are other states where the situation is much worse. I understand that this November in one state there will be 35 separate proposals upon which the people will be asked to vote. Four are bad enough; 35 would be a major misfortune.

RECEIVE DEGREES

The Decoration of Chivalry of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows was conferred on Mrs. Arlie Becker of Tecumseh Tuesday at the State Grand Lodge held in Grand Rapids Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Mrs. Gilbert Nighswander received the same degree from the Order of the Rebekahs.

Mrs. Mary Furgason, Mrs. Becker, Mrs. Orin Beevers and Mrs. Jesse Nichols attended as delegates from the Tecumseh chapter. The Rev. B. O. Bashore attended on Tuesday and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tucker went Sunday to take Mr. Tucker's mother to Remus to spend the time with relatives while they were at the convention.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Smitty's Not-So-Silent Partner

Dropped into Smitty's gas station last week and met his new partner who turned out to be a real talker.

"What'll it be?" asked Smitty. Before I had a chance to answer I heard a strange voice "Fill her up! Fill her up!" And there was Smitty's partner — one of those parakeets perched next to the gas pump.

"Took me a month," Smitty said, "but I finally taught him to say those magic words. It's sure paid off — he's had a good influence on my customers."

From where I sit, Smitty's bird may be good for business — and may get him a few laughs. But when people act like parakeets, they're not so funny. For instance, those who keep insisting over and over again that their neighbors shouldn't have a glass of temperate beer with their supper now and then. They're simply repeating their own ideas, without any regard for the rights of others.

Interfacings Give Clothes 'Bought Look'

That "bought" look can be given to your home made clothes by using the right interfacing correctly.

Interfacings give shape and prevent stretching, says Florence Rann, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State College. The weight and kind of interfacing you use depends on the outer fabric and the type of garment.

Miss Rann cautions that regardless of the kind of interfacing you choose, you must shrink it before cutting.

Wigan is a cotton fabric similar to muslin. It is used across the back of the garment and along the armseye to prevent stretching. You can use it, too, in hems and sleeves of jackets or in the fronts of dressmaker-type jackets.

Another interfacing is hymo, or hair canvas. It is a mixture of horse hair, cotton and wool. Because it is difficult to crease, Miss Rann explains, it makes a good foundation for the front of a garment. When using hymo for lightweight wools, be sure to select one of the finer grades.

Does your sewing call for an interfacing to give a definite crease to collors? Tailor's linen or canvas is what Miss Rann suggests. It can be all linen or a mixture of linen and jute.

Muslin or cambric is used for interfacing both the back and front of jackets. Be sure to shrink it before using. It does not hold its shape as well as wigan or hymo.

When a filling is needed around the armsye of a suit jacket or a fitted coat, cotton felt is often used. Cut it by the pattern to fit the armsye and extend it three or four inches in width.

Changes In Social Security

The new social security law has a special provision for the survivors of the deceased workers who were not eligible to collect benefits before because the worker wasn't considered insured under the old law. If this was the case of the deceased breadwinner in your family, you will be interested in the story of the young widow who lost her husband before September 1950. And because she came to her social security office, she will receive the benefits to which she is entitled. You'll want to take definite action to get the survivors benefits to which you may be entitled under the new law.

A few months after her husband's death in 1948 the young widow paid her first visit to the social security office. She wasn't sure how long her husband had worked in a job under social security or if he would be insured.

A few days after the local social security office checked their Baltimore files they told her that because her husband hadn't worked in his job under social security long enough, neither she nor her children were entitled to benefit checks.

For this young widow and for thousands like her who lost their loved ones after December 31, 1939 and before September 1950, the 1954 amendments will make a big difference. Her husband is now considered fully insured under the new law because he had about a year and a half of work under social security.

She has applied for survivors benefits for herself and the children. And she will be getting them from September of 1954 until her twins are 18 unless she marries again. Under the provision the eligible survivor of a person who died before September 1, 1950, and who is now considered fully insured by the law may not collect benefits for the months before September, 1954. And no lump sum death payments may be collected by these survivors.

The new law applies only to those survivors of workers who died after 1939 and before September 1, 1950. Dependent widowers and divorced wives may not collect survivors benefits under this provision.

If you are the survivor of a worker who died before September 1, 1950, and if you weren't eligible for social security benefits before, you may be now. Maybe you didn't apply before or waited too long to apply for the benefits to which you were entitled. Under the new law you may apply for your survivors benefits until September 1956.

You are urged to apply for the benefits now if you think you are eligible. And you are if you are the surviving aged widow, widowed mother and child, or parents of any worker who died after December 31, 1939, and before September 1, 1950, and had at least a year and a half of work under social security.

If your cattle have a scabby, rough hide and thin hair, it's probably mange. Lindane is the chemical to use for mange, say M.S.C. entomologists.

A good supply of water is important for dairy animals if they are expected to stay in top production, reminds M.S.C. dairymen.

Commenting On The Passing Scene

AN INTERESTED TAXPAYER asks why the board of education can't give the city a 99-year lease on East Branch School like the one the city gave the board of education on property now used as a playground at Central School.

The person raising this question says he is just a taxpayer and he does not pretend to know all the answers of municipal government and the working of inter-governmental boards. Perhaps not, but it is a good question.

Being a practical person he also wonders about the city's proposed loan to buy the school site. He says the interest on the loan will come from taxes and if the lease could be granted there would be no interest.

If the board of education had not needed the funds from the sale of the school site to meet current operations, such a lease might have been granted.

He may be confused, like most of us are, but he does have a point; although it is probably not as simple as he makes it sound.

A READER WANTS TO KNOW what the HERALD'S policy is on partisan politics. He was told this: regardless of the political affiliations of the members of this staff, politics is news.

And when a person living in our circulation area is running for office, this is news and this fact certainly will be mentioned in the news column of the HERALD; and the paper's columns are open through the "letters to the editor" columns for contributions from persons, regardless of their political views. After all, this is a NEWS paper.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that the Tecumseh business area is dead on its feet and that it has failed to keep pace with other aspects of the community's growth.

On closer examination, however, this statement can be refuted.

First, a large number of stores put on new fronts, then, just during the past six months two new businesses — the branch office of the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association and the Lad & Lassie Shop — opened their doors on the boulevard.

And within this same span of time other stores have expanded and remodeled.

Don Martin and Bill Zwick of Gambles branched out into the old HERALD office and the HERALD moved to new and larger quarters on Evans St.

And this business activity continues. Bert and Arlene Ousterhout opened their new modern flower shop recently; Helms Furniture also had a grand opening in expanded quarters; Des Ermia's Home Furnishings is now open again in quarters more than one-third larger than the store before it burned last April, and Lyle and Hugh Des Ermia are planning a grand opening some time next month.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday Wolf's Appliances will have a grand opening of a new large store on Adrian street.

Glenn Driscoll and Jim Smith are building a new office building on Mill street and a new office for the Credit Bureau of Tecumseh and Clinton is being remodeled. Incidentally, this is right next door to the new secretary of state's office. And Tecumseh Greenhouse currently is building a new flower display shop.

Still others are planning remodeling jobs and expansions.

All this past activity and future expansion plans belie the statement that Tecumseh business is dead on its feet. Watch Tecumseh business grow!

☆

TWENTY YEARS AGO this week a small band of men from Hillsdale came to Tecumseh to see what could be done about using an old building here for a machine shop.

Today, the Tecumseh Products Co. is a leader in its field. It has increased the small original plant here more than a hundred fold and it has added plants in other cities. Its payroll last year was in excess of $19,000,000.

The Products, as it is known here, has left its impact on every field of community endeavor and its contributions to community projects are legion.

It was indeed a fortunate circumstance for Tecumseh that turned that small group of men to this city 20 years ago.

May we wish the Products well on its 20th birthday and may the "Refrigeration Capitol of the World" long prosper.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

Don't forget that stored grain. Examine it often.

Extension Entomologist Ray Janes of Michigan State College has warned that early fall can be a time of great insect damage to stored grain — as long as the weather stays moderate.

Fumigation is the only method to control the grain pests, he says. Some grain stores use a mixture of ethylene dichloride and carbon tetrachloride and others use this same mixture with the addition of methyl bromide.

Both are effective, Janes indicates, and can be purchased at an elevator or farm supply house.

And follow manufacturers' directions to the letter, he warns, because the mixture can harm the person using it.

Be sure to check the upper portion of the grain to see if it's matted, Janes suggests. If it is matted, treat that area carefully because damage is being done by moths. And he adds this other precaution:

Be sure the sides and bottom of your grain bin are tight before fumigating.

Several organizations are joining forces to improve relations between farmers and hunters.

The group hope that their efforts will bear fruit this fall.

The groups cooperating include the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Farm Bureau, the Grange, Michigan State College's Cooperative Extension Service and the Michigan Conservation Department.

As another precaution, the 1954 game law digest will be distributed with every hunting license sold in Michigan. The digest includes this advice:

"To hunt on another man's land is a privilege. Abuse of that privilege has but one result—loss of a place to hunt.

"Ask the farmer first — close gates—get acquainted with the farmer — observe rules of gun safety—protect the farmer's property—don't be a nuisance."

If you're going to order your chicks early—in Jan. or Feb.—to get the best egg profits, now is the time to get your brooder house ready.

You'll be able to do a more thorough job of cleaning now than in midwinter. Cleaning is a hard job he suggests, when cleaning water may freeze.

Dr. S. C. Schmittle, extension poultry pathologist at Michigan State College, says doing a good cleaning job in the brooder house is more important than the disinfectant you may use.

He suggests a thorough sweeping out. Then the entire inside of the brooder house can be wet down with a garden hose. The house should then be scrubbed with lye water—one can of lye per 15 gallons of hot water.

After the area is dry, the disinfectant can be used.

This also is a good time to clean and disinfect the brooder house equipment, Schmittle concludes.

Friends Church Makes Donation to Cleveland College

Sunday was Harvest Home Day at the Tecumseh Friends church, an annual event which is important in the church year. Then offerings of fruit, vegetables and other food supplies are brought for the use of Cleveland Bible College and the morning collection is also dedicated to that institution.

An important item in this year's donation was the more than 70 bushels of potatoes that had been grown on land donated by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Weimer. The project was sponsored by the Christian Endeavor, whose members had assisted in the work and it was headed by George Meads.

Three hundred and eighty home cans of fruit as well as several cases of commercially processed cans were donated along with 185 lbs. of sugar and a ton of flour.

Dr. Byron Osborn, president of the Cleveland college preached the morning sermon and in the evening showed pictures of the Near East.

Special music was furnished by a trio of young ladies from the College which included Miss Marion Comfort who was home for the weekend. Other members of the group were Miss Jean Bigman and Miss Marilyn Holt.

Next Sunday the pulpit will be filled by the Rev. John Williams of Brecksville, Ohio, who with Mrs. Williams and their children will be guests of the Escolmes. The Rev. Williams is a former pastor of the Friends church in Adrian.

The Intercessors Band were in charge of the midweek service last evening and next week Wednesday Raynor VanValkenburg, chairman of the Sunday School contest, will lead.

Carlun Elaine Comfort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Comfort of R.R. 1, Tecumseh, has enrolled at Wheaton college, Wheaton, Illinois, as a junior student.

Elaine attended Tecumseh high school. She will major in sociology.

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

"Science has added years to their lives; now science—or something—must add life to those years." This is the favorite quotation these days of Tecumseh's Hilda Will, R.N. She is speaking of the handicapped people of the country—the 23 millions of them who are the results of war, the automobile and the strain of modern living. Their number has increased materially in the past decade and where a few generations ago most of them would have died as a matter of course, now, thanks to new knowledge and new drugs they are alive. That they may be something more than merely alive is the cause in which Hilda Will has enlisted.

Without being all together aware of it, she has been working toward that goal for years. She says she did not entirely realize that what she was doing was "rehabilitation55 until last year. Then she studied under Dr. Howard Rusk, who is head of that work at the University of New York College of Medicine and the greatest authority on the subject in the United States. Now she holds a Certificate of Rehabilitation, one of the two nurses in Michigan to earn such a title.

A graduate of a Syracuse hospital which was part of the University of New York, she first worked in the Rehabilitation Center of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. in Syracuse and for twelve years in the physical therapy department of the U. of M. hospital, Ann Arbor. In 1941 the Wills come to Tecumseh and Mr. Will established a plumbing business. After his death in 1946, her training enabled her to begin, in a small way, the work that has developed into one of the few private rehabilitation centers in the country.

To those who have "always known" Tecumseh it is of interest that this very modern development has taken place in one of the prominent homes of an earlier generation. The Mills house at 107 S. Union St. was built in 1883 to accommodate the large and popular family of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mills. There were three sons and three daughters and the house was then the center of much social life. It was not a period of "functional building." Twelve foot ceilings, heavy, solid walnut doors and woodwork, massive carved stairway, imported red venetian glass panels in and over the entrance doorway, all made for impressive dignity if not for cozy comfort. The house is one of Theodore Crane's masterpieces of carpentry and structurally is built for the ages. With careful planning it has lent itself admirably to its present use.

There are two modern, rental apartments on the upper floor, spacious living quarters for the owner on the first, and the south half of the deep basement has been made into reception, consultation and treatment rooms for patients.

These are reached from the outside by a long, gently sloping ramp which is easily negotiated by wheel chair or crutches. All are finished in cheerful knotty pine paneling and are equipped with the appliances that experience has indicated are the most effective for this new science. Most of them are not elaborate, they are in the main devices to help a patient to help himself: adjustable parallel bars, stair steps, ladders and a stationary bicycle. But there are also three treatment tables and most important—and expensive—a $1,200 whirlpool tank in which, under the relaxing effects of warm water, swirling currents massage stiff or paralyzed muscles more effectively in a few moments than by hours of ordinary methods.

This is the physical establishment of this new human laboratory in our town. The wider hopes and aspirations of the owner and those of the patients who come to it daily will be the subject of later articles.

Christian Science Services Listed

The fact that purification of thought and action removes the obstacles to individual growth, progress, and salvation, will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Entitling the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death" is the Golden Text from James (1:12): "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following: (492:7-12):

"Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It is already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring immortality to light."

From the Bible the following selections will be read (Philippians 3:13,14):

"Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Farm animals that are fed a balanced ration and otherwise managed properly will recover from an infection quicker.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Anatole France has written a tale about the last days of Pontius Pilate, at whose hands Jesus was crucified.

At a watering-place where rich Romans sought relief from their ailments, Aelius Lamia recognized his friend of many years ago:

"Pontius, tell me, have the Gods fulfilled your desires? Are you in the enjoyment of all the happiness you deserve? Tell me about your family, your fortunes, your health."

"I have withdrawn to Sicily, where I possess estates, and where I cultivate wheat for the market. The gods be praised, I have preserved my mental vigour; my memory is not in the least degree enfeebled. But old age always brings in its train a long procession of griefs and infirmities. I am cruelly tormented with gout."

Many hours were spent in the exchange of reminiscences, and in this mood, Lamia confided: "I knew a Jewess at Jerusalem who used to dance in a pokey little room. I followed her everywhere. I mixed with the vile rabble of soldiers, conjurers, and extortioners, with which she was surrounded. One day, however, she disappeared. Some months after I lost sight of her, I learned by chance that she had attached herself to a small company of men and women who were followers of a young Galilean thaumaturgist.

"His name was Jesus; he came from Nazareth, and he was crucified for some crime, I don't quite know what. Pontius, do you remember anything about the man?"

Pontius Pilate contracted his brows, and his hand rose to his forehead in the attitude of one who probes the deeps of memory. Then after a silence of some seconds:

"Jesus?" he murmured, "Jesus —of Nazareth? I cannot call him to mind."

Wash, Iron Slip Covers With Caution

Fall house cleaning is here and with it the question often asked, "Can furniture slip covers be laundered?" The answer is yes, summer soil can be washed from slip covers very successfully.

Many fabrics used for slip covers, particularly cotton, may be done in the home washing machine, says Miss Jessie Marion, extension textile specialist at Michigan State College. It is a good idea first to make sure the fabric and the binding of the cover are both washable and also preshrunk. Then you will avoid having colors run or being too small to fit the furniture. Miss Marion suggests you give your slip covers a trip to the washing machine before they are badly soiled. This makes the job easier on you and on the fabric.

Be sure to brush out any loose dust and dirt from all seams and remove stains such as grease spots before you put the cover into the machine. Close all zippers and snaps.

For machine washing, the textile specialists advise a mild soap or synthetic detergent in lukewarm water. Wash once and rinse twice. Then, if all soil is not gone, use a second short wash and rinse. To avoid setting wrinkles, spin the slip cover only a short time in the spinner machine to remove water. Or if you use a wringer machine, release the tension on the wringer rolls. Hang the cover over two clothes lines or a clothes bar.

Miss Marion cautions that you iron carefully so that the cover doesn't stretch out of shape. Or for easier straighting, she gives this idea: Dry the cover until it is only slightly damp, put it on the chair and press it with a warm iron on the furniture.

Every day homemakers in the United States use about eight million cans of evaporated milk, or put another way—5,500 cans per minute.

Hospital Auxiliary Sees Safety Picture

An invitation was read from the Bixby Hospital Auxiliary for its Nov. 5 concert program. The local auxiliary pledged its full cooperation.

Miss Spaulding reported the cardiac homemakers' class will be ready to meet Nov. 1, 8, 15 and 22. This program is being sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association. Further information by interested women can be had by contacting Miss Spaulding.

A state meeting of Michigan hospital auxiliaries will take place at the Sheraton-Cadillac in Detroit Nov. 16. Delegates from the local auxiliary will attend.

Dec. 4 is set for the annual holiday ball. Co-chairmen for this gala event are Mrs. C. W. Hanna and Mrs. Al Merz.

New members accepted into the auxiliary are as follows: Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. A. J. Phelan, Mrs. Don Heesen, Mrs. Frank Saxton of Blissfield and Mrs. Ben Mahrle, Jr., of Clinton.

The meeting was concluded with refreshments by Mrs. Frank Purcell, Mrs. Ronald Harris, Mrs. James McDowell, Mrs. Vern Manwaring, Mrs. Neville Hart and Mrs. L. E. Brown.

Partner, If You Have A Cold You Have Lots Of Company

Do you have a cold? Well, partner, you've got company.

In Michigan there are an estimated seven million people who will 'catch' 'at least one cold this winter, the Michigan Department of Health says.

And Michigan residents average about 2½ colds per person per year, the Health Department adds, and about one person in four has four colds a year.

The common cold, the Health Department continues, is the most expensive disease we have. From 50 to 60 per cent of all absenteeism from work is due to colds and the estimated cost of the common cold runs around two billion dollars a year for the nation.

Actually, the Health Department points out, there are three waves of colds during the winter. The first wave in Michigan is generally in October when we first start heating our homes and offices.

The second wave arrives around Christmas and is probably due to the bringing together of family groups from all over the country for the holidays. And the third wave is in March when the weather is very uncertain.

The Health Department says that there are actually two types of colds. One that starts in the nose and develops rather quickly and another that starts in the throat and develops more slowly. Full colds, the Health Department continues, are more of the sneezy, runny-nose type while winter colds are associated with sore throats.

To avoid colds, the Health Department says it's very important to dress according to the weather and to avoid getting wet or chilled since both conditions seem to encourage lower resistance to development of any infection including the cold virus.

There is no medicine that will cure a cold, the Health Department emphasizes, and the simple and probably best way to treat a cold is to go to bed immediately. This accomplishes two things, the Health Department concludes, it helps you to recover and prevents you from spreading the cold to others. And if the cold persists see a physician.

BAPTIST ACTIVITIES

Sunday, Oct. 24, will be Harvest Home Day at the Tecumseh Baptist church. Then donations of foodstuffs will be received and sent to the Gleiss Memorial Center in Detroit. This institution is a Day Nursery for colored children of pre-school age and the local church has been helping their work in this fashion for several years. Boys and girls of all classes of the Sunday School as well as members of the congregation are requested to bring their donations for this cause to morning service.

A Baptist rummage sale the last of this week is being held for the purpose of raising funds to assist the North Rome Community church, of which the Rev. B. O. Bashore is acting pastor. For the past five years he has conducted services in that church at 9:30 every Sunday morning, returning for regular service fn Tecumseh. It is hoped to raise enough funds to obtain an assistant student pastor for North Rome.

Vanilla, chocolate and strawberry are America's favorite ice cream flavors. About 51 per cent of all ice cream sold is vanilla, 18 per cent chocolate, and almost 10 per cent strawberry.

To Ease The Burden Of Passing . . .

Music, flowers, and the care and attention of friends are always helpful. For when a loved one has departed from this life, there are certain things that do ease the burden and help us to carry on.

That is why it is well to conform to our many established funeral procedures. They are for the best — and do much to help those who need help the most.

Spirit, know-how and teamwork are what it takes to make a winning team; a team that knows its job, that carries the ball—and scores!

That's the kind of team you can field in Lansing and in Washington on November 2.

Top to bottom, you'll agree here's a lineup that will give Michigan the type of government to make you proud.

But—remember—you need the whole team. You need Donald S. Leonard as Governor to coordinate the effort, to provide the inspired leadership. You need the powerful voice of Senator Homer Ferguson in Washington to continue the fullest cooperation with President Eisenhower's Administration. And you need the full roster of capable, experienced, energetic Republican state officers working together to get things done for a greater Michigan.

Don Leonard has pledged his administration to action—on highway improvements—better school facilities—augmented retirement funds for teachers—broader agricultural representation at policy-making levels—a preventive mental health program—a strong youth guidance program—additional industry for Michigan to increase employment—care for the aged in their own communities—removal of politics from prison administration—sound, non-political conservation policies and increased promotion of Michigan's famed tourist attractions.

These are a few of the team's objectives. They cannot be had without teamwork. The team cannot function without leadership. For too long your needs have been thwarted by bickering and confusion in the Governor's office.

Now is the time for action!

Give the team your "go ahead" on November 2—Vote Straight Republican . . . for progress . . . for a greater Michigan!

In social studies we have been studying Rome and working on projects. These are some of the projects we have been making, dressing dolls in Roman clothes, making maps, soap carving, writing reports about famous Romans, and drawing pictures of buildings and ships.

For the past two weeks we have been using paints in art class. Some of our pictures will be on display the evening of Oct. 28, which is P.T.A. night at our school.

We have been keeping a weather chart and studying the weather. Jim Bashore brought us a thermometer so we could keep a record of the temperature in the morning, at noon, and after school. When we have filled the chart, Mr. Kaiser will save it so that next year's class can use it to compare the temperature and rainfall to this year. Mike Green and Mike Tucker brought in a forecast and map each day to put on the bulletin board.

Central School
Mrs. Runk—Sixth Grade

There are 36 children in our sixth grade. Since the beginning of school we have elected officers and had class meetings once a week. Our main business is concerned with ways and means of earning our Greenfield Village money. We have a way in mind, and hope to get started with it soon.

Our officers for this month are: President, Judy Mangrum; vice-president, Shirley Wagoner; secretary, Donald Linden; treasurer, Barbara Jo Damon.

Most of us were in Mrs. Runk's fifth grade last year so we were all acquainted when school began. We have some new friends this year too. They are Glennis Baker from Clinton; Colleen Check from Taylor Center; Barbara Jo Damon from Culbertson School; Cathryn Doyle and Charles Holdridge from Patterson; Betty Heistand, Stephen Naugle and Jim Withrow.

Mrs. Runk is reading "The Moffats" by Eleanor Estes to us. We really enjoy the happenings in the yellow house on New Dollar Street, and recommend it for fun in reading.

Since we have been having so much rain our Science Class has been interesting. We are studying weather and what causes it. We were seurprised to find out fog is really clouds close to the earth. Most of us thought fog came out of the ground.

We spent quite a lot of time and effort making maps of the Roman Empire, and locating the places we were studying. The maps look very nice on our bulletin board and we are already looking forward to our next map assignment.

Mr. Lent came in and adjusted our desks and chairs to fit us. This was especially interesting because we could see how much we have grown since last year when we had the same desks.

A big surprise we had was when Catherine Doyle's mother brought her birthday party to school. We had ice cream and cake, and we enjoyed it very much. Catherine's little sister and brother were present, too.

Central School
Mrs. Crawford—Sixth Grade

We are now in the sixth week of school but tour days go so fast we hardly realize it. The first two weeks brought back many of the skills and facts temporarily mislaid during vacation.

Our bulletin board looks very complicated because of the various weather maps but they have helped us predict all the rainy days lately.

Nearly half of us have had birthdays since school started. As we get older we see that more work is expected of us, but we have a motto that encourages us: "All things are difficult before they become easy."

Patterson School
Mrs. Osburn—Fifth Grade

Twenty of us are taking lessons on the Song Flute each Tuesday and Thursday morning. We have to get up early and be at Central School at 8:10 for our class. However, we enjoy it very much.

There are thirty-one in our room this year.

We are decorating our room for Hallowe'en.

Ross Stevenson, Charles Osburn, and Betty Lou Andrews have had birthdays so far this year.

We have decorated the display case in the hallway at the west entrance. We used "Autumn" as our title.

Billy Truesdale brought us some guppies for our aquarium.

Six weeks of school are over and we are anxious to see what the results on our report cards are going to be. Most of us have really tried and expect to do even better the next six weeks.

Arthur Collingsworth made a wooden water wheel. Billy Truesdale and Ronald O'Neal made one of tin. We used these to demonstrate the force of moving water.

Alice Shirley brought a display of shells for the showcase in our room. Also Rudite Freimanis brought us small dolls to put in it.

Central School
Mr. Kelly—Fifth Grade

In Social Studies we have been learning how the original thirteen colonies became states. It has been interesting to learn how these colonies were settled and to study their problems.

We have been having reports on famous American leaders.

In language we are giving book reports.

Mrs. Uckele—Fifth Grade

Our work is interesting this year. In Social Studies we have learned how the thirteen colonies became states. Now we are learning how the vast country west of the Appalachian Mountains was settled.

Mrs. Uckele is reading "Children of the Covered Wagon" by Mary Jane Carr to us.

We are preparing for our Hallowe'en party. Jean Osworth is chairman of the Games Committee. The other members are Linda Starkey, Eugene Verrier, and David Crosby. The clean-up committee is composed of Jimmy Graham, Robert Jedele, Jean Packard, and May Stutesman.

In Science we have learned about social animals. Ants, bees and wasps belong to this group. We are all interestde in the wasps that come into our room every time the windows are open. They have a nest just outside our window.

Goodwill Goods Serve Two Needs

Discards sent to Goodwill Industries on Tuesday, Oct. 26, will help serve a double purpose by giving employment to the handicapped and providing a source of low cost gifts to aid lower income groups who wish to do their Christmas shopping early.

There is still plenty of time for Goodwill workers to repair and recondition toys, appliances, furniture, clothes and shoes for the Holiday trade.

Articles repaired at Goodwill are sold at moderate prices in four Goodwill retail stores. All proceeds of store sales go toward paying the salaries for Goodwill's handicapped workers.

The Goodwill trucks will be in Tecumseh, Britton, Clinton and Macon on Oct. 26. Call your local Goodwill representative now and arrange to give your discards to a worthy cause. In Tecumseh, Mrs. Carl Burch at 868 will take your requests.

Britton residents may call Wm. Kuster at 6121.

In Clinton call Mrs. Richard Ward at Gladstone 6-4148.

W.C.T.U. MEETS

A "Pay Your Dues" luncheon was a feature of the October meeting of the W.C.T.U. held at the Friends church Tuesday. The meeting was opened by a piano duet played by Mrs. W. G. Waldron and Mrs. George Schippers and the speaker of the afternoon was the president of the second district of Michigan, Mrs. Parker Tasgold of Blissfield. Following a most inspiring address she showed colored pictures taken during a recent trip to Europe.

Announcement was made of the state convention to be held in Holland, Mich., Oct. 27 and 28, which it is hoped will be well attended from this area.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Perry Hayden.

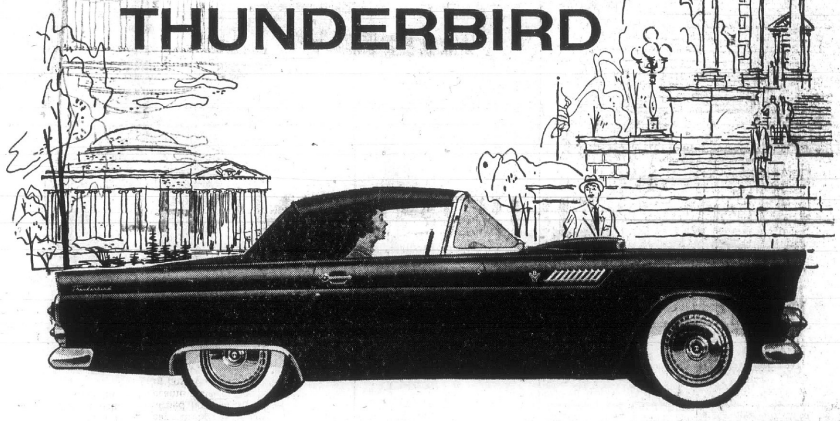
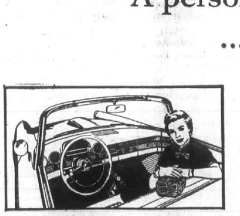
New FORD THUNDERBIRD



A personal car of distinction
...with Trigger-Torque performance



No matter what you have come to expect in a car, you'll be delighted at the wealth of conveniences the Thunderbird offers. Two tops are available: a disappearing fabric top . . . and an easy-to-lift-on hard top. The extra-wide vinyl upholstered seat is foam-rubber-cushioned . . . power-operated 4 ways. Windows roll up . . . by power, if you like. There is a tachometer . . . and a clock with a sweep second hand. There is a telescoping steering wheel. The baggage compartment is ample. And you can have power steering and power brakes.

Something totally fresh is here – a bewitching new all-steel beauty that sets the styling keynote for other Ford cars to come.

But, styling gives the merest hint of what the Thunderbird has to offer. For here is a car you can drive with assurance and pleasure . . . for business or for recreation.

In traffic and on the open road the Thunderbird's Trigger-Torque performance is literally a revelation. Here is hair-trigger response . . . fleet, liquid agility . . . backed by a reserve of swift, sure power to meet safety's every demand.

Trigger-Torque performance stems from Ford's new Thunderbird Special V-8 — a high-torque engine with 4-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts, wide-opening valves and Ford's famous low-friction design. And to enhance the performance characteristics of this brilliant V-8 engine, the Thunderbird provides special rear axle ratios to match the transmission of your choice – Conventional, Overdrive, or new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic.

Then, in the ride department, Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension really works wonders. It not only velvet-cushions your ride, it also allows the Thunderbird to handle with utmost ease – to corner with greatest stability. And when it comes to stopping, brakes are big and powerful.

But, more important is the way the Thunderbird is engineered, designed . . . and built! For it is the product of the same advanced engineering . . . the same manufacturing skills that have made Ford products so dependable, so value-full and so desirable to so many.

Wolverine Council Will Celebrate 28th Anniversary

The 28th anniversary of the Wolverine Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be celebrated on Tuesday, Nov. 2, with a dinner meeting at Petersburg high school at 6:30 p.m.

The speaker will be Dr. Russell J. Humbert, president of DePaw University.

Howard White, council president, cautions all those interested in attending to obtain reservations by Saturday. There are some 1200 "scouters" and their ladies in the council and only 350 can be accommodated at the dinner.

Included in the program will be the presentation of the new council officers, special awards to be presented by Arthur Lesow and group singing.

The theme of the program will be to pay honor to the men and women in Lenawee and Monroe counties who each year give of their time and effort to forward the scouting movement.

Concerning the speaker Mr. White said "Dr. Humbert is rated as one of the outstanding speakers in the country. For years he has maintained active interest and support in civic activities and has been especially active in scouting. His appearance should enable the entire council to derive inspiration and enthusiasm from his message."

Dr. Humbert was named president of DePaw University, located at Green Castle, Indiana, in 1951, after serving seven years as pastor of one of the leading Methodist churches in the nation, Trinity Methodist Church, Youngstown, Ohio.

Grand Piano Is Dedicated

At a concert presented by members of the Tecumseh Music Club last Wednesday evening a grand piano, the gift of Mrs. R. S. Moore, was dedicated to the use of all local musicans at the Youth House of the Baptist Church. The audience was received by representatives of the club, Mrs. Robert McCoy, Mrs. George Wittrup, Mrs. Joe Rice, Mrs. Ralph Westgate and Miss Bess Pulver.

In a gracious presentation speech, Mrs. Moore introduced the program chairman, Mrs. W. G. Waldron, who in turn introduced Mrs. George Schippers, who announced the program.

It was opened by the singing of the Lord's Prayer by the Music Club chorus led by Mrs. John McColl and included an organ solo by Mrs. Herbert Dillon, two selections on the new grand piano by Mrs. William Hayden and two piano duets by Mrs. Waldron and Mrs. Schippers and by Mrs. McColl and Mrs. Waldron. There were vocal solos by Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Mrs. Harley McConnell, Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz and then Mrs. Schippers, Mrs. Schwartz, Mrs. McColl and Mrs. Waldron concluded the instrumental program by a two piano double duet.

As an intermission feature, Mrs. Moore recited Edgar Guest's poem "It Couldn't Be Done, But He Did It", in a most effective manner. In conclusion she called for the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag by the audience and the club, followed by the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner"

Letter To The Editor

Oct. 18 1954
1000 E. Chicago Blvd.

Editor of the Herald;

We have been reading with interest the letters written by people living in the country who are plagued with the refuse thrown along the roads in front of their homes.

We have lived inside the city of Tecumseh for over five years and have yet to see the day when there aren't beer cans or beer bottles or refuse of some kind in front of our house.

A couple of weeks ago while we were on vacation my father, who stayed at home, was sitting at the table eating when he looked out of the window toward the bridge and saw a car stop on the bridge and a man get out. This man walked around the back of his car, took out a huge carton and tossed it over the bridge. Well, we look out of our window and see this mess that he dumped out which landed on the cement under the bridge, and which consists of pans, jugs and cans. This man was within sight of the city dump!

My father, having poor eyesight, couldn't get the license number of the car, but if the man who did this reads this, we hope that his conscience bothers him every time that he comes out this way. We not only have this kind of trouble but every Tom, Dick, and Harry use our double drive entrance for a turntable to turn around in with their cars. We wouldn't mind if they turned or backed into the drive to turn around but to make a wide sweep leaving continual ruts just doesn't make sense.

The highway department planted grass on the berm, which is really our terrace, but you would never know it now as the cars turning around here didn't give it a chance to grow. We are trying so hard to get our place looking presentable after five years of hard work. Won't you people please be more considerate?

In all sincerity,
Harold and Bunny Clark

Eggs will stay fresh longer if you will keep them in a cold place. A fresh egg has a thick white and an upstanding yolk that is well centered. When eggs become stale the yolk flattens and the white is thin and watery.

Carelessness with fire cost 203 lives in Michigan last year. One-third of the victims were under 5 years old.

Lecturer Speaks At First Baptist

Rev. Walter J. Field, lecturer, English educator and missionary from the Holy Land will present his timely lecture and sound motion pictures on "Life in War-Torn Palestine" at the First Baptist church, Sunday, Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

WALTER J. FIELD

The speaker has just recently returned from the Holy Land and is now on a lecture tour. Mr. Field is a native of the British Isles and has spent more than 14 years in Palestine and middle eastern countries.

In the picture and lecture here, Mr. Field will show and discuss the explosive problem of Palestine and speak of his experiences while living and working with both the Jews and the Arabs.

During the war Mr. Field served with the British Middle East Army, after which he returned to the Holy Land to resume his work. From these years of first-hand experience he is a well qualified unbiased speaker on the Jewish-Arab struggle for the land of Palestine.

The film, "The Holy Land Passing Parade", which Mr. Field will show is a complete and original sound film on Palestine. Contrasting the life of the modern Jew in the State of Israel and the life of the native Palestinian as he carries on the customs and traditions common in Bible days, it features a coverage of the entire country from Dan to Beersheba.

Mr. Field will show pictures, in sound and color, of the work of the Mission which he represents.

Local Methodists Take Part In Statewide Mission

Members of the Tecumseh Methodist Church will participate Oct. 30 to Nov. 7 in a statewide Spiritual Life Mission being sponsored by nearly 1,000 Michigan Methodist churches.

According to the pastor, the Rev. Horace L. James, the mission will seek commitments from members of the local church to church attendance, family devotions, private prayer, tithing and personal witnessing.

Plans call for the churches of the eastern section of the state to have guest ministers from the western part of the state for the mission. Pastors of this area will be in the western section early in Oct. for the first phase of the mission.

Guest ministers will instruct teams of local visitors who will in turn call upon members of their own churches. Special worship services featuring the preaching ministry of the guest ministers are scheduled for Sunday morning and evening, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The mission will close with a service of dedication on Sunday morning, Nov. 7 with the local pastor preaching.

Pastors and their guest ministers will attend a Spiritual Life Training School at Saline for four days during the mission. The school will provide instruction in the mission's program and record local, district and state progress by means of a unique statewide ham radio broadcasters network. Youth rallies, family nights and other activities are being scheduled at the local church as a part of the spiritual life emphasis.

Alice Coleman and Erwin Hubbell were married in Kewadin in northern Michigan and came to Tecumseh five years ago from Traverse City. They have three children, Mary, Jimmie and Alice Faye.

Don't "wring wrinkles" into nylon. Just squeeze out the extra moisture by hand. Shake out the garment and hang it to dry on a thick line or hanger—never on a wire or hook. To prevent squeezing wrinkles into nylon, try drip-drying it by hanging it up dripping wet. Heavy nylon clothes can be rolled in a Turkish towel before hanging to get rid of excess moisture.

MISS HOPKINS SPEAKS TO GARDEN CLUB

The broader aspects of conservation and its importance to the nation was the subject of the talk given by Miss Alice Hopkins Friday afternoon before the Garden Club. Miss Hopkins had spent ten days during the summer at the Higgins Lake Conservation Camp as representative of several Tecumseh clubs and she brought back interesting information.

The meeting of the club was held in the Pythian Hall because the excursion planned to Battle Creek had to be cancelled.

It was voted to raise funds by selling enclosure cards again this year and plans were also made for the sale of Christmas decorations. The tea table was decorated in autumn and Halloween colors and arrangements of fall chrysanthemums were placed about the rooms. Mrs. R. S. Moore poured. Hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. Earl Wickwire, Mrs. Charles Kempf and the Misses Ann Carson and Mary McWilliams.

Join AF, Get Vacation

Technical Sergeant George F Merz, in charge of local USAF Recruiting Sales Office, located at Chamber of Commerce Building Adrian, announced today that the young men of the southeastern section of the state who enlist in the Air Force will now be given a ten day "vacation" at the end of their basic training.

This delay en route, as it is known in military terms, not to exceed ten days plus travel time will be granted all Basic Training graduates, prior service airmen and Air Force ROTC enlistees upon the completion of Basic Training either at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, or Sampson Air Force Base, New York.

The ten day leave policy will become effective with classes graduating in December 1954. Those airmen graduating in classes prior to the date of the policy will be granted ordinary leave at the end of their training.

Travel in private automobile will be authorized airmen having automobiles in their possession at the time of departure and also for those who can show evidence that such travel should be authorized in accordance with travel policies.

All others will be required to purchase tickets to their point of leave, and from there to their new station. They will be allowed to select their mode of travel.

Accrued pay and advance travel pay will be paid prior to departure from the Basic Training Base.

Roy Rogers Gains A New Friend

Bullet, a magnificent German Shepherd, is the newest member of the "King of the Cowboy's" permanent cast on his NBC-TV "Roy Rogers Show," and has already won his own circle of devoted admirers.

The finding of Bullet culminated a long search by Roy, who had decided he wanted a dog to round out his company support.

Love of dogs started way back for Roy. When he was a farm kid in Duck Run, Ohio, he longed for a dog of his own. But as much as the family hated to deny him, the extra burden of food for a dog, even scraps, was too much of a strain on the budget. So Roy grew up vowing someday he would have all the dogs he wanted. Dog population at his Encino ranch is nearly 30, and Dale vows she thinks Roy enjoys the dogs more than any other possession. They range from rare breeds of hunting dogs to ersatz while homeless mutts, and he loves them all.

Once he decided to use a dog professionally, Roy became the busiest casting director in Hollywood. He interviewed Great Danes, Doberman Pinschers, Boxers, Huskies, members of all the more rugged breeds. He gave screen tests here, tryouts there, searching for just the right combination of intelligence, friendliness, good looks, and general adaptability.

Bullet proved to be the dog with the mostest of the bestest. A three-year-old German Shepherd, Bullet is alert and quick to learn, having remarkable ability to follow directions right the very first time he hears them. His super-intelligence fits him beautifully to a business where the cost of retakes can overburden production expense.

Besides being such a high-calibred actor, Bullet is also a great friend to Roy in their time away from work. When Roy wants to take a nap between scenes on the set, Bullet stands guard and refuses to let anyone disturb him. A loyal companion, Bullet is frisky when Roy wants to play, and he waits quietly when Roy is busy with other things.

Roy's word of advice to dog-lovers, from his own experience with Bullet is: "Anyone can train a dog as well as Bullet is trained. All it takes is patience, understanding, and a plain show of affection—the dog will return full measure."

GIRL SCOUTS VISIT SALINE VALLEY FARMS

Ninety Girl Scouts, leaders and mothers enjoyed a trip to the Saline Valley Farms Saturday. Leaving the cabin at 3:30 in private cars, they formed a caravan and when they arrived at the farms they were met by John Rule, and taken to the Youth Hostel where a song fest was enjoyed under the direction of Mrs. Lyle Grigg.

Mrs. Gerald Griffen, Mrs. John Hartley, Mrs. Julius Vincze, Mrs. Wellington Wotring and Mrs. Victor Peterson prepared the lunch. Planned as a weiner roast, the lunch was served cafeteria style.

The girls enjoyed doing the Virginia Reel and taught action songs to troops one and two who flew up last year. Mr. Rule told of the work of the Youth Hostel and conducted tours through the buildings, which all found very impressive. Mrs. Clifford Adams taught the girls how to play a new game, "The Bear Went Over the Mountains."

Additional leaders and mothers who enjoyed the trip were Mrs. Charles Beland, Mrs. Charles Scriver, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Harry Schuch, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. LeRoy Titley, Mrs. William Snook, Mrs. Frank Robinette, Mrs. Mildred Green, Mrs. John Saling and Mrs. John Stoner.

Orlon is affected less by sunlight, weather, and mildew than most fibers. Because of this, this man-made fiber serves well as window curtains, awnings, auto tops and for other outdoor uses. Clothing specialists at M.S.C. also report that orlon is long wearing, and easily laundered.

Miss Barbara Ann Folk Weds Leverett DeJonghe

White hampers and altar vases filled with white chrysanthemums and pomporns formed the setting for the marriage ceremony of Barbara Ann Folk and Leverett DeJonghe at St. Elizabeth Catholic church Saturday morning. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Folk of Tecumseh was given in marriage by her father and the double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins.

The bridal party included Miss Folk's sister, Mary Ellen, who was maid of honor, Shirley DeClercq and Theresa Flackelman of Toledo who were bridesmaids; Kathy Tressler, the bride's cousin and the groom's sister Linda as flower-girls; Denny Miller, cousin of the bride, as ring-bearer; Frank VanLocke, the groom's cousin, who was best man and his brothers, Lyle and Larry who were the ushers.

Miss Folk's floor length wedding gown was of heavy satin, with a full skirt and a fitted bodice, whose off the shoulder yolk was filled with sheer net to a high, round neckline. Matching satin mitts and the bridegroom's gift of pearls supplemented the costume which was completed by the finger tip length bridal veil held by a queen's crown of seed pearls. Her flowers were a cascade bouquet of white roses and white frenched mums with satin foliage, tufts of white maline and a ribbon shower.

The bridesmaid's gown was a sheer nylon tricot in coral with a strapless shirred bodice and matching stole. With it she carried a cascade of Johanna Hill roses and blue delphinium florets with blue maline and ribbon.

Cotillion blue nylon fashioned the gowns of the bridesmaids, in style identical with that of the maid of honor and their bouquets were of Cavalier roses and yellow carnations tied with coral ribbons. The flower girls, in coral nylon tulle, carried baskets of white and yellow pompoms and blue frenched mums.

Music before and during the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Ben Hammack at the organ with Wallace Whiting singing, "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," "Panis Angelicus" and "Ave Maria."

Mrs. Folk chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of garnet taffeta with pearl and rhinestone trim and matching jacket. Her corsage was yellow roses and carnations. Mrs. DeJonghe wore navy blue taffeta with a corsage of pink roses and carnations.

At the reception for the 300 guests which followed in the church auditorium, the Misses Nancy Porter and Joyce Schafer cut the wedding cake, Gerrie Walker and Donna Fish served coffee while Mary Baldwin had charge of the punch bowl. Doris Tressler registered the guests and Judy Tressler cared for the gifts. Both the latter are cousins of the bride.

Following a week's trip to northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. DeJonghe will make their home at 315 W. Logan St. Both are graduates of Tecumseh high school and the groom is employed at Meadowridge Dairy.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the Folk home Thursday evening and had been preceded by several showers in Tecumseh, Ridgeway and Toledo.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

GREG MASON, TWELVE-YEAR-OLD HERALD STAMP expert, who found the $500 stamp last week, has not determined what he will do with the 1923 President Harding find. He doesn't remember how he got the stamp but he thinks he either got it in a trade or he purchased it in a U. S. mission packet. He discovered the valuable find when he was looking through his collection one night and comparing his stamps with those in the catalogue. Believing it was valuable, he called Bill Hamaker, also a stamp enthusiast, who verified its value. Its value stems from the fact that it is a rotary press issue with 11 perforations. A black stamp, it is dated Aug. 2, 1923.

AUSTIN GRANT, CKLW NEWS EDITOR, who will speak next Monday night at the Monday Club dinner, will fulfill a desire he has had for a long time. Austin says he always has wanted to speak in Tecumseh.

THE NEW YORK HERALD for Saturday, April 15, 1865, was brought in by George Ostrum who found it in some junk. With bold black column rules, the paper includes an extra which tells of the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln. Published by James Gordon Bennett, editor and proprietor, in the days of personal journalism, the six-column, four-page paper cost 25c.

THE STAFF REALLY APPRECIATED all the calls and comments on the 18-page paper last week. It was quite a job to make everything jell but your kind remarks well rewarded our efforts.

FRIDAY AN ELEMENT burned out on the caster. Thanks to Harvey Wilson who loaned us his portable welding torch, we were back in business. But I wish Harv would get a plastic torch. Rolling that baby to the HERALD office was a task that I wouldn't care to do more than once in a life time.

A FIVE-LEAF CLOVER was brought in by Richard Wayne who found the good-luck piece in Ferris Trailer Park on Maumee street in front of the Lower Light Mission Church. Not a wee bit superstitious, we were having a bit of press trouble at the time so we asked to use the omen. As we started for the back room with the clover leaf, the old gal came out of her tantrum, and believe it or not, began to click like she should.

EATING AND SINGING: Mother: "Surely you did something else but eat at the Sunday School picnic?"

Matilda: "Yes, mummie. After we ate we sang a hymn called 'We Can Sing, Though Full We Be'."

Mother learned later that the hymn selected had been "Weak and Sinful Though We Be."

SIGNS OF SPRING: Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, 207 W. Pottawatamie street, picked violets and dwarf Iris in her flower border Tuesday.

THAT WAS A TERRIFIC half-time show the Indian band put on Friday night. Theme of the show was "53 days to Christmas" and at the end pretty baton twirlers pulled a sleigh. But in must have been rough on Chief Tecumseh, pictured on the drum. He took a lot of banging on the head by the drummer.

OUR KINDERGARTNER CAME home with her brown eyes blazing — a sign of real excitement — and she exclaimed: "Our teacher has to go to Ann Arbor and sit all day and all night

Large Turn-Out Is Predicted

Although an off year election seldom brings out a large number of voters, a large turn-out is expected at the polls next Tuesday for the general election.

Forecasters here list these two reasons for a large turn-out: (1) The expected close gubernatorial race and (2) Interest in the amendments on the ballot, particularly the so-called bingo amendment and the highly publicized Conlin plan. A large number of veterans also are expected to vote on the bonus amendment for veterans of the Korean War.

Because of the large turn-out expected, city councilmen this year have added a new precinct. Voters east of the railroad tracks will vote at the fire barn (precinct 1) and voters west of the tracks will vote at Butler Motor Sales (precinct 2).

Tecumseh Township voters will continue to vote at Tecumseh Farm Equipment on west Monroe Rd.

The city has a registration list of 3056 eligible voters. The township has 223.

Absentee ballots must be picked up by Saturday.

As a public service, new car dealers will offer free transportation to and from the polls. Dealers taking part in the service are Irelan Motor Sales, Keith Bailey Motors, Wilson Motor Sales, Butler Motor Sales, Schneider Brothers Garage and G. H. Fisher Pontiac Motors, Inc.

In addition to voting for governor and the four amendments, voters will vote for the following state, district and county offices: lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, United States senator, state treasurer, auditor general, representative in Congress, state senator, representative in state legislature, prosecuting attorney, sheriff, county clerk, treasurer, register of deeds, circuit court commissioner, drain commissioner, coroner and surveyor.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Chief Tecumseh Was A Mason

By F. C. DICKINSON, Sr.

Tecumseh, famed Shawnee Indian Chieftain, for whom this city was named, was born in 1768 (?), a twin of Tenskwatawa the Prophet, at what is now Old-town, Ohio.

His father was a chief of the Shawnees, and his mother, of whom little is known, is thought to have been of the Creek tribe.

According to settlers, Tecumseh was set against torture and cruelty to prisoners, and was noted for his sense of mercy, humane dealings and honesty as well as for his intrepid courage and daring.

He was a member of a Masonic Lodge in Philadelphia Pa., and it is related that on several occasions he saved the lives of Masons during massacres. One of these instances occurred during the battle of River Raisin, where he stopped the slaughter of white men because he heard the sacred Masonic words of distress.

What a curious twist of fate it was that he should have met his death at the hands of a Masonic Brother, Col. Richard M. Johnson, commanding the mounted Kentucky riflemen, at the battle of the Thames.

Files of Masonic annals show that Tecumseh was a sincere Mason. He loved the teachings of the Craft and kept his obligations. The same was true of Colonel Johnson. How tragic that neither Johnson or Tecumseh had opportunity to make themselves known Masonically before the firing of the fatal shot.

Tecumseh was devoted to the welfare of his people and visited various tribes in the Northwest Territory, and tribes in the south with the purpose of forming a great confederation to resist the encroachment of the white man on tribal lands.

He had great influence among the many tribes, and William Henry Harrison, territorial Governor of Indiana, and his worst enemy, had great respect for his genius for organization.

City Manager Reports On Curb And Gutter Work

Ed Nelson, city manager, has answered a number of questions on curb and gutter work and scheduling. The city manager reports:

"There has been some question as to the method used in scheduling curb and gutter and just how this was handled. I will endeavor to give you some of the reasons why it has been quite impossible to install curb and gutter in line with the dates the petitions were received.

"Last year we installed 10,000 feet of curb and gutter. This amount would have completed the 1953 schedule if we could have stayed on the streets we had listed to do in 1953. But due to other work that was necessary with changing of Chicago Blvd. we did not complete the 1953 program as outlined.

"This year we did three blocks of curb and gutter which would have been on the 1956 schedule but due to bad traffic and safety conditions we completed these blocks this year. Although we have installed more than 13,000 feet of curb and gutter this year

23 Per Cent Of Fund Goal Turned In

So far contributions to the 1954 Community Fund are far short of reaching the $16,628 goal.

As of Wednesday morning about 23 per cent of the goal had been turned in to Merlyn Downing at the United Savings Bank.

"It doesn't look a bit good," he reported. "So far only $3600 has been turned in."

He also said block workers have been slow in reporting and many of them reported a large number of call-backs.

"Some of these folks, on the other hand, may have collected and not yet reported."

Friday night Jaycees will conduct a porch-light campaign in the city. If you have not been contacted turn on your porch light.

CHIEF WARNS OF H-WE'EN PRANKSTERS

Chief George Kilbourn advises that all leaves should be disposed of before Hallowe'en to lessen the danger of pranksters setting fires.

Chief Kilbourn said auxiliary police will be added Hallowe'en night to patrol the city.

"TRICK OR TREAT" WILL GO TO UN

All children of the churches participating in the United Nations "Trick or Treat" program are requested to register Saturday morning between 9 and 10 a.m. at the Presbyterian church.

They will then receive their official arm bands and canisters. The canisters are to be returned between 4 and 5 p.m. Saturday or at Sunday School the next morning at the latest.

SIGN

A large sign announcing "Democratic Headquarters" that was stretched across the boulevard, has been taken down.

It was taken down on the insistence of Ed Nelson, city manager, who explained to Democrat officials that state highway laws prevent such signs from being placed across major highways unless a village or city council passes a resolution applying for the use of such a sign.

Democrats were a bit peeved but they took the sign down, although they are asking politically "Whose sign was up in Nov., 1952?"

Spark Sputters, Indians Lose To Airport, 19-9; Face Hudson Friday

An initial spark that sputtered then went out could describe Tecumseh's league loss to Airport Community High Friday night. For the record Tecumseh lost, 19-9.

Psychologically, Tecumseh may have lost because of over-confidence. Technically, the Indians may have lost because of an inadequate defense against a sharp passing and receiving Airport team.

These factors, plus the fact that the local team did not get many breaks, added up to the Indians' third loss in Southeastern League play.

After kicking off, Tecumseh's House recovered a fumble on the 25 and in three plays the Indians had six points and Bill Scutt place-kicked another.

Marsh cracked for four; then he hit for another 7. Richie Davis scooted into the end zone on a wide end sweep.

The Indians and the large crowd sensed that this was going to be a possible replay of the Addison victory. They thought the Indians would "eat 'em alive". But it did not materialize.

Airport came crashing back, going 75 yards for a td. Passes played a prominent part in the march with Frankhouse hitting his favorite target Price for the most yardage. The scoring play was a Whiteside pass to Frankhouse. It was fourth down and 12 yards to go when Frankhouse sped behind Tecumseh defenders and snared the pass without being molested.

The attempted running of the extra point was squelched by House.

The first quarter ended with Tecumseh holding a 7-6 edge.

The Indians didn't come close to threatening the remainder of the game but Airport, with the aid of a questionable official's ruling, scored again mid-way in the second period.

Larned, Indian center, booted to Ramsey on the 39. Frankhouse hit Price with a pass that carried to the 27. Spaulding hit the end for six, then he cracked over center for five.

A Frankhouse pass was batted down. His next one was way over the head of his intended receiver but an official ruled interference on the part of Tecumseh and Airport had the ball on the one. Frankhouse sneaked over the six points and Ballenger ran the extra point.

Midway in the third period after an exchange of punts, Larned punted to Ramsey on the 20. He was nailed in his tracks by Bowser. An illegal formation put the ball on the 15 and Breitner was smeared behind his own goal after he recovered a bad pass from center that sailed over his head. Tecumseh added two points for the safety.

Airport struck for another six points in the last quarter.

Bill Scutt intercepted an Airport pass deep in Indian territory and plowed to the 41 but Airport recovered an Indian fumble on the next play and in three plays chalked up another six points. Frankhouse hit Price with a pass to the 21. Prize zipped to the eight and Frankhouse swept his left end for the score. The attempted running of the extra point was no good.

In the last three minutes of play both teams lost the ball several times on fumbles that nullified further scoring.

Tecumseh's middle line was like a rock all night but Airport's passes kept the forwards too honest. Outstanding defensive players were Benham, Daniels, Larned, Scutt and Jackson.

Friday night the Indians leave league play to tangle with Hudson there at 8 p.m. Tecumseh returns to the league war in the homecoming game with Hillsdale, currently tied for second place, in a home game Nov. 5. The Indians will have to win this one if they are to have any chance to escape the cellar.

In the list of Cradle Roll promotion certificates presented to Methodist church Sunday School pupils in last week's HERALD, the name Thomas Packard should have read Tommy Bruce Prichard.

Pedestrian Safety Driving Lessons Are Published

Chief George Kilbourn today announced a series of 10 safe driving lessons dealing with pedestrian safety. These are being run by the HERALD as a public service to assist in saving the lives of local residents while they are on foot in traffic.

"All motorists and pedestrians are urged to study the illustrations which will be shown in the series because they represent the most common types of difficulty which result from mixing the man on foot with the man on wheels in the traffic stream," the Chief said.

"In traffic it's what you don't know and don't understand, and therefore not prepared for, that gets you into trouble," he added.

According to Chief Kilbourn any motorist or pedestrian who learns these 10 lessons will be much less apt to become involved in a pedestrian accident than a person who has not thought out these practical driving and walking situations.

This is the season of the year when several dangerous conditions "gang up" on motorists and pedestrians. The smart motorist takes these into account and looks harder, tries harder, and cuts his speed when conditions are against him.

In calling upon all motorists to cooperate with the pedestrian protection program the Chief said, "Just remember, there's an awful difference between banging up a fender and hitting a pedestrian."

Grade School News

BROWNVILLE

Miss Bugbee, Kindergarten

We have lots of news for you this month. We have learned many things and have enjoyed our activities very much. We'd like to tell you about them.

During the "Fire Prevention Week" we talked about the different ways which we could help to prevent fires. We decided that one of the best ways was to leave matches alone. We also talked about the work of our friend, the fireman, and how he helps us. We played that we were fire-engines, learned a little song and a rhyme, and heard a story about "The Little Fire Engine." We even had a fire drill so we would know just what to do in case of a fire.

Carol Cook, Carl Collingsworth, and Grace Gilbert had birthdays in September. Those who have birthdays this month are David Cain, Linda Marsh, Linda Parks, Joe Weaver, Carmen Fergus, and Douglas Skinner. Mrs. Collingsworth, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. Skinner, and Mrs. Weaver brought refreshments for us and visited our room. Other visitors have been Mrs. Cooley and Mrs. Clark. Robin's grandmother, Mrs. Snyder, surprised us one afternoon by bringing us some cookies and Halloween treats.

October reminds us of many things. We took a little walk to collect pretty leaves. We drew and colored some to look just like them. For "Columbus Day" we drew sail boats. We have been bringing Indian things to show to our friends. We've had Indian beads, pictures, hats, dishes, tomahawks, drums, suits, and a bow and arrow. Each one of us made our own Indian hat, beads, moccasins, and tepee. We called ourselves "Chief Brownville."

If you were to look around our room you would think that Halloween is here. We have it gaily decorated with jack-o-lanterns, cats, witches, owls, and scarecrows. We are making big plans for our party. We want to surprise everyone with our costumes.

Several of the boys have worn their cowboy suits to school. The girls have been bringing their dolls. Deborah Cheever brought a French doll and Jill Cunkle brought a Dutch doll.

Tommy Mitchell has moved to Hudson and Lynnett, McCollum has gone to Kalamazoo. We hope they like their new schools.

Carl Collingsworth is in the hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis. We miss him very much and hope he will soon be back with us.

You'll hear more from us next month.

CENTRAL

Mrs. VanValkenburg, Grade One

All of the thirty-four happy girls and boys of one of the first grades at Central greet you. We have been very busy working in our book, "Before We Read." Most of us are very anxious to read in our new book, "Look and See." We can recognize about fifteen words now. We have learned to count and write numbers and words.

Several caterpillars have been brought to our room. Some have spun cocoons and others have formed Chrysalises.

Ten of us have had birthdays since school began. Several of the birthday people brought treats for all of us.

We are looking forward to our Halloween party next week Friday.

We have been having much fun learning Indian writing, songs, and dances. We have many beautiful Indian headdresses and tomtoms.

The first graders hope that our parents will come to P.-T.A. and visit our room next week, Thursday.

Mrs. Schwartz, Grade One

There are sixteen boys and seventeen girls in our room.

Some of the children have been sick. Vicki Brees and Gale Murdock have been out of school more than a week. We shall be glad when they are able to come back.

We hope that many of our parents come to P.-T.A. on Thursday.

We have had fun writing on penmanship paper this week. We also drew some funny faces. Maybe our Halloween masks will look like them when we dress in our costumes for the party next Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Elsie Neitling, First Grade

We are reading all about Dick and Jane in our new reading books. We have divided into three reading groups. We call ourselves Indians, Eagles and Red Birds.

We now have thirty-four children in our room. Arjelia Lopez and Richard Pate are our new additions.

We want Mrs. Faling to know that we enjoyed the day she spent with us very much. We had many exciting things to tell Mrs. Neitling when she came back.

Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Sinky have visited our room so far this year.

We are working very hard learning our numbers. Most of us recognize and can write our numbers to ten now. Some of us know them much farther.

Our new Talk, Spell and Write books have arrived and we like them very much.

We are quite excited getting ready for Holloween. Of course, we will have a party in our room.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

Mrs. Updike, Kindergarten

We have had a busy time building a grocery store in our room. We have named it the "Farm Market" after our Nancy's father's store. We have it well stocked with groceries, a telephone and cash register. It is fun to pretend that we are the store keeper and customer. We always remember that store keepers and customers have very good manners, too.

Our beautiful room is looking more like Halloween every day. We are planning on having a party on October 29 and we are sure our friends will never know who we are when we dress up funny. Mrs. Updike says that she won't look like our teacher.

One day we had a good time exploring our school. We saw the big furnace that reaches to the ceiling. We visited the gymnasium and watched some big girls doing all kinds of exercises. We tried them out when we got back to our room. We enjoyed seeing Mr. Kaiser's office and all the little mail boxes with the different teacher's names on them.

We are making a surprise for our mothers and fathers. When they come to Patterson School, October 28, at eight o'clock, they will be given the surprise to pin on them. Mrs. Updike has many things to tell them about Kindergarten and what good helpers we all are.

Mrs. Buttolph, Grade One

Besides learning to read, print, and work with numbers, we are very busy making a large Halloween frieze on the bulletin board in the back of our room. First we put up long strips of wrapping paper and each took turns painting in the background. So far we have in our scene an old haunted house and out of it are coming many ghosts. On the path leading up to the ghost house are dancing skeletons. Of course we have some old witches flying in the sky and some old black cats sitting on a board fence. An old big owl sitting in a large tree almost frightens us. We also have many Jack-o-lanterns, scarecrows, and bats in our scene.

Many girls and boys in our room have been sharing their children's books and records with us. We surely enjoy each one.

For the display case we are making a large apple tree. We have had fun making and painting the apples for it. We are learning a nice poem about apples.

WEST BRANCH SCHOOL

Miss Steinhoff, Grade One

We are working steadily in our "Before We Read" books and hope soon to have them finished. We are learning the color words and the words distinguishing the members of the family about whom we will soon read.

We have enjoyed using the rhythm records which are new this year. It is fun to sing and pretend we are different people and animals.

In printing we have practiced almost all of our alphabet.

Now we are decorating our room looking forward to Halloween.

Mrs. Lasky, Third Grade

We have 32 children in our room this year. There are 17 girls and 15 boys.

For our science class we have made leaf wall placques from salt and flour clay. We painted them pretty fall colors. It has been interesting to study mammals, reptiles, and insects. We are observing a guppy family and a Black Mollie fish family in our aquariums now.

In arithmetic we are learning to do story problems. We usually know when to add or subtract and do not miss very many now.

Our social studies book is called "New Centerville." It tells us how people live in a very small town. While we are studying about ways of sending messages we use the time that we are making in our room. We know the names of the workers at our city post office and we have talked about their work.

Our music and art classes are such fun that we can hardly wait to see Miss Gillespie and Mrs. Westdyke come.

We are writing letters to our friends. The letters are written in a special way so that our friends will know we wrote it just for them and no one else.

The big black cats in our room tell us Halloween is nearly here.

We are learning to make vowels in our word study period during reading class. We are trying to improve our expression when we read aloud to the class. Each of us has chosen a story and when we are sure we know every word then we have a chance to be story hour leader in the morning.

Our mothers are invited to our room October 28 at 4:00 to visit with each other and to talk about how we do things in our room. It will be called a P.T.A. meeting.

When it comes to Protection ...it pays to have the BEST

Rugged, dependable equipment is something you want before the game starts. It does no good to find you need it after the play gets rough.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

To the average, uninformed layman (and most of us are very uninformed on this increasingly important subject) the Will Rehabilitation Center seems very adequate and efficient. And, up to a point, it is the realization of its owner's dream—but there is so much beyond that point.

Her experience shows that with the need so great, existing facilities hardly scratch the surface. The ideal on her horizon is a community nursing home and rehabilition center, patterned on the few now in successful operation. There, more and more of the chronically helpless and dependent could learn to "use what they have" to care for themselves and in many cases become self-supporting. For actual statistics prove the startling fact that one tax dollar invested in rehabilitation returns ten dollars in income tax much beyond that point.

Her experience shows that with [illegible] that an average ties hardly scratch the surface. [illegible] patients a day are treated by Mrs. Will and her assistant Mrs. Charles O'Neill. Where do they come from? The answer is from all over this driving area although many are sent here from Ann Arbor. No patient, of course, is treated except on referal from a doctor and in this connection Mrs. Will is most happy that Dr. C. L. Cook is now the center's consulting physician.

The human interest stories of the patients would be legion if they were ever told. One through an article in the October "Ford Times," has received nationwide notice. Elmer Bartlett, who was treated by Mrs. Will during her years in Ann Arbor, invented the hand operated controls which, installed in an ordinary car, enable him and thousands like him to drive without the use of legs. [illegible]ers are less spectacular but equally important to the individual. Many, who at first thought their training was impossibly difficult, have come to bless the program that was "cruel in order to be kind."

Two people in our own locality are outstanding examples of its benefit and are glad to tell other people about it. Mrs. Richard Ward of Clinton will be remembered as stricken with polio during a trip to the west coast two years ago, and James Bishop received a spinal injury in a plane crash last May while on a frost control flight over a Deerfield orchard.

Mrs. Ward considers that she received excellent treatment in a Lincoln, Neb. hospital and when she could sit up she was flown to her home in a special plane sent by the Lenawee Polio Foundation. For a year she took daily treatments as an out patient at Ann Arbor yet she credits most of her improvement to the last few months in the Tecumseh Center. There, with the whirlpool and with training in the use of braces and crutches she is attaining the shoulder development that enables her to move about and drive her own car. The Wards, who are now living with relatives, are building a new home and it is her firm intention to care for her own family.

James Bishop has "always known he would recover" and he has come a long way in six months. He had to endure a "Stryker Frame" until the spinal break was healed and now with the aid of the whirlpool, the bars and the bicycle he is getting ready to walk again — after a while. He is really more at home in the air than on the ground. For five war years he was with the Royal Canadian Air Force, then with the Meyers Aircraft as flight instructor for seven more. Just now his flying is done from a wheel chair but if past improvement is any indication it will not be for long.

The whirlpool looms large in all their stories of progress and some-[illegible] in the future. Mrs. Will [illegible] a "Murphy bunk" that will do for a completely paralyzed person what the whirlpool does for helpless legs. Now there is one in Herman Keefer hospital in Detroit—some nearer. The cost and operation would run into many thousands of dollars but somehow she has faith that Lenawee will have one, and she hopes, soon.

"SELF-HELP"

Increasing sales and expanding its market have been foremost objectives of this cooperative during the past three years.

Through the mediums of advertising and publicity "Milk as a Beverage" has been promoted as never before in the greater Detroit market with gratifying results.

Creating new markets and strengthening old ones is a "self-help" project instituted by the members of this organization as a cooperative means of protecting farm income by the same methods as are used in successful private industry. It is a demonstration of forward thinking on the part of farm cooperative membership.

Above is pictured a giant spectacular electrical display at one of Detroit's heaviest traffic intersections (Woodward Avenue and Seven Mile Road). Greater Detroit is "milk conscious" as a result of the promotional program carried on by the producers' organization.

The doctor examined him twice a year. He wore overshoes whenever it looked like rain. He slept with his windows open. He stuck to a diet with plenty of fresh vegetables. He relinquished his tonsils and traded in several worn-out glands. He golfed but never more than 18 holes. He never smoked, drank or lost his temper. His funeral will be next Wednesday. we are again three blocks behind schedule. We had $14,000 set up in the budget for this program. We have spent $10,000 so far this year. The balance of the $14,000 is for the two-third payment we carry of the property owners. In order to keep the program in balance with the budget, it was necessary to stop curb and gutter.

"In order to keep our overhead down we are installing curb and gutter in River Acres subdivision. Inasmuch as the property owners are paying this full amount of this project, it will keep a few employees working and also cut down on our overhead expenses.

Dr. McFarland Heard By 300

"Christ is the greatest man that lived," stated Dr. Kenneth McFarland, who spoke at the all-congregation Presbyterian dinner held Wednesday, Oct. 20 in the union hall.

Dr. McFarland, educational consultant and lecturer for General Motors Corp., said:

"He was the greatest salesman, the greatest teacher, the greatest speaker, the greatest philosopher, and the greatest leader. Christ exemplified the enduring formula of service ahead of self."

Admitting that there is no substitute for skill in a vocation, Dr. McFarland stated that the main reasons for people being fired out of factory jobs are laziness, poor health, poor personalities, bad dispositions, intemperance, dishonesty, immorality, disloyalty and talkativeness.

"In church or Sunday school a child may be getting his best vocational training," he continued, "for man must first be a good man and then he can succeed in the field he chooses.

"The attributes of the good man must include graciousness, good manners, courtesy, honesty, and a recognition of the importance of each individual person with whom one comes in contact."

Dr. McFarland was introduced by the Rev. George E. Walworth. Grace was sung by Miss Marcella Gillespie, accompanied by Betty Day. The dinner was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and served by high school young people of the Presbyterian Church.

Cubs Lose, 13-6

St. Elizabeth's Cubs almost came home Saturday with a tied ball game. The Cubs made the tying touchdown during the last two minutes of play. It seems as though the little Wolverines had some of the game drive that the big Wolverines manifested on Saturday afternoon and just wouldn't let us come home with the tied score. The final score was Ann Arbor 13, St. Elizabeth's 6.

Bob Davila and John Aho did a fine job of tackling on Saturday. Bob really played a marvelous game of ball. Coach Jack Osburn never saw any of the players give such an all-around performance.

Game time for the Cubs this Saturday is 2:30 p. m. on the athletic field here at home.

Yale Leland Kerby A Candidate For Circuit Court Commissioner

Yale Leland Kerby's name will appear on the non-partisan ballot for Circuit Court Commissioner for Lenawee County, Nov. 2. Mr. Kerby is a 1943 graduate of Tecumseh High School and resided in Tecumseh for 15 years before moving to Monroe in Aug. 1952, to assume the law practice of the late Judge Bernard Williamson.

He states that the duties of circuit court commissioner are to assist the circuit judge in taking testimony, to entertain summary proceedings, to recover possession of land, such as evictions and land contract foreclosures.

Mr. Kerby also says that it is essential that the new circuit court commissioner cooperate with the circuit judge and work with the bar association to expedite justice.

In the 1951 Mr. Kerby has conducted very vigorous "Get Out to Vote" campaigns. He urges everyone to go to the polls and vote this coming Tuesday.

Mrs. Whelan Tells Business Women Of Hawaiian Trip

Thirty-seven members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and their five guests, Mrs. Herbert Murphy and Mrs. Hoyt Whelan had dinner at tables decorated with fall flowers Monday evening at the Pythian Hall. The hostesses were Mrs. B. E. Bross, Miss Mabel Hamblin and Miss Ruth Bowen.

During the business meeting Miss Maxine Rank was appointed as committee woman for the Brownie Scout troop sponsored by the club.

The resignation of Miss Ruth Hanchas as club parliamentarian was "regretfully" accepted and Mrs. Gertrude Spaulding appointed to fill the vacancy.

Announcement was made of the Fall meeting of the County Federation of Women's Clubs to be held Nov. 3 at the Adrian Library and the club members were invited by Mrs. Herbert Murphy, representing the Monday Club, to attend the Nov. 1 dinner meeting at the Baptist Youth House when the speaker will be the radio personality, Austin Grant.

Judges for the community Hallowe'en party, all of whom are from the club, were then announced and include Mrs. Howard Truesdale, Mrs. Lillian Butterfield, Mrs. A. W. Porter, Mrs. Purnell Osburn, Mrs. Ray Slayter, Miss Alice Randall, Mrs. Edna Staulter, Mrs. J. M. Artman, Mrs. Paul Maves, Mrs. M. G. Partridge, Mrs. Frank Laskey and Mrs. Margaretta Brisbin.

An invitation to club members to attend the "Romance of Furs" in Adrian Nov. 9 was read and a request from the Junior Chamber of Commerce for a club donation to the Community Fund led to $5.00 being voted for that purpose.

The program in charge of Mrs. Fay Whelan and Mrs. Purnell Osburn was opened with an auction which netted $15.15 and suggestions for raising additional funds included birthday penny donations and a traveling basket. Mrs. Hoyt Whelan was then introduced and told of her trip to Hawaii last spring where she attended a meeting of the American Hospital Association. She described the vegetation of the country and told something of the people, showing colored pictures to illustrate the beauty of the setting.

The November meeting of the club will be a visit to the Clinton Woolen Mills, which will follow dinner at the Pythian Hall served at the usual time.

More People Will Benefit By New Social Security

According to Raymond C. Backus, Manager of the District Office of the Social Security Administration, the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act have made the program's coverage almost universal.

The extension of coverage is automatic for almost seven million of these brought into the program after 1954. For about three and three quarter million men and women coverage is available on the basis of group agreements or individual agreements beginning Jan. 1, 1955. The total number of people newly covered by old-age and survivors insurance protection, either automatically or through agreements, is over ten million.

Over three and a half million farm operators will begin earning their social security credits. For those farmers whose gross earnings are under $1800, the new law provides a simplified procedure. Over two million farm employees who couldn't meet the "regularly-employed" test under the old law will be covered since the test has been abolished.

The "regularly-employed" test for private household workers has been abolished also and this will bring about 250,000 more domestic workers into the program. More persons performing casual labor (service not the course of the employer's trade or business) are included on the same basis as the domestic workers.

Approximately 50,000 more casual laborers will meet the same test—$50 cash wages in a three month period from the same employer—as the domestic under the new law. The professional self-employed people who will be under the program after 1954 are engineers, accountants, architects and funeral directors. The total number of this group is about 100,000. Still not included under social security are lawyers, dentists, physicians and members of such medical professions as veterinarians, chiropractors, optometrists. Home industrial workers will be covered whether they are licensed or not, bringing about 100,000 more of these workers under the program.

About three and a half million state and local government workers who are already under a state or local retirement system may be brought into the program without losing their existing retirement system, at the option of the State.

About 250,000 ministers and Christian Science practitioners (except those members of the clergy who have taken the vow of poverty) may bring themselves into the program by filing a certificate indicating their desire to be covered. This coverage is on an optional basis and will apply to ministers whether they are employed or self-employed. In either case they will be considered self-employed for social security purposes.

The district office of the Social Security Administration is located in the County Building at Jackson, Michigan.

Many Pheasants, Few Partridge – Says Naturalist

High with pheasants and low with partridge—that's Michigan's hunting forecast, acording to a University of Michigan faculty member, Warren W. Chase, chairman of the U-M wildlife management department.

The state's pheasant population will be high this year, he says, with Southern Michigan's higher than in most years. "It is known that the bird will be abundant in the Saginaw Valley area," he continues, "and there also should be excellent hunting in Southeastern Michigan, particularly between Ann Arbor and Toledo."

The professor bases his claims on the fact that the state has had two rather easy winters, plus a good spring which enabled pheasants to hatch and rear their young in fairly dry places.

He points out that the best hunting places for the birds are in cornfields and rocky, sandy and abandoned areas of land, grown waist high with herbaceous weeds and grasses."

"Southern Michigan is fortunate that the pheasant crop is high this year," Professor Chase says, "for the grouse hunting will be poorer than usual." He adds, though, that although grouse numbers will be low in the northern forest areas, it will be high in scattered swampy woodlot spots such as those abundant in Central and Southern Michigan.

Usually the northern area has the highest partridge population, the professor explains, but at times of low population cycles, margin areas such as the mentioned swamplands will have the highest number.

"Michigan is very fortunate in that its Department of Conservation keeps open season on grouse, even when not abundant," he states, "as this allows hunters to continue the sport even during the poor years." The decline in population is due to the partridge's ten-year cycle. he continues, adding that it has been found that the open season does not have an appreciable effect on population fluctuations.

Professor Chase explains that partridge are forest birds which live only in shrubby or wooded areas and are not found in corn or grain producing areas as are the pheasants.

Both are white meat birds, with a slight wild flavor, Professor Chase points out, but there is not a strong gamey taste. The meat is like that of a spring chicken, he adds, and, thus, the birds can be baked or fried, depending on choice.

Christian Science Services Listed

How God's infinite love for man redeems man from sin by destroying sin and revealing man's divine, sinless nature, will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday. The Lesson-Sermon is entitled "Everlasting Punishment."

Among the passages from the Bible will be read the story of the Prodigal Son, including his forgiveness and his welcome back to his fathers house, as told in Chapter 15 of Luke's gospel.

The following selection on the overcoming of sin will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (327:9-13):

"Evil is sometimes a man's highest conception of right, until his grasp on good grows stronger. Then he loses pleasure in wickedness, and it becomes his torment. The way to escape the misery of sin is to cease sinning. There is no other way."

The Golden Text is from Psalms (130:7): "Let Israel hope in the Lord: for with the Lord there is mercy, and with him is plenteous redemption."

What Your Health Dept. Does

Have you ever wondered what the duties are of the county health department and how much work the department does in a year?

We have wondered about both parts of this question and now our questions have been answered by the personnel of the health department with this statistical information that covers from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 of this year:

Two thousand and two children were given Salk Vaccine during the polio vaccination program this spring; 78 of those children gave blood for the study; 585 visits were made in the interest of tuberculosis; 47 cases, contacts and suspects were admitted to the tuberculosis service; 12 cases were admitted; 206 normal people reported as being x-rayed; 125 visits were made to infants; 252 visits were made to preschool children; 989 children were given topical fluoride treatments this summer; 573 visits were made to school age children; 750 visits made to schools; 617 teacher interviews were made; 135 crippled children admitted to nursing service; 351 visits were made to crippled children; 18 visits were made to children with heart conditions; four visits were made to children with cancer; 146 visits were made to adults with cancer, heart conditions, crippling conditions and diabetes; 783 home visits made; 159 talks and lectures given; 934 office consultations and interviews were held; 56 meetings attended in county out of hours; and 68 meetings attended in county within hours.

In the sanitation department these cases were inspected: Food handling, 365; milk plants, 87; producer farms, 145; schools, 121; resorts, 43; trailer parks, 7; nuisances, 36; water and sewage disposal, 347; and others 157.

These cases totaled 1308.

In education the department offered three courses of instruction and 15 talks and lectures were given.

Real Community Workers

By now most of us in the Tecumseh area have been contacted by solicitors for the 1954 Community Chest Fund.

They are busy folks but they have dropped their day-to-day tasks to take a moment to think of their fellow men.

For their unselfish devotion to a thankless task and for their contribution to their community, all of us owe them a vote of thanks.

Remember To Vote Monday

Next Tuesday is an important day in the lives of all of us. It is election day. This is the day when Americans go to the polls to vote for candidates of their choice.

It is one of the finest and most important privileges that we Americans enjoy.

Yet, thousands stay away from the polls every election and not even a reminder such as this can budge them to go and use the finest tool that they as citizens can enjoy.

Personally, we have yet to see anything that will give us a thrill like voting does.

Why Do We Do Such Things?

Once Bismark went to call on the Russian Czar Alexander. He noticed a sentry standing on guard in the middle of the lawn, and he asked the Czar why the sentry was there.

The Czar said he didn't know but he would ask his aide. The aide didn't know either but said he would ask the captain of the Palace Guard.

The Captain didn't know but said he would investigate the matter. After three days he returned to the Czar with his report. When Catherine the Great was Empress of Russia, he said, she noticed a daffodil blooming in the middle of the lawn. Afraid that someone might pick it, she ordered a sentry to be placed there day and night. And a sentry had been placed there day and night for the next 80 years . . . just because it got to be habit and nobody thought to question it!

Perhaps some of our habits are not as silly as that above; but they can be downright dumb—if we are honest with ourselves. Habits can work for us or against us. Good habits or bad habits, life saving habits or death dealing habits.

"The price of $8,000 seems fair," I said to Mr. White who wanted to sell his house recently. "But even though you and I agree on this figure, the real test is what a buyer will pay for it. Let's keep an open mind and see what happens."

The house didn't sell readily. The age and style of the home held it back.

Finally, an older couple made us a cash offer of $7500.

"I can't quite accept it," Mr. White said. "I still think $8,000 is fair."

"If that's your firm opinion," I replied, "you've outbid the buyer so the place is still yours. As I explained earlier, the final price test is what someone else will pay. In this case, $7500 is it."

"O.K." said Mr. White, "I'll accept the offer if you cut $100 off your commission."

"Sorry," I said with a grin. "You know we can't do that. The best offer we can secure is $7500 with the usual commission. If you don't accept, you are betting the $7500 that you can sell it for $100 more. Don't you think that's a poor bet?"

"Yes," laughed Mr. White, "let's sell it."

MUSIC CLUB HEARS MRS. G. SCHIPPERS

Mrs. George Schippers discussed an interesting period in musical history at the October meeting of the Music Club, last week when she took for her subject the Baroque Period of music. She illustrated her meaning with vocal and piano sketches which included several chants and the singing of "The Lass with the Deliente Air."

Mrs. George Wittrup was hostess and during the business meeting it was voted to purchase two books on musical subjects for the library, one for adults and one for children. In addition to the 21 members present there was one guest, Mrs. Francis Scovel.

After the program the club chorus practiced under the direction of the conductor, Mrs. John McColl. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ellsworth Collins and Mrs. Clarence Brock and it was announced that the next meeting would be at the home of Mrs. W. G. Waldron.

Overcrowded Lunch Room Condition Causes Reorganization of Program

"Again this year, as in the past, parents of children living less than a mile from school who do not allow their children to return home for noon lunch have thrown a tremendous burden upon our overcrowded school system," reports Supt. James McDowell.

"Last year when the problem became serious the parents of all children who eat lunch at school were invited to meet with the superintendent and principals to work out plans for supervising the children during the noon hour. Only about 20 of some 500 parents involved came to the meeting and those who came were all parents of children that ride the busses.

"Not one parent living within the mile area came. However, plans were laid so that parents would assist at noon and with high hopes the program was begun. Within the first week some parents forgot to come and after a few weeks the noon supervision was right back in the laps of the teachers.

"The children have to be supervised at noon and the problem is essentially a school problem as far as bus children are concerned. However, it is the large number of city children who should go home for lunch and whose parents send them to school for all day who are responsible for the present problem. All children have a happier and more effective afternoon if allowed to go home for lunch and return.

"The teachers, too, deserve such a break. A teacher who has 25 to 40 elementary children all morning and stays through the noon hour, eating with the children and supervising them, does not do as effective a job in the afternoon as one who goes out for lunch and has a little time to relax and prepare for the afternoon. It should be unnecessary for teachers to serve at noon but even though outside help has been secured to some extent, the program has left much to be desired.

"It is hoped that parents of children who live less than a mile from school will try to have their children come home for lunch, thereby giving both their children and the school a break.

"New plans have been formulated to try to improve the present noon supervision program and this program will begin Monday, Oct. 25. There will be a teacher and custodian in charge of the 4th, 5th and 6th grade pupils who bring lunches and they will assemble in the Central auditorium to eat.

"After they have eaten and cleaned up the area they will go to the gym or out on the playground under the same supervision and remain until school calls. The 1st, 2nd, and 3rd grades will meet with a teacher and custodian in the gym and play until 12:40 when they will move to the auditorium to eat, still under the same supervision. Elementary pupils wishing to go to the cafeteria will be escorted to and from the high school by a teacher and will be supervised by a high school and grade teacher while there.

"Junior and senior high pupils will eat in the cafeteria or lunch room supervised by a custodian and teacher and when lunch is over proceed to the gym which will be under the supervision of another teacher.

"At West Branch the group of bus children who eat lunches is small and will be under the supervision of the custodian. Since all children who attend Patterson live less than three quarters of a mile from school, the children must go home for lunch.

"We know that this program will be adequate providing parents of children living in town will cooperate by allowing their children to come home for lunch. If it proves unsuccessful perhaps the only solution is to make an adbitrary boundary, children within which may not stay at school to eat lunch. We hope this will not be necessary."

Highway Maps Are Available

The Second Edition of the 1954 Official State Highway map, prepared by the State Highway Department, is now available for distribution to the public, Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler announces.

The new map may be obtained by writing to the Public Information division of the Highway Department, at Lansing, or by calling at the Michigan Highway Department Tourist Information centers, which are located at Menominee on US-41, on US-12 south of New Buffalo and on US-24 near Erie, south of Monroe. The map also is available by calling at one of the Highway Department district offices, which are located in Crystal Falls, Newberry, Cadillac, Alpena, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Kalamazoo and Redford.

On the back of the map is a large sectional map of the Metropolitan Detroit and surrounding area, a transcontinental map giving distances and driving times between principal cities of the country, and a number of signs similar to those on state highways and city streets to encourage safe driving habits among motorists.

The back of the map also contains the 1954 Michigan State Ferry schedules, and lists showing the location of the State Parks, Recreational Areas, Historical Sites, State Fish Hatcheries, Trout Rearing Stations, National and State Forests, Game Project Areas, Public Fishing Sites, state land open to hunting and fishing, Conservation Department district headquarters, State Police posts, an index to cities and an index to county seats and counties.

Rep. Meader Urges People To Vote Nov. 2

Rep. George Meader (R) Mich., today issued a "get out the vote" appeal to voters throughout Michigan's Second Congressional District.

Meader, seeking re-election Nov. 2 to his third term in Congress, noted:

"Statistics show that voters traditionally stay away from the polls in droves at off-year election time.

"However, never in national history has voter strength been needed at the polls as much as this year."

Meader called on voters to reaffirm their faith in democracy by casting a ballot next week and added:

"Men and women throughout history have died for the right to guide their destinies . . . to have a hand in shaping their government."

At the same time, Meader expressed conviction that President Eisenhower has gathered together the finest executive team since 1932, a team pledged to cooperate fully with the nation's legislative branch.

He declared:

"For 20 years the executive gradually assumed much in dictatorial power without resorting to consultation with the people's elected representatives.

"But a healthy, progressive atmosphere has been created in recent months by which only the people can benefit."

FRIENDS CHURCH ACTIVITIES

Recent activities of the Friends church include a most successful Sunday School party Saturday night. One hundred members of the Intermediate and Young Adult classes met for a hay ride and wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson, north of Ridgeway. It required two tractor drawn farm wagons to convey the party to the Johnson farm.

Friday evening there was an "after the game" party at the church for the young people, 21 of whom gathered for games and refreshments, and Tuesday the Quaker Fellowship Class met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Copeland on the Clinton-Macon road.

FIDDLESTICKS CLUB

Patriotic music was the theme of the October program of the Fiddlesticks Club at their meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Betty, Nancy and Susan Day. Twenty-two were present and during the business meeting it was decided that Oct. 25 and 26 were to be initiation days for new members of the club.

The group then participated in the following program: "Yankee Doodle" by Gerald Kruse, clarinet and Gary Abner, drums; "America," Sharon Fielder and Sharon Muhn, cornets; "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Sylvia Busche, piano; "America the Beautiful," Isabell McCombs, piano; "Marche Militaire," Susan Day, piano; the "Gladiators," Nancy Day, cornet and Betty Day, piano.

These and other patriotic songs were then discussed and sung by the entire group as the conclusion of the evening's entertainment.

The Fiddlesticks will meet with Donna Skinner for their November meeting.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Jesus recognized the universe as God's Home and all the people in it as his children. His values are the values of the home, his virtues are the virtues of the home, his requirements are the requirements of the home. His teaching is instruction about joyous life in the home, about right relationships with the Father and the brethren.

The ethic of Jesus is absolutely inseparable from his religion. His way of life is practicable only because God eagerly offers guidance and power. To remove God is to destroy the foundation of the home and to make the teaching of Jesus a counsel of perfection. But one reality of God is felt, the values and virtues of the home are easily recognized as the most real and the most precious.

Our minds readily assent to these truths but we find great difficulty in adjusting ourselves to life in the invisible world of the spirit, to sense the actual presence of God and to experience vital intercommunication with him.

Our habits of life are against us; we are overstimulated to satisfy physical cravings; we are so thoroughly enmeshed in the customs and habits of our society; we are so full of anxiety and fear, that God is crowded out or relegated to a trivial place in our lives.

And there is no hope for us until we take the time required for concentration on God, for the nurture of our spirits, practicing fellowship with people.

We must learn to be at home in the invisible world of the spirit. This calls for times of escape from the deafening noise of feverish activity, of release from crushing strain and ruinous tension. It takes time to be holy, to speak often with our Lord. But lens must be laid down if strength is to be had for carrying them.

Mrs. Scott Joins Soldier Husband

CLARK AFB—Master Sergeant Charles N. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Scott of Pearl street, Tecumseh, has been recently joined by his wife, Mrs. Violet F. Scott, at his present station with the U.S. Air Force in the Philippines. Mrs. Scott made the trip to the Islands on board the U. S. Naval Transport General Ainsworth.

During their stay overseas, the Scotts are going to reside at the military dependents housing area at Clark Air Force Base, where the sergeant is presently stationed.

Sergeant Scott joined the U. S. Air Force in Nov., 1940, and has been in continuous military service ever since. During World War II, he served in England, France and Germany. While in England, he met Mrs. Scott.

thoroughly informed and aware of our unusual opportunities.

Through the vision and cooperation of these powers Tecumseh can become one of the outstanding centers for rehabilitation in the country. As residents of this community we should share with pride and anticipation the striking advantages and developments which this progress will bring to us all.

Of course, we of the church are ever concerned with any wholesome medium to free the spirit of man. We therefore heartily favor the great contribution physio-therapy constitutes toward the total health of man—for just to live is not enough.

Rev. Walworth Cites Work Of Mrs. Will's Rehabilitation Center

Although unknown to a great share of the populace of Tecumseh, we live in one of the most unique health centers of the country. We enjoy one of the finest small hospitals, staffed by some of the most dedicated and competent physicians and nurses in the world. Yet, the challenging developments which make our situation the most striking is the growing integration and use of psychosomatic medicine and physiotherapy.

For some years Mrs. Hilda Will has been recognized as a pioneer in the field of rehabilitation. Now we in Tecumseh, and a goodly part of the surrounding area, have at our very finger-tips the equal of the best facilities in this relatively new concept of treatment.

The work which is now possible through Tecumseh's new hospital, the local medical profession, and the rehabilitation center of Mrs. Will's brings together the most complete medical service available today. Because of these tremendous developments concerning the welfare of this locale we of Tecumseh need be

Outstanding Phys. Ed. Provided By Public Schools

Tecumseh Public Schools are now providing one of the most complete and outstanding physical education programs in Michigan for children at the later elementary and secondary levels, reports Supt. James McDowell.

Beginning with the fourth grade and running through the sixth, small classes of boys and girls are taught by teachers of the same sex for approximately a half hour per day. These groups receive training in physical activities as well as in matters of health.

A part of this program includes showers for all once per week only, for there are still not adequate facilities for daily showers for elementary children, nor are they deemed necessary in most cases.

Tecumseh schools no longer have the service of a school nurse to check personal cleanliness and, therefore, this responsibility falls upon the physical education department, since no where else is there the opportunity to disrobe children.

Showers provide this opportunity to teach cleanliness and it is not necessary, therefore, to single individuals from their group to take showers alone. The children see other children with clean garments and if theirs are not clean will encourage their parents to provide clean clothing.

Group showers at an early age for children of the same sex help to satisfy natural curiosity concerning others and to eliminate any shock which may come to children at a later age, since all must take showers eventually, beginning with the seventh grade.

The children see that there are no essential differences among children, regardless of color or race. Showers also encourage a feeling of oneness with their group and the children enjoy showers together very much.

Each child must provide his or her own towel and shower cap if desired. Should any parent feel that showers are detrimental to a child's health and desire to withdraw the child from the program, he has only to get his family doctor's certificate to that effect. Only a physician is qualified to determine this matter. This program has received high praise by parents and children since its inception last spring.

The junior high program consists of an hour per day in health and physical education activities and showers are required each day under the same rules as for elementary children.

In addition, coaches are provided for weight teams in football and the boys are equipped with adequate football suits. The boys do not play teams from other schools but concentrate on practice and games between their own teams comprised of boys of the same approximate weight.

All boys are covered by Michigan State Athletic Association insurance and are governed by state association rules.

In basketball coaches are provided for both seventh and eighth grade teams which represent the school and play games with other schools. In addition, there is an intramural program provided for all.

The senior high program is based upon health and physical education in daily classes and the periods are of one hour length, including the required shower. In addition, there are reserve and varsity football, and basketball, varsity baseball, track, and golf and intramural basketball for all boys. The girls have a Girls' Athletic Association and have a program for an hour and half in the evening once a week. In addition there are Varsity Club activities, completing a well rounded program for all children.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

A STORY BY ALLAN SEAGER, originally entitled "Mary Vincent and the Convict" was televised Sunday evening on the Loretta Young show. Published several months ago in Good Housekeeping magazine, it portrays the thinking and reactions of a young Girl Scout and it was used at this time in connection with the birthday anniversary of Juliet Low, the founder of Scouting. Mr. Seager, who lives on W. Chicago Blvd. and is the author of several books and many stories, is also the father of a Girl Scout.

AFTER COMING TO THE table dirty, a small Tecumseh boy was sent to the bathroom to wash his hands. His father happened by the open bathroom door to find his son scrubbing his hands vigorously and mumbling: "Germs and Santa Claus is all we hear around this house but we never see any of them."

THE GUY WAS HAVING a rough time. He thought he was a dog. He ate bones from a plate and instead of going to bed at night he curled up on the rug. He was dog gone. Finally friends asked him to see a psychiatrist. He did and after months of treatment he began to recover, or so he thought. One day a friend met him on the street and, after remarking how well he looked, he asked the man how he felt. The fellow who for months thought he was a dog replied: "Oh, great, just feel my nose."

THE LINING HAS two season tickets to the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago Nov. 26 to Dec. 4. They are free for the asking.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "It's amazing how fast a man's whole conscience begins to unravel the minute a stitch is dropped."

THE BOOK OF AMERICAN INDIANS, a very colorful and informative treatment on famous American Indians was brought in by W. G. Waldron. There is a lot of space devoted to Chief Tecumseh. Summarized, the article said "Tecumseh, a Shawnee chief, spent his life trying by peace and war to form an Indian nation." He is illustrated wearing his English brigadier general's army uniform.

ELECTION WORKERS did a grand job. By 8:45 the vote was totaled in precinct 1 and precinct 2 workers, with a much larger precinct, had their vote totaled by 9:20.

IF SOME FOLKS STAYED away from the polls Tuesday it wasn't the fault of T. J. Wagner. He was out bright and early in a sound truck reminding them to vote — and early to avoid the crowds.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Let mildness ever attend thy tongue.

Fund Drive Extended To Nov. 8

Seventy-five per cent of the Tecumseh Community Fund's $16,628 goal has been turned in, reports Jack Osburn, president of the Jaycees.

Jaycees and volunteer solicitors have collected $12,471 to date.

The porch-light drive held last Friday night netted $90.

President Osburn said the drive will be extended to Nov. 8.

Folks not yet contacted, may mail their donations to the Community Fund, % Jack Osburn, Tecumseh, or the donations may be left with Merlyn Downing at the United Savings Bank.

Meanwhile, officers of the fund were re-elected Thursday night. They are Mrs. Frank K. Smith, president; John R. Thompson, vice-president; the Rev. Edward Escolme, secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Richard Preston, corresponding secretary.

A $1,304 grant from the emergency fund was voted for Tecumseh civil defense. The fund will be used for a two-way communication radio base unit for the police department, first aid materials and maintenance expense for a meeting place in the Sage Building. The board also voted $300 for the Lenawee County Humane Society.

George Kilbourn, chief of police, is director of civil defense here.

Ill Two Days, Britton Youth Dies

Albert Wayne Sharp, 17, died Monday at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Robey, Jr., of Britton, two days after he was taken ill.

A junior at Britton-Macon High School, he was active in FFA and school sports.

In addition to his parents, Roy Sharp, Muskegon, and Mae Robey of Britton, he is survived by his brother Ray LaVern and his sister Sharon Lee and his half-sister Beverly Ann Robey, all at home, and by his step-grandmother Chloe Sharp of Liberty Center Ohio; and by his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Loyd of Ridgeway; and several aunts and uncles.

Witches Hobbled On Hallowe'en

Police Chief George Kilbourn reported very little rowdyism over Hallowe'en and he thanked Tecumseh's young folks for their cooperation.

The lack of many pranks was attributed to the two parties held for young folks.

At the preschool through the sixth grade party costumes were clever and prizes were awarded as follows: pre-school age, Trudy Curtiss, Loretta Schlegel and Linda Lask; kindergarten, Debbie Lee Cheever, Fred Csokasy and Bill Conklin; first grade, Janice Reed, Raymond Stuart and Carolyn Tonneberger; second grade, Chuck Randolph, Jill Townsend and Marvin Grigg; third grade, Terry Beland, Susan Whitney and Tracy Oliver; fourth grade, Diane Ditzner and Sharon Martin, Nancy Nixon and Ann Metcalf, and Timmy Sisson; fifth grade, Nancy Beland, Bruce Parrett, and Robert Bonner, and Carol Ann Greenburg, David Weakly and Leo Pask.

$200 FOR UN

About $200 was collected during the United Nations trick or treat collections made by children of various churches Saturday.

It's Homecoming

Tonight at the recreation field a pep meeting will be held at 7:30. The school band and cheer leaders will lead a parade to the four main corners of town where another pep meeting will be held.

Friday is the big parade at 2 p. m. Floats made by members of the junior and senior high classes will be judged and prizes awarded. Judges are Mrs. Florence Howe, Mrs. Yale Kerby and Mrs. George French.

This is the order of the parade: band, queen candidates and floats of 12th, 11th, 10th, 9th, 8th and 7th grades. Behind the floats members of the faculty will ride in cars. Makers of the floats will walk beside their floats.

The parade will form on Maumee street at the high school, turn on Chicago and march west to Maiden Lane where it will turn and march down Chicago, going east to the four corners, then north to the recreation field.

The name of the queen will not be announced until between halves of the ball game Friday night.

The queen will be crowned at the dance after the football game. John Cadmus, a back on the team and president of the student council, which is sponsoring the homecoming, will present her a gift from the student council.

Mason Centennial Attended By 800

Eight hundred Masons turned out Saturday night for the centennial observation of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69, F. & A. M. and 450 attended the dinner honoring the occasion in the Baptist, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches and in the Masonic Temple.

Howard L. Taylor, Grand Master, of Flint, gave the address at the high school and Lansing Lodge No. 33 F. & A. M. exemplified the Master Mason degree on C. Wendell Scutt.

Between the dinner and program, a parade, led by the Tecumseh High School band, was held.

Masons from 12 other Michigan cities attended.

George McCombs was general chairman for the centennial. He was assisted by six Past Masters of the lodge.

Indians Lose Game, 19-7; And Larned

Tecumseh High lost more than the football game at Hudson last Friday. Besides losing the game, 19-7, the team also lost Ray Larned, rugged two-way regular center who also punted. The sophomore lineman broke his ankle after making a tackle early in the second quarter.

Ray also was counted on by Coach Vic Lawson to give some help on the cage team this winter, but he now will get a late start.

Hudson held a 7 0 lead at the half, scoring after a 45-yard drive. Ames rammed over from the two for the score. And Blurton ran the extra point.

In the third Hudson's star full back Sweezey rambled 20 yards for a td. The attempt at running the extra point failed.

The Tigers clawed 53 yards in the last period with Redding dashing in on a sneak from the two. The extra point again failed.

The Indians hit the scoring column in the last period with Gary Marsh scoring from five yards out. He set up the score with a 35-yard dash. Richie Davis ran the extra point.

Coach Les Runk also has lost George Tilton, defensive end, for the season. He hasn't played since the Bedford game. He suffered a dislocated shoulder in practice prior to the Airport game and his doctor advises him to give up football.

The senior end will be replaced by Bill Browne.

Coach Runk, with a thin bench all season, had 27 on the varsity squad at the beginning of the year. The squad is now down to 20.

He believes, however, that Tecumseh can take Hillsdale if the Indians play the brand of ball they played in earlier games. Using one game as a comparison, he said: "We lost to Monroe Catholic Central, league leaders, by one touchdown. Hillsdale lost to Monroe by three."

Owen Partridge Breaks Ankle

Owen Partridge, 501 W. Chicago, broke his left ankle in two places while at work at the Partridge Implement Co. last Friday afternoon.

57 Per Cent Vote In City of Tecumseh

Tecumseh city voters voted Republican by a 2-1 majority Tuesday—passed three amendments and turned down the bingo proposal. Those voting totalled 1738, about 57 per cent of the 3056 registered voters. Precinct one had 673 voters and 26 absentee voters and precinct two had 1065 voters and 32 absentee voters. Each precinct had two voided votes. In the Governor's race Leonard led Williams 1118 to 599 in the total vote.

School Bells Will Ring For Parents

As part of American Education Week, Tecumseh junior and senior high school teachers are planning a new and different program for parents next Thursday, Nov. 11.

Teachers are inviting all parents to visit school and attend all the classes their children do.

Parents are asked to be at school by 7 p.m. when they will go to the same home-room their children have. During the home-room period they will get a schedule of their children's classes and get acquainted with teachers and other parents. And the home-room program will be explained. Parents will be free to ask questions.

The periods will run 12 minutes each with three minutes for parents to get to their next class.

This is the schedule: home-room, 7 to 7:12; first hour, 7:15 to 7:27; second hour, 7:30 to 7:42; third hour, 7:45 to 7:57; fourth hour, 8 to 8:12; sixth hour, 8:15 to 8:27; seventh hour, 8:30 to 8:42; and refreshments, 8:45 to 9:30.

The high school PTA will furnish refreshments and in the remaining time a general discussion will be held until 9:30.

To give this program more publicity, home-rooms are conducting a poster contest for American Education Week. Prizes will be given for the best posters. And a contest will be held in the home-rooms to see which one will get the largest number of parents to attend.

Most pedestrians know they should cross at intersections, especially where painted cross-walks are placed for their protection. But, when coming out of a store in the middle of a block, with the next store to be visited directly across the street, down to the intersection and back looks like an awfully long detour.

Make allowance for human nature. Be on the lookout for occasional pedestrian violators who cross in the middle of the block. Ignoring pedestrian errors can be as fatal as ignoring motorist errors.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON DEFENSE BONDS

In the October issue of Argus Eyes, Andy Argus answered the letter of an employee of Argus Cameras, Inc., who said if it was possible he'd like to know just what a $25, $50 and $100 bond would be worth each year for 10 years after maturity.

No doubt there are some Tecumseh folks who have wondered this same thing. If you are one who cashes bonds in shortly after you purchase them, study this table and see what you can save by letting them mature, and then holding them after maturity date.

You will find that bonds held beyond maturity provide a 3% investment yield up to 10 years more.

HERE'S HOW MUCH SERIES E DEFENSE BONDS ARE WORTH WHEN THEY ARE HELD PAST THE MATURITY DATE

Period after	Redemption Value of Series E Bonds
Maturity Date	$25 Bond	$50 Bond	$100 Bond
6 months	$25.38	$50.75	$101.50
1 year	25.75	51.50	103.00
1-1/2 years	26.13	52.25	104.50
2 years	26.50	53.00	106.00
2-1/2 years	26.90	53.80	107.60
3 years	27.30	54.60	109.20
3-1/2 years	27.70	55.40	110.80
4 years	28.10	56.20	112.40
4-1/2 years	28.50	57.00	114.00
5 years	28.95	57.90	115.80
5-1/2 years	29.40	58.80	117.60
6 years	29.85	59.70	119.40
6-1/2 years	30.30	60.60	121.20
7 years	30.75	61.50	123.00
7-1/2 years	31.20	62.40	124.80
8 years	31.65	63.30	126.60
8-1/2 years	32.15	64.30	128.60
9 years	32.65	65.30	130.60
9-1/2 years	33.15	66.30	132.60
10 years*	33.67	67.34	134.68

*On Series E Bonds sold after May 1, 1952, this is 9-2/3 years after maturity date instead of 10 years.

Classes On Simplifying Work Will Be Held

Free classes in work-simplification techniques, to teach homemakers how to conserve their time and energy while doing their daily household tasks, will be offered in Lenawee county by the Michigan Heart Association, according to Frank VanSchoick, M.D., president of the association.

The Lenawee County Cooperative Extension Service is cooperating with the heart association in bringing the program to this area.

The work-simplification classes, which are a free community service of the Michigan Heart Association, are designed to fill the doctor's prescription of "take it easy" by showing homemakers how to save as much as 75 per cent of her walking, 75 per cent of her movements and 60 per cent of her reaching. This tremendous saving of time and energy means lessening the strain placed on the heart by reducing the physical effort expended by the housewife.

The course of instruction is available to any woman in the community, but cardiac patients will be given first listing.

Mrs. Ruth Kettunen, representative of the Michigan Heart Association, will conduct the classes.

Each homemaker will be able to attend four (two hour) demonstration-lecture classes which will be held in Tecumseh on Mondays, Nov. 8, 15 and 22. The classes will meet in the Tecumseh high school home economics room from 2 to 4 p. m.

Cardiac homemakers in Lenawee county may write to Miss Josephine A. Brighenti, home demonstration agent, court house, Adrian or call her office at Adrian 188 for complete details and application blanks for the classes.

The cardiac homemakers' program is made possible by the Michigan Heart Association through funds received from "United" fund-raising campaigns in many Michigan communities.

A FRANK STATEMENT ABOUT LOANS---

How they are made and why they are sometimes turned down

Your money is at stake

Most of the money in banks is money that belongs to the public — money that you deposit in your bank. Bankers, therefore, must see to it that this money of YOURS is lent out only when there's an excellent prospect of its being paid back. That's why occasionally some loan applications are turned down.

Bankers naturally like to lend money. That's their principal source of income. They'll take a considered risk, but they can't afford to take a chance with other people's money. It speaks well for American business and the individual American that the great majority of loan applications are granted. When you hear someone growl about being turned down, ask yourself this question:

"Would I be willing to risk my own money on this promise to pay?"

You might or you might not. Bankers make mistakes, too. But the difference between a bank and an individual is that a bank has to have a high batting average in order to stay in business. You may not always agree with the banker, but of this you can be constantly certain: his decisions are based on bedrock financial experience and good old fashioned horse sense.

Last Cruise for a Captured Sub

In one of the most heroic naval engagements of World War II, officers and men of Rear Admiral Dan Gallery's Task Force 22.3 boarded and captured Nazi submarine U-505. Fast action saved sub as it was about to sink. (Inset) Towed to Chicago from Portsmouth, N. H. Navy yards, sub was placed in floating drydock and beached at 97th Street and the Outer Drive in Chicago. Sub was rolled off to tracks on this temporary pier. Tracks extended from pier end to Outer Drive.

When breakers threatened to wash away cribbing supporting beached sub, International TD-24 crawler tractor was brought in, bladed sand into nine-foot-high protective dike.

Jacked up four and one-half feet above beach pier, sub was then rolled across Outer Drive to permanent exhibition site at the east wing of Chicago's Museum of Science and Industry. Actual capture of sub took less than 20 minutes. Moving it to final berth, a distance of 647 feet, took 40 days. (Inset) Present for dedication ceremonies were Rear Admiral Gallery and Commander Arthur Godfrey, USNR.

He restoreth your soul...

Here's Dave Judson and Bill Miller. Good friends for a good many years now. They hardly ever "talk" religion—they just always find time to get to Services each week.

There's Susan Brown. She's brought Mary Lou up all alone—her daddy was killed in the war. Susan's a slight little thing, but a pillar of strength. And she's not at all ashamed to admit—she leans all right—on the strength of God.

Janet and Bill were married right in this church—and they come back every week. "Just selfishness on our part," Bill says. "After all, our life together got off to a happy start here . . . and we want to keep it that way!"

Worship together this week

And the Wolf family here—will you just look at those boys! They're feeling very grown-up and proud as punch, going to a Service with Mom and Dad.

Pete Taylor sure has grown! Being in the Service has helped him grow up inside, too. As Pete puts it, "A guy's never so big that he wants to go it alone."

We are well blessed. The doors of our churches and synagogues are wide open . . . waiting for us to enter. Set aside a time each week . . . a time apart from the "busyness" of living. You'll find more joy in each day, if you give some time each week to worship.

Ever been a stranger in any town? Then you've known loneliness. And you know how comforting it is to come upon a church or synagogue . . . where the doors are always wide open to everyone.

Large Crowds Attend P.-T.A.'s

Refreshments were served in the gym and general announcements were made by Mrs. Marguerite Garlick, who introduced the other three members of the P.-T.A. committee, Mrs. Bert Updike, Mrs. Herbert Cleveland, and Mrs. Robert Warren.

Parents gathered in their respective children's rooms to listen to a brief survey of the year's work outlined by the teachers.

A similar meeting also was held at Central School on the same night. A large crowd of approximately 300 parents attended the meeting. A discussion was held concerning the subject of future P.-T.A. meetings. The committee in charge was Mrs. Lester Runk, chairman, Mrs. Stephen Illeck, Mrs. Anna Grigg and Mrs. Glenn Green.

P.-T.A. meetings at West Branch School are being planned by a committee of parents in cooperation with the teachers.

The high school P.-T.A. meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 11.

Committees at the various schools were appointed by the P.-T.A. president, Mrs. E. J. Crawford.

It was decided at the last spring meeting of the year to try individual school P.-T.A. meetings.

Since officers already had been elected for the P.-T.A. as a whole, supervising committees for the schools have been appointed by the president to serve during this year.

In the spring an evaluation of the year will be made at which time it will be decided whether to organize permanent P.-T.A.'s at individual schools in the fall of 1955.

Strand Will Show Uncle Tom's Cabin

"Uncle Tom's Cabin", the moving picture classic, will be shown at the Strand Theater in Tecumseh next Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 9 and 10.

No scene in modern screen fare can possibly supply the thrill of that climactic episode in Harriet Beecher Stowe's immortal "Uncle Tom's Cabin," where the runaway slave Eliza, with her small son Harry clasped in her arms, flees across the icy floes of the Ohio River.

With safety envisioned, for herself and the child on the other side of the river, even the frantic pack of bloodhounds, closing in on her very heels, fail to keep her from reaching her goal.

Originally shown in the many stage presentations of the play, the producers had many difficulties in making a realistic picture of this scene. But with the advent of the motion picture era, they have been able to create a picture which supplies every detail of this exciting scene, which only imagination could heretofore supply.

This and many other highly dramatic scenes make "Uncle Tom's Cabin" one of the motion pictures which is justly entitled to a high place in the ranks of famous portrayals of great books and plays. With a cast of thousands and hundreds of scenes that bring back the memory of Civil War days, the picture refreshes the records of those who saw the play years ago, and also gives those of the younger generations an opportunity of getting their first look at this classic.

The many memorable characters throughout the story such as Topsy, Eva, Simon Legree, Marks, the Lawyer, and Uncle Tom, all take their place in the screen version to make "Uncle Tom's Cabin" an outstanding success in pictures as it was on the stage of a hundred years ago, when it was originally presented shortly after the book was written.

Throughout these many years, such has been the appeal and power of this story, that it has remained as fresh and vital in its lesson as the first time it was introduced to the eyes of the world.

WATER AND SEWER HEARING SCHEDULED

A public hearing will be held in the council rooms Monday, Nov. 15, at 8 p.m. for residents of south Union street who are interested in sewer and water installations.

The city, he said, is ready to install water mains, and he believes it is advisable to install sewer ahead of water lines.

Costs of the mains will be discussed at the public hearing.

Cubs Lose Thriller, 18-13

Saturday's game was a thriller for the St. Elizabeth Cubs. At half time the Cubs were leading, 7-6. They again took the lead at the beginning of the fourth quarter after the team from Ann Arbor scored during the third quarter. Offensively, Steve Buku did a fine job. Defensively Dave Weakly fought to make the game a victory for the Cubs. Truly all the Cubs played a good game. Final score was St. Thomas of Ann Arbor 18, St. Elizabeth Cubs 13.

Weather permitting game time will be at 10 a. m. Nov. 6. The Cubs will face Queen of Miraculous Medal School's Football team of Jackson here at home.

What Label Do You Wear?

Labels are useful things, in a grocery store. This can is labelled "BEANS" and beans it contains; that can is labelled "SOUP" and if it's soup you want, there it is and no mistake. Cans, cars, coats, crackers, clam-chowder — almost everything in our land is labelled . . . with the exception of people.

How can you label people in America? Take a man working in a factory. Would you label him "Labor"? He owns his own home, an automobile; he carries life insurance and, from his savings, has bought a few shares of stock. Under the definitions, then, you would also have to label him "Capitalist," for he possesses capital.

Label him "Employee"? He and his wife hire a baby-sitter to come in once a week while they go to the movies; he hires a man to paint his house, or to fix the roof. He employs people, so you could label him "Employer."

Our factory worker now bears the labels of "Labor," "Capital," "Employee," "Employer." He also buys things from the grocery, the clothing and the hardware store —so, label him "Consumer." . . . But the biggest label he wears—and the proudest one he possesses, whenever he stops to think of it —is "Citizen."

We can discard all the rest of the labels, and ony of which is meaningless by and of itself in our country, and keep just the one which applies to every truly loyal American in the land —that is "Citizen."

Girl Scouts Have 13 Active Troops

The Tecumseh Girl Scout Association announces that 13 troops are meeting regularly and that four of these are new Brownie Scouts this year.

Troop No. 2 is without a leader but every effort is being made to secure one as soon as possible. The program is well under way inasmuch as all troops have sponsors and meeting places. The troops are meeting at the scout cabin, in the school buildings, the churches, and the homes.

The following women are leaders and assistant leaders: Mrs. Howard Morris, Mrs. Ogland Lay, Mrs. George Derby, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Edwin Bunge, Mrs. Wilmer Kiser, Mrs. Kenneth McEnroe, Mrs. Frank Robinett, Mrs. Rolland Reister, Mrs. Roger Linger, Mrs. Harry Schuch, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. Phyliss Schriver, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Charles Beland, Mrs. William Snook, Mrs. Lee Prettyman, Mrs. LeRoy Titley, Mrs. Victor Lawson, and Mrs. Wallace Rutherford.

Many of the mothers are acting as committee-women and others are officers of the association.

The organizations which are sponsors this year are the Exchange Club, Golden Rule Division the Presbyterian League the Christian Builders, the Baptist League, Methodist Guild, St. Elizabeth's Altar Society, Lyster League, D.A.R., P.E.O., American Legion Auxiliary, V.F.W. Auxiliary, Child Study Club and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

The association is thankful to the women who gave of their time and energy in order that Tecumseh might have the Girl Scout program and to the organizations for their interest in the matter. There are no paid workers locally but the association provides all materials for the program.

Mrs. T. Rentschler, president of the association, expects to attend the Great Lakes regional conference of the Girl Scouts in Springfield, Ill., next week. Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan make up the Great Lakes region.

On Armistice Day, May We Recall-

". . . the Great Task Remaining . ."

Although November 11, Armistice Day, is a legal holiday in all states, its observance—in moments of silence, decoration of soldier graves, or parades — has not been general since World War II.

Armistice Day, to mark the signing of the truce which ended World War I at 11 a.m., November 11, 1918, was first proclaimed a year later by President Woodrow Wilson "with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory."

"In its very name," notes George R. Stewart in his recent book "American Ways of Life" remarking on the lack of general observance of the day, "there was a prophecy of the future . . . the outbreak of another conflict proved that Armistice Day had indeed celebrated only an armistice."

Perhaps that is why the words of Abraham Lincoln, spoken on another November day and on another battlefield (Nov. 19, 1863, the dedication of the military cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa.) have significance today. Said the martyred President, in closing his memorable address: "It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

SHOP IN TECUMSEH FRIDAY NIGHTS!

"Keep your eye on the ball" is an expression which applies just as much in traffic as in sports. It's double barreled when you try to pass a car along side of a sandlot baseball game. All you need is a foul-ball with a youngster right behind it to set the stage for disaster.

It's not realistic to blame the catcher or the third baseman who goes all out to catch that ball — and perhaps win the game for his team — even if he does end up by running out into the street. The youngster's responsibility to keep off the street is far less than the responsibility of the adult driver to "watch out for kids".

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Autumn came in last week. Officially of course, she had been hanging around for a long time but, like spring, autumn is more a matter of spirit than calendar and that Monday night she really moved in her mind. The next day the late maples were molten gold and the far-a-way oaks made them a royal background against the sunny, purple sky. But to the listening ear, the real herald of autumn sounded the night before. It was the honk of the wild geese who went over on the first rush of the northwest wind. Probably there are those who can hear that sound and not be moved. But if you are a sentimental fool, you find yourself out in the windy dark, getting your feet wet, straining your eyes for a glimpse of that thin line against the stars and sending your feeble "Godspeed" to join that call which seems at once so full of confidence and foreboding.

If you are interested in migratory birds, there is a place within easy driving distance, where—with any luck—you may see plenty of them. This is the Watkins private bird sanctuary west of Manchester and north and west of Iron Creek mill pond. There on a tract of about a thousand acres, which was "taken up" just a hundred years ago by the family of L. W. Watkins, are lakes and swamps and untouched woodland where for years feathered travelers have found safety. A road, once an Indian trail, but now well maintained, winds for miles for the pleasure of those who would come and see. At this time of year and especially in early morning or evening the lakes which lap the roadside are often alive with water fowl.

Much of the timber of the Watkins woods is oak and there the autumn colors linger late and there perhaps, now that we have had "squaw winter", is also a lingering remnant of that elusive season called—

INDIAN SUMMER

Signal fires are beckoning me
In every hilltop's haze;

Calling, luring, tempting me
Through Indian summer days.

And I am part a housewife
Who loves her home, full fair;

But more I am a gypsy
With red leaves in her hair.

The housewife thinks of rugs to clean
Of window panes to shine;

Sees empty jelly glasses, not grapes
On purpling vine;

She feels the touch of winter
In that tangy, smoky air

And knows she ought to "get things done"
But the gypsy doesn't care.

Her rugs are autumn leaves to scuff
In brilliant patterns, gay.

She wants the grape's sweet purple stain
Upon her lips—today.

Her memory's filled with pictures
Of crimson beauty, rare;

It does not bother her one bit
That pantry shelves are bare.

I think my dream of Heaven
Is a land of smoky haze,

With frosty, star-lit, crystal nights
And dreaming golden days

Where all housewives are gypsies
And all their work is through,

A long, long Indian summer
Without one thing to do.

Parochial School Pupils Always Are Eligible To Enroll In Public Schools

Since there have been requests by parents to enroll children from parochial schools in Tecumseh Public Schools even at this late date and because interested citizens have asked for similar information, Superintendent James McDowell clarifies certain matters pertaining to enrollment in the public schools. He reports:

Any child between the ages of 5 and 19 living within Tecumseh District No. 7, is welcome to enroll in the public schools at any time, regardless of previous commitments to parochial schools.

However the public schools lose approximately $150 per child in the elementary school, and $170 per child in the secondary school from state aid if the child is not enrolled by Oct. 2 of this year. This loss amounts to approximately 60 per cent of the per capita cost per year and means that this district must educate the child at an increased cost locally.

Parents wishing to withdraw their children from parochial schools should have done so before Oct. 2 and enrolled them in public schools. Thus, the loss of the state aid would not have occurred.

However, according to school law, these children may enroll in Tecumseh public schools at any time and are tuition free and welcome.

Pupils living outside Tecumseh District No. 7 who have attended parochial schools and drop out will not be accepted in Tecumseh schools unless they pay tuition.

This also is according to school law. It is now past Oct. 2 and too late to report these children to their district boards for payment of tuition.

Thus, these pupils who wish to attend Tecumseh public schools must pay their own tuition.

Grant Stresses Not Who Is Right But What Is Right

"Man must have faith and decide not who is right but what is right in his daily living," stated Austin Grant news editor of CKLW in a lecture Monday night at the dinner meeting of the Monday Club.

"If a man has faith, he has courage," he continued. "If you take faith out, fear falls in place. When a man fears, he hates for he hates all that he fears. Hate is the only human emotion that can be mass controlled. All despotic governments are based on fear and hate."

"The Communists fear the faith of our people more than any other thing," Mr. Grant stated.

"The only thing that would bring America's downfall is the rot at the heart of our own people and not the devices of our enemy."

"Franklin stated at the time of the signing of the constitution 'Give the youth a loyalty to a land that we have forgotten'," said Mr. Grant.

"Yet we as a people are disinterested in the freedom that our children died for in these recent wars."

"Rotten politics come from good people who don't vote," he stated. There was no secret ballot until 1887. At that time 90 per cent of the people could not read. Before then the vote was a voice vote. Since we gained the ballot there has been only one election in which the majority of registered voters voted."

"There is information on candidates available in the press, the radio, the magazines and in voting leagues if you will take the time to be American and inform yourself," he said.

"If you would look ahead, look back," he advised. "Democracy of the Greeks was snuffed out by the Spartans because of the rot at the heart of the ancient Greeks. Today we must learn to live by the simple teachings of Christ.

"We must sell America to the world and in so doing we must radiate the individual prestige of man living in faith by what is right for humanity," he concluded.

The dinner was served by the Baptist church people.

Grace was sung by Wallace Whiting. Piano numbers were presented by Mrs. William Hayden.

Mrs. Thomas O'Hara presided.

Grade School News

Mrs. VanWinkle
Second Grade Central

We all had a lot of fun celebrating Halloween. We dressed up funny, played a game and had orange drinks and fried cakes for refreshments.

Most of us are just about finished with the books we have been using in our reading groups. We are looking forward to reading out of new books, very soon.

We had two October birthdays. Larry Merx and Shirley Fielder are both seven now. Each brought treats and shared with all.

Our room had 19 parents attend the P.T.A. meeting. Although we did not win the prize we were happy that so many attended.

We have a new boy in our room. His name is Joe Martinez. This makes 24 boys and 12 girls.

Mrs. Garlick
Second Grade Patterson

We thoroughly enjoyed our Halloween party last Friday. Such costumes! They almost scared us.

Linda Spooner is now back in school. We are very glad she is well again.

Many of our parents came to P.T.A. Next time we hope all of them will be able to come.

Nancy Mead and Stanley Wise brought us birthday treats last week. Many of us will soon be seven years old. We sing our birthday song when we have birthdays.

In arithmetic we are learning the names and signs for addition and subtraction and when to use each one.

We made up some Halloween poems. We like to do this.

Mrs. Callihan
Second Grade Central

We enjoyed a nice Halloween. After the parade in the school we had lemonade and decorated cookies.

When hunting began we made mallard ducks and pheasants that could fly. Many of us helped draw a colored picture of ducks on the blackboard.

Melody Campbell, Richard Brown and Bernie Clark had birthdays this month.

We are glad to have Linda Owens back after having pneumonia. This is a cold morning and we like to think of snow coming.

We have a new book to use in language and some of us are ready for different reading books. The words plus and minus are causing trouble in numbers but we hope to have that learned soon.

Mrs. Puffer
Second Grade Central

Halloween is over but we still are talking about how funny the children looked in their costumes on the day of the party. Our building was full of goblins, witches, ghosts, and all sorts of strange animals. We had an exciting time parading through the other rooms and then eating refreshments and playing games. We wish Halloween came more than just once a year!

Birthdays are happy times. In October, we celebrated Edith Holmes, Frank Choske's and Timmie Heflin's birthdays. Randy Work and Barrie Finnegan are looking forward to their birthdays this month.

Fourteen parents visited our room on P.T.A. night. We hope even more mothers and fathers will come to Central School next P.T.A. Also, Mrs. Winfield, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cook have visited us. We like to have our mothers come to see what fine work we are doing.

Reading always is fun, but we especially enjoy our afternoon reading classes as we have some new books that are full of interesting stories. In fact, one set of books is named "Good Stories."

Christian Science Services Listed

Man's true selfhood as the spiritual image and likeness of God, ever free from sin, sickness, and suffering will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled 'Adam and Fallen-Man" includes the following passage from the King James Version of the Bible (Genesis 1:27): "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them."

The unchanging perfection of the man of God's creation will be brought out in passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy including the following (476:28-32): "When speaking of God's children, not he children of men, Jesus said, The kingdom of God is within ou;' that is, Truth and Love eign in the real man, showing hat man in God's image is unfallen and eternal."

During their senior year they rotate for affiliation to Children's Hospital of Detroit; Herman Kiefer Hospital and Mercywood Hospital, Ann Arbor, or St. Joseph's Retreat, in Dearborn.

In this group are students from Canada, Kansas, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan, with 42 from Metropolitan Detroit.

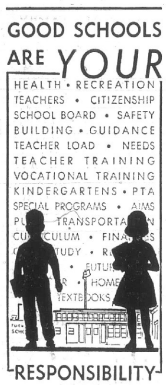
American Education Week



American Education Week begins Sunday. Theme of the special week calling attention to our schools is "good schools are your responsibility."

Daily themes are: Sunday—Ideals to Live By; Monday—Teachers for Tomorrow; Tuesday—Investing in Good Schools; Wednesday — Working Together for Good Schools; Thursday—Effective Citizenship; Friday — Teaching the Fundamentals Today; and Saturday — How Good Are Your Schools.

The special week ends Nov. 13.

Back to the general theme "good schools are your responsibility" — one way we can show our responsibility is to know our schools and their teachers. Tecumseh has some good school buildings and some excellent teachers who are trying to do a well-rounded job of educating our youngsters.

If we are to continue to have good schools we must show school officials and teachers we are interested in maintaining good schools. One way we can know our schools and teachers is to attend the open house planned in the local schools Nov. 11.

And, we add, let's maintain this interest and responsibility the year-around. Our schools and their teachers can be no better than the interest and support we give to them.

Drink More Milk

Children are being asked politely by the state and federal governments to drink more milk.

According to "Michigan Mirror," federal authorities have released $1,500,000 to the state this year to expand the school milk program, and the kids are being asked to help.

Under the old arrangement, the schools received a 1-cent rebate on each bottle of milk sold. The new money gives the schools four and a half cents back.

In Michigan last year, school children drank 60,000,000 half pints of milk.

"The biggest problem will be to make the expanded program available to all schools on an equal basis," said Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction.

Newest idea for selling more milk, paid for in part by the federal government: Install milk vending machines in the schools.

Customer Relations

Research in the retail field has turned up some startling facts and figures:

Of each 100 customers 81 are lost in a 10-year period! Why?

68% quit because of discourteous or indifferent treatment and/or poor service.

14% quit because grievances were not adjusted.

9% were lured away by lower prices.

5% were influenced by others to trade elsewhere.

3% moved away.

1% died.

The most surprising information is the strong influence of common courtesy on customers.

Many dealers have attributed lost volume to price cutting, deaths and migration.

Actually, these three only account for 13% of all lost customers. It looks as if customers have feelings and mighty strong ones at that!

People prefer to buy where they feel their trade is welcomed and appreciated. How you sell is often as equally important to them as what you sell!—Philco Merchandiser

Realty Views

"My thoughts are playing ping-pong," Mr. Ward said after I had shown him a desirable home. "They keep bouncing back and forth," he continued. "To buy or not. To select this particular home or not."

"That's only natural," I said, "buying a home is a major decision. And, it is especially difficult the first time. Nevertheless, it is a decision that many others have satisfactorily resolved."

"I'm sold on owning a home," Mr. Ward ventured, "and I think now's a good time to buy. And I'm not being conceited, but I believe I can make mortgage payments if all my friends can. The only thing that worries me is that this home may not fit our future needs. In 10 or 15 years we may want something different."

"I won't even argue," I replied. "But if that time comes, you can always remodel. Or, more probably, sell it and buy another. The average home owner buys three different houses in his life time."

Mr. Ward grinned. "The ping-pong game has stopped. My thoughts are steady. Let's buy it!"

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

By W. F. RABORN, Captain, U. S. Navy
Commanding USS Bennington

O God, the Father of all mankind, most heartily we pray that Thou will keep Thy children from the cruelties of war and lead the nations in the way of peace. Teach us to put away all bitterness and misunderstanding, both in church and in state. Give me strength to live another day. Let me not turn coward before its difficulties or prove recreant to its duties. Help me to keep my heart clean, and to live so honestly and fearlessly that no outward fears can dishearten me or take away the joy of conscious integrity. Open wide the eyes of my soul that I may see good in all things. Grant me this day some new vision of Thy truth, inspire me with the spirit of joy and gladness, and make me the cup of strength to suffering souls; in the name of the strong Deliverer, our only Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Attend U-M Conference Today

Over 350 representatives from 185 high schools and junior colleges from throughout the states and surrounding areas are attending the 26th annual Principal-Freshman Conference at the University of Michigan today.

They will interview close to 2,000 University students, graduates of their own schools last year, in order to evaluate their preparation for the University.

The students will discuss their orientation and adjustment to the new campus and how previous training is helping them in their present studies.

The theme, "counseling the student," will be carried out in a workshop and discussion group for the school representatives before the interviews. University officials will explain their program for counseling students through academic counselors, concentration advisors and residence hall advisors.

Following the student interviews, an open house will allow the high school and junior college representatives time to discuss informally with the University counselors any new problems which have arisen. The exchange of ideas encourages better service, preparation, and adjustment for the student.

Small and medium eggs more pounds per dollar than large and extra large eggs. Department of Agriculture poultrymen give us a good yardstick to help us buy. If medium eggs can be bought for one-eighth and small eggs for one-fourth less than the price of large eggs, they are a better value.

Have you noticed that your grocer is taking lemons from corrugated paper cartons instead of from nailed wooden crates? This new method of wholesale packaging was developed by the California experiment station. Estimated savings amount to 30 cents a box or about 3 million dollars a year.

Pile Fabrics Need Care In Cutting

Gay-colored corduroy and velveteen skirts and jumpers are high on this fall's fashion hit parade. Many of you will want to get busy with the sewing machine so you can add them to your wardrobe.

Both corduroy and velveteen are pile fabrics, explains Mary Gephart of the Michigan State College textile department. The pile usually slants slightly in one direction. This causes the material to reflect light differently when opposite ends are placed side by side. By running your hand over the pile you can easily feel the smoothness of the fabric in the direction in which the pile slants.

When cutting pile fabrics from commercial patterns, the yardage needed is listed under "fabrics with nap." If panels of a skirt are cut with the nap running in different directions, one part of the skirt will be a lighter color than the other. This happens when the pattern pieces have been laid out in a "dovetail" fashion. You will probably need more material when making clothes with nap fabrics, so check the amount suggested.

Miss Gephart suggests cutting pile fabrics with the top of each pattern piece facing in one direction. Velveteen is cut with the pile running up; this gives a richer and deeper color. But for longer wear, corduroy is cut with the pile running down.

WEST BRANCH P.-T.A.

The West Branch section of Tecumseh Parent-Teachers Association met at the school following the afternoon session Thursday, Oct. 28. Fifty-one mothers attended and for the first part of the meeting the group was divided among the three classrooms where individual school matters were discussed. Later all gathered in the third grade room where the question of future meetings was taken up. The majority of those present favored evening meetings at the West Branch building. Committees of two mothers from each room were chosen to make plans for these meetings. Light refreshments were served by the teachers.

Don't expect your dry cleaner to be a magician, advise M.S.C. clothing specialists. If he does not know what is used it may not be able to get it out. Put a little "spot name" tag on spoiled garment, the specialists suggest.

It's not too early to start that holiday baking of fruit cakes and cookies. And it is a good way to take advantage of the abundance and consequent low prices of eggs, fats and oils, dried prunes and dates and nuts.

When it comes to Protection
. . it pays to have the BEST

A good cushion is fine to have behind you — but don't forget you must strap it on before you take to the ice.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh

Our Town Makes Good in New York City

Couldn't place a new subscriber named Clark, but I found out who they were last week when they dropped in The Clarion's office.

"We're native New Yorkers," Mrs. Clark said, "and all our friends there are originally from other places. We always felt left out when they talked about things 'back home.'"

"That's why we 'adopted' your town and to get all the news we subscribed to The Clarion. Now we have a 'back home' to talk about—and we think it's the most wonderful town there is!"

From where I sit, just about everyone thinks his own home town is best. Picking your town comes natural. The right to do this "picking," though, is what really counts. Whether it's a favorite town, a favorite cut of meat, or even a choice of a beverage — say between beer and buttermilk, it's respecting the right to this freedom of choice that makes a good neighbor. I hope you subscribe to that!

But-Now's the time to Talk Turkey on the buy with the 3-way Bonus!

We'll give it to you straight.

Buick's percentage of the nation's total new-car sales has reached an all-time high for the past generation. Sales are soaring so high that Buick now is outselling all other cars in America — regardless of price class — except two of the so-called "low-price three."

We aim to keep it that way, and end the 1954 model year with a new record — and we're willing to go all out to make it.

So we're talking turkey right now with prices and trade-ins too good to miss. We're offering our best deals ever right now on the car that has the power, the ride, the room, and the styling that have taken America by storm.

Come see us, and you'll know what we mean.

Here's the big 3-way bonus we offer in Buick today

Advanced Styling — the very look of the new '55 cars is yours in today's Buick at a '54 price and "deal." Long, low glamor lines — sports-car snap — that trend-setting panoramic windshield — fresh, stay-new styling that means a higher resale value for you at trade-in time.

Better Buy — a lot more automobile for your money — more room and power and ride comfort — plus traditional Buick solidity of structure — and all at prices that start right next to those of the so-called "low-price three."

Record-Making Allowance — from the tremendous volume that has put Buick into the nation's top 3 best sellers. And just to keep sales soaring, we're willing to give a whale of an allowance right now to keep success rolling in high. So come in — get the car and the deal that are far too good to pass up.

Buick Sales are Soaring

Your New Social Security

Over three and one-half million farm operators will be covered by Social Security under the Amendments of 1954, according to Raymond C. Backus, District Manager, Jackson Office of the Social Security Administration. However, there is a special provision which should be explained to farm operators.

Some self-employed farm operators have low incomes, and they don't pay any income taxes on their earnings. Because they pay no income taxes, they have no need, to keep records of their finances over the year. And since the self-employed report their earnings for social security purposes right along with their income tax reports, this became a big problem in extending coverage to include the self-employed farm operators. In fact it is one of the reasons why social security protection was not given to them sooner.

There is a special way for low income farm operators to report their yearly earnings for social security purposes in which record-keeping isn't necessary. Here is the way it works:

A self-employed farm operator with a gross income of $1,800 or less in a year who reports his income tax on a cash receipts and disbursements basis may choose one of these two methods of reporting his income for social security purposes:

He may report either his actual net earnings for the year or he may report 50 per cent of his gross income for that calendar year. This simplified income reporting for social security purposes will not apply to the farm operator whose gross income is more than $1,800 in a year. If his earnings exceed $1,800 in a year, and if he reports his income on a cash receipts and disbursements basis, the farm operator must figure his actual net income. But under the new law, he has the option of reporting that net income as $900 if it is less than $900. Neither rentals from real estate nor rentals received in the form of share crops may be counted as earnings for social security purposes. The optional methods of income reporting for farm operators are to be used only for reporting earnings for social security purposes.

Except for the simplified reporting procedure, the farm operator will earn his social security credits in the same manner as all self-employed men and women. Earnings if over $400 and up to $4,200 in a calendar year are to be reported for social security, and a three percent self-employed social security tax contribution will be paid on these earnings.

The report and the taxes are due on the 1955 earnings, and they are to accompany the income-tax return which will be paid by April 15, 1956. The self-employed farm operator's social security number and net income for social security are placed on Schedule C-a of his Income-tax form 1040.

BAPTISTS TO HAVE ALL DAY MEETING

The Baptist church will have an all day meeting Friday, Nov. 5, the theme of which will be the missionary field. There will be a 12 noon luncheon, a meeting at 2 p. m. and a family night dinner and informal program at 5:30 p. m. Speaker at each gathering will be Miss Ruth Teasdale of the Department of Christian Friendliness of the National Home Missionary Society. Her subject will deal mainly with the problem of "The Displaced Person" and her noon and evening talks will be brief, the emphasis being on the afternoon meeting. This is under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society and will take the place of their regular Thursday evening meeting.

Flexible price supports — from 82.5 to 90 per cent of parity — become effective for wheat and corn on Jan. 1.

Shortening Day Will Herald Winter's Coming

The rapid shortening of the days from now until the middle of Dec. will be the astronomical feature during Nov., according to Hazel M. Losh, University of Michigan associate professor of astronomy.

The sun will be moving south this month, causing a decrease in the daylight hours. By the end of the month the day will have shortened to about nine hours and 20 minutes and the sun will be swinging in a very short arc across the sky in its daily path.

In the evening sky, Mars will still be with us. Moving steadily eastward among the stars it will be on the meridian around sunset and with no other bright objects near in the sky, it may be easily identified by its orange color. Jupiter will be rising at about 10 p.m. and will be a bright object for the rest of the night. Observers with small telescopes will be able to get a glimpse of its four satellities which appear in almost a straight line in the plane of Jupiter's equator. Venus is now too close to the sun to be seen.

The sky will be liberally dotted with familiar constellations during the evenings. Orion will dominate the eastern and southern sky when he comes up at 9 p.m. Always easily recognizable by the unmistakable three "belt stars," arranged like steps in the sky, Orion points upward through these stars to Aldebaran, bright orange star depicting the eye of Taurus the Bull. He rises about an hour after sunset. Orion's belt points downward to the Dog Star, Sirius, brightest star in the whole sky, rising at about 10 p.m.

Another well-known constellation which will appear in the eastern sky is Gemini, the Heavenly Twins. Two almost parallel lines of stars make up this constellation which boasts the two bright stars Castor, blue-white, and Pollux, faintly yellow. Rising slightly north of east at about the time the sun is setting is the little Pleiades group of six stars resembling a small dipper.

SCOUT TROOP 17

Troop 17 of Tecumseh Girl Scouts met last Monday afternoon at 4 p. m. and, as efficiently reported by one of their number, they held their regular business meeting conducted by Vicky Peterson. Roll was called and the minutes of the last meeting read and approved. Then the troop enjoyed a lesson in embroidery, and decided to have a Halloween Party October 28 at the home of their leader, Mrs. Schippers. After forming their good night circle the troop then adjourned.

CHRISTIAN BUILDERS

The Christian Builders of the Presbyterian church entertained six visitors at their Oct. 27 meeting at the home of Mrs. George Walworth. The committee who had drawn up the constitution, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. Charles [illegible] and Mrs. Jack Hallenbeck submitted their report and the constitution was accepted. It was decided by the committee who had been engaged in the dressing of a doll, not to auction it at the church fair as had been planned. Instead it, plus additional clothing will be sold later. The next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Carleton Cook, with Mrs. Gerald Foote assisting.

BROWNIE TROOP ORGANIZED

A new Brownie Scout troop, Troop No. 12, has been recently organized from girls of the West Branch School. Mrs. George Derby is leader and the troop will meet every Monday evening at her home. The members are Peggy Bates, Sophia Baughey, Carol Campbell, Beatrice Derr, Nancy Hooten, Bonnie Kempf, Sharon Korth, Beverly Miller, Karen Pieh, Joyce Randolph, Patricia Rutherford and Susan Whitney.

New "Turbo-Fire V8" delivers 162 h.p. with an ultra-high compression ratio of 8 to 1. Two new 6's, too—the new "Blue-Flame 136" with Powerglide (optional at extra cost) and the new "Blue-Flame 123."

And look what you see from the driver's seat
New Sweep-Sight Windshield curves around to vertical corner pillars, giving you a wide, full view of the road ahead. And you can see all four fenders from the driver's seat!

New Outrigger Rear Springs
Rear springs are longer—and they're attached at the outside of the frame. This means they're spaced wider apart, outrigger-fashion, to give you greater stability in cornering.

Easier steering, stopping, clutching
The new Chevrolet steers with ball-bearing ease, thanks to new friction-cutting Ball-Race Steering. New Swing-Type Brake and Clutch Pedals pivot at the top, swing downward with a light pressure of your toe.

A ventilating system that really works

Three drives, including Overdrive

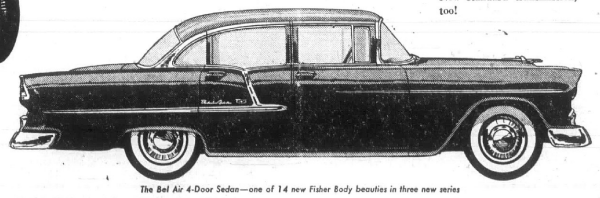
Even Air Conditioning, if you wish
Air is heated or cooled by a single highly efficient unit that requires no trunk space! (V8 models only.) It's just one of the wonderful extra-cost options Chevrolet offers!

Tubeless tires as standard equipment
You get this great tire advance at no extra cost! Proved tubeless tires give you greater protection against a blowout . . . deflate more slowly when punctured.



The Bel Air 4-Door Sedan—one of 14 new Fisher Body beauties in three new series

Chevrolet and General Motors have started something—a whole new age of low-cost motoring—by taking a whole new look at the low-cost car. Here are new ideas, young ideas . . . and some of tomorrow's ideas, too! And they're all rolled up in the most glamorous package that ever wore anything like a Chevrolet price tag!

This is the car that began with a great idea—the idea that a low-priced car could be built that would have the style, the performance, the comfort and convenience features, and the fine quality "feel" of high-priced cars.

Lots of car buyers have wished for such a car. Lots of automotive engineers have dreamed about it. But there were plenty of reasons why it couldn't be done.

Then Chevrolet and General Motors designed and built a car to fit the dream—the Motoramic Chevrolet!

Come in and see how the Motoramic Chevrolet for '55 is far more than a completely new car. It's a whole new idea about cars!

The Home Demonstrator

By JOSEPHINE BRIGHENTI
HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

The horn of plenty will spill out many foods in November. Turkeys, eggs and beef top the list of plentiful foods for November. On this U.S. Department of Agriculture plentiful foods list are also broilers and fryers, pork and dairy products. Looks as though it will be easy to get our everyday need of protein, with these foods in November. Rice, dry beans and three kinds of tree nuts—almonds, walnuts and filberts are going to be in great supply, too.

The nuts along with the plentiful fruits of prunes and dates make good mid-afternoon and evening nibbling. Or perhaps you'll like to use them in making baked fruit bars or fruit and nut cakes. Always — walnuts are a favorite in waldorf salad.

And if you like seafood—you'll be happy to know that there will be generous supplies of frozen fish and shrimp for you to choose from in November.

Looks like we'll have plenty to choose from for holiday and everyday eating next month.

Eggs down, buy at will, eat your fill. Scrambled, fried, soft cooked or whipped into a fluffy angel food cake, eggs satisfy our appetites, our bodies, and our pocketbooks.

The United States Department of Agriculture gives you a look at egg prices now and in the coming months. To take advantage of the price of eggs, which is at the lowest level in years, here are some tips on how to get the most for your money. In early fall small eggs, weighing about 18 ounces to the dozen, are usually abundant, and very low in price. Later the medium size eggs will be cheapest per pound, and by winter the large eggs may be the best value.

When at your grocers, be sure you read the labels on the egg cartons. They will usually tell you the quality, the size, the date of grading and of course, the price. The letters "AA", "A" "B", or "C" tell the quality with "AA" being the highest. The words "Extra Large," "Large," "Medium" and "Small" indicate the size. The size is determined by the weight of a dozen eggs For example, Grade A Extra Large eggs must weigh at least 27 ounces per dozen.

You may see a date like this "Feb. 17," or like this, "48", on the carton of eggs. This tells the day the eggs were graded. Here the "48" represents the day of the year.

With eggs at rock bottom lows, you are buying a lot of health when you use them in your baking and in omelets and salads or just for snacks. The Poultry and Egg National Board points out they are full of Vitamin A, calcium, iron, and phosphorous.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the residents of Lenawee County and especially those in the Tecumseh area:

DO NOT BE CONFUSED BY THOSE WHO USE OUR NAME!

We are in NO WAY associated with this "GOING OUT OF BUSINESS SALE" by a local firm advertised in a circular you have received.

We do NOT assume any responsibility for goods bought at this sale and in case of dissatisfaction will NOT be responsible.

We wish to make this clear: the people now doing business in our former location bought this business FIVE years ago (not 50 if that is your impression).

These people were given the right to use our name to operate a going business.

In regard to these words used in the circular "Quitting BUSINESS FOREVER" we, the original owners of the Palman Department Store, may possibly again operate a retail business in Tecumseh.

AGAIN – PLEASE DO NOT BE CONFUSED BY THOSE WHO USE OUR NAME!

Our present retail business is as follows:

• AT TOLEDO, OHIO

A women's ready to wear shop at Toledo, Ohio, known for quality and high styled fashions. One of the important retail shops in the business life of that community.

• AT ADRIAN, MICHIGAN

A furniture store featuring Quality Merchandise – Reasonable Prices from nationally known manufacturers; offering complete customer satisfaction at all times.

As For The Future

Tecumseh, with its tremendous growth in recent years, needs the best in retail service to satisfy the demands of this locality.

The great majority in Tecumseh were always buyers of quality merchandise. To fill this need and to make shopping more convenient for those in this community are certainly good reasons why we may possibly again operate a department store in Tecumseh.

And to our many well wishers "Thanks a Million"

PRESBYTERIANS HAVE GUEST FROM INDIA

Felicia Sunderlal of India, who is in the United States on a good will tour, was a guest Monday of the Presbyterian Women's Association and more specifically of Mrs. Ray Sluyter.

Miss Sunderlal arrived at the Sluyter home Sunday evening after visiting Adrian and Blissfield and Monday members of the Association called on her informally. There was a "friendly breakfast" in the morning, followed by a luncheon served from 12 to 4 p.m. and there was an open house from 8 to 9 p.m. in the evening. More than 100 women met her during those hours.

A teacher of psychology in a girls' school in India for twelve years, Miss Sunderlal plans to take work at the Union Theological Seminary and hopes to obtain her master's degree at Columbia University.

Officers of the association had been impressed with her brilliance previously when she spoke at the state and national meetings and her informal visitors Monday were charmed by the warmth of her personality.

Mrs. Sluyter was assisted by Mrs. M. C. Miller, Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Ronald Johnson, Mrs. James Elliott, Mrs. Archie Porter and Mrs. John Saling. Some of the ladies acted as models for the beautiful Indian costumes shown by Miss Sunderlal. Mrs. Glenn Vandenbergh and Miss Edith Jones poured during the tea hour.

Monday morning, Mrs. Sluyter drove her guest to Mason where she will be the guest of other Presbyterian groups.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

There's an encouraging word for farmers who are stuck with cull beans after weeks of steady rains. Farmers can use the cull beans for cattle feed.

Estimates of bean losses run as high as two million bushels in Michigan—a third of the total crop. But a good many of the beans can be fed. This takes part of the sting out of the loss.

Carl F. Huffman, dairy nutritionist at Michigan State, says that in digestible protein the beans are 50 per cent as valuable per pound as soybean oil meal.

Dairy cattle, hogs and other animals eat beans better when they are cooked. Dairy cows can be fed up to 25 pounds per day per cow of cooked beans or up to .5 per cent raw beans ground into the grain mixture.

Animal Husbandry Nutritionist J. A. Hoefer, says that cull beans can be used up to 25 or 30 per cent of the ration for hogs if should be cooked.

Hoefer sets 20 to 25 per cent as the upper limit that cull beans should be put into the lamb ration. He says that a small amount of linseed oil meal put with the beans will induce lambs to eat more of them. For beef cattle only about 15 to 20 per cent of the grain ration should be made up of cull beans.

This feeding of beans should be started with small amounts, and gradually increased up to the limits, the nutritionists say.

Now is the time to check up on those yearling dairy heifers to be if they have enough size to freshen when you will want them.

Yearlings of the larger breeds, such as Holsteins, should weigh about 650 pounds — or have a chest-girth measurement of 60 inches or more.

Don L. Murray, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State College, suggests that if heifers have enough size, their feed during the coming year can consist mainly of good quality roughages. Hay, silage and good pasture will keep them growing.

If they are lagging in growth, some additional grain should be fed to boost them up to par. Those dairymen raising smaller breeds, as has the Guernsey, should have heifers weighing between 475 and 500 pounds — or a chest girth measurement of about 55 inches, adds Murray.

An open shed is adequate for keeping animals of this age. If they have the size a good supply of water and a liberal supply of high quality roughage will keep growth normal.

As long as the animals are healthy, they can stand wintry conditions similar to beef cattle.

This is a good time to make that cheap compost pile for your garden next spring.

You can use such waste as leaves, weeds, lawn clippings, corn stover, garden refuse and straw. And you can even use garbage if it's free from grease.

Soil scientists at Michigan State College suggest using a complete fertilizer, such as 10-6-4, and a small amount of limestone to make the compost more valuable.

They advise building the compost pile in layers with a few handfuls of fertilizer and lime over each layer. A little garden soil on each layers helps the material decay better. The pile should be saucer shaped so it will save moisture from the rain or water sprinkler.

A good compost pile, says the specialists, helps restore organic matter that most garden soils lack after continuous cultivation.

The census bureau is relying on farmers' assitance in making this agricultural census complete, timely and accurate.

The bureau has sent census questionnaires to all farmers. They request that the forms be filled out promptly and returned or the census takers when they make their rounds.

The census bureau is hopeful that a speedy enumeration will make the information available to farmers and industry sooner.

Schneider Named To Important Legion Committee

Louis S. Schneider, of Tecumseh, was appointed this week by national American Legion commander Seaborn Collins, New Mexico, as a member of the national distinguished guests committee for the term ending in the fall of 1955.

Schneider was appointed to the commission by unanimous approval of the National Executive Committee which held its annual conference in Indianapolis, Indiana recently in conjunction with a meeting of commanders and adjutants from the United States and foreign soil. Fifty-six national and international departments were represented.

"My choice of Schneider — one of 133 Michigan Legionnaires similarly honored — to hold down a key position on the national team is based primarily on his outstanding service and leadership toward furthering Legion principles within his own community and throughout the state of Michigan," said commander Collins.

"Schneider's performance as a top-flight Legionnaire in Michigan," continued Collins, "marks him as an American Legion member and American citizen of great promise, and I am more than pleased to have the opportunity and privilege of appointing a man of caliber with such a wealth of experience on my first' team."

Scenes at Homecoming

QUEEN AND COURT — Homecoming queen Karolyn Mueller, freshman, receives a bouquet of roses from Capt. Jim Bowser between halves of the Tecumseh-Hillsdale football game. She was selected Thursday by vote of the student body and crowned queen at the dance after the ball game. In her court were Cathlyn Cornell, sophomore; Linda Beck, junior; and Jane Smith, senior.

FIRST PLACE WINNER — This float by the junior class won first place in the homecoming parade. Judges Mrs. Florence Howe, Mrs. Yale Kerby and Mrs. George French had a difficult time selecting the three top winners. They said all the floats should have been awarded prizes.

SECOND PLACE WINNER — Exterminating Hornets won second place in the float contest. This float was prepared by the seventh grade and when the announcement was made of the winners between halves of the football game, a cheer went up that rocked Tecumseh on its foundation. There never has been a happier bunch of junior high kids.

Tied for third place in the contest were the eighth and ninth grades. Lick Hornets was the eighth grade entry and Deafeat-em was the frosh entry.

TWO AREA MEN ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENTS

Car Kills John Steele

Pushing his stalled car on M-50 near Waldron's Hill, John Edward Steele, 19, of Tecumseh was killed instantly Saturday at 6:30 p.m. when he was struck by a car driven by Harry Graham, 37, of 117½ south Evans street, Tecumseh.

State Police of the Clinton Post said Mr. Steele backed from a private driveway on M-50 to turn around. His engine stalled and he got out to push his car off the highway.

Graham's car, traveling east, struck Steele and his body was thrown about 100 feet.

Living at the Hotel Chieftain, he had worked for the past year for the Howard Truesdale Construction Co.

Born June 21, 1935, in Tecumseh, he attended Tecumseh High School.

Son of the late John Henry and Etta Packard Steele, he is survived by his half sister, Katherine Reese of Tecumseh and by several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. Edward Escolme, pastor of the Friends Church, officiating.

Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Train Kills Britton Man

Byran Hall, 86, of Britton was instantly killed Saturday morning about 10 a. m. when he was struck by an east-bound local freight train on the Wabash tracks in Britton.

The accident happened when Mr. Hall was walking across the south Main street crossing in town.

He apparently did not see or hear the train. He had been in the habit of walking down the tracks to go to the post office daily.

State Police from the Clinton post were called and so was Coroner Ed Braun of Adrian.

Mr. Hall spent most of his life in the vicinity of Manchester before coming to Britton Dec. 1, 1949.

He made his home in an apartment in the back of the shoe repair shop owned by Harley Lamson.

He is survived by one daughter Miss Frances Slack of Durango, Colorado; a cousin Mrs. Sarah Rauschenberger of Ann Arbor and several other relatives.

Services were held Monday from the Niblack Funeral Home with the Rev. K. A. Ball of Adrian officiating.

Burial was in Manchester.

Indians' Fourth Quarter Fight Not Enough; Hillsdale Wins Final League Game, 25 To 21

As a result of their 25-21 Southeastern League loss to Hillsdale Friday night, the Tecumseh High Indians gained undisputed possession of the league cellar but the Indians went down fighting.

The visiting Hornets had their first touchdown given to them early in the game.

After the Indians held the Dales for little gain, the Dales punted to the Tecumseh 15. Marsh cracked over center for three yards but a rugged tackle jarred him loose from the ball and Hamilton of Hillsdale covered it on the 18.

Duryea made a first down to the 8 and Ron Coon, Hornet scat back, scooted around his left end for the score.

Tackle Bill Scutt, who played his finest game of the year, dashed through to batter down the attempted extra point.

The Indians charged back 70 yards to tie the score and go ahead. Neitling ran the kick-off back to the 30. Marsh cracked the center for a yard, Davis took a pitch-out and scampered to the Dales 47. Dickenson hit Capt. Jim Bowser with a pass that carried to the 27. A Hillsdale offside put the ball on the 23. A pitch-out to Davis carried to the 9 and Davis scooted around his left end for the td after taking another pitch-out from Neitling.

With Neitling holding, Scutt booted the ball true for the extra point, putting the Indians in the lead for the last time.

The Dales thundered back 71 yards with a drive that carried to Tecumseh's one before the first quarter ended. A pass from McElroy to Duryea carried 30 yards. Coon picked up 18 yards on a pitch-out. Duryea rammed the line for five. And O'Meara cracked to the one as the first stanza ended.

Moments later Tecumseh was forced to punt from its 18.

The punt was blocked and the ball bounced to the one-yard line where it was covered by Jim Rowe of the Dales.

Duryea was stopped by Yoakum, then O'Meara took a pitch-out and scampered around end for the score. Bill Scutt again blocked the attempted try for extra point.

The Indians couldn't move the ball as the fourth period began so Neitling punted. Taking the ball on the Tecumseh 35, Coon ran right through the whole Tecumseh team for another touchdown. Pashegaba, Hillsdale tackle, booted the extra point.

But the Indians recovered and how they recovered! No team ever has showed as much fight as the Indians did in the final period.

Neitling hit Capt. Bowser with a pass that carried to the Dales' 43. Cadmus carried to the 40. Davis gained 7 to the 33. Then Neitling hit Davis with a touchdown pass. He caught the ball, reversed his field, put on a burst of speed and went all the way from the 28.

He still had enough "wind" to run the extra point.

The Indians scored again moments later when Bill Scutt intercepted a Hornet pass on the 49 and weaved his way like a halfback to the 1.

MOTOR BURNS OUT

A motor burning out in a furnace caused extensive smoke damages Sunday night to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Snow, 505 south Democratic street.

Mr. and Mrs. Snow had been away all day but returned home before the motor burned out.

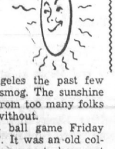
The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears



CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

TECUMSEH HAS RIVALLED Los Angeles the past few days. The city has had both sunshine and smog. The sunshine was highly treasured but the smog, caused from too many folks burning too many wet leaves we can do without.

THE LINING WAS questioned at the ball game Friday night for having a sweater with a huge "H". It was an old college sweater and the only reason it was worn was to keep out the cold and there was plenty of that at the game. Ellsworth Collins, Bill Dixon and even Jerry Barton, Indian drummer, raised eyebrows and questions about the "H." All got the same stock answer: the "H" stood for homecoming and hot for the name of the opposing town Tecumseh was playing. After they looked down their noses at the "H", the Lining, even though it had a lot of dear old friends on the enemy's bleachers, stayed on Tecumseh's side during the whole game and rooted for the Indians.

ELLSWORTH COLLINS, incidentally, should be cited for meritorious service to the team. At every game he parked his huge ambulance near the field in the event of an emergency. He made no charge for this service.

A SHARP READER noticed a mistake in the Kroger store ad last week. And it was a good one, too, Kroger's had Michigan oranges and Florida onions. Since the ad was a mat that needed no changes, it was run as it was. It should have been Michigan onions and Florida oranges, or did you know?

SMALL BOY'S DEFINITION of conscience: Something that makes you tell your mother before your sister does.

YOU'LL PROBABLY see an exodus of the male population from the Tecumseh area this weekend as hundreds of hunters start north after deer. Come to think of it, quite a few of the ladies probably will be gone, too, since more and more are taking up the sport.

DID YOU NOTICE how cold the queen and her court were at the homecoming? It was not the night to model formals outdoors.

THE OLD TIMER SAYS: "To be occupied with what does not concern you is often worse than doing nothing."

A COUPLE OF SHAVERS had quite a deal at the ball game. They collected empty pop bottles and turned the glass in for some warm and tasty hot dogs. Just another case of the younger generation going to the dogs.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—To the patrons, students and teachers of American schools: Because our schools help shape the mind and character of our youth, the strength or weakness of our educational system today will go far to determine the strength or weakness of our national wisdom and our national morality tomorrow. That is why it is essential to our nation that we have good schools. And their quality depends on all of us.—President Eisenhower

Donna J. Fish And Roger Butler Exchanged Wedding Vows Saturday

Donna Janet Fish, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Fish, and Roger Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Butler, were married in an evening ceremony Saturday at the Friends church by the Rev. Edward Escolme.

Mrs. Amos Wilson accompanied Miss Patsy Payden of Blissfield when she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony and played the traditional wedding march when the bride entered on the arm of her brother, Kenneth Fish. During the ceremony Miss Payden sang the "Lord's Prayer". White chrysanthemums decorated the church and the family pews were designated by satin bows.

Attendants were Sharon Townsend as maid of honor, Marion Westgate and Mrs. Phyllis Scriver as bridesmaids and Charles Phillips as best man. Kathy Nichols and Nancy Bird were flower girls and Sonny DeGroff was ringbearer. Roger Harsh and Jerry Butler ushered.

Nylon net over satin fashioned the bridal gown, made with a long sleeved jacket of Chantilly lace which also formed the peplum of the full skirt. The double finger tip veil of illusion was held by a pearl and orange-blossom trimmed cap and her white Eastern Star Bible carried white carnations and pink sweetheart roses with a satin shower.

Miss Townsend's gown was of orchid net over satin, made with strapless bodice and matching stole, and her flowers were yellow button pompoms in a crescent bouquet. Miss Westgate wore yellow and Mrs. Scriver, green nylon taffeta, made alike and they carried crescent bouquets of jewel poms. The flower girls were also in green and yellow with nosegays of contrasting poms.

The bride's mother's ensemble was wing colored, trimmed with velvet and her corsage was white carnations. Mrs. Butler's corsage was pink and she wore blue.

At the reception at the V.F.W. hall following the ceremony, the 200 guests were registered by Mrs. Eldon Walker and the gifts were in charge of Ruth Ann Coates. The wedding cake, cut by Mrs. Frank Glenn, was served by Mrs. Lester Ruhl while Mrs. Ray Bird presided at the punch bowl and the ice cream was served by Mrs. Leverett DeJonghe.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Butler will make their home in Romeo, where the groom is assistant manager of the D. and C. Store. Both graduated from Tecumseh High School with the class of 1954.

BOB-WHITE QUAIL

Colinus virginianus

Here is a bird beloved by sportsmen, bird watchers, farmers, artists and musicians and probably disliked by no one. It has been coddled, persecuted, neglected, studied, protected by law and by popular opinion, fed, starved, helped and hindered. It has vanished from much of its original range, increased in numbers in some areas, established itself and been introduced in others. It stays by its home territory the year round and survives fire, heat, storm, flood, snow and ice. It needs to be better understood and the National Wildlife Federation in part through this sort of article hopes to help toward that end.

The bob-white tail is about 11 inches long with a wing-spread of about the same amount. It may weigh up to 9 ounces but commonly has about a 6-ounce weight. It has a short tail, a generally mottled brown appearance with light underparts and rather conspicuously contrasting light and dark areas on the head and throat. Where the male is black on the head the hen is brown.

The range of four subspecies covers most of the United States, these subspecies including the Florida, the Key West, the Texas and the Eastern. Its enemies are man, foxes, birds of prey and disease but its greatest numbers may be reached in areas where its enemies are abundant if ample cover is available for the needed protection. Under intelligent management and strict following of known rules providing survival, it may maintain itself with suitable harvestable surpluses. Its value as a destroyer of insects and weed seeds, as an inspiring songster and as a friendly neighbor must not be overlooked in any evaluation of its qualities.

A pair of bob white may remain as mates for over a year even though the cock may find it necessary to win his bride each year. The cock bird builds the nest on the ground though several birds may use a common nest. The hen lays from 7 to 23 eggs just over an inch long and these are incubated by both birds for 23 to 24 days. The average hatch is about 86 per cent of the eggs laid.

If a nest is broken up or the young are killed early a second brood may be established. Both parents take part in the rearing of the family. Survival in winter is possible largely through the cooperation of the members of a flock, it being rather essential that the size of the coveys do not drop below 10 birds. The family usually remains together through the first winter with the break-up coming with the spring breeding season. The individual range of a bob-white is usually about one square mile for its lifetime.

Game managers have evolved many ingenious methods of getting information on the abundance of these splendid birds and if their recommendations are usually followed there is an excellent chance that the birds may remain to please all of their many admirers. It is doubtful if there are many forms of wildlife that rank so high in popularity with so many persons of different interests. Long may we hear bob-white over a generous portion of its suitable range.—E. Laurence Palmer

Wash Dacron, Orlon, Nylon By The Rule

Orlon, nylon and dacron may be the so-called "miracle fabrics," but they, too, require special care in your washer.

Questions are often asked of Evelyn Zwemer of the home management department at Michigan State about washing of curtains made from man-made fabrics. Here is the way she answers these queries:

Is it safe to put nylon, orlon and dacron curtains in the washing machine? Miss Zwemer says, Yes, but only wash them a few minutes—not as long as your regular wash.

Can these curtains be put in hot water? Again the answer is yes, but with an added thought. For white materials you can use very hot water (140 degrees) and for colored materials, use hot (100 degrees) water.

Is it safe to put these curtains into an automatic dryer? Because these synthetic fabrics cannot stand very hot temperatures and because their biggest asset is how fast they dry, Miss Zwemer recommends this drying method: Take them from the washing machine, shake each curtain gently, and hang them individually on drying rods. Put one rod in the upper casing and one in the lower hem. If pressing is necessary to get out wrinkles, do it only after the curtain is entirely dry.

To make your washing easy and safe, it is always the best rule to read the label on the curtains and follow directions exactly. Miss Zwemer says to keep the washing directions in a safe place so they will be handy for your next washing day.

Farm Records Help Figure Income Tax

With income tax filing deadline rushing closer, farmers with a good, acurate set of records are going to find themselves in pretty good shape to figure their tax.

But farmers that use the hit-or-miss method of record keeping are in for the usual amount of trouble. That word of warning is sounded by E. M. Elwood, Michigan State farm management specialist.

Elwood notes that there are more changes than usual for filing the 1955 returns. He lists some of these changes that will affect farmers:

One change is the filing requirement for persons over 65—they need not file unless their gross income is $1200 or more for the taxable year. Those under 65 must file with an income of $600 or more.

This year children under 19 can be listed as dependents regardless how much they earn, if the parents provide over half their support.

The tax law—recently rewritten—gives relief to families hit hard by medical and dental bills. They are allowed deductions on these expenses that amount to over 3 per cent of their gross income. Last year they could deduct only an amount that exceeded 5 per cent.

Prayer For Peace

Thirty-six years ago today horns tooted and factory whistles were tied down as peoples around the world celebrated the end of the first world war which was fought "to make the world safe for democracy."

Since that Armistice Day of 1918 we have had the second world war, the Korean war and the strife in Indo-China; and any day the third world war could start in a dozen places throughout the world that are virtual powder kegs.

Words can never do justice to the horrors of war which no nation ever really wins. Because of a first-hand knowledge of these horrors we hope that one day we will be able to write this head-line: "Permanent world peace assured!"

Perhaps if all of the peoples in the world and their leaders would sincerely practice the prayer for the United Nations, this head-line could be written.

This is the prayer:

"Gracious God, who art the Father of all people from everlasting to everlasting: Suffer us not to turn aside from Thy guidance in the troublous times that afflict us. Look with compassion upon Thy warring children. Impel us, we pray, to build bridges of understanding across age-old hatreds and seething strife.

"Grant renewed strength and insight, O God, to all who seek world peace through the United Nations. Bless those international servants who have dedicated themselves to work in council hall and on far flung mission ... that the curse of war shall not again scourge the human race. Spur us to further the efforts of the United Nations to feed the hungry, to clothe the naked, to heal the sick, to teach Thy children everywhere how to live a more abundant life.

"Strike from the hearts of us and of all people, we beseech Thee, fear and self-righteousness and pride. Direct us in our own beloved and mighty land to have mercy and to walk humbly before Thee. Show Thy children, while there is yet time, how to live together in hope and peace all their days." Amen.

They Stayed Away

We wonder what 80 township folks and 1318 city folks were doing on election day that was more important than voting.

We also wonder if these same folks who were so busy that they could not fulfill their most important right and duty will complain about how the election went.

Human nature being what it is, they probably will complain even though they took no part in voting.

Complaining or not, all of us should forget the election and remind our political leaders to carry on to make our county, our state and our nation more unified; for in unity there is strength.

10 Commandments of Safety

Next Monday the 1954 deer season begins. This good advice from "Michigan Out-doors" is called the 10 commandments of safety:

1 Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the first rule of gun safety.

2 Guns carried into camp or home, or when otherwise not in use, must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be carried in cases to the shooting area.

3 Always be sure barrel and action are clear of obstructions, and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the gun you are carrying. Remove oil and grease from chamber before firing.

4 Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot.

5 Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger; know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.

6 Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay while handling a gun.

7 Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored separately beyond reach of children and careless adults.

8 Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.

9 Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; when at target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.

10 Avoid alcoholic drinks before or during shooting.

"My wife tells me our house is too crowded," said a short young man recently. "I really hadn't noticed it until she mentioned it, because I'm not home very long each day. She's the one that lives there and has to keep it up."

"Do you suppose," the young man asked, "we could sell our house and buy a larger one — 3 bedrooms and play space for the kids — for about $3,000 difference? I'd only have to assume a larger loan since my present equity should handle the down payment."

"We'll come out and look over your house. Then we can tell about what it will sell for and how much difference will be required."

An inspection showed that his estimate was okay.

"Should we go ahead and sell it?" I asked.

"Yes," said the young man's wife, "go ahead. My husband says I'm nagging him, but I know he really wants a better home as much as I do."

The young man smiled. 'That's right," he said, "sell our house. We have a place we can move to until we find another."

Now, fellows, does this give YOU an idea? Maybe your family needs more house too? Perhaps the equity in your present home will handle the down payment on a larger one.

Why don't you call us — we'd be glad to talk it over!

Armistice Day is a time for remembering ... the supreme sacrifice of brave men, fighting to preserve our democratic way of life. Armistice Day is a time for dedicating ourselves anew to the ideals of Americanism for which so many gave so much upon battlefields that gird the world. Armistice Day is a time for firmly resolving that these noble sacrifices shall not have been in vain. It is a time for alerting ourselves to eternal vigilance against all enemies of freedom, everywhere ... for renewing our determination to keep America forever strong ... forever worthy of its heroes, whose memory we honor today.

CENTRAL

Mrs. Vallie—Third Grade

Well, Hallowe'en has come and gone. Our room looks funny now with all the orange and black decorations taken off the walls. We enjoyed our Hallowe'en party. The class went from room to room to show everyone their Hallowe'en costumes. Then Cathy Custard's mother and Donna Grigg's mother served refreshments.

There are three birthdays in our room during this month. Marlee Kiser, Billy Fetty, and Patty Roe will be eight this November

All the children want to be sure that you know about the "Buffalo Hunt" that we read about in our Weekly Readrs. The article tells how each year a group of Crow Indians form a hunting party to get buffalo meat. The boys and girls were interested in the equipment that was used as compared to the olden days.

We have had several interesting things brought into the room recently. Janet Mackey brought a star fish. Cathy Custard brought some cotton seeds and planted them. We're waiting to see them grow. Patty Roe brought a petunia plant, Dick Fielder a cactus, and Fawn Choske an acorn.

It certainly was nice to see so many parents at P.T.A. There were 19 parents of children in our room. We're hoping for 100 per cent of our parents to come next time.

WEST BRANCH

Mrs. Laskey—Third Grade

Our social studies period has really been interesting to us. We have discovered the meaning of wholesale and retail. Now we know how a storekeeper in our city earns his living. We decided that our community is a wonderful place because it has so many ways for our fathers to make a living. Were we surprised when we listed the number of different workers that were represented right in our own room.

We had an arithmetic contest to see who could learn their subtraction combinations the fastest. The winners were Harry King, Garry Bowers, Roy Sparks, Carol Campbell, Richard Graham, and Susan Whitney. Susan was the final room winner.

In Science class we have studied the different kinds of teeth that animals have and how those teeth help them get their food. We learned that soft foods were bad for some animals because their teeth wouldn't wear off enough and their mouth would be locked. That's why nuts are good for squirrels.

We go to the library every two weeks. We are getting library cards so we can get books to read at home.

CENTRAL

Mrs. Illeck—Third Grade

Our room was filled with many strange people on the afternoon of October 29th. There were Chinamen, clowns, witches, knights, Indians, etc. We had fun parading from one room to another so that other children could see how funny we were. We had ice cream and seven-up for our refreshments.

We had an arithmetic-down with Mrs. Vallie's third grade, one day last week. We were the winners. Perhaps they will be the winners next time.

There were many parents present for our P.T.A. meeting. We were glad to see so many, but we hope there will be even more parents at our next meeting.

Our room is full of beautiful Thanksgiving turkeys. They have very colorful tails.

We have three new children in our room. They are Joe Lopez, David Lemerbond, and Guy Boss. We are happy to have all three.

WEST BRANCH

Miss Steinhoff—Grade One

Hello dear Readers!

Did we enjoy our Hallowe'en parade! You should have seen us. Most of us were Hallowe'en "Spirits" from top to toe. We saw everything from witches to Indians when the second grade visited us.

Each of us helped decorate our room for the Hallowe'en party. We especially liked coloring, cutting and pasting the brownie on the pumpkin which bordered our blackboard in the front of the room. Linda Brazee and Jeffrey Robison brought real Jack-o-Lanterns for our party.

The day before Hallowe'en 20 of our mothers came for the afternoon Parent-Teachers program. The two mothers from our room who will help with P.-T.A. are Mrs. Brazee and Mrs. Brighton.

Twenty-nine of us had our pictures taken. We were sorry that Richard Sparks was ill and William Meyer was in Bryan, Ohio due to the arrival of a new baby brother.

All of us are reading our first pre-primer "We Look and See."

Two of our groups are reading quite rapidly and hope to start the next pre-primer during American Education Week.

In our number class we learned what a check room is. Our teacher made a pretend-check room and we checked pictures of toys in it.

Among the visitors we had last month were Mrs. Brazee, Mrs. Robison, Mrs. Meyer, and Mrs. Sisly.

CENTRAL

Mrs. Whiting—Fourth Grade

We have several birthdays this month. Joel Bailey, Carol Ann Bassett, Gail DeMass, Mary Louise Hoot, Brian Packard and Suzanne Ross were all born in November.

Patty Lawson's mother brought a birthday treat the day before our Hallowe'en party, which we all enjoyed.

Our Hallowe'en party was a great success, with cider and popcorn balls for refreshment, furnished by half our class of 32. The other half will furnish refreshments for our Valentine party in February.

Twelve of our parents were able to attend our P.-T.A. open house. We hope that next month we will have even more.

We are looking forward to seeing the puppet show "The Grass Forest," which will be held in the auditorium today, Thursday, Nov. 4. It is produced by Ed Johnson who is also the producer of "Willy Dooit," the popular marionette serial seen every Saturday afternoon over WJBK-TV.

We are learning our 5's in multiplication now and will soon be learning the 6's. We are learning how to do long division and feel real proud of our accomplishments.

Richard Cobb brought a wasp's nest that he told us all about for Science.

We have made three murals and are now making Thanksgiving posters in our spare time.

CENTRAL

Mrs. Bailey — Fourth Grade

We have been studying the different kinds of animals in our science class. To show the other boys and girls what we have learned about animals, we have put some in the display case, dividing them into the six groups —mammals, birds, reptiles, fish, insects and amphibians.

There are three birthdays in our group this month and they are: Barbara Gray, Gloria Teagarden, and Robert Peck.

We are decorating our room for Thanksgiving. The boys and girls in charge of this are Tim Sisson, Ronald Baxter, Eugene White, Barbara Rozelle, Raymond Oliver, and April Smith.

We have just finished a story about Abraham Lincoln in our reading books. After reading "A Boy and His Book," we appreciate more than ever the many nice books we are able to get to look at and read.

In arithmetic we are working hard on our times tables and learning to divide large numbers. We are busy in our other subjects too—learning new things every day.

PATTERSON

Mrs. Colson—Fourth Grade

We were very happy that so many of our parents came to our first P.T.A. meeting at Patterson. We hope you will all come again, and that those who were unable to be here for our first meeting will come the next time.

Our Hallowe'en party was lots of fun. We enjoyed seeing the younger children in their funny costumes. The boys in our room brought a treat of popcorn balls and apples. We would like to thank the mothers who sent those good things for our party.

Diana Williams, from Richmond, Indiana, joined our group on Monday. We are glad to have her with us.

We have an Eskimo exhibit in the show case in the hall this week. When we studied about Eskimos we drew some pictures, made some animals of the Far North from clay, and Ann Metcalf made an igloo with cubes of sugar. There is also an Eskimo boy dressed in fur, and some dogs pulling sledges.

In reading class we are studying about Pioneers. Some of us are going to try to make a covered wagon. We think the pioneers were very brave to travel so far in one of those wagons.

PATTERSON

Miss Baker—Third Grade

Sally Smock is with us again after being absent for two weeks while her mother was in the hospital.

Chris Rodabaugh has joined our group from Tipton. We are glad to have her with us.

Three of us celebrated birthdays in October: Sue Fuller, Mary Johnson, and Gary Tietsema. We want to thank them for the treats they gave us. Paul Snyder also treated us for his birthday which came during summer vacation.

We had fun during our Hallowe'en party. There were many ghosts and goblins parading to the different rooms. We want to thank the mothers who furnished the popcorn balls and candy apples.

In arithmetic we are learning to use zero and to do column addition. We think the zero is a tricky number.

Last week, twenty-six of us had an A on our spelling test. We are very happy and now all of us are trying to get an A.

We were very happy to see so many parents at our first P.-T.A. We hope to see even more at our next meeting.

We wish all of you a very Happy Thanksgiving. See you in December!

Run-down Condition - And Tuberculosis . . .

A Men's Social Service Center in a large city revealed an incidence of tuberculosis of more than 50 times greater than the national average. This tends to prove that folks in a run down condition are easy prey for this dread disease.

Thus, normal good health is a defense against TB and other diseases that might be fatal. Regard the care of your health as most important. Avoid extreme fatigue — and consult your Doctor regularly.

Great new 8

You'd expect Chevrolet to out-V8 the field—and it has! Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" puts a brand-new kind of excitement under your foot. The excitement of 162 horsepower! The excitement of an 8 to 1 ultra-high compression ratio that squeezes more pure fun out of a gallon of gas than you ever dreamed possible! The new "Turbo-Fire V8" is so wonderfully efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five or more. And it has the shortest piston stroke in the low-price field, for longer engine life. But we can't even begin to give you the whole story here. Come in and let the new "Turbo-Fire V8" speak for itself. You'll like what it has to say!

Two new 6's

With enough new advances to fill a book!

Chevrolet offers two new highstepping sixes for 1955! There's the new "Blue-Flame 136" (teamed with Powerglide as an extra-cost option) and the new "Blue-Flame 123." Both bring you new, higher-rated power—the zippy, thrifty high-compression kind. Both have new, more efficient cooling and lubrication systems . . . new engine mounts that result in almost unbelievable smoothness. And, like the new "Turbo-Fire V8," both are sparked by a new 12-volt electrical system for finer performance and faster cold-weather starting. All in all, they're the liveliest, smoothest sixes Chevrolet ever put into a passenger car. As you know, that covers a lot of territory. And so will you—with either of these two new sixes!

National Retarded Children's Week Is Scheduled From Nov. 14 to 23

National Retarded Children's Week will be held Nov. 14-23. The Lenawee association will participate. There will be canisters placed throughout the county for contributions. Also, anyone caring to contribute can mail their contributions directly to "Lenawee County Association for Retarded Children," Jasper, Mich.

Dale Evans and Roy Rogers, film and television idols of millions, have agreed to act as co-chairmen of National Retarded Children's Week. The stars (Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers in private life) will send personal invitations, over their signatures, to the leaders of community service clubs and civic groups, inviting them to participate in observing NRC Week with the parent groups in their communities.

There are about 4,800,000 retarded individuals in the United States . . . three out of every 100 people in every community, who are afflicted with one of the most tragic yet least understood of all handicaps . . . mental retardation.

At long last the veil of secrecy around them is lifting. Pearl S. Buck, one of literature's great immortals, recently said, "There is a great dawn awaiting these youngsters . . . who are God's most innocent children."

Today, spurred on by the National Association for Retarded Children and its member units, physicians, psychologist, teachers and social workers are finding new ways to develop the retarded child to the best of his ability.

Today, scientists are being encouraged to renewed vigor in research for causes and prevention.

Mental retardation is nine times more common than cerebral palsy, 10 times more than crippling polio. It is estimated that 300 retarded children will be born today and every day in the United States—120,000 this year.

There are radically different types of retarded children. The brain injured, mongoloids, microcephalics, hydrocephalics and many others.

They range from the totally helpless, to the many more who are not spectacularly different from the "normal." One common characteristic is the need for special help during all or part of their lives.

Through the efforts of the Lenawee County Association for Retarded Children, the "Croswell School Foundation" has been organized.

This is a school for retarded children in the county. The school has been in operation for approximately one month, being held in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church in Adrian. All the facilities of the church are being donated by the church. The teacher of the school is Mrs. Edna Wilcox of Tecumseh. Mrs. Wilcox was for many years the head matron at the Eastern Star Villa in Adrian. She has been assisted in the teaching by Mrs. L. D. Cox, who has been donating her time.

Anyone caring for information regarding the Croswell School can contact Mr. Fred Glick, 1414 Moore Rd., Adrian, Mich. Also, if anyone cares to make contributions directly to the Croswell School they may be sent to Mr. Glick, who is secretary of the Croswell School.

Some of the Tecumseh Community Fund goes to Croswell School.

Christian Science Services Listed

The spiritual basis for healthful, happy, abundant living will be dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" is the Golden Text from John (3:6): "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (76:22-26): "The sinless joy, — the perfect harmony and immortality of Life, possessing unlimited divine beauty and goodness without a single bodily pleasure or pain, — constitutes the only veritable, indestructible man, whose being is spiritual."

From the Bible the following passage will be among those read (Romans 8:6): "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Because history—or historians—have a tendency to emphasize wars, no matter how small, the century-old squabble between Tecumseh and Adrian over the possession of the county-seat is one of the better known incidents of our past. What is not so commonly known is the fact that Tecumseh still has a portion of the original court house of Lenawee county.

If the present project of a few interested citizens is successful, the 125 year old structure will be suitably marked, so that even the passing public will know that Tecumseh was once the "Seat of Justice."

Just why it was not left on its original site, where it might have served a useful public purpose is not known. It was built in 1829 on "Court House Square," now Adam's or standpipe park, and after a rather checkered career of 40 years was moved to its present location at 510 East Chicago Blvd. There it was first a small factory, making tool handles, and then became part of the house at that number, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Pete" Dermyer. It all began on a high plane of public service — only slightly tinctured by politics and self seeking. Our founding fathers were not naive back woodsmen. They had already played a leading role in the development of one pioneer community in Jefferson county, N. Y., and they were determined that this one also should prosper. Obtaining the county seat was one way of assuring success and they had the influence to obtain it.

Austin E. Wing, Monroe lawyer, who might well be called the godfather of Tecumseh, was an old friend of the then Territorial Governor Lewis Cass, so when our General Brown went to him with the request that the new town be named the county seat, it was as good as done. To be sure Lenawee was not yet officially a county and Tecumseh was only an entry on the books of the land office at Monroe so the request was for a position that did not yet exist.

The next four years, however, made an enormous difference and by 1828 the official business of the then established county had been transacted here for more than a year—just where we do not know. In April of that year a paper was circulated among citizens of the community, all of whom were struggling to get a start in the new country. It read as follows—

"Whereas—The present situation of the county of Lenawee absolutely requires that a court house and gaol, for said county be erected in the township of Tecumseh, we, the undersigned, deeply feeling the neccessity of such a measure, do hereby guarantee to pay a building committee, consisting of M. Evans, S. Blanchard, D. Pitman, M. Smith, and Thomas Geodrich, Esqr., the several sums annexed to each of our names, on or before the first day of May 1829, in such funds, consisting of materials, labor, produce, cash or articles which shall be signed, as this committee shall demand from time to time, as the prosecution of the object may require—"

Before the deadline of May 1829 had been reached there were 58 signatures on the paper, pledging a total of $2730 in cash, labor and materials. A yard stick of the value of that amount may be obtained by studying the smallest contribution of all. A James Coats pledged $4.50 which equaled "six days labor on the frame." When it is considered that there were then probably not more than 100 families in the township, since the census taken two years later in 1830 gave the township a total population of 771, that is a high voluntary contribution. Just to circulate the paper must have been a major undertaking with transportation by ox team, horseback or on foot.

The largest pledge was of course from the Wing, Evans and Brown company, a $600 bond; $250 was promised by a farmer, Thomas Y. Howe; Musgrove Evans gave $150 personally; Stilman Branchard, the future builder of the Globe Mill, gave $100 as did farmer, Peter Lowe, Daniel Pitman, storekeeper, and Joseph Brown each pledged $75 and there were several of $50. There were pledges also in grain and in ox team labor. James Borland, landlord of the Green Tavern promised part of his in board and others merely stated they would do "what the committee wished." A few names were from the northern part of Raisin township but it is significant that otherwise the project was completely local although this was to be a "county" building. The implications of this situation must have been obvious even then and the rift between the north and south half of the county grew wider as time went on.

When you see the herb, marjoram, on your grocer's spice shelf, do you wonder what it's used for? Marjoram is of the mint family imported from France and Chile. The leaf is used with other herbs in stews, soups, sausage, poultry seasonings and in fish and sauce recipes. For a different flavor touch, sprinkle marjoram over lamb while it is cooking.

Tom's Not Just Holiday Meal; Prices Down

The Michigan family's breadwinner is finding it easier to put turkey on the table.

More people are using the traditional holiday meat for other meals. The reason: Turkey is the best bargain in three years.

Henry E. Larrelere a Michigan State extension poultry marketing specialist, supplies these facts. He says growers are putting more lightweight birds than ever on the market to whet the appetite of more families.

A recent M.S.C. survey of 250 families in urban Michigan showed what growers have long suspected: That three-fourths of the money spent for turkey is during the two-week periods preceding Thanksgiving and just before Christmas. So, poultrymen with a larger supply of turkeys, are beating the drums for business at other times of the year. And, Larrelere points out, the turkey raisers have an untapped market they can hit: Those families who don't even eat turkey on holidays.

Growers are also boosting a special market that has been declining. That market is in business firms—those that can be persuaded to give their employees turkeys for Christmas gifts.

The Home Demonstrator

By JOSEPHINE BRIGHENTI
HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

The third meeting in the series of work simplification classes for cardiac homemakers will be held Monday, Nov. 15, at Tecumseh High School.

Don't forget to save Saturday, Nov. 13, to see the display and demonstrations presented by the Home Economics Extension Club members, at the Madison Agricultural School, Treat Road, Adrian.

The display will be open to the public from 1 until 9 p.m. All ladies who are bringing in their ideas, will bring them in to the school on the morning of Saturday, Nov. 13.

There will be presented an exchange of ideas for the Christmas holidays and useful articles for various members of the family and for the home.

Here are a few suggestions of interest to you ladies who like to sew and cook. An additional tip, too, for you who have hunters in the family.

Gay-colored corduroy and velveteen skirts and jumpers are high on this fall's fashion hit parade. Many of you will want to get busy with the sewing machine so you can add them to your wardrobe.

Both corduroy and velveteen are pile fabrics, explains Mary Gephart of the Michigan State College textile department. The pile usually slants slightly in one direction. This causes the material to reflect light differently when opposite ends are placed side by side. By running your hand over the pile you can easily feel the smoothness of the fabric in the direction in which the pile slants.

When cutting pile fabrics from commercial patterns, the yardage needed is listed under "fabrics with nap." If panels of a skirt are cut with the nap running in different directions, one part of the skirt will be a lighter color than the other. This happens when the pattern pieces have been laid out in a "dovetail" fashion. You will probably need more material when making clothes with nap fabrics, so check the amount suggested.

Miss Gephart suggests cutting pile fabrics with the top of each pattern piece facing in one direction. Velveteen is cut with the pile running up; this gives a richer and deeper color. But for longer wear, corduroy is cut with the pile running down.

If "Dad" takes to the field when hunting season begins, it's your cue to find out how to cook the birds he brings home. Here are some tips which will make the whole family enjoy the hunting season.

Because game animals are so active, their meat is usually tougher, drier and less tasty than that of farm animals. The older the bird the less tender it is. Often when several birds are shot, they vary in age and yet must be cooked together. Young or animals require less cooking, slit you might better overcook the young animals in order to have the tougher, older ones more tasty.

Pheasant meat is similar to chicken except it is drier. Any moist heat recipe you have for preparing chicken is good for cooking pheasant. To roast, use a covered roaster; this helps the meat to keep its natural juices.

Wild duck is dark and drier than domestic duck. To keep it from being too dry, try roasting it with strips of bacon on the breast, or cook it in a covered roaster.

Recipes for grouse, prairie chickens, and woodcocks are usually grouped together because they are similar. Often only the breasts of these birds are used. The meat of the partridge is white, while that of prairie chicken, sharptail grouse and woodcock is dark.

If you would like recipes for preparing game, send for the bulletin, "Good Eating From Woods and Fields." Write to the Bulletin Office, Agricultural Hall, Michigan State College, East Lansing, or ask for bulletin No. 352, at your local county extension office.

Give the gift that's sure to please!

Fall Festival Had French Motif

Red and white was the color scheme of the Presbyterian Fall Festival Thursday, which this year had a predominately French theme. Red checked table cloths, a chef, complete with starched hat and handle bar mustache, and chic flower girls, carrying trays of nosegays, lent authentic atmosphere to the supper scene. A lounge on the stage was furnished with rustic, garden furniture and equipped with French magazines and posters.

The Fun House provided entertainment for more than 100 children while the photograph gallery, fish pond and "Jack Horner Corner" of the Kiddie Karnival attracted many more. Every booth had its French sign.

Ray Puffer was chef and master of ceremonies; Mrs. Ned Baldwin, Mrs. George Walworth and Mrs. David Faling were flower girls and the part of Madame FuFu, the fortune teller was taken by Helen Sisson.

Mrs. Harold Wilson, who was general chairman of the event, expresses satisfaction with the results, financially and socially, and her appreciation of the efforts of all the more than 100 women who assisted.

The U. S. Navy's supply system catalogs and distributes some 1.3 million items, roughly ten times the number carried by the world's largest retail organization.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

No. 49 WATCH A PEDESTRIAN GETTING OFF A BUS

When you see a bus ahead on your right stopping to let off passengers, slow down and watch out as you go by. The front end of the bus is a "perfect" hiding-place for a pedestrian. He can pop out from behind it in nothing flat.

A stopped bus should ring an alarm in the mind of the motorist just as a frontiersman is alerted when he approached a large tree trunk, which might hide an Indian on the war path.

"Accident-free" motorists are those who have made a specialty of spotting favorite hiding places of pedestrians and thus are able to slow down in time so they can stop in time.

Gas Line, 20 Miles Long, Will Pass East Of Town

Mahoney Contracting Co. of Lansing has set up its headquarters here for the laying of 15 miles of gas pipe line across Lenawee County.

The line will pass one mile east of Tecumseh, go north through Tecumseh Township, east of Clinton and continue north to Freedom Junction near Manchester.

Starting at Deerfield, the line from Deerfield to Manchester will be 20½ miles long. It will be laid with 26-inch pipe to bring natural gas from Texas to storage wells in Marion, Mich.

Mahoney Contracting Co. has the job of laying the pipe from Deerfield to Manchester.

The company is the contractor for Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. The contracting company has laid 400 miles of pipeline in Michigan.

Right-of-ways for the pipe laying have been worked out with property owners and 13 miles of pipe—144 car loads—have arrived in Tecumseh for the job in this area.

Work on the project is expected to begin next Monday, according to Supt. Ralph Bucher of the contracting company.

The company will have an office here on Chicago Blvd. It already has a warehouse located behind the Railway Express office here.

Depending on weather conditions, the company hopes to complete the 20½ miles of pipe laying in Lenawee and Washtenaw counties in about six weeks.

About 250 men will be employed on the line.

Fifty to 75 of these men need housing. Since the company does not have its office and phone, the HERALD will act as a clearing house to help with its housing needs.

Any resident who wants to rent a room or rooms may call the HERALD at Tecumseh 476 and the compiled list will be turned over to Supt. Bucher.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

THE OLDEST MAN in Tecumseh will have a birthday Sunday. Charlie Kemp will be 96.

Now a patient at the Parrett Nursing Home on E. Pottawatomie, Charlie, although he is blind in one eye enjoys reading and playing dominoes with Clarence Gilmore who drops in every once in awhile and with other patients.

There's a warm and good little story behind Charlie's stay in the home. For many years he used to spend his winters in Florida and he always sent a basket of fruit at Christmas time to patients at the home. Mrs. Nyra Parrett who operates the home remembered this thoughtfulness and when Charlie took sick and couldn't go back to his beloved Florida she insisted that he come to the home, and she made room for the fruit sender.

Sunday Charlie will be an honored guest at the home of his nephew and niece Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hall of Tecumseh and Sunday night he will be the center of attention at the nursing home party. Ice cream and cake will be served and Charlie will receive a present from others at the home. (Maybe it will be a new set of dominoes.)

Members of the Presbyterian Church's Men's Club also will remember him with a gift. Four years ago when Charlie was a mere slip of a lad the Men's Club gave him a life membership in the club. He is the oldest member of the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Parrett says: "He's still very alert and all of us here are very proud of him."

THE FIRST BUCK reported by a Tecumseh hunter was shot by Jim Osburn at 7:50 Monday morning at Rose City. He had gone there Sunday evening with Louis Schneider, Jr.

STIRSTISTICS: Cholly Butler says folks here are drinking more coffee. Last year he gave away 1800 cups of java when he showed the new cars. This year folks here and in Britton downed 4463 cups of mud. This increase should make Brazilians stir happy.

VITAL STATISTICS: A customer put a classified ad in the paper Monday. She has five puppies to give away. After giving all the information, she added, "father unknown."

THE HERALD FOR YEARS has acted as a clearing house for letters to Santa, but normally these letters come after Thanksgiving. Beverly Grace Eggleston, "306 South Evan Tecumseh Mich" steals a march, however, and wrote a letter to Santa this week. She wrote, or printed, "Dear Santa would you please bring me a real accordion, a camera and a real iron." Since some of her printing sort of ran together and the first part of some of her words were printed above the second part, it was rather difficult to make the message out but I hope the Lining has quoted her accurately.

FOR OBVIOUS REASONS no name is used in this rare squib. A lady called asking where we got our information on the birth of a son to a local couple. She said the hospital had no record of the birth. She gave me the date of the paper in which she saw the announcement. There it was right in black and white. It was in the "Oldtimers" column for 10 years ago. So the baby is now 10 years old.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — A man takes contradiction and advice much more easily than people think, only he will not hear it when violently given, even though it be well founded." Hearts are flowers, they remain open to the soft-falling dew, but shut up in the violent downpour of rain.

City Will Borrow To Buy School

Councilmen Monday night requested permission from the Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $19,500 for the purchase of East Branch School from the board of education. The request was adopted as a resolution.

The purchase price is $18,900. Attorney J. C. Beardsley explained that he asked for the $19,500 amount because he was not sure what the price was going to be.

He said the United Savings Bank would loan the money at three per cent interest. Councilman Smith asked if another source could be used if the council could get the loan at two per cent. The attorney said it could.

Attorney Beardsley also told councilmen that the MFC states that millage from the general fund must be set aside to pay the loan. He said the loan would be for a year and if it is not paid in a year it could be refinanced.

At the request of City Manager Ed Nelson, the council also approved a $6000 advance payment to the board of education for East Branch School.

The city manager reported to the council that Supt. James McDowell told him the advance is needed to meet the payroll a school.

Has Your Child Lost His Coat?

The time is rapidly approcahing when children will be wearing heavy coats, boots and mittens to school.

Earl Greene, elementary school supervisor, urges parents to mark all clothing and lunch pails with their children's names.

"Each year we have many unclaimed articles when school is dismissed for the summer vacation," he said, "and it is impossible to return these articles since there is no way of knowing to whom they belong."

"If your child has lost a scarf, boots, mittens, lunch pail or sweater, please have the child check at the office for the lost article," he adds.

Community Fund Drive Misses By Less Than $2000

Tecumseh's 1954 Community Fund drive, now officially over, is less than $2000 short of its $16,628 goal.

Merlyn Downing, who served as treasurer for the drive conducted by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, reports that the drive netted $14,672.27.

He broke the total down into these categories:

Residential	$6036.52
Industrial	3647.50
Products Payroll	2308.50
Business and Professional	2276.00
Tecumseh and Raisin Twps.	403.75
TOTAL	$14,672.27

Mr. Downing also reports that he expects some pledges, still outstanding, will boost the total another $1000.

The goal for the Community Chest was $10,628 and $6000 was added to the goal for improvements to the recreation field.

These improvements were to include a track for the high school track team which is planned around the field and another softball diamond.

After meeting the $10,628 goal, the board has $4044.27 left for the recreation field improvements.

Early

Because of Thanksgiving, the HERALD will publish early next week. The paper will be delivered Wednesday.

Therefore, all news, correspondents and advertising must be in the office by next Monday at 5 p.m.

Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated.

The HERALD, like most Tecumseh stores, will be closed all day Thanksgiving Day.

Fire Damages Freshcorn Home

Fire of undetermined origin caused extensive smoke and water damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Freshcorn, 308 north Pearl street about 6:45 p.m. Tuesday.

When Tecumseh firemen arrived the inside of the upper story was burning but they had the fire under control in less than 10 minutes but stood by for almost two hours.

They confined the fire to the inside of the upper story.

SENIOR PLAY SET FOR TWO NIGHTS

The class of 1955 of Tecumseh High School will present "Our Town" tonight and Friday in Central auditorium.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. both nights.

Union Services Will Be Held At Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church will be host church for the union Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association Wednesday night, Nov. 24, at 8 p. m.

The Rev. E. C. Dickin, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, will give the address.

Special music for the service will be provided by the Tecumseh Music Club.

Every one is welcome to the service.

Churches taking part will be the Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, Assembly of God and Friends.

Clean Up

A general clean-up week will be held city-wide from Nov. 22 through the 27, reports Ed Nelson, city manager.

All refuse and junk placed at the curb will be picked up and carted to the dump by city trucks.

"If we clean up now the city will be neater and look better and we will have less to do next spring," he said.

Two Student Drivers Hurt In Accident

Tecumseh High School's driver training car was damaged and two student drivers suffered minor injuries when the car rammed a tree two miles southwest of Clinton last Thursday morning.

State Police of the Clinton post said David J. Dick, instructor, told Barbara Graham, 16 of 117 south Evans street to pull off the side of the road so a change in drivers could be made.

She misunderstood and swung into the driveway of Charles Service on Service road, a half mile west of North Adrian highway. The car hit a tree beside the drive way head-on. The radiator was punctured and police estimated damages of at least $150.

Miss Graham suffered cuts on her right knee and Miss Linda Dewey, 16, of Route 1, Tipton, riding in the back seat, suffered injuries to her ankles which were jammed under the front seat.

Sue Aluk of Tecumseh and Sandra Simmon, of Route 1, Tipton, students riding in the back seat, were not injured.

Supt. James McDowell took the injured girls to Herrick Memorial hospital where they were treated.

The car was towed to Tecumseh by Butler's wrecker.

Petition Calls For Water and Sewer On South Union

Twenty-eight property owners on south Union street will be asked to sign a petition calling for city sewer and water.

At a public hearing on the matter Monday night Ray White and James Mangrum, two of the property owners on the street, volunteered to circulate the petition.

Attorney J. C. Beardsley said a simple majority of signers would rule.

For some time folks in the area have complained of septic tanks that do not work properly and some have complained of "open sewers that become unbearable in the summer."

The eight property owners attending the hearing said most of the folks in the area want both sewer and water simultaneously. Ed Nelson, city manager, told them it would be more practical to put both in at the same time. He estimated the costs would be $400 per property owner.

The property owners, answering a question from Mayor H. H. Hanna, said "if one before the city vote had ever made any promises to them on the contingency that "if Tecumseh becomes a city you will get sewer and water."

The mayor pointed out that sewer and water in their area is part of total city planning and surveying that would cost $400,000 if and when all details of the major plan are worked out.

"We called this meeting to discuss what can be done and how it should be done," the mayor said.

John Surratt, manager of the Tecumseh office of the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association, whose company holds mortgages on 17 of the homes, said financing of the water and sewer could be done by extending the loans.

"There will be no difficulty in financing if a property owner has acceptable credit," he added. And he said the same rule would apply to folks in Tecumseh Acres if and when they want city water and sewer.

Councilman Schwartz asked if one of the group would circulate the petition and Mangrum and White volunteered.

Answering two other questions from the property owners involved, Mayor Hanna said the city's new well provides enough water for all needs; and that those with open sewers can be made to comply by invoking health and general welfare measures.

White and Mangrum said they would immediately circulate the petition.

Largest Crowd Ever To Attend PTA Here Turns Out For THS Open House

The largest crowd ever to attend a PTA meeting here turned out Thursday night for the open house program at the high school.

Three hundred and fifty parents and teachers were in attendance with parents going through their children's class programs from home room to gym classes.

The program was part of American Education Week which ended today.

Both teachers and parents were enthused about the schedule program and it was agreed that another similar program will be held next spring.

After the classes, parents and teachers assembled in the gym where David Dick, chairman of the teachers' group, presided at a discussion of school problems and activities.

Coffee and cake were served and after refreshments the discussion continued in the school library.

Serving on the planning committee for the open house were teachers Victor Lawson, James Howard, Don Brazee, Helen Sisson, Alice Hopkins, Henry Sherry, Don Johnson, Katherine Naser and Doug Murdoch, chairman.

In charge of refreshments were Mr. and Mrs. John Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stephenson. Members of the PTA furnished dozens of cakes.

Mr. Murdoch announced that James Howard's ninth grade class won the poster contest describing American Education week, with Mrs. Lois Service's twelfth grade class second.

Miss Alice Hopkins' seventh grade class won the prize for having the most parents out for the open house.

Car Demolished

A car driven by Bruce McCarty, 20, of Deerfield was demolished early Tuesday morning when it skidded on Rogers Highway one-half mile south of M-50 and hit a tree.

McCarty told Tecumseh Police he went to sleep. The car skidded 65 feet on the road, snapped off two guard rails and skidded along the berm for another 118 feet.

It rolled over after hitting the tree and went into a ditch.

McCarty and his passenger, Leland Logan of Petersburg, were not injured.

McCarty was charged with reckless driving.

Recital Planned

A recital, sponsored by the Tecumseh Music Club, has been planned for Nov. 30 at the Baptist Youth House.

The occasion will be a concert by Miss Helen Titus, a member of the piano faculty at the University of Michigan and will be the same program Miss Titus will present at the Lydia Mendelson theater in Ann Arbor Dec. 14.

Miss Titus, who is a friend of Mrs. Neville Hart, is a finished musician. The concert will be free to the public.

Compile 2-6 Record

Flat Indians Edged by Blissfield, 7-6, in Football Final

Coming up flat after the Hillsdale homecoming game, Tecumseh high School lost its final football game of the season Friday night when the Blissfield Sugar Boys edged the Indians, 7-6.

Both teams played uninspired, unimaginative football, sparring through the first two quarters without scoring.

After one of the many punt exchanges, Richie Davis took a pitchout and scampered 52 yards to the Blissfield 20, but a clipping penalty against the Indians nullified the long run. This was the only excitement in the first period.

In the second quarter the Sugar Boys penetrated to the Indians' 27 on the result of a pass interference call, but the Indians held and Blissfield again punted.

Early in the third quarter Blissfield scored after a sustained 50-yard march. Bread and butter backs in this drive were Gruber and Klump with Klump scoring the hard way, going over twice before the td counted. He scored first from the 23-yard line but a clipping penalty against a teammate nullified the score.

Not a bit dismayed, the Sugar Boys plunged back and in four plays they had a first down on the one-yard line where Klump plunged over for the score through his own right tackle.

Lennard booted the extra point from placement.

Tecumseh's contribution in this quarter was a 50-yard punt by Yoakum, Indian tackle. And, this was the only play for Indian rooters to cheer about. The only other thing during the game was the defensive play of Benham and Dickinson.

But the Indians did come to life in the fourth period. Blissfield punted to Betzoldt on the Tecumseh 44. He ran it back to the 47. On the first play from scrimmage he cracked for a first down on the Blissfield 45.

On the second play Neitling faded and heaved a toss to Capt. Bowser who gathered the ball in on the 20, danced along the side line and went in for the td.

Although Scutt's boot of the extra point looked good to partisan Indian rooters, it was ruled no good and instead of a tie game, it meant a loss.

Score by quarters:

Tecumseh	0	0	0	6	—6
Blissfield	0	0	7	0	—7

The loss gave the Indians a 2-6 season record, exactly two games better than they compiled last year when they failed to win a game.

The wins were over Addison and Taylor Center.

The Indians lost all four of their Southeastern Michigan League games, but only one of these—the Bedford game—was by more than two touchdowns.

They also dropped non-league games to Hudson and the Blissfield game.

This is a summary of the season:

Tecumseh 26, Addison 0
*Monroe CC 13, Tecumseh 6
Tecumseh 47, Taylor Center 6
*Bedford 26, Tecumseh 6
*Airport 19, Tecumseh 9
Hudson 19, Tecumseh 6
*Hillsdale 25, Tecumseh 21
Blissfield 7, Tecumseh 6

Never shut out, the Indians compiled a season point total of 127 points. Their opponents' season total was 115.

The Indians not only faced 11 men on the field; they also faced the injury jinx. Injuries during the season took seven players from the thin squad.

YOUR CHILD AND READING

By Dr. Byron H. VanRoekel
Assistant Professor of Speech
Michigan State College

(Editor's note—This is the first in a series of articles on the subject field of your child and reading. This series is being written by Dr. Byron H. VanRoekel, assistant professor of education at Michigan State)

If you are the parent of a child of pre-school age you are probably wondering what can be done to better prepare him for those first vital years of elementary school. You ask yourself, "When and how much should I read to my child? At what age do children become interested in books and what kind of books do they like? Is there danger that I may read to him so much that he will become overly-dependent and be reluctant to strike out on his own? My neighbor's child doesn't read as well as he should because they feel they read to him too much."

One of the things that influences greatly early success in reading is the experiences a child has with books during the pre-school years. Children who have had real fun with books before entering school are more likely to succeed in reading than children who have not experienced this pleasure. Therefore, read to your child and when you do, make it as much fun as possible. There is very little danger that you will read to him too much. His normal desire for other activities will prevent this.

WHEN DO I READ?

"So I am to read to my child. At what age do I begin and what type of books do I use? My neighbor's child was interested in books at the age of twelve months."

That may be true of your neighbor's child but he was ahead of most children his age. Most children twelve months of age have very little interest in books and magazines other than to tear and crumple the pages and mouth the pieces. However, at fifteen to eighteen months the infant begins to show an active interest in the pictures in books. He enjoys sitting on his mother's or father's lap looking at colored pictures while she or he turns the pages. This is the time to provide plastic or cloth books, preferably those which contain tactile pictures—that is pictures of a rabbit with cotton fur, a dog with felt fur, etc. This is the time for the parent to say "Show me the dog," and "Where's the rabbit?" letting the child point.

READ A FEW BOOKS

By the time your child is two years old he wants something to happen in the pictures and is ready to listen to a short story read or told by you. He also wants repetition. He wants to master the story with each picture. Therefore at this age, a few books, read and reread are preferable to many books.

At approximately two and one-half years your child will probably begin to show an interest in Mother Goose rhymes. Children of this age like the catchy sounds and jingles and like to memorize them.

By the time he is three your child will at times wish to tell a story you have just finished reading. By all means encourage this desire as much as possible. Practice in telling stories is excellent preparation for later instruction in reading.

MAKE THEM LONGER

Four-year-olds like stories which are a bit longer. They are now as much interested in the story as in the pictures. There are many inexpensive books which have high interest for youngsters this age. Almost every drug store and many markets now display racks of books which sell for from 15 to 25 cents. Stories about animals, trains, fire engines, airplanes are fascinating, particularly those which are imaginative.

Alphabet books are especially fine for three-and-a-half and four-year-olds. Many children learn the letters of the adphabet in this manner and children who know the letters of the alphabet seem to have an advantage in later reading instruction.

As you read to your child many questions will arise. It is most important that you answer them to his satisfaction. One of the major reasons for reading to children is to develop interest in books.

"Musical Hoe Down" Was Theme Of Cub Scout Pack 4 Meeting

"Musical Hoe Down" was the theme of the November meeting of Cub Scout Pack 4 held Monday evening at the Baptist Youth Home under the direction of Cubmaster Rhinehart Radant. The committee for this meeting was Mrs. Kenneth Rutherford, Mrs. Ned Rosacrans, Mrs. Sam Sisson, and Mrs. Clifford Deamer.

For the opening of the meeting, parents and cubs formed two circles marching in opposite directions, introducing themselves to the person behind them when the music stopped.

An impressive induction ceremony was presented by Den 9 under the leadership of Mrs. Radant, den mother assisted by Mrs. Irelan. Terry Beland, Michael Higgins, James Wallace, and Tommy Richardson were then inducted by Cubmaster Radant.

Den 4 under the leadership of Mrs. W. Hebb assisted by Mrs. Paul Snyder then presented a very clever pantomime of the record "Heap Big Indian."

Den 5 under the leadership of Mrs. L. Naugle then presented a comical skit called the "Brutul Miner."

The following awards were presented: Roger Mikesell, gold arrow under the Wolf badge; Phillip Radant, a gold arrow under the Wolf badge; Brian Packard, a silver arrow under the Wolf badge. The Den Chiefs were then presented with the following: Joseph Bartenslager and Jerry Irelan Cords and one year stars; Larry Anderson a two year star; David Rutherford a three year star and Barry Packard a four year star. The following cubs received one year service: Phillip Radant, Roger Mikesell, Robert Peck, Ronnie Baxter, Michael Deaner, Larry Eaton, Kent Lucas, and Tim Sisson.

Den 2 under the leadership of Mrs. K. Rutherford assisted by Ned Rosacrans presented a rhythm band pantomime of Spike Jones "William Tell Overture."

Den 7 under the leadership of Mrs. Reginald Dixon assisted by Mrs. Joseph Dziachan did the Virginia Reel.

For the closing, each den sang a song and then led the parents and cubs in group singing.

The cubs brought canned goods which will be presented to a needy family at Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Stanley Kruse will take the leadership of Den 5 because of the illness of their regular den mother Mrs. Harold Butler. Jack Hanna is the new committee chairman.

There will be a round table meeting Dec. 2 at the Adrian Presbyterian Church.

Den 2 under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Rutherford received tin can cubby for having the most parents and cubs in attendance.

Mrs. Edward Harper had charge of the program at the November meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church last Wednesday afternoon. "New Nations Shall Turn to the Lord" was the topic and it was presented before an effective worship center, featuring the flags of India, Ceylon and Pakistan, which had been arranged by Mrs. Carlos Jones. The group discussed plans for their Christmas Tree Lane, which will be a feature of early December. Mrs. Walter Hizer and Mrs. Keith Luke were hostesses for the social period after the meeting.

An attendance of 349 was recorded at the Tipton church Sunday School last week in the final Sunday of the contest. A victory dinner was held after the morning service at which prizes were awarded to the following: Janice Whelan, Dickie Carter, Jerry Munger, Sharon Hammill, Sharon McMichael, Debbie Vollmer, Nancy Blossom, Ward Cornell, Greg Handy, Vicky McVay, Curtis Cook, Norma Luce, Joan Whelan, Harriet Pawson and Ivah Dowling.

4-H CLUB ELECTS

The Tipton 4-H Club met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Lyle Whelan. A business meeting was held at which the following officers were elected: President, Barbara Gebrowski; vice president, Pat Anderson; secretary, Carol Luce; treasurer, Jean Luce and reporter, Linda Whelan.

The project of the club this winter is sewing and the next meeting will be Monday, Nov. 22 at the Franklin Center school house. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the conclusion of the meeting.

D.A.R. Hears Miss Hopkins

Abi Evans Chapter of the D.A.R. met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Branigin, who was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Hoyt Whelan, Mrs. R. S. Moore, Mrs. D. F. Wright, Mrs. Neville Hart and Mrs. Kenton Hunt.

Miss Alice Hopkins, who had represented a group of Tecumseh clubs at the Higgins Lake Conservation Camp last summer, told of her course of study and discussed the water shed problem in Michigan and that of erosion. She also told of the work on the Straits bridge.

As marking of historical sites is part of the work of the D.A.R. organization, the chapter discussed the possibility of such a project locally. It was suggested that since Tecumseh was the original county seat and a portion of the first county court house still stands, this would be a worthy project. It was further suggested that both the original site of the building in Adams Park and the remaining section be suitably inscribed. A committee to investigate the situation was appointed consisting of Dr. Mary Swan, Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mrs. Lyman Curtiss and Mrs. Floyd Elliott.

Grand Matron Is Honored At Tea

A large group, members of the Lenawee-Monroe Association, attended the tea on Monday, Nov. 11 given by Mrs. Owen Partridge, grand committee member, honoring the Worthy Grand Matron L. Grace Richards. Mrs. Richards was accompanied by Fern Ver Duin, Grand Ruth, and they were over night guests in the Partridge home.

The table, from which tea was served, with Mrs. Gladys Russell, past matron of Tecumseh chapter pouring, was centered with a floral arrangement designed with an emblem in keeping with the worthy grand matron's symbol for the year which is "The Star Within The Heart." Mrs. Richards was also presented with a corsage made in this design.

Mrs. Clair Rozelle, worthy matron of Tecumseh chapter, helped on the reception committee.

Other guests from out-of town who assisted with the tea, were Mrs. L. F. Grandstaff, mother of Mrs. Partridge from Metamora, Mrs. Marvel Whittaker, past matron of Metamora chapter and Mrs. Gustie Wagenschutz of Williamston. Mrs. M. G. Partridge also assisted.

In the evening, Tecumseh chapter No. 51 held a special meeting and Grace Richards, worthy Grand Matron gave a school of instruction with about 100 members attending.

After the meeting, lunch was served in the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bishop and committee.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

(Second of two articles about Tecumseh's court house.)

An early visitor, writing his impressions of the young Tecumseh, calls the newly built county court house "most imposing." If that were an accurate description then the part that now remains must have been a minor portion for it does not bear out the term "imposing."

It has an odd, almost flat, roof and its proportions are awkward which would be most uncharacteristic of the excellent architecture of the period. Mr. Dermyer, the present owner, says the frame is of the large, hand-squared timbers usual in those early buildings, but that its most remarkable feature is the construction of the walls. These consist, between plaster and siding, of thick up-and-down planks of oak, walnut and ash. The doors on the upper floor have transoms such as might be expected in an office building. Otherwise it is not unusual in any way as the woodwork is of the simplest design and the enclosed stairway has no ornamentation whatever.

In view of the simple design of this portion it seems most unlikely that all of the amount pledged by the citizens was used. Only two years before a very substantial mill had been built for less than $600 and $2730 would have erected a building most imposing indeed.

It stood, we are told, in the middle of Adams Park, in front and east of the present standpipe and, imposing or not, the legal business of Lenawee County was carried on there for nearly ten years. In fact, its jurisdiction did not stop there. Until late in 1826, Lenawee and all the territory west of it had been administered from Monroe. Then Lenawee was organized as a county and Tecumseh became the "Seat of Justice" not only for our own county but also for what are now Hillsdale, St. Joseph, Branch, Cass and Berrien. These were really part of Lenawee county and were known as the "Township of St. Joseph." Thus for about three years, until Hillsdale was in turn organized as a county, all deeds and land titles were registered here for the territory extending to the shores of Lake Michigan. For example, when the village of Niles was formed, the plat of the town was recorded in the court house in Tecumseh. All other legal action was, of course, carried on here too, but those seem to have been peaceful times and it is said that court usually opened and closed the same day.

Thus there was not much use for the log jail, or "gaol" as it was then spelled, which stood back of the court house. Nevertheless it seems to have been a matter of local pride that, once imperisoned there, no malefactor ever escaped. Its most noted inmate was the Ohio surveyor, who with the "Ohio Commissioners" was captured by a Tecumseh sheriff's posse during the boundary line dispute known as the Toledo War. The commissioners were released on bond but the surveyor was held as a sort of hostage for several months. He did not find his imprisonment very unpleasant, apparently, for when the authorities needed the keys to the "gaol" to incarcerate a horse thief they were forced to wait until he brought them back. The prisoner had been out horseback riding with the daughter of the sheriff.

That sheriff was undoubtedly James Patchin, whose farm is now the golf links. Joseph Brown was the first "Chief Justice" and Munger Evans the first Judge of Probate but both soon resigned in favor of "Judge" Stilman Blanchard and E. P. Champlin who apparently had more time to devote to legal duties. Dr. Patterson was for a long period the register of deeds.

During those years, Adrian and the southern townships must have made use of "Tecumseh's Court House" for it was the official legal center and their deeds had to be recorded but they made no contributions to the building fund. From the beginning there had been rivalry between the two communities though Tecumseh was the first and for a long time the largest. Our Joseph Brown had built the first log house of his fellow Quaker, Darius Comstock, who was father of Adrian's founder, but there the cooperation seemed to end. When, in 1827, Tecumseh offered a free building lot to a Noah Horton, a New York friend of Evans, because he was a shoemaker and Tecumseh needed a shoemaker, Adrian promptly offered him TWO lots—and got the shoemaker. Our first physician, Dr. Ormsby, may have had a similar inducement when he moved to Adrian the same year and erected the first frame house in that town.

In justice to Adrian it must be admitted that her citizens worked openly for the county seat. In an article written by Charles Comstock, he says they told the Tecumseh men they would not support the building campaign even before it began. Even that early they sent a petition to the Territorial Legislative Council requesting that the seat be transferred to Adrian. Then, in 1832, Tecumseh gave notice that they would apply for a ruling compelling the board of supervisors to accept their building as the official county court house —and the war was on.

Goodwill Needs More Shoes

Goodwill Industries issued a plea today for women's and children's shoes. Goodwill's shoe repair shop keeps six handicapped employees busy reconditioning shoes for resale at moderate prices in its retail stores.

Outgrown or worn out shoes that are thrown away will mean work for these Goodwill workers. Shoes should be tied together to insure against separation. Besides shoes, Goodwill welcomes most household discards, particularly clothing.

The Goodwill trucks will be in Tecumseh, Britton, Clinton and Macon Tuesday, Nov. 23.

For a truck pick-up of your discarded shoes, clothing or other household discards, call your local Goodwill representatives.

In Tecumseh call Mrs. Carl Burch, 201 W. Shawnee, at 868.

Residents of Britton may contact Wm. Kuster at 2121.

In Clinton call Mrs. Richard Ward at GLadstone 6-4148, and in Macon call Mrs. Melvin Travis at 26.

Monday Club Sees European Pictures

Because of the unavoidable absence of Mrs. Paul Maves, the Monday Club was entertained Monday afternoon by the showing of the European pictures taken recently by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rice. The colored stills showed much of London and the Shakespeare country of England, the historic sites and scenic views of Paris and many beautiful scenes in Switzerland. The pictures were shown by Mr. Rice while Mrs Rice narrated the events which had made their three weeks tour memorable.

Three new members were welcomed, Mrs. Fred Hadley, Mrs. Jack Douglas and Miss Vera Gilbert, while Mrs. Alta Boyce and Mrs. Charles Kempf were reinstated to membership.

The matter of a contribution on the part of the club to promote the formation of a Girl's Town was presented for consideration. This is a project of the State Federation. It was decided to establish a collection box for individual contributions, the matter to be under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Floyd Bryan.

Mrs. George Green Sr. and her committee served refreshments following the program.

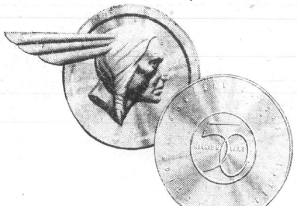
50 MILLION CARS



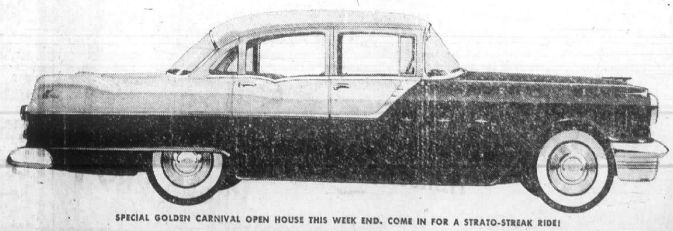
comes an all-new General Motors masterpiece

PONTIAC FOR '55

The 1955 Pontiac is getting a royal welcome. "It's hot," they're saying all over America, "the hot car of the year." And no wonder! With its striking Vogue Two-Tone styling and dynamic Strato-Streak V-8 engine, Pontiac wraps up more beauty, luxury, size and power than a like amount of money ever bought before. The price is near the lowest, but the car is way out front in everything that makes an automobile great.

The reason lies in General Motors' vast experience. Research experience that uncovers what you want and need. Design experience that creates new trends. Engineering experience producing more dollar-for-dollar quality.

That's the background of this All-New General Motors Masterpiece. Come in, drive it, and find out what it means to you. Let your own eyes tell you that here is the smartest car on the highway. Let your own hands report its new handling perfection. And let the great new Strato-Streak V-8 whisper its own sensational news of flashing get-away and compelling power. Then get the story of Pontiac's new thrift and reliability—and how little it costs to buy this future-fashioned beauty.



SPECIAL GOLDEN CARNIVAL OPEN HOUSE THIS WEEK END. COME IN FOR A STRATO-STREAK RIDE!

CM College Sends Extern Teacher Here

Central Michigan college seniors planning to teach will extern in 63 Michigan communities and in the states of Illinois, Florida, Virginia and California.

The students started Nov. 15 and will continue until the Christmas holidays. They will live in these communities and acquire additional teaching experience by externing in the local schools.

Externing in Tecumseh, is Joyce E. Smith.

Students sent out as extern teachers have had practice teaching and are familiar with modern methods and materials. However, Central Michigan college officials are of the opinion that they need the practical experience of actually being a full-time teacher.

The extern carries the full load of a teacher. After observing and participating in the class activities for a few days, the extern takes over the teaching of the class. The extern also takes part in teacher meetings and social activities. They also study record keeping. In addition the extern participate in as many community activities as possible.

The extern program has proven beneficial to both the Central Michigan students and the school systems. The period does provide the regular teachers time for attention to remedial work, which they often don't have time for.

In recent years many public school officials have made requests for externs as the program has developed.

This marks the 14th year that Central Michigan College has conducted an externship program.

Tecumseh, Britton Get Road Funds

Net receipts of the state motor vehicle highway fund for the third quarter of the calendar year 1954 amounted to $26,906,379.84 and this money is now being distributed to the State Highway Department, counties, and cities and incorporated villages of the state as provided for by state law, Highway Commisioner Charles M. Ziegler announces.

Net receipts of the motor vehicle highway fund for the third quarter of 1953 were $27,370,543.99, representing a decrease of $464,164.15 for the third quarter this year compared to the same period a year ago.

This makes a total of $113,239,019.37 in motor vehicle highway fund receipts for the first three-quarters of 1954, compared to $111,889,445.83 collected in the first three periods of 1953, an increase of $1,349,573.54.

Under the 1951 act, all of the state gasoline and weight taxes, the diesel fuel tax and a small amount of miscellaneous fees are deposited in the state motor vehicle highway fund, which was created by the act.

After deductions for non-highway uses and collections costs, the rest of the money is divided as follows: 44 per cent to the State Highway Department for expenditure on state trunkline highways in both rural and urban areas; 37 per cent to counties for expenditure on county roads, and 19 per cent to cities and incorporated villages for expenditure on their roads and streets.

Under the above distribution formula, the State Highway Department will receive $11,838,807.13 as its share of the third quarter of 1954 motor vehicle highway fund collections; counties will receive $9,955,360.54 and cities and incorporated villages will receive $5,112,212.17.

Britton gets $734.54, Tecumseh gets $6,417.36, Lenawee County gets $129,385.58.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Granny Drives But Won't "Shift"

Saw Grandma Taylor parking her 1924 Franklin out front the other day. Neat as a pin, radiator and hub caps gleaming—the whole car is as shiny as the day she bought it 30 years ago.

Then I stopped and looked again—for there, hanging on the spare tire was a sign: "This car NOT for sale."

Asked Granny what was going on. "Joe," she says, "it's this craze for old cars. Everybody wants to buy my Franklin. But it has served for years and it's not for sale at any price."

From where I sit, it's strictly the new cars for me—but Grandma Taylor, and others, are certainly welcome to their "old faithfuls." It's simply a question of preference. Same with a choice of beverages. For instance, I like a temperate glass of beer with supper. You may prefer coffee. Fine! The important thing is that we respect each other's choice—and "ride along smoothly" together.

Bingo And The Police

See by the papers where Roseville, a Detroit suburb, will continue its "charitable" bingo games with the consent of police and officials.

Other Detroit suburbs, a Detroit daily reports, "do not sanction bingo, but if a church or other philanthropic group puts on a small bingo game officials would just as soon not know about it."

This amounts to winking at a state law — a law that passed Nov. 2 when charitable bingo was defeated at the polls.

If other police officials wink at the new law and pretend they don't see the bingo games going on in their cities it probably will become the job of the Michigan State Police to enforce the new anti-bingo law.

Such a situation would become intolerable. And if continued possibly would lead to a lack of confidence in local police departments.

It is hoped that the occasion never arises in Tecumseh and elsewhere in the county.

The law is clear now. Bingo — large or small — has been ruled out. It also is to be hoped that persons and groups here abide by this law and forget bingo games; then police won't have to be bothered with enforcing a law that should not have been broken in the first place.

High School Open House

Teachers who have been here for years reported at the high school open house Thursday night that they had never seen such a large number at a P.-T.A. meeting.

The 350-member turn out was a tribute to the fine planning and excellent program of the high school teachers. Parents went back to class and learned a lot.

One of the comments heard in most of the junior high classes was on crowded conditions. Not that the teachers were griping. But they matter-of-factly reported the large number of students in their classes. Most classes had 40 students.

This large number points to the fact that one of the finest high schools in the state soon will be obsolete from the standpoint of room.

What Will The End Be?

An issue of Life magazine contains a photograph of a field of circular tents in Texas. They are on sterilized earth and "inflated" with 1,600,000 bushels of grain each. It is hoped the grain will keep five years and qualify for price support loans.

The warehouses over the nation are full of grain, old ships are being cleaned out and filled with grain, and now tents are being erected.

Foreign nations are taking over our export grain markets. And still the taxpayers put up the money to maintain an inflated price for raising more grain than can be used.

How crazy can a nation get?

Realty Views

A letter from John Brown in Detroit arrived one day. Mr. Brown owned a home in Tecumseh, and now contemplated selling. A friend had referred him to us. He wanted $12,500 for the property.

Promptly we replied that we were familiar with the property and that it was saleable at about $10,000. We suggested an appraisal if he doubted our figure.

Nothing happened for two weeks. Then Mr. Brown appeared at our office.

"We like your frankness," said Mr. Brown. "We knew $12,500 was out of line. I'm here today to list our house. Let's sell it."

"Okay," I said, "but let's look at your home again. I can show you how we arrived at the $10,000 price."

Mr. Brown smiled. "That really isn't necessary," he said. "We have confidence in your firm. You see, this morning, I checked your reputation several places. I know you'll treat us right."

Well, folks, if you wish to sell your home, call on us. We'll tell you frankly what we think it's worth. It may be more or less than you expect.

Then, we'll sell it. List with us right away!

The Bible - Source of Light and Strength

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE
By HONORABLE BROOKS HAYS
Congressman, Arkansas

Almighty and all present power,
Brief is the prayer I make of Thee;
I do not ask in battle hour
For any shield to cover me.

The vast unalterable way
From which the stars do not depart,
May not be turned aside to stay
The bullet flying to my heart.

I ask no power to strike the foe,
I seek no petty victory here;
The enemy I hate I know
To Thee is also dear.

But this I ask, be at my side
When death is flying through the sky;
Almighty God who also died,
Teach me the way that I should die.

—Hugh Beatty, Prayer of an Australian Airman.

'BORDER CITY RUSTLERS'

Letter to Editor:

To the Editor:
To the youth of Tecumseh:

I would like to apologize for failing you in trying to help raise enough money for a new track and softball diamond.

This coming spring when you young athletes start practice for track if you should fall and break a leg or pull a muscle—which have happened in the past—because you do not have a track and proper place to practice or hold a meet, please remember—I tried.

Your parents, relatives and friends, however, did not see fit to contribute enough to the Community Fund drive to complete the project this year.

My only regret is that I some how failed to show the people of Tecumseh this need to protect their children and grandchildren.

To you young people again I apologize.

There was a large attendance at the affair which was sponsored by the Altar Society, under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth McEnroe.

The Buick Special—A Standout for 1955

SLEEK NEW STYLING and record-high horsepower make the Buick Special four-door sedan for 1955 a standout in the lower priced field. Its V-8 power plant has been increased to an all-time high of 188 horsepower which, with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow transmission, gives the Special performance and maneuverability unequalled by any automobile in its field. Setting a new styling trend are a wide-screen grille and a roll-edge bumper with sturdy dual wing guards. For the first time, Buick's choice selection of power assists—power brakes, power steering, window lifts and front seat adjustment—are available as optional equipment on the Special.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Twilight brings a blessing all its own. It is a lovely curtain separating day and night. The tumult and the shouting fade into silence and calmness settles on man's tired spirit. The gorgeous hues of sunset lose their flotousness and bring a soothing touch.

After supper it is good to sit in the garden or on the lawn. Let conversation become more subdued until it is silent. Be possessed by sad gladness. Respond to deep inner yearnings and longings unexpressed. Hear the Word of the Lord and wait for fuller revealing. With Eva Mead Turner view the approach of evening:

A shy wise reticence holds sway
When in the lovely sequence the loud day
Falls to the hush of twilight,
With yet a hint of wondrous disclosure,
As though, within the purple shadows,
A door were to be unsealed
And Beauty revealed;
A silvery silhouette against the first blue wall
Of night;
And a mystic, shadowy bird
Be heard
Singing low, sweet and low—
A song earth may not know,
But the moment passes undisclosed—
One only sees
A star above the trees;
And hears a brown bird call
Sleepily to its mate at rest
In a hidden, high-hung nest.
Yet, the heart is strangely stirred
To rapture,
And its aching longing stilled
As though a miracle had been fulfilled.

MISS RUTH TEASDALE SPEAKS TO BAPTISTS

Twenty-one officers of the Baptist church and members of the Women's Missionary Society were present for the luncheon last Friday, when they were addressed by Miss Ruth Teasdale of the National Home Missions Society. At 2 p. m. Miss Teasdale spoke before a meeting of the Women's Society, when she told of her six years experience as a missionary in India and of her work with the Displaced Persons Bureau in New York. She made a special plea for assistance on the part of organizations and individuals in finding homes, work and a place in society for these people who have no homeland. She also attended the Family Night supper at which about 35 church members heard the same message.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall and Clayton Ingerson

Farmers who have to buy most of the grain for their livestock and poultry may find the going rough in 1955—rougher than usual.

The reason: Returns per dollar of feed cost are going to be lower than usual and some farmers are going to have to drop by the wayside.

The first ones that may find the competition too rough he says, will be those doing a poor job of management. They will have to shift to something else that promises better pay.

John Doneth, Michigan State agricultural economist, points out, however, that the only needs on some farms are a few changes. Better managers will make these adjustments without faltering, he insists.

One change will be to handle more livestock, still using the same amount of labor. Other farmers will cut down on labor and other costs but still keep the same output.

Doneth commented that many farms in Michigan are too small and some of these operators may meet the cost challenge by obtaining more good land. Renting, buying, clearing, or draining additional land may be the answer.

Making money on purchased feeds won't be impossible, but many farmers will have to find more ways to cut costs to do it, Doneth believes—

It may pay to store potatoes this winter.

The drouth in Michigan this past summer and the rock-bottom potato prices last year have given this state its smallest crop in years. It usually pays to store potatoes in a small-crop year like 1954.

The 8.8 million bushels harvested in Michigan this season is 18 per cent below the 1953 production. This is only a little more than half the average of the last 10 year period, says George N. Motts, Michigan State extension marketing specialist.

The states that produce the late potato crop had 276 million bushels in 1954 — 5 per cent below 1953 and 10 per cent below the 10 year average.

Motts advises growers to watch for newspaper and radio reports of the national potato stocks as of Jan. 1, 1955.

He points out that it takes close to 24 million bushels per months to meet U.S. food requirements. When the Jan. 1 stocks exceed the amount needed to meet market demands until the next crop is ready in volume, its best to sell soon after the first of the year.

Stamp News

BY GREG MASON

Dec. 2 the U. S. will issue the 5c stamp to the new regular series in Fredericksburg, Va.

The date of issue is very appropriate because on Dec. 2, 1823, President James Monroe proclaimed the Monroe Doctrine to the world in his message to Congress.

The stamp will be blue and will be 0.25 x 0.87 of an inch in size and will be printed in sheets of 100.

For first day covers, send self-addressed envelopes to Postmaster, Fredericksburg, Va., with 5c for each stamp wanted.

The outside envelope should have "first day covers" printed on it for faster service.

THS Artists May Exhibit In Toledo Show

High school artists of Tecumseh have been invited to particippast in the Fifth Annual Downtown Art Exhibition of The National Bank of Toledo, it was announced today by Milton Knight, president.

The show will be held in Toledo in the bank's main office, the corner of Madison and Huron, from Nov. 23 through Dec. 3.

In announcing the invitation to Tecumseh artists, Mr. Knight said the expansion was made to high school students in cities of Northwestern Ohio and Southern Michigan because of the requests received from school art instructors. Prior to this time, the exhibition has been limited to Toledo artists and Toledo high school students.

A special section, with special prizes, will be set up to care for the exhibiting of the paintings from students of high schools of the expanded area.

Only two paintings, either water color or oil, will be accepted from the local high school. These are to be selected and submitted by the Tecumseh art supervisor.

In previous years thousands of residents in the Toledo area have visited the bank to view the paintings on exhibit. This is expected to be materially increased this year, as the bank has recently moved into much larger main offices in a more convenient location.

'Tom Turkey' Carver Is King Of Meal

That Thanksgiving turkey is going to be carved by someone. Are you the one elected to do it?

If you are, home economists at Michigan State College have a few ideas that may help you.

Concention doesn't say you have to sit while carving that big bird. If you are more comfortable standing, go ahead and stand. And remember, when you are carving, you are presiding over the meal. It's up to you to know how much to serve and when to offer second helpings.

Your carving can be made so much easier if you take a few minutes before the meal to make sure that your knife is sharp. You might practice handling that knife, too. If you can avoid changing the angle of the blade while slicing, the slices of turkey will be neater and more uniform, look better and go farther.

Try using a little foresight, too, when you preside over that Thanksgiving meal. Plan the servings so that the choicest portions will be divided equally among the guests and so that not all is carved before needed. Second helpings will stay much warmer as part of the bird rather than as slices.

Probably the prime rule of carving turkey is to cut across the grain of the meat. If you cut with the grain, the long meat fibers tend to give a stringy appearance.

JOAN TAKES PART IN CORONATION BALL

Joan Breitenwischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Breitenwischer, 615 Outer Drive, took part in the coronation ball at Barry College in Miami, Fla., recently.

The campus queen, who will reign over college activities throughout the year, is Raquel Rivera of Puerto Rico.

Evergreens, Shrubs Need Winter Shield

It's overcoat weather for shrubs and evergreens.

Unless you give them protection this winter you may have to buy new plants next year, warns Bill Love, extension municipal forester at Michigan State College.

Love offers these hints on protecting ornamentals against drying winds, ice, heavy snow, and other winter hazards:

Mulch around evergreens and shrubs, with leaves, straw or something similar to stop repeated freezing and thawing and deep freezing of the soil.

Tie up limber-stemmed plants so they won't break under snow and ice. Burlap tied around vines and roses helps protect them against cold.

Mound up soil around roses and put on mulch to cut down winter injury to grafted plants.

Plant shrubs far enough from the eave line to keep water from dripping on them and freezing. Love adds that it's a good idea to shake the snow off evergreens after a heavy fall.

THE 1955 BUICK

New thriller in Style-Power-Performance

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

A BRIGHT NEW FRESHNESS greets your eyes and tells you: Buick's done it again.

You see it in the bold distinction of that gleaming Wide-Screen Grille. You see it in the rakish sweep of the rear-end contours. You see it in the whole fore-and-aft newness of fleet-lined grace that marks Buick the beauty thrill of 1955.

New horsepower—up to 236

You learn more when you get the power story. Up to new peaks go the horsepowers of every Buick V8 engine—a walloping 188 hp in the low-price SPECIAL—a mighty 236 hp in the CENTURY, SUPER and ROADMASTER.

And it's new, more responsive, far abler power you can literally feel as you go.

But even bigger Buick news for 1955 is something more than style and power. *It's what the "variable pitch propeller" now has done for Dynaflow Drive.

Up goes performance—and gas mileage too

When you find it necessary to push the pedal to the floor board, you do more than call on the greatest high-compression V8 power in Buick history.

You do what a pilot does when he heads his plane down a runway.

You do in oil what he does in air—you cut down your take-off time by using "variable pitch propellers."

In this case, the propeller blades are inside the Dynaflow unit. But they're engineered to swivel or change their "pitch" just like plane propellers—and with the same result: one pitch for getaway, another pitch for gas-saving fuel efficiency.

And what you get in the way of instantaneous safety-surge with absolute smoothness, you can only believe when you feel it.

This you have to try

Of course, we want you to come and see the trend-setting new Buicks—look into the betterments in gasoline mileage that add new thrift to these spectacular cars.

But this year, "seeing" is only the beginning. So—while you join the crowds viewing the new Buicks this week end, make a date to get behind the wheel as soon as you possibly can. We promise you the thrill of the year.

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Grade School News

Patterson
Mrs. Osburn—Fifth Grade

We were pleased to have so many of our mothers visit us during Education Week.

Kent Naugle is spending two weeks with his parents at Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

Long division is still giving us a hard time.

Edith Bozeman has moved to Britton with her family.

We were proud of the number of parents, belonging to our room, that were at the last P.T.A. meeting. We hope that even more will come to the next one.

We have two congrels in our room. One is to see how many of us can keep neat and clean every day. For the other, we chose up teams to see who ate balanced breakfasts each morning. Each person on the winning team will receive a pin.

Patterson
Mr. Kaiser—Sixth Grade

We have started studying the Middle Ages in social studies. This is a very interesting period of history as it is the time of knights and the Crusades. Mr. Kaiser is reading the story of Robin Hood to us. This is the time in history that Robin Hood had his many adventures. We have started drawing pictures of life during the Middle Ages.

Our class has been selling wrapping paper to help pay for our trip to Greenfield Village. So far we have earned about fifty dollars. We would like to thank all of you, who have helped us along by buying.

The new bicycle racks have been put up. This has improved the looks of our school yard, and makes it much easier to park our bicycles. George Heelman is in charge of bicycle parking and has been doing a fine job.

Bill Ross and Mike Tucker are the two boys who put up and take down the school flag each day.

We have been learning to play volley ball in gym class. Next week sides will be chosen and we will start a series of games.

In reading we have been making silhouettes of early trains and clipper ships.

Individual pictures were taken of the children in our room. These pictures will be returned to us soon after Thanksgiving. We are anxiously awaiting their return.

This week we began studying letter writing in language. Many of us are starting to write to Pen Pals in different parts of the country. Dianne Fuller brought in a magazine that listed people who wanted a Pen Pal.

Mrs. Uckele—Fifth Grade

We are very glad to welcome a new pupil in our room. She is Gloria Martinez. Our enrollment is now twelve girls and twenty boys.

In music we are getting ready for our music program. Miss Gillespie has been teaching us two part music.

Mrs. Bonner, Mrs. Verrier, and Mrs. Holmes have been to visit us. We are very happy to have the mothers come to see us.

In social studies we are learning how the United States added territory. We have studied about the Louisiana Purchase. Now we are very interested in the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

We are learning to divide by two numbers.

Our room has a baseball and bat, also a volley ball that we are all enjoying.

Central
Mrs. Runk—Sixth Grade

Time goes by so quickly but we are working hard in anticipation of the coming vacation times.

We have finished our study of the origins of the Christian, Jewish and Mohammedan religions and are discussing how people lived in medieval times. Today Mrs. Runk used the opaque projector to show us pictures of the costumes and homes in the twelfth century. She showed us how to use the projector, too.

We have elected officers again this month and they are: Secretary, Richard Hyatt; president, Susan Nichols; vice-president, Gale Kimerer; and treasurer, Carl Martin. Carl has a big job because we are selling gift wrapping paper to earn money to go to Greenfield Village. Almost everyone has sold some and a few of us have had to borrow paper from our friends to fill our orders. We want to thank all of the kind folks who have bought paper from us.

So far this week we have had three parents who visited our room. They are Barbara Jo Damon's mother, Cynthia Poley's and Charles Holdridge's mother. We were very glad they came, for parents who would like to visit us are always welcome.

Mrs. Runk has read "The Lance of Kana" to us, since our last news. It is the study of a Bedouin boy who gave his life for Allah and Arabia.

Central
Mrs. Crawford—Sixth Grade

We have many charts in our room to help us get facts in a hurry. The one for weekly spelling grades is watched most anxiously as we are all working for better marks. Our arithmetic progress is also shown on charts each neatly colored by its owner. Senior Isabel McCombs has the only perfect one. We are keeping track of our Christmas wrapping paper sales on a thermometer graph—the higher it goes, the more for our Greenfield Village fund.

Birthdays are scarce this month; Pamela Musch is the only one celebrating.

Our Hallowe'en party was lots of fun. Delbert Piskarbiowicz, Denny Trahan, Inez Boltz, and Patty Squires arranged games and helped serve cider and doughnuts.

We hope more of our parents will come to P.T.A. next time. Those who came to the first meeting enjoyed it very much.

In 1939 the Navy had only 80 destroyers — 30 in the Atlantic and 50 in the Pacific. Today there are 125 destroyers in the Pacific alone.

Christian Science Services Listed

How the spiritually correct view of God and man destroys anxiety and restores peace of mind will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body."

Scriptural selections include the following from Psalms (42:11): "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (390:4-9).

"We cannot deny that Life is self-sustained and we should never deny the everlasting harmony of Soul, simply because, to the mortal senses there is seeming discord It is our ignorance of God the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord and the right understanding of Him restores harmony."

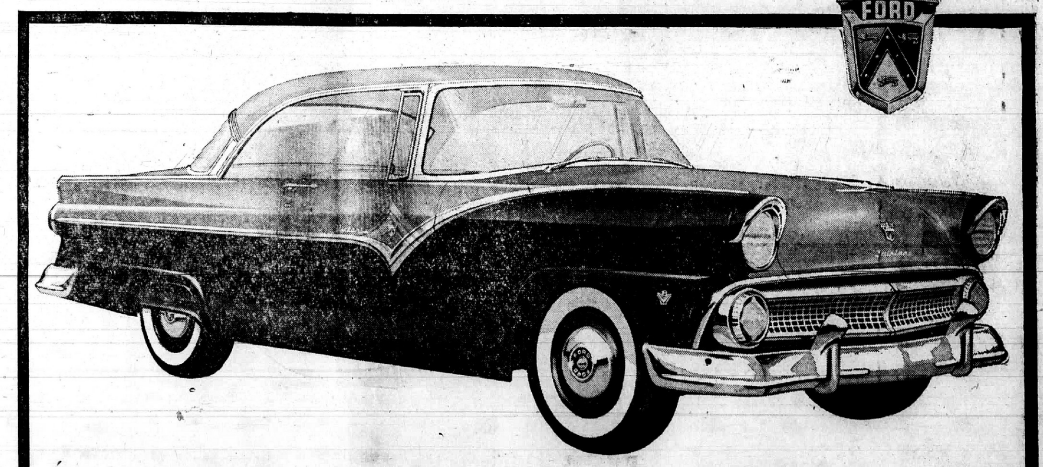
1955's most exciting car!



With new Trigger-Torque performance . . . with styling inspired by the Ford Thunderbird . . . with new Angle-Poised ride . . . with 4 new lines to choose from . . . the 1955 Ford is America's most talked about car!

Ever since its debut, the 1955 Ford has been generating more excitement than any car before it. All over the country, more and more people are joining the "swing" to Ford every day! Small wonder! Each 1955 Ford drew its styling inspiration directly from the Thunderbird—the personal car which has been received so enthusiastically everywhere.

4 new high-style lines

Much of the excitement stirred up by the 1955 Ford centers around its extended line of cars. Within the distinguished new Fairlane Series, the Customline Series, the Mainline Series and the Station Wagon Series there are 16 Ford body styles.

3 new Trigger-Torque engines!

You'll command lightning getaway . . . split-second passing-ability. For these new engines give Trigger-Torque response. The 162-h.p. Y-block V-8 has a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1 and 272 cu. in. displacement. The 182-h.p. Y-block Special V-8 teamed with new Speed-Trigger Fordomatic Drive is available in Fairlane and Station Wagon models. This mighty engine has an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, a 4-barrel carburetor, and dual exhausts. And there's the new 120-h.p. I-block Six—the industry's most modern!

New Angle-Poised Ride

Ball-Joint Front Suspension, which Ford introduced to the low-price field, is one of the greatest contributions ever made to riding and handling ease. And Ford's new Angle-Poised Ball-Joint Front Suspension for '55 gives a still better ride . . . because it is mounted at an angle so that springs absorb road shock from the front as well as straight up from beneath the wheels. It reduces annoying road-joint jar.

Plus all these "worth more" features

New Speed-Trigger Fordomatic Drive has a new automatic getaway gear for quicker starts and passing. 10% larger brakes mean smoother stopping and up to 50% longer brake lining life. Tubeless tires offer extra puncture and blowout protection, a softer and quieter ride, longer tire life. Turbo-Action Spark Plugs resist "fouling" up to three times longer. (Fordomatic Drive optional.)

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

SPECIAL FOR THANKSGIVING — Mrs. Orville Laidlaw, Mrs. Frederick Terry and Mrs. Hoyt E. Whelan, of Tecumseh; and Mrs. Burtsel Claus and Mrs. William C. Fisher of Tipton are members of the Society of Mayflower Descendants or known descendants of the Mayflower voyagers who 334 years ago signed the Mayflower Compact, a forerunner of our American Constitution.

A NICE LETTER from Mrs. Ray A. Hasey, the former Mary Lou Carlson, who now lives in Los Angeles, Calif., says in part:

"We take much interest in Tecumsehites who live or visit in the Southland, and I clipped your recent article listing California residents who appear in your records — when my husband first visits Tecumseh, he may indeed prove to be a better guide than I, due to his memory for news items that appear in the HERALD.

"When I was a new resident of Tecumseh in about 1940, I liked the old volumes of Tecumseh history our family found in the local library; now that I'm a former resident, I find equally exciting the fascinating articles of Tecumseh's past-and-present by Clara Waldron. Please continue the feature.

"I pass the HERALD along to my across-the-street neighbor who sends mystifying clippings from it to her good friend and former classmate, Martha Comfort, who is the aunt of my much-respected friend and former schoolmate, Mrs. Ronald Wells (Mary Jane Hayden), formerly of Tecumseh. (This coincidence was discovered when my brother Jack visited me last winter and I introduced him to my neighbor, Mrs. Irma Bent). Now don't anyone tell Martha how her friend gets those Tecumseh clippings!

"To read 'The Silver Lining' is like getting a chatty phone-call from Tecumseh—at short-distance rates: very pleasant.

"We are anticipating being just a five-minute's drive from the ocean much as we've enjoyed lovely inland South Pasadena at the foot of the mountains. Incidentally, the mountains tend to wall-in the smog since the prevailing wind is from the ocean; we had nine days of bad smog, which almost made us forget the many advantages we enjoy in southern California throughout the year. Our son and daughter are 3 and 1½, so can now participate quite actively in 'beach-combing' with us this winter; know anyone who needs any shells, stones, etc?"

OUR EIGHT-YEAR-OLD recently joined the Brownies. She came home after a meeting and began to tell what she is doing and what she plans to do. Then she said "When I get to be 12 I'll be middle-aged and then I can be a Scout." The Lining, crowding 35, immediately ordered a padded wheel chair.

WE GET AROUND — A serviceman friend of ours in Okinawa read the story about TV cartoonist, Murray Fairbairn and showed it to a friend. The friend had been a TV cartoonist in Colorado. Now he asks for the address of the company of which Fairbairn is a head. Who knows what may result!

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "The hardest job an independent man has today is keeping the government from taking care of him."

AS THE HOLIDAY SEASON approaches remember this: drive carefully. Don't insist on your rites.

A NEW ORGANIZATION known as the Husbands' Protective Association has been formed in Newark, New Jersey. Its goal is the understanding of married men and it attempts to make the going a bit easier. To help him bear up, the organization prints the Husbands' Home Journal (not to be confused with the Ladies' Home Journal). This magazine contains some kind words for the man of the house, tips on how to get along with the little woman, useful alibis, sound advice and some humor to try to get him to forget his troubles. Membership entitles each husband to a card which assures him one night out a week and a kind word from his wife once a month. As a public service, the Lining will furnish the address of the Husbands' Protective Association to those husbands who want to join.

THE TECUMSEH FATHER was playing possum while his little daughter tried to rouse him from his nap to read her a story. Finally the youngster climbed up on his lap, opened one of his eyelids, peered in carefully, then reported, "He's still in there."

R. H. MOORE POINTS OUT that he was the first area hunter to bag a deer. He says he got his buck at 7:25 on the first Monday of the season at Lost Lake Woods near Lincoln. Mrs. R. D. Moore, Bob's daughter-in-law, also got a deer—her first one. "I have never seen a more excited person in my life," Bob says of this latter event.

KEN BLUMERICK THINKS there is no justice. He got his buck — a 10-pointer — near Escanaba last Wednesday. It was a honey, weighing 180 pounds. But nobody believes that he got one. Ken says folks are too dubious.

SMALL FRY MAY WRITE Santa Claus % the HERALD and their letters will be forwarded. Please give name, address and age.

IT WAS CERTAINLY heartening to see the fine bit of cooperation from folks with news, correspondents and advertisers in getting their copy in early. This was very much appreciated.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK — Plymouth, Mass., Nov. 26, 1621. "We humble rejoyce together for that since peace with ye Indians hath been made we walk safely in ye woods . . . For that sickness in ye colonie hath mercifully abated . . . For that having been readie to faint for the travail & want of victuals . . . We now have corn & fish & game against ye starvation, for all of which we be devotte fullie Thankful!" — First Thanksgiving

Hunters Will Have Venison for Dinner

Like the Pilgrims and Indians had at their first Thanksgiving feast in 1621, Tecumseh area hunters who were lucky enough to get their deer will have venison on the Thanksgiving menu Thursday.

CLUB

Checks totalling $72,461.50 went out in the mails Friday to United Saving Bank's Christmas club members.

John Thompson, vice-president and cashier, said: "Our club is growing all the time."

Last year the bank sent out checks totalling $58,678.

As of last Friday morning, 20 of the deer were being processed at Freez-It Lockers and Clarence Keller, manager of the lockers, predicted that about 80 more deer will be brought in.

Last year the lockers processed 85 deer. This year they expect more than 100.

Processing deer is not new to the lockers. It has been helping hunters since the firm opened in 1940.

Clarence has been the chief venison butcher since 1945.

"Most of the deer we have so far run heavier than they have in the past," Clarence said. "They run from 125 to 160 pounds."

The deer arrive at the locker drawn and ready to be processed.

The first step is skinning which is done by Harold Hall at night. The hides are either sent to Readimg to be tanned or discarded. And the heads are saved for mounting or discarded, according to the wishes of the hunter.

The carcass is also cut up by custom order. It is cut into steaks or roasts and some is ground into deer burger.

"We use salt or fresh pork with the venison," Clarence says, "to make the burger juicier and to make it less gamey."

"The pork also makes a better flavored meat," he adds.

Clarence said some of his hunting customers like their venison smoked. They claim it tastes like fried beef.

After the carcass is cut up, it is packed, frozen and stored at the lockers or in the hunter's home freezers.

"Some meat can be ruined by shot depending on where the deer is shot," Clarence said, "but how this we have so far have been all right."

Clarence said some of the hunters have told him that venison will grace their dining tables on Thanksgiving Day.

Other hunters are planning their hunting trips after Thanksgiving.

"S-Day" Set For Dec. 15

Chief George Kilbourn today announced that the Tecumseh Police department is making preparations for Dec. 15 — SAFE DRIVING DAY.

"The designation of Dec. 15 as a demonstration day by the President of the United States through the action committee of the White House Conference on Highway Safety represents a nation-wide appeal for all drivers and traffic authorities to make a special effort to do their best," the Chief said.

"If all motorists will strive to drive as well as they know how and if the police are extra vigilant for motorists who threaten accidents by traffic violations we should be able to make 'S-D Day' a landmark in traffic safety," the Chief continued.

According to Chief Kilbourn motorists will hear all about this Demonstration Day through newspapers, radio, television and safety meetings. Any motorist who fails to respond to this vigorous appeal to save lives and goes right ahead and commits a traffic violation will place himself in a very bad position. He will have failed to respond to a national appeal, he will have done something which the records show cause 90 percent of the accidents.

Dale Daniels Stars

Seniors Do "Our Town" Flawlessly

Before Tecumseh High School seniors decided on "Our Town" for their annual play some expressed concern that the play would not "go over" because it had no scenery and very few props.

Results Thursday and Friday nights when the seniors presented flawless productions to packed houses proved that they need not have been concerned.

After all, as Dale Daniels, the stage manager said, "Here are a couple of trellises for those of you who want scenery."

Before the second and third acts Dale Daniels, representing the cast, presented Miss Egan a gift.

"We present this not for all your troubles; but just to say 'thanks' ", he told the director.

Every member of the large cast was capable but it was Daniels who carried the production. Cast in the role created by the late Frank Craven in the mid thirties on Broadway, Daniels performed the job with naturalness and warmth.

The role of narrator had several long speaking parts with bits of homey philosophy. Had these lines not been capably spoken they could have been "corny."

But Dale Daniels was every bit the stage manager. With his sensitive portrayal and his "cracker barrel" approach he had the audience in the palm of his hand; and when he came down front and talked with the audience he did with a naturalness that stamped him as a real trouper.

He also exhibited what every frustrated stage manager dreams of doing when he showed his versatility by portraying Mr. Morgan, the druggist. This surprise bit brought several laughs.

In a more serious role, he also was the marrying minister.

Brenda Porter also must be singled out for her sweet-faced portrayal of Emily Webb. She was particularly outstanding "after she died" and returned home on her twelfth birthday. She contributed a fine piece of acting in this scene.

Mealy comedy bits were added by Jerry Barton as Prof. Willard; by Carl Henkel and the misunderstood town character Simon Stimson and Jim Bowser as Howie Newsome, the milkman (with Bessie his horse); and Barbara Ousterhout as Rebecca Gibbs.

Other leading parts were capably performed by Phil Surratt as Dr. Gibbs; Anita Dickinson as Mrs. Gibbs; Bob Francouer as Mr. Webb; Sandra Biederman as Mrs. Webb; Gary Hizer as the young married man George Gibbs.

Others in the large, 22-member cast were Glenn Haviland as Joe Crowell; John Naser as Wally Webb; Dulcie Bowen as the woman in the balcony; Nancy Schoolmaster as the lady in the box; Connie Clark as Mrs. Soames; Fred Buchheimer as Constable Warren; Phil Stutesman as Si Crowell; Chuck O'Neill

We added Bob better to serve our customers in our expanding real estate business," Charlie Hanna, owner, said.

Together—with Faith—you'll build a richer life

"No man is an island—"

The really important moments of a lifetime are moments shared with your family.

These are the hours you remember

They are the ones which linger longest in the memory of your children.

Surely one of the greatest gifts within your power to give a child is your belief in God. And what more natural way to do it than by worshiping with your family each week at your church or synagogue. As they find God, so will your own faith grow.

Joining together in worship is more than an act of faith. It's a link with the future . . . a point upon which you and your family can build a better tomorrow.

He restoreth your soul... Worship together this week

Red cedar and dogwood trees have been the gift of Wilfred Waldron and altogether the committee and the club are most gratified with the progress of this important civic project.

FIGY WILL SPEAK AT FB MEETING

The annual kick-off meeting for the Lenawee County Farm Bureau membership drive will be held at the Michigan Mills Producers' building in Adrian next Monday night at 7:30.

Charles Figy, assistant secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, will speak.

Other entertainment features have been arranged.

The meeting is for all Farm Bureau members and their friends.

A potluck supper will be served.

Col. Rusch Will Speak Here Dec. 3

Col. Paul Rusch will speak Friday, Dec. 3, at the Baptist Youth Center at 8 p.m. His visit here is sponsored by the Tecumseh Ministerial Association.

A native of Kentucky, he was honored by Hobart College in 1950 with the award of a degree of Doctor of Humane Letters for outstanding service as a Christian Layman missionary, teacher and soldier.

Colonel Rusch was professor of economics at St. Paul's University, Tokyo, from 1926 to 1941.

On the day of the attack on Pearl Harbor, Colonel Rusch was the sole American faculty member remaining in St. Paul's University and was arrested and interned by the Japanese Secret Police. He was repatriated on the first Gripsholm exchange and volunteered for service in the U. S. Army.

From 1945 through 1949 he served in the Civil Intelligence Section of General Headquarters, Tokyo. He was awarded both the Army Commendation Ribbon and the Legion of Merit.

Colonel Rusch is on his present tour to tell Americans about KEEP—he model Kiyosato Educational Experiment Project — in Yamanashi Prefecture. He has established a Japanese rural democratic center which now includes a village church, a public health clinic, a rural free library and a 4-H agricultural extension service. The Kiyosato project is already serving 110,000 rural people in 39 villages making up Kitakoma County and is being projected as a national model in rural democracy for Japan's 12,000 rural areas to copy.

Indians Start Play Dec. 3

Forty-five Tecumseh High School Indians currently are working out under the direction of Vic Lawson, basketball coach and Doug Murdoch, junior varsity coach.

But of the 14-man varsity squad only three are lettermen. Letter men are Jim Bowser, center; Ritchie Davis, guard; and Marv Yoakum, forward. Bowser and Davis are seniors and Yoakum is a junior.

Other members of the varsity squad are Jerry Barton, Roger Busche and Tom Neitling, guards; Glenn Havland and Ted Verrier, forwards; and Bill Scutt, center. All these players are seniors.

Coach Lawson also expects help from four sophomores and one other junior. The sophomores are Allen Dickinson and Ken Miller, forwards; Ray Larned, guard; and Bill Hansen, center. The junior is Bob Manley, a forward. Ray is still recovering from a broken ankle received in football.

Last year the Indians compiled an over-all seven won and 11 lost record. They had a two won and four lost Southeastern League record.

Coach Lawson employs a man-to-man defense for the most part and he utilizes both the fast break and set offense.

He expects the league race this year to be close. "On paper Bedford and Monroe Catholic Central appear strongest," he said.

The Indian five opens its 1954-1955 schedule in a home game with Clinton Friday night, Dec. 3. This game will mark the first basketball game to be played in the new gym. The junior varsity game begins at 7 p.m. with the varsity game scheduled for 8 p.m.

PLAY

as Sam Craig; Jerry Barton as Jo Stoddard; and Doris Phillips and Ruth Boyce as women in the cemetery.

Technically, the production also was flawless. Special mention must be made of the sound effects which were outstanding. These included chickens, a train whistle, a bob white thunder and the town clock. The use of spots also was good. Responsible for this contribution to the overall success of the production were Jane Smith, Linda Sisson, Leroy Beizoldt and Gary Roberts.

Costuming of 1901-1913 also was good.

A word also must be said for the pantomime. This is most difficult for amateur actors but the preparation of breakfast, the eating and the shelling of peas proved no stumbling blocks to members of the cast. All of them performed naturally and never missed a line while doing so.

A large share of the credit must go to Miss Jacqueline Egan who directed.

This play with its poignant action centered in a tiny New Hampshire town, showing the daily life, the love and marriage and death of several of the town's characters was the finest high school production that I have even seen. —BW

REGIONAL POLIO CONFERENCE HELD IN DETROIT SATURDAY

Mrs. Ted Golat, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevenson and Mrs. Truman Rentschler of Tecumseh and Mrs. Earl Bennington and Mrs. Rollin Fairbanks of Raisin township attended a regional conference of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the Statler Hotel in Detroit on Saturday where nearly 300 volunteer workers from Indiana, Ohio and Michigan mapped out plans for the 1955 March of Dimes.

Sixty-four million dollars is needed in 1955 for patient care, scientific research, professional education and respirator and treatment centers besides the polio prevention program, it was reported at the meeting.

The nationwide polio vaccine field trials in which 1,830,000 children participated this year are now being evaluated at the University of Michigan by Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr. and his staff. These scientists are expected to complete their complex report by spring of 1955.

SCOUT CONFERENCE

Mrs. John Cameron, Mrs. Kenneth McEnroe, Mrs. Duncan Oliphant and Mrs. Victor Lawson have returned from Grand Rapids where they attended a three day conference of the Girl Scouts of the Great Lakes Region.

More than 950 Girl Scout adult workers and senior Girl Scouts were present.

Besides general sessions for training the adult workers for the age group with which they are associated locally.

Dr. Charles L. Anspach, president of Central Michigan College of Education, Mt. Pleasant, described the Girl Scout movement as a "challenging and inspiring picture of girlhood on the march. The movement points the way to an understanding of and a respect for citizenship and develop a sense of responsibility to do something in return for the great heritage which is theirs."

This was the fourth and last of the Great Lakes regional meetings with more than 2000 adults and senior Girl Scouts attending.

BPW Visits Woolen Mills

One of Lenawee County's oldest manufacturing companies, the Clinton Woolen Mills, was visited Monday evening by the Tecumseh Business and Professional Woman's Club. Fifty members and three guests, Mrs. F. D. Schultz, Mrs. Jean Lees and Mrs. Jean Edele, met at the usual time for dinner at the Pythian Hall and after a short business meeting made the trip to Clinton.

They were met by Mr. Hayes and, divided into groups, began their tour with the processing of the raw wool. They followed it through the dyeing, testing and spinning rooms and finally saw it woven into cloth.

Much of the present factory output is in upholstery material for cars although suit and coat cloth is produced as well, and there is a retail sales room in the factory.

The committee for the trip arangements was made up of Miss Lucille Hawley and Miss Geraldine French and the evening hostesses were Miss Myrtle Mattis, Mrs. Nora Schultz and Mrs. G. W. Spangler. Club members were reminded that unused dinner reservations must be paid for and that Nov. birthday pennies were now due. A satisfactory report was made on the progress of the "traveling basket" and the club was invited to take part in the Thursday morning Women's Club program over WABJ. Mrs. Ray Sluyter, representing the Tecumseh Service Club, suggested the information regarding anyon needing help over the holiday be given to that organization.

Deckerville's Smiths Get 100,000th General Phone

General Telephone Company of Michigan reached a significant milestone Tuesday morning, Nov. 9, when its 100,000th telephone was installed at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, near Deckerville, Sanilac County.

General, the largest independent telephone company in Michigan, thereby became the 12th independent company in the United States to reach the 100,000 mark. Seven of these companies are in the General Telephone System, which operates 16 companies in 21 states.

Marking the occasion was a luncheon at Deckerville following the installation, attended by representatives of the telephone industry, farm organizations and governmental officials.

Among those who offered congratulations were B. H. Brandt, director of connecting company relations for the Michigan Bell Telephone Company; R. J. Schafer, president of the Michigan Independent Telephone Association, and State Rep. J. Herbert Clements, of Deckerville.

The growth of General Telephone Company of Michigan, particularly during the period following World War II, was traced by the company's President, L. H. Meyer. Between December 31, 1945, and September 30, 1954, he pointed out, the company's plant and property increased from $8,032,520 to $24,960,988, an increase of 211 per cent in less than nine years. The number of telephones in service grew from 54,344 to 100,000, he added, an increase of 84 per cent.

Even more significant were figures given by Mr. Meyer on expansion of service in the rural areas served by the company. On December 31, 1945, he said, there were 12,348 rural telephones in service. By October 31, 1954, he added, this number had grown to 28,973, an increase of 118 per cent in rural telephones.

Commenting on increased costs of providing telephone service, Mr. Meyer explained that in 1945 the investment behind each telephone was $140, while at present it is $231, an increase of 70 per cent. This will continue to rise, he said, as it now costs an average of $357 for each telephone gained.

Taking Deckerville as an example, Mr. Meyer disclosed that the company by the end of this year will have spent an estimated $234,385 in that exchange since Dec. 31, 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, recipients of the 100,000th "milestone" telephone, have lived on their farm for the past 20 years. Mr. Smith and his brother, David, own and operate three farms in that area. Their principal crops are corn and sugar beets, and in addition they are feeding 70 head of Hereford beef cattle. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a 15-year-old son, Dick, who attends Deckerville High School.

The Deckerville exchange, site of the ceremonies, typifies the company's operation in 75 large and small exchanges throughout Michigan. Next Tuesday Deckerville, serving slightly more than 700 telephones, will be converted to dial operation, the fourth of six dial conversions scheduled by General Telephone Company this year.

Britton Teacher Gets Training In Homemaking

Vida Buffet, Britton-Macon Agricultural School, Britton, received advanced training in homemaking education at the seventh annual Michigan Homemaking Teachers Conference, conducted at Kellogg Center, Michigan State College, Nov. 11-13.

More than 400 homemaking teachers from across the state participated in the three-day schedule, filled with panel discussions, lectures, skits, demonstrations, and tours.

"More Satisfying Family Life through Better Home Management" was the theme for the conference, sponsored by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and the Homemaking Education Curriculum Committee, with the assistance of the M.S.C. Continuing Education Service.

"The program was designed to help homemaking teachers become acquainted with new concepts in the field of home management. The women were taught ideas for work simplification, improved teaching techniques, uses for home freezers, thoughts on home decorating, and other allied subjects," explains Dr. Mary Lee Hurt, chairman for the conference and head of the M.S.C. Home Economics Education program.

Other speakers lauded the work of the homemaking instructors. "Your inspired and sincere instruction and guidance will lead to the development of many happy homes as the youngsters later start their own families," declared Dr. Harold Byram, who welcomed the group on behalf of the M.S.C. School of Education.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

It is easier to give intellectual assent to the Beatitudes than to live as if we know them to be true. Let us now seek new meanings from old words:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.

Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

Do we really believe this?

"Blessed are those who hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be satisfied.

Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy."

In wartime?

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God."

Do our lives reveal the conviction that this is so?

"Blessed are you when men revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward is great in heaven, for so men persecuted the prophets who were before you."

Consider this challenge from the Sermon on the Mount:

"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy,' but I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven; for he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and the unjust."

Are these words applicable to us in this age of totalitarian dictators? What is their meaning for us now?

Thanksgiving, 1954

Thanksgiving Day is a day for happy family gatherings at the festive board . . . a day for turkey and fixins', pumpkin pie and cranberry sauce but . . .

Thanksgiving is a day to stop and think about a lot of things that too often we take for granted the rest of the year.

Like the song says "count your blessings instead of sheep."

Give thanks for our families, our jobs, our health . . . the sun set . . . the rain . . . the helping hand . . . the happy laughter of children . . . of cooperative efforts . . . of peace no matter how fleeting . . . of freedom in its various forms.

On Thanksgiving Day, 1954, let us humbly bow our heads in a prayer of gratitude to Almighty God for all that we are, all that have and all that we hope and strive to be; and let us reaffirm our faith in His guidance.

A College Education

A half of a generation ago, folks sent their boys to college to get an education only to find that the boys were there eating goldfish and phonograph records.

Then ladies' lingerie replaced goldfish and records for the students' attention.

Recently parents have become further confused, some of them thinking that at Michigan and Michigan State courses in painting school colors on the other school's property have replaced the fine arts.

But even worse, parents of Albion College and Central Michigan students must certainly think that courses in burglary are being studied by their offspring.

And to think that school spirit engendered by football games has created these strange quirks in student behavior.

This is a commentary of some kind, but of what kind we fail to understand.

Alley Needs Repairs

Memo to Ed Nelson, city manager:

We know you are run almost ragged by dozens of requests from folks who bring their problems to you and we know you try your best to meet these requests, although you probably will admit that the days are not long enough for you to get all the many requests taken care of.

So it is a shame that we add to your burden with one more—the importance of which prompts us to point this out to you.

Drive off south Evans street up the alley behind the stores between Evans and Pearl streets. But you had better make this drive in an army tank.

It's a bone-crunching, teeth shattering drive and if your head doesn't bang the top of your vehicle we miss our guess.

There's a chuck hole just east of Schneiders that is really a dilly. When it rains and this hole is full of water you could charge for swimming.

A salesman stopped here last week and he said some one will break a spring or shock absorber on this obstacle course and then send the bill for repairs to the city.

We don't know the legal side of this; but it should be unnecessary for visitors to have to point this out.

Tecumseh's other alleys may be bad, too, but we will wager that not one of them will torture a car and its driver like this one does.

See what you can do about this before winter sets in, will you?

When Mr. Black, a young energetic man, asked to see some homes, I didn't know his background. But on the way to see a home I'd selected, he said, "We haven't been treating our kids right."

"How's that?" I asked.

"No permanent home," he replied. "We've been renting. We just live from one moving day to the next. About the time the kids get acquainted in a neighborhood, we move. It's time to settle down. The oldest will be in school next year."

"You've got the right idea," I added. "I recall a statement I read somewhere: Nothing is more precious to a child than the security he feels in the heart of his own home."

"Exactly," Mr. Black said. "I know how much it meant when I was a youngster and my folks bought a home. There's just no better place to raise kids than under your own roof and in your own yard."

Mr. Black's children are now enjoying the security of HOME.

Titley-Workman Vows Exchanged

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Corbin of Dover, Del., was the scene of an impressive ceremony Nov. 12 at 8 p.m., when Betty Jean Workman, daughter of Mrs. Corbin, became the bride of Airman First Class Dale E. Titley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Titley of Rt. 1, Tecumseh.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families by the Rev. Leonard Taylor, pastor of the Edgewood Community church, Dover. The couple was attended by Airman First Class and Mrs. Eugene Eschete of Houma, La.

The bride wore a street length dress of winter white faille, fashioned in princess style. She carried a white Bible topped with pink rose buds and satin streamers.

The matron of honor chose a street length dress of old rose faille and wore a corsage of white roses.

The mother of the bride was gowned in black silk taffeta and the bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue silk crepe dress. Both had corsages of white carnations.

The new Mrs. Titley is employed at the Kent General hospital in Dover and the bridegroom is serving with the air force stationed at Dover, where they will reside at the Coward Trailer Court.

W.C.T.U. HOLDS COUNTY INSTITUTE

A highly successful county institute of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held at the Methodist church Thursday. It was an all day meeting with a sack lunch at noon and each of the seven units in the county were represented.

The 10 a.m. session was taken up with a demonstration of the educational work done in the rural schools, which consisted of a contest in posters and flannel-graph pictures. Mrs. Sommers, Mrs. Abling and Mrs. Neuroth of the Adrian area told of the booth at the county fair and the prizes given to the winners.

Special music in the afternoon was a vocal selection by Mrs. Arthur Schwartz, accompanied by Mrs. George Schippers, and the Rev. Horace James held an impressive devotional service.

The main speaker was the Rev. O. H. Kenny, of the Adrian Free Methodist church, who talked of the Youth Temperance Council and especially of its summer camp. An explanation and demonstration of the literature of the movement was given by Mrs. Clara Stevens and reports of the recent State Convention at Holland were given by Mrs. Parker Tagsold of Blissfield, president of the second district, who also outlined future plans.

Music Club Will Sponsor Recital

Eighteen members of the Music Club with Miss Lelish Wuerthner as a guest, were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. G. Waldron Tuesday evening.

It was announced that a piano recital would be given Nov. 30 at the Baptist Youth House by Helen Titus, a member of the piano faculty at the University of Michigan. The event is being sponsored by the club and is open to the public without charge.

The program, under the direction of Mrs. Waldron, opened by the singing of the Thanksgiving hymn, "We Gather Together," after which Miss Edith Ingersoll reviewed the lives of the composers Bach and Handel in her usual comprehensive and entertaining manner. Demonstrations of their work were given by Mrs. John McColl, who played several preludes by Bach and by Mrs. Arthur Schwartz, playing Handel's "Largo."

Mrs. Harley McConnell sang "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" accompanied by Mrs. George Schippers and Mrs. Waldron; Mrs. William Hayden played "Sonata" by Scarlatti and Mrs. McColl sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" with Mrs. Hayden at the piano.

A practice session by the chorus, under the direction of Mrs. McColl followed, in preparation for the part they were to take in the union Thanksgiving service. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Waldron who was assisted by Mrs. Nina Heath.

TECUMSEH MICHIGAN

Inside The Capitol

By Clair L. Taylor
Supt. of Public Instruction

If any teen-ager or young adult asks the question—what should I do that will guarantee me a good home, a good car and money to travel—my answer would be stay in school, or in case he is a drop-out, go back to school.

I presume that some would say that would be my answer simply because I head the public school system of Michigan. Actually, the answer would be the same if he asked leaders in business, industry, labor, agriculture or the heads of our armed services. For practically every job today, the first question asked of the young person is—are you a high school graduate, and for practically every executive position the question is — are you a college graduate?

It has been true for the past several years that practically any young man of high school age could find a job of one type or another; many of them have been pin setters, others have been car-hoppers at drive-ins and some have been gas station attendants.

A study made by the United States Navy shows that the average earnings of the high school graduate are nearly double that of the average person who quits school.

Michigan, through its legislature and school organizations, has held an enviable place in relation to all states in the matter of its high school graduates. Nationwide, only 50 out of each 100 youngsters complete high school. In Michigan 75 out of 100 graduate. That is still not good enough. The 25 per cent, who represent the drop-outs are in reality short changing themselves. I do not hold youth entirely responsible. There should be encouragement on the part of parents, friends, officials and other responsible persons.

I urge every high school in Michigan to take what we like to call "summer round-ups." Find out where those boys and girls are who failed to appear in school this Fall; urge them to return.

It will be the single greatest factor in giving them a rich, wholesome life.

If your family is too small to make good use of a whole turkey for Thanksgiving dinner, try roasting a half or quarter. Or buy turkey by the piece. Perhaps you will want to buy a whole bird, cut it in two, use one half for Thanksgiving and freeze the other for use at Christmas.

Holiday Turkeys Hit 13-Year Low In A & P

The lowest holiday turkey prices since Pearl Harbor were announced today by A & P Food Stores for company super markets in this area.

To add to the good news for housewives preparing the traditional Thanksgiving dinner, there will be abundant supplies of top quality turkeys, according to poultry experts of the food chain.

A family feast with all the fixings can be served this year for well under $10.

Starting with a 12-pound turkey, the housewife can buy a pound of cranberries, a large jar of stuffed olives, two pounds of sweet potatoes, two pounds yellow onions, a head of lettuce, a pound of tomatoes, bunch of Pascal celery, two bunches radishes, a pumpkin pie, half-pound cheddar cheese, one-half pound coffee, one-half pound butter and a loaf of bread for a total of $9.63.

The same meal a year ago would have cost $10.66.

A record number of turkeys is being grown this year on American farms with the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimating the crop at 61 million birds.

Not only are quality and price outstanding this year, but there also will be more birds available in all weights, including the popular medium-sized turkeys, an A & P spokesman said.

Christmas Tree Law Enforced

Movement and sale of Christmas trees and evergreen boughs, estimated to be a $5 million annual business in Michigan, will soon start, and the Michigan Department of Agriculture will establish road blocks on various highways in the state to assure that plant industry laws are complied with.

A person, buying trees or boughs from the original owner, must obtain a legal bill of sale made on triplicate forms available from Conservation officers, State Police, sheriff's offices, county agricultural agents or from the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Purchases of trees or boughs from a person who is not the original owner must be accompanied by a bill of sale giving only the names and addresses of the buyer and seller and the number and kinds of trees or boughs.

Persons not the original owners such as brokers, truckers, sales lot operators or anyone buying or selling trees must keep for two years the bills of sale, which must be shown upon the request of any enforcement officer.

Property owners may transport Christmas trees or evergreen boughs from their own property without a bill of sale providing they can prove ownership of such property. Persons transporting less than six trees are exempt.

Transporting native trees or plants with roots attached is a different matter, according to C. A. Boyer, chief of the Michigan department of agriculture's bureau of plant industry. In that event the bill of sale alone is not adequate. An inspection of the trees or plants is necessary before they may be removed from the property on which they are growing.

Inspection can be arranged upon request to Mr. Boyer at his bureau in the Agricultural department offices in the Cass building at Lansing.

Members of the department within coming weeks will check on tree cutters and land descriptions to see that trees are legally cut.

Love Learned By Receiving And Giving

Would it surprise you to know that none of us fall into love? We learn to love just as we learn to walk and talk.

Dr. Elmer Knowles, of Michigan State College's department of home management and child development, explains it this way: We grow into love and it grows in us beginning with birth. So, most of us have had considerable experience in loving and being loved by the time we feel grown-up enough to get married.

Dr. Knowles goes on to make little points: As children we learned to love mom and dad and our sisters and brothers. Then we learned to love our playmates, uncles who brought us presents and friends of the family. Most of us became very fond of one or more or our school teachers. And then came the first big crush of puppy love.

Even though we know what love is, it is very difficult to explain it to someone else. So how do you know it's love.

Dr. Knowles says research findings and the feelings of parents and students indicate this: Chances are that you are in love if you are suited to one another and have much in common, if parents approve of the match, if your whole personality is involved, if there is a "we" feeling and mutual trust, if you are realistic, and if the relationship can stand the tess of time.

Love tends to involve the entire personality. On the other hand, Dr. Knowles explains infatuation is focusing on a few traits—mostly physical. When young couples enjoy each other only in a parked car in the moonlight, they discover they have little in common in everyday life.

True love is outgoing. When a couple brings new energy and ambition into each others lives—that indicates real love rather than infatuation.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

(Last of three articles about Tecumseh's court house).

The contest between Tecumseh and Adrian over the possession of the county seat finally resolved itself into a question of which had the more influence with the legislature. In the beginning, when the authority rested in the Territorial Legislative Council, Tecumseh had the most friends and "influenced the most people." But by the time Michigan became a state, those friends were no longer in power. Former Governor Case had gone to Washington and even Austin Wing was pre-occupied with his own affairs in Detroit.

By 1836, too, Adrian had a new and telling argument. The Erie and Kalamazoo railroad, the first in Michigan and largely financed by Adrian capital, was nearly completed to that town. That fact, added to the advantage of its central location, weighed heavily in its favor and by an act of March 21, 1836, the state legislature granted Adrian's petition. The act provided, however, that the "seat of justice" should not be moved for more than two years or until after the first of November 1838.

There was a further—and important—provision. The board of supervisors was granted permission to borrow up to $10,000 at 7 per cent to build a new court house. Thus Adrian's Court House was no locally financed affair. Tecumseh, who had furnished the county with a legal headquarters for nearly ten of those difficult early years, now had to shoulder a substantial part of financing the new one. For in 1836, the population of Tecumseh township was still nearly twice that of Logan or Adrian township, and the taxes were in proportion.

So Tecumseh's position as county seat came to an end, but the "imposing" court house still remained. Its ownership was questionable to say the least. Though it stood on village land it was neither private, village nor county property. But that did not mean it was not put to good use. Even while the county offices had been housed there it had been used also for school purposes.

The "Academical School," opened in 1832 by Sirrel LeBaron in Brownville, a private institution which was the nearest to a high school the times afforded, had been moved there soon after the building was completed. It also provided office space for at least two lawyers, Perley Bills and Benjamin Baxter, and most of the church organizations met there at one time or another as did the "Tecumseh Lyceum," the lecture and library movement, which was the adult education effort of those days.

In 1839 the University of Michigan opened eight branches in various settlements of the state and through the efforts of one of Tecumseh's distinguished citizens, John J. Adam, a member of the first board of University Regents, one branch was established here in the court house building so fortuitously empty.

Space does not permit a description of the course of study offered by this school, but although it, like the Academic School which preceded it and the Tecumseh Literary Institute which followed, took the place of our high school, its curriculum could make a college student quail.

The University branches lasted only three years but almost at once thereafter the Literary Institute was organized with many of the same teachers and the same course of study and it was maintained until the opening of the "new" high school in 1856.

Its students included not only the village but a wide section of the rural community and in 1844 it had an enrollment of more than 75 young people, which would indicate that the building must have been of fair size. When the students deserted it for the new building its bell also was transferred to the high school cupola. There it tolled many a laggard to his seat and when the Central school was erected on the same site the bronze of that bell was molded into the plaque to be seen in the main hall.

Just when the "court house" was moved to its present lo is not a matter of exact but we do know it was so the princely sum of $150 was in 1872 that a James and Co. advertized for "st grained ash and hickory wo open their tool handle facto the "old court house build For many years it was kno the residence of Charles Be and for the past seven h home to Mr. and Mrs. who so far have never ed a ghost from eith or scholastic past.

All this—and more miles per gallon too!

Be sure to test out the phenomenal effect of "variable pitch propellers" in Dynaflow Drive*!

MAYBE—among the upcoming crop of new 1955 models—there's another car with an advance that can hold a candle to this one.

But we doubt it. We doubt it because—among the rumors of what's cooking in automotive laboratories—there's nothing to compare with what's actually happened at Buick.

It all started with the fact that modern air liners get two big advantages because they can change the pitch of their propellers.

First, they get off the ground hundreds of feet sooner than they used to.

Second, they can stretch their gasoline by setting propeller blades at just the right "pitch" for cruising.

So Buick engineers asked themselves—"If you can do it with air, why can't you do it with oil—the oil inside a Dynaflow Drive?"

And to make a long story short—they could, and they did.

They engineered the propeller-like blades inside the "stator" of a Dynaflow Drive so they can change their pitch as much as 75 degrees.

That provides one setting for more-miles-per-gallon, and another for an instant safety-surge of power when it's needed.

Pay-off on progress!
Buicks today go a lot farther on a gallon of gas, thanks to constant improvement in Dynaflow and in engine design. Even the new 236-hp ROADMASTER averages 4.8 more miles per gallon than Buicks of six years ago.

All you do is push the accelerator pedal the last half-inch beyond the full throttle position—and a-way you go!

Of course, there's a lot more to make a visit to our showrooms the "must" of the new-car year.

There's a step-up in styling as sensational as the step-up in power.

And the step-up in horsepower is this: 236 in the ROADMASTER, SUPER and CENTURY—188 in the SPECIAL.

But the thrill of the year is Buick's latest engineering "first"—and what it does for the man or woman who drives the latest and greatest Dynaflow Drive.

YOUR CHILD AND READING

By Dr. Byron H. VanRockel
Assistant Professor of Education
Michigan State College

Perhaps nothing contributes as much to preparing a child for reading as does a rich background in children's literature. It is suggested that you read to your child and you read many types of books.

(Editor's note—This is the second in a series of articles on the subject of your child and reading. This series is being written by Dr. Byron H. VanRockel, assistant professor of education at Michigan State College)

There are many things that a child can learn about reading when you read aloud to him. For example, the typical preschool child has to learn that the printed symbols actually represent the words we say. He has to learn that there is some relationship between the printed text and the story. When you read to your child he slowly learns that you get your cue from the page as to what to say. You can hasten this process by pointing to a word and saying, "This says 'Sally,'" or whatever the word may be.

LEARN LEFT TO RIGHT

As you read to your child you can also help to establish the habit of left to right progression which is fundamental in learning to read. We adults have been reading so long that we forget we had to learn this and that it is not instinct. All nationalities do not read as we do. The Japanese read down and right to left. Therefore, as you read to your child or look at picture books or look at calendars, put casual but careful emphasis on left to right movement. You can do this by occasionally pointing your finger and moving it from left to right or pointing at pictures as you discuss the story in picture books.

Establishing the habit of left to right movement can do much to eliminate the reversal tendency some beginning readers have. Some people prefer to this as "mirror reading." What it means is that some children say "on" for "no", and "saw" for "was", etc. Most children who reverse words do so because they have not established correct eye movements.

"LET'S LOOK IT UP"

Your pre-school child can also learn that you can find out things from books. If he asks a question, especially one you cannot answer, why not say, "Let's look it up." This is a grand opportunity to explain in simple terms how the index or table of contents is used. Even though he doesn't know the alphabet he will probably absorb more of these mechanics of reading than you think. If your child has had these experiences he will have an advantage in beginning reading instruction.

Although these remarks have been directed primarily to parents of pre-school children they also have application for parents of children who are learning to read. Don't stop reading to your child just because he has learned to read. Children can appreciate books far beyond their reading level for several years after learning to read.

Want Your Clothes Dryer?

What should you look for in an automatic clothes dryer? That's what women wonder when they think of the summer washdays ahead.

Lucille Ketchum, extension home management specialist at Michigan State College, has three suggestions.

Moisture is the biggest problem in a dryer and is solved in several ways. Sometimes the water is vented outdoors. Because this will be included in the installation cost, you will want to consider this feature when you make your choice.

If not vented, explains Miss Ketchum, the moisture that is in the laundered clothes is thrown out into the room. This is harmful to paint and wooden surfaces. However, some dryers avoid this by using a stream of cold water to condense the moisture and carry it to the drain. This requires a plumbing installation.

Still another dryer condenses the moisture by a cold air draft. The water is collected in a pan at the bottom of the dryer. It must be emptied after each use. Or the water may be piped to the drain.

You may choose between a gas and an electric dryer. Cost of operation will depend on the type of power you use most in your home and the power rates of the locality in which you live. Usually, Miss Ketchum says, a gas dryer is less expensive to operate than an electric one.

You may obtain information on how to estimate cost per month of the two types of dryers by checking with your local utility.

Tuberculosis costs Michigan between 17 and 18 million tax dollars yearly for treatment and isolation of victims. Christmas Seal funds work to prevent the disease, toward eventually reducing the high costs.

Scenes like this will be making young eyes pop with excitement when the J. L. Hudson Company's annual Children's Parade rolls through Detroit streets on Thanksgiving Day. Favorite characters from storybooks will come to life giant size, starting at 9:30 a.m. in midtown Detroit. It requires a year to plan and build the huge parade, which this year has 1,300 marchers. Climax of the parade will be the arrival of Santa Claus on his great sleigh.

Christian Science Services Listed

The vital importance of detecting false suggestions of evil and correcting them with the spiritual truth concerning God's unfailing goodness and all-power will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

In the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced," the following passage will be read from the Bible (Isaiah 5:20): "Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!"

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (469:13): "Mind is God. The exterminator of error is the great truth that God, good, is the only Mind, and that the suppositious opposite of infinite Mind—called devil or evil—is not Mind, is not Truth, but error, without intelligence or reality."

The Golden Text is from Romans (8:31): "If God be for us, who can be against us?"

Tuberculosis Christmas Seals Go On Sale

One girl has bangs, another pigtails; there's a boy in a bow-tie and another wearing a four-in-hand; still another is dressed in overalls. They're on the 1954 tuberculosis Christmas Seals, which are now on sale.

In fact, a count shows a total of 250 children run across the face of each sheet of the new Christmas Seals. According to the Michigan TB Association, "they are representative of the legions of children who will be given more safety from tuberculosis through your Christmas Seal purchase."

Although nearly half of last year's more than 3,000 new TB cases were among persons over 45 years of age, the association cites records showing that TB still strikes many Michigan children. In 1953, 360 young folks—including some infants — were among the newly found TB victims.

Lenawee county has 154 cases.

The disease, caused by a germ and spread by uncovered coughs and sneezes, is labeled the most expensive problem in public health today. Even though modern sanatorium care methods have brightened the outlook for victims, tuberculosis breaks home circles and causes heavy losses for the patient and his family. At the last count, the TB association says, about 4,700 men, women and children were isolated in Michigan sanatoriums, struggling to regain health and normal lives.

Christmas Seal Sale contributions are leveled at preventing the disease — stopping the TB germ before it strikes. Programs kept through Christmas Seal buyers range from health teaching in the schools to promoting aid for the TB victims. Out of every dollar given, 94 cents fights TB in Michigan, with the rest going to the National TB Association for research and other country-wide T B programs.

While the association's Christmas Seals are sold only during the holiday season, the battle against TB is carried on the year around—the work is aimed, as the association says, toward the time when no one need be separated from his family at Christmas, or at any other time of the year, by a disease which is entirely preventable."

—o—

Did you know that the first tuberculosis Christmas Seal was sold in Denmark just 50 years ago? This year's Christmas Seal artist is a Danish-American — Jorgen Hansen — who based his "dancing children and Christmas trees" design on an old Danish custom. In Denmark, each Christmas Eve, families join in a caroling march around the Christmas tree.

EPISCOPAL WOMEN MEET

The Daughters of St. Peter's Episcopal church held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. Arthur Brown with Mrs. Lyman Curtiss in charge of the program. She discussed the activities of the housewife, including her possible hobbies and the various outlets for her artistic abilities. The group made plans for their annual Christmas party which will take place on their regular meeting date Dec. 7. The hostess served refreshments with the assistance of Mrs. John McCaughan.

FIDDLESTICKS CLUB

The youthful musicians of the Fiddlesticks Club put in a busy evening last week Tuesday. Isabel McCombs will be their hostess Dec. 2, when each member will bring a gift to be wrapped for a Korean orphanage.

Grade School News

Central
Mrs. Preston—Kindergarten

We were so busy last month getting ready for Hallowe'en, that we forgot to send you news about our kindergarten.

Everyone had such a good time at our party. The "Hallowe'en Committee" put all our tables together to make one long, long table. Thirty-four children around the table makes such a big family. The committee set the table for us with party napkins, a tiny jack-o-lantern, a witch and a Hallowe'en cat. Then they served us our milk and cookies which their mothers had sent for our party.

The rest of us are looking forward to our turn to be on a committee, so that we can decide important things for a party and do all the work.

It made us happy that so many of our parents went to the P.T.A. to see and hear about all the fine work we are doing.

Now our room looks like Thanksgiving with all the Indians, tepees, pilgrims, "Mayflower" boats and turkey pictures which we have made.

We can tell about the First Thanksgiving and we have made books with pictures about the story.

Pilgrims are fine but we prefer to play that we are Indians. We even look like Indians when we wear our head bands with paper feathers in them. You should hear us sing the song about an Indian!

When are you going to visit us to see and hear all the things which we can do?

Brownville
Miss Bugbee—Kindergarten

Thanksgiving time is here again. We have our room all decorated for it. We have learned many rhymes and sons about it, and have been thinking about the many things for which we are thankful.

Jill Cunkle brought us a "leaf tree." It is fixed with many pretty waxed leaves on it. We have tried to learn to recognize the different kinds of leaves on it. A little squirel is sitting at the base of it.

We have some new playmates in our room. They are Erie Rodabough, who came from Tipton; Lee Lemerand from Britton; and Mickey Hartung of Toledo. Those who have left our room are Linda Middlebrook who moved to Lansing; Rosa Torres to Texas; and Brenda Hoekstra has moved to Adrian. We miss them.

Our room mothers for this year are Mrs. Cheever, Mrs. Hendricks, Mrs. Deemer, and Mrs. Harper. They planned a very nice Hallowe'en party for us.

We are learning to recognize our colors. Each one of us made our own color book. We put pretty balloons on the cover. We have a clown with colored balloons on our bulletin board to help us.

Henry Strand and Carol Elliott are the only ones in our group who have November birthdays. Mrs. Strand brought cupcakes for us.

We are all learning to tell when our birthdays are. We have a large birthday cake. When we can tell when our birthday is we paste a candle on it. Most of us have candles on it now.

During American Education Week, we made bookmarks for our mothers. We hope they can use them.

For "Veteran's Day" we made poppies, and pretended we were soldiers. We learned a rhyme about "Ten Little Soldiers."

Jimmy Goodman brought his turtle to show us. He calls it Pokey because it is so slow.

Visitors this month have been Mrs. Cunkle, Mrs. Lemerand, Mrs. Browne, Mrs. Strand, Mrs. Pask, Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Beaubien, and Mrs. Collingsworth. We are always glad to have visitors.

Happy Thanksgiving, Everyone!

Patterson
Mrs. Updike—Kindergarten

Thirty-four mothers visited our kindergarten during National Education week. We enjoyed having them very much and we hope others will come and see us any time.

We hope that we can entertain the first and second grades before Thanksgiving. We all know the story, telling why we have a Thanksgiving day. We have learned many songs and poems about that special day, too.

Cuffey Bear is still our favorite book and we are getting some fine paintings of the mountain where he lived.

One day when we were outside playing we found a secret tunnel through some bushes. We knew how much Cuffey Bear would have liked such a spot and some of us thought that we almost saw him.

We are looking forward to the day when we will have some new drapes hanging in our room. We like the beautiful sunshine but we know that it is not good to have it shine in our eyes and we get very hot with it on our backs. The new curtains will be a big help to us.

We are all five years old now except eight of us. We will have birthdays very soon.

Patterson
Mrs. Buttolph—First Grade

We have been working very hard on our Thanksgiving frieze. At one end we have the Mayflower close to Plymouth Rock in the Atlantic Ocean. Along the shore are log cabin homes and a log cabin church where the Pilgrims are going to worship God as they please. Also we have the friendly Indians outside their tepees ready to go to the first Thanksgiving feast. In among the trees are many wild animals for the Pilgrims and Indians to shoot to eat.

The rest of the room is decorated with turkeys, Indian heads, Pilgrim dolls, and many other things that we have been studying this Thanksgiving season.

We are proud to say that some of us are reading in our third pre-primer. All of us have finished Before We Read and the first pre-primer.

Recently Jimmy Pihl and Emily Manwaring celebrated their sixth birthdays. They each brought treats for all of us to enjoy.

Yesterday we got a post card from Patty Moorix. She sent it from Colorado where she and her family are visiting her grandparents.

WELL, THE LITTLE OLD town has blossomed forth with greenery and decorations denoting the Christmas season. And a fine job, too.

SEEMS SORT OF FUNNY to see truckloads of huge pipe goin' through town. The pipe is being used by the Mahoney Contracting Co. on a gas pipe line that passes just east of town.

ONE OF THE SMALL fry in her letter to Santa that we intercepted this week really knows where the toys are that she wants. She not only had the toys listed, but she also listed the stores where these particular toys could be bought.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "Among the inconveniences that'll disappear if you ignore them long enough are snow and adolescence."

IF YOU WANT SOME good dancing and at the same time make a contribution to a very worthy cause attend the benefit dance for the Henning family in Dundee Friday night.

PROUD REPORT: "I can't get my report card back," said the boy to his teacher. "You gave me an A in something and they're still mailing it to relatives."

A READER CALLED TO comment on the review of the senior play and she called our attention to the work of J. J. Walper who was not mentioned in the review. J. J., she said, has been stage manager of class plays for two years and, she adds, he has done an excellent job. From results seen in the senior play I am sure he has.

THE LINING MET an old friend again Tuesday night when Dr. W. H. Roberts of the Hillsdale College history and political science departments talked before the Rotary Club. One of the finest lecturers I have ever heard, Dr. Roberts, who also is an ordained minister, was my history professor back in pre-war days. He still has a lot to say. At Rotary he said the United Nations, with all its faults and weaknesses, still is the world's only hope for talking out problems that could lead mankind into an atomic war that conceivably might wipe out our civilization.

But Dr. Roberts is not pessimistic. He said we stand on what might be the threshhold of the greatest, the most glorious age in all history; and by the application of the concepts of Christian living and democratic principles this atomic age of peace can be attained.

Mere words set down here cannot do justice to a speech made by this fine professor who was instrumental in forming the Model United Nations at Hillsdale College. His work with these young high school students every spring has been outstanding. It's an experience that long will be remembered by young people.

NEXT WEEK IS Leader Dog Week in Michigan. A proclamation signed by Gov. Williams states "I . . . call the attention of citizens of our state to the important program of Leader Dogs for the Blind in helping the blind to overcome their handicap and to live lives of independence."

Gas Line Worker Loses Car and Home In Wreck

A car and house trailer owned by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baker of Tecumseh were wrecked two miles north of Adrian Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Baker, employed by the Mahoney Contracting Co. which is laying a large gas pipe line east of town, was bringing the trailer from Toledo to the Tecumseh Trailer Court when the accident happened.

Sheriff deputies said Mr. Baker was driving north down Underwood Hill when the trailer began to swerve back and forth.

The trailer sideswiped a car driven by Harold Estes of Blissfield, damaging the Estes car. The trailer then tipped over on its side and Baker's car went out of control, rolled over and landed on its top.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker's son Gerald, 8 months old, and Harold Kersey, 48, of Adrian, riding with Estes, were treated for minor injuries at Bixby Hospital.

The Baker family dog, tied up in the trailer, was not injured.

The family's personal items and the trailer's furnishings were scattered about and broken. Mr. Baker's fellow employees from the contracting company, driving three trucks, helped to gather the family's clothes and furnishings.

Thanks

At its last meeting the community fund board thanked the junior chamber of commerce and its president Jack Osburn for the splendid work the club did in conducting the fund drive this year.

Presided over by John R. Thompson, vice-president, the board meeting also was attended by the Rev. Edward Escolme, Mrs. Richard Preston and George Green, Jr.

Chairman of the drive Jack Osburn reported a total collection of $14,784.27. Goal of the drive was $16,628 which included allotments to 12 participating agencies including the Red Cross and an additional $6000 for improvements to the recreation field.

All commitments to participating agencies will be met, board members said, and the balance of more than $4000 will be turned over to the recreation field committee.

First Givers To Seal Sale Help Fight TB

First contributors in Tecumseh's 1954 tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale were named today by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

The first ten Tecumseh givers to the 1954 Christmas Seal fund were: Ellsworth A. Collins, 313 W. Pottawatamie; Fred Dickinson, 215 N. Maiden Lane; Charles J. Manley, 107 W. Kilbuck; Paul Nobles, 410 E. Pottawatamie; Ray and Jessie Sluyter, 111 N. Oneida; Mrs. W. N. Winfield, 215 N. Oneida; Eggleston Cleaners, 144 E. Chicago Blvd.; and Dr. E. E. Davis.

Dollars given for Christmas Seals by Tecumseh and Lenawee County families fight TB year-round next year.

Scientists in laboratories will be aided in their search for new drugs to help unfortunate TB victims. Others continue the quest for a vaccine to give protection against TB.

Christmas Seal contributors help back up chest X-ray drives campaigns to detect TB in early stages. Lively and meaningful health handbooks and posters are given out through Christmas Seals to help young people establish good health habits. Studies made through the Michigan Tuberculosis Association pinpoint TB needs locally and state-wide.

The association, through Christmas Seals, links forces with other groups to build laws covering TB — laws to give TB sufferers a chance to get well and to give families more protection from the disease.

This year's Christmas Seals, showing rows of dancing children, will be on sale through the holiday season. As the TB association says, "Put the greeting of good health on your package and gifts. Buy all the Christmas Seals you can."

Exchange Club Ladies' Night Set Wednesday

Tecumseh Exchange Club will hold its annual ladies' night banquet in the American Legion home next Wednesday night at 6:30 p. m.

Charles E. Irwin, assistant professor of speech and of communication skills at Michigan State College, will be the featured speaker.

Ellsworth Collins is general chairman. He will be assisted in arrangements by Eldon Colthurst, Harry Curry, Walter Hochrien and Gene Shoemaker.

More Than 100 Hear Recital

More than 100 of the music appreciative citizens of Tecumseh had the opportunity to hear an outstanding piano recital Tuesday evening when the Music Club sponsored the appearance of Miss Helen Titus of the music faculty of the University of Michigan.

Miss Titus played Beethoven's Sonata in G Major, six of the Moments Musicaux of Schubert, a contemporary composition by a member of the U. of M. faculty and ended with the B flat minor Sonata of Chopin.

She preceded each number with a short explanation of its composition and a word picture of the composer and charmed the audience with her vibrant personality.

Held at the Baptist Youth House, this concert provided the musical public an excellent demonstration of the value of the grand piano recently presented by Mrs. R. S. Moore. —C.W.

1800 Inspect Model Home

About 1800 persons so far have seen the model house in Indian Acres shown by the Kohler Real Estate Agency.

The three-bedroom contemporary features a fenced in patio area.

So far, persons from Hillsdale, Addison, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Adrian, Blissfield, Pinckney, Petersburg, Dundee, Manchester, Clinton, Jonesville, Monroe and Mt. Clemens, in addition to hundreds of Tecumseh folks, have seen the model.

BABY GIRL DIES

Karlene Rae Williams, four-months-old daughter of Roger Carl and Charlene Joseph Williams of Russell road, died early Wednesday morning at University hospital in Ann Arbor.

The baby had been brought to Herrick Memorial hospital Tuesday after a sudden illness and transferred to the university hospital where she died after a few hours.

She was born July 16, 1954, in Tecumseh.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her grandparents, Mrs. Carl Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Joseph of Tecumseh.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Green Funeral Home and burial will be in Tipton cemetery.

City Decorated As Festive Season Begins

Tecumseh's streets and stores have assumed a festive air for the 1954 holiday season.

Crews of city employees, chamber of commerce, junior chamber of commerce, Rotary, Exchange, VFW and Legion members put up street decorations Sunday and merchants have decorated their stores with wreaths, bells and tinseled streamers.

Stores are jammed with toys, games, clothes, appliances, luggage, shoes, jewelry, flowers, Christmas greenery, candy, Christmas cards and hundreds of special gifts.

For the convenience of Christmas shoppers, Tecumseh stores will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. both Friday and Saturday nights.

Stores also will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday and Saturday nights Dec. 10 and 11 and Dec. 17 and 18.

During the last week of Christmas shopping they will be open from 9 to 9. They will close at 5:30 p. m. Friday, Dec. 24.

Santa himself will be in town Friday, Dec. 17, where he will set up his headquarters on the four corners.

Promptly at 7 p. m. he will hand out candy to the kids.

Next week the HERALD expects to hear that Santa is on his way here. As soon as word is heard, it will be flashed to all the kids.

WINTER TAX BILLS ARE IN THE MAILS

Indians Start Cage Play Friday Night

Tecumseh High School Indians will begin their 1954-1955 basketball play Friday night in a home game with the Clinton Redskins.

This will mark the first time that the new Tecumseh High School gym has been used for an interscholastic basketball game.

Coach Doug Murdoch's junior varsity will get the double header under way at 7 p. m. with Coach Vic Lawson's varsity playing host to Clinton at 8 p. m.

Clinton, champions of the Lenawee County League last year, are expected to be rough again. They have a three-man nucleus back from the championship team.

Coach Lawson will start Bowser at center, Yoakum and Miller at the forwards; Barton and Davis or Neitling at the guards. Bowser, Barton, Davis and Neitling are seniors. Yoakum is a junior and Miller is a sophomore.

Other players expected to see lots of action Friday night are Drummond and Dickinson. The former is a freshman and the latter is a sophomore.

Civil Defense Needs Bedding

Tecumseh's civil defense program needs names and addresses of those residents who have cots they can loan.

Chief George Kilbourn, civil defense director here, says folks with cots to loan may notify him or Earl Roe or John Saling.

Blankets also are needed, the chief said.

Both cots and blankets then may be picked up in the event of a disaster.

They Total $258,971 For Schools, County

Winter tax bills were sent out Wednesday to Tecumseh City and Township tax payers. These taxes go for school operations, for paying off the school building bonds in Tecumseh District No. 7 (Tecumseh Public Schools) and for county operations.

Tax payers living in the city who will get their tax bills in a few days total 2036. Those living in the township total 253.

The school and county tax is based on a county equalized valuation of $8,010,900 for the City of Tecumseh.

City assessor John Saling, who gave the information on the winter city tax bills, said the state equalized valuation probably will be used next year. The Michigan Supreme Court ruled recently that the state equalized valuation must be used instead of county equalized in making out tax rolls. Mr. Saling estimated the new ruling would add about 23 per cent to the total valuation of the city.

Local tax payers will pay a total of 30 mills. This is the breakdown:

	Mills
County	6
School Bond	13
School Operations	9
Library	1
Jail Bond	1

Of the total tax roll, $72,098.10 of taxes paid by city residents will go for school operations of Tecumseh District No. 7. And $104,141.70 will go for paying off the school building bond issue.

Lenawee County will receive $48,065.40 from city tax payers. And $8,010.90 will go for the jail bond and $8,010.90 for the library.

(See TAXES, Page 4)

Sheep

Glenn Hendershot who lives three miles east of Tecumseh on Macon road will be compensated for 10 sheep killed by dogs.

Damages have been appraised by Justice of the Peace Faye VanValkenburg and Mr. Hendershot will be paid for the sheep from dog tax money.

The sheep were slaughtered Nov. 23. Rollie Hensley, dog warden, killed one of the dogs.

WOODWARD IS MSC CANDIDATE

The class will include 340 undergraduates and 150 candidates for advanced degrees, according to Robert S. Linton, college registrar.

The speaker will be Dr. Harry Newburn, President of the Educational Television and Radio Center at Ann Arbor. Degrees will be conferred by M.S.C. President John A. Hannah.

Student Woodward, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Woodward, 126 N. Ottawa, is a candidate for a bachelor of science degree in zoology.

Rep. Meader Lists Vacancies At Academies

The Second District of Michigan will have one vacancy at the Military Academy and one vacancy at the Naval Academy for the term commencing July 1955.

The initial class at the Air Force Academy will include 10 cadets from the State of Michigan who will be chosen by competitive examination. Members of Congress may nominate up to 10 candidates to compete for the appointment from their state.

Rep. George Meader states:

"In accordance with the policy I have followed in the past, prospective Second District candidates for all three academies will be screened by a physical examination and by a special Civil Service preliminary examination. Nominees will be chosen based upon their standing in these examinations, their previous scholastic records and their general qualifications.

"Young men in the Second District interested in competing for any of these appointments should submit applications to my office as soon as possible, but in any event not later than Jan. 1, 1955. The Civil Service screening examination has been set tentatively for Jan. 17, 1955, and will be given in Adrian, Ann Arbor, Jackson and Monroe.

"It is my desire to make every effort to insure that the Second District shall be represented in the United States Military, Naval and Air Force Academies by the best qualified young men. Therefore, I am seeking to encourage a large number of applications for the appointments which it is my privilege to make."

Asks Public's Cooperation
Postmaster Sees Record Mail Rush

A three-point program designed to insure delivery of gift packages and Christmas cards by Dec. 25 was announced this week by Jack Metcalf, postmaster in Tecumseh, who predicted that the volume of holiday mail this year will exceed that of any other year.

"I've found," he said, "that its not enough to 'slap up' postings all over town, saying 'Shop Early, Mail Early.' That's the main idea, of course, but I'd like to be more specific."

The postmaster urges that local business firms mail their regular correspondence before 4 p.m. each day of the Christmas season. A further aid in cutting down the volume, he added, would be to hold circular and catalogue mail until after the critical Dec. 15-25 period.

"This will leave 'elbow room' at the post office to process the tremendous volume of holiday mail we'll be handling."

He expects the 1954 volume to top the all-time record of 200,625 pieces handled during the 1953 season.

Point two, according to the postmaster, requires the public's cooperation. He suggested that prospective mailers check their Christmas-card lists, making sure that each address includes a full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

He also asks that Tecumseh and out-of-town mail be separated and, he adds, "You will help speed delivery if you face your cards with all stamps in the upper right hand corner. This speeds the cancellation."

Another suggestion is a visit to the post office to order required stamps, and to a store for a supply of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. "There will then still be a week left for leisurely Christmas shopping," he commented.

In preparation for the expected rush, the post office has sworn in a number of temporary employees, has had its delivery trucks overhauled and inkwells filled.

"So, just do your part," the postmaster asked. "Remember, all gift packages should be mailed by Dec. 5, and all cards at least a week before Christmas."

"Keep Five Alive" Is Slogan For Safety Day

Police Chief Kilbourn urged the cooperation of every Tecumseh citizen to prevent traffic injury in the immediate weeks ahead because we are on the threshhold of the most dangerous weeks of the year.

For this reason Dec. 15—SAFE DRIVING DAY — has been set aside as a DEMONSTRATION DAY. All motorists are urged to practice up on their safe driving so that they can make a special effort to drive as well as they know how on Dec. 15. SAFE DRIVING DAY should then serve as a launching date to set an example of special efforts to drive especially carefully during the last two weeks in Dec.—the most dangerous in the year.

In an important message to Tecumseh citizens Chief Kilbourn asserted that he was sure that most citizens would cooperate cheerfully. "Our police officers and the court will deal with those who don't," he said. "In fact, I have instructed all members of our department to enforce traffic laws even more vigilantly than in the past. But, it will be highly gratifying to them and to me if, by virtue of better traffic law observance, they find they have fewer tickets to issue and fewer accidents to investigate."

Moves

The office of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce was moved Sunday to offices upstairs in the Sage Building formerly occupied by the accounting firm of Root, Nicolai and Schippers.

The chamber office formerly was downstairs in the same building.

Dick Eggleston, chairman of the board, and Russ Garno, board member, did the moving.

He explained why officers of the department issue traffic tickets — "You may have heard that policemen enjoy handing out tickets to traffic law violators," he said. "This is not the case. Nor is it true that a police officer is required to issue a certain number of tickets every day he is on duty. Far from it. There are no ticket 'quotas' in the department."

"The simple truth is that every officer of our department has taken an oath to enforce all laws and to protect life and property to the best of his ability."

"Keep Five Alive" is the slogan of the Michigan State Police in connection with S-D Day — Safe Driving Day — which is to be observed nationally Dec. 15, according to Sergeant C. H. Bartell commanding officer of the Clinton post.

S-D Day, sponsored by the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety, has been set up as a challenge to motorists and pedestrians alike to go 24 hours without accidents.

"The significance of 'Keep Five Alive' lies in the fact that last year there was an average of five traffic deaths each day in Michigan," said Sergeant Bartell. "We're calling on drivers and pedestrians to show that we can save these five lives by having a death free day through careful driving and walking.

"We're asking them not to be involved in one of the more than 500 accidents that occur in our state each day and to avoid being one of the 10 persons injured in them or to cause the injury of anyone. This may sound like a large order, but it can be done if everyone faithfully observes all traffic regulations, practices courtesy to the driver and pedestrian and gives full attention to what he is doing."

The sergeant pointed out that President Eisenhower himself has appealed for observance of the day and that Michigan, as the automobile state, has a special responsibility to cooperate fully and "Keep Five Alive".

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

May I comment on the letter written by Jack Osburn which appeared in The Herald on November 18, 1954? Several of us have been discussing the matter and feel that Jack has no apologies to make or reasons to feel discouraged. In fact, Jack is to be commended on the success of the drive for community funds. Remember that your drive came upon the heels of a bitter experience to many of us. Furthermore, education is one of the slowest processes. For instance, we didn't get new schools the first time that we voted; we didn't get the city form of government the first time that we voted; we didn't get a Chamber of Commerce the first time that we tried and so on down the list. In fact, I am still waiting for a public dinner at which time we would lay plans for a year round recreational program for Tecumseh. Yes, this idea was made in the form of a motion three or four years ago at a meeting where representatives of various organizations were present and we haven't had that dinner yet. Got my idea about the slowness with which these group things get underway?

It could be that the public as well as myself is confused over it being necessary to use community funds for a track and soft ball diamond which undoubtedly is for the use of the school athletes first. We think that the school funds should provide this equipment. You thought for a moment that I was against a track etc., didn't you? Really, I thought that there were soft ball diamonds at the recreational field. Now, can't you see, Jack, that when you have a community of people like myself, your workers did remarkably well to raise two thirds of an extra on the list of needs? Why not begin the new track and soft ball diamond with the $4000 plus and let another improvement rest. By doing so, you are not breaking faith with the youth.

Another example of slow process is that several of us have been talking, planning, and finally installing a rest-room and sink in the Scout Cabin located in Ellis Park at a cost of $350 plus for three years. Now can you see how far that you have gotten in a short time?

We need you, Jack, and your friends to act as chairmen of these big drives. You like many others dreamed of a bigger and better Tecumseh while you were away from home in military service and are doubly anxious for these things to come to pass but do be willing to lead us into sharing rather than driving us to do. There is a note of bitterness in your public letter which will bring unfavorable reaction. Be thankful for what the people gave and perhaps the next time they will give more.

As a friend,
Ruth V. Rentschler (Mrs. T.)

Tecumseh, Michigan

To the Editor:

As president of the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association may I comment on an item which appeared in the Adrian Telegram recently regarding Boy Scout Troop 99. It stated that the Tecumseh Community Chest provides $1000 for Wolverine Council and nothing for the Boy Scouts in Tecumseh to use about promoting their program. And also stated that the Girl Scouts receive $300. All of this is true but the public doesn't understand that the Wolverine Council provides training for the local people who want it free of charge, while the Girl Scouts have to stretch the $300 to provide training for its workers in the way of conferences, camping, publications etc. We, too, have to supplement our treasury with the sales of calendars, cookies etc. because we provide all badges, pins, equipment, besides special treats for the girls. Therefore, do not think the girls get the whipped cream and the boys are left out because we provided an extra $100 toward the payment of the rest-room and new sink at the Scout cabin and the boys haven't matched that as yet.

Yours for good scouting,
Ruth V. Rentschler (Mrs. T.)

Miss Sally Rentschler has been invited to be a student of the Curtis Institute of Music which is located in Philadelphia, Pa.

Founded in 1924 by Cyrus Curtis, the head of the Curtis Publishing Co. the institute is well known in the circle of music lovers for its high caliber of work. It is a selective school and chooses its students on their merits and potentialities. The student's only expense is his maintenance.

Sally began her work there two weeks ago and will continue to study the flute with William Kincaid, first flutist of the Philadelphia Orchestra, as he is on the teaching staff of the Curtis Institute. She is also playing in the Little Symphony Orchestra of Greater Philadelphia and in another symphony orchestra which is made up of youth.

Sally sings in the choir of the First Methodist Church in Germantown where Dr. Dwight Large formerly of Ann Arbor is the pastor. She also assists with a troop of Brownie Scouts.

Foreign Students Are Guests Of Monday Club

Three students from Adrian College whose homes are in foreign countries spoke to the members of the Tecumseh Monday Club at their December meeting this week.

Miss Hayashida, who is in the United States on a scholarship from the Hawaiian Methodist church was a student at the University of Hawaii and is now taking advanced work here. She said that while her parents were Buddhists they encouraged her Christian education and she expressed her appreciation of the opportunities offered her.

Both the men students are taking pre-medical training. Paul Ellaftherau is in his second year at Adrian and plans to be a surgeon. His home is near Athens in Greece. Tobin Lim, a native of Amoy, China had traveled extensively in Burma as well as neighboring countries with his missionary father. All three students spoke English fluently although the men had learned the language since coming here.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Charles Allen and Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett headed the refreshment committee. Reports of the County Federation were given by Mrs. George Bunch and Mrs. Floyd Bryan and it was announced that the Christmas party Dec. 13 would probably be held in Fellowship Center.
